CANADIAN LAW IS COMMENDED

American Paper Says Canada Has Least Security in World For Escaping Criminals

The New York American referring to the capture of H. K. Thaw in Canada said: "Of all countries in the world, Canada offers the least security to strangers with unpleasant chapters in their histories. The Dominion has a cold way of looking at these things, that, to a suspect, must appear exceedingly inhospitable. In the first place, the Canadian courts have absorbed from the present British tradition an appalling contempt for technicalities. Anyone who has ever watched criminal trials of the present day in England must have been impressed with the brusque attitude of judges to phrase-juggling or efforts to translate words into some meaning other than what might be called their 'horse sense.' Barristers even hesitate to chance the snub of 'his worship' by advancing a technical objection, unless it be unusually clever and subtle, in which case the court may, after a few brief, keen-witted sallies, leave it to the jury, with a shrug, as much as to say: 'You gentlemen of common sense are, of course, not going to take such mental gymnastics into consideration.' This reaction from a too technical period, when a misspelled name or word by an ill-fed engrosser could almost upset an indictment, has had its effect on Canadian practise. We recall the cases of Greene and Gaynor after the Captain Carter-Savannah harbor scandal. In these the defendants, refugees drenched with unlimited money in a luxurious hotel in Quebec, fought with the aid of the most astute legal talent for months, right through all the Canadian courts to the Judicial Committee of the Imperial Privy Council in London, only to be landed back ignominiously in the United States for trial and sentence.

Jack Johnson, the pugilist only escaped the clutches of this law by having in his possession a through ticket from Chicago to Havre, France, which had been actually purchased in Chicago and was convincing evidence of his bona fide intention to seek neither refuge nor residence in Canada. The criminal offence of which he had been convicted in Illinois was not an extraditable offence, the Mann White Slave Act having been passed long after the extradition treaty had been negotiated. Even at that, the Canadian immigration authorities never lost sight of him until he left the country on a steamship. Nor did he then take a chance on landing at any British port."

ARTIFICIAL PEARLS

Most of Them Merely Glass Balls With Lustrous Coating Inside

The industry of manufacturing artificial pearls has developed enormously of late years, both in extent and in the remarkable degree of perfection which these imitations of the natural gem have attained, some of them almost defying detection even under the close scrutiny of the keenest experts.

The simplest forms are uniformly spherical and are merely glass balls blown by means of tubes of varying shape. More ingenious and m[illegible] natural-looking are the irregular pearls or perles goitreuses. To produce these the workman sometimes merely touches the ball momentarily with the end of a redhot tube, thus melting the glass at the point of contact and drawing it out irregularly. In other cases he touches one spot or another of the ball to a flame, at the same time blowing gently in the tube. The ball is pierced by two holes, one of which is caused by the breath of the workman, and the other by the hollow in the tube at the moment when this is detached from the pearl by means of a slight tap.

These balls are then merely coated inside with a preparation known as "essence of the Orient." This, despite its elaborate title, consists merely of pure water holding in solution the scales of the little fish known as the bleak-fish. The operation consists in the sucking of the liquid into a tube drawn out to a fine point and then blowing it into the glass bead, which is then given a rotary motion to spread the coating evenly.

The beads when coated are placed in a stove whose bottom is covered with parchment and chalk, [illegible] to dry. Finally they are filled with wax so as to be less fragile and a little heavier.

BOMBS FROM THE AIR

Dirigible Balloons Add to the Horror of Naval Warfare

The Zeppelin dirigibles are so constructed that they can come to rest on the sea, but they require special moorings. With even five of these airships searching specified areas from low or medium altitudes in the air, it is difficult to see how the battleship can remain undiscovered. The new rigids being built in Germany will, it is reported, have a speed of nearly sixty miles per hour, and a scope of action of thirteen hundred miles, so that one of these vessels would itself be quite capable of exploring a very large extent of sea and coast line. These aerial cruisers are to carry no less than eight tons of explosives and improved bomb-dropping appliances.

The moral effect of the dirigible in sea warfare of the future is bound to be very great. One can well imagine what an outcry there would be were a Dreadnought to be put out of action by the bombs of an airship, and yet such an occurrence is by no means impossible. The man in the battleship has already an anxious time of it, knowing as he does that he has to avoid the attentions of the submarine, the mine, and the torpedo. But now, that the airship has been added to all these terrors, the extra strain that will be thrown upon the sailor's nerves will be almost unbearable.—Chamber's Journal.

Aerial Fleet Wanted

It has been suggested by a British maritime league that every county in England, Scotland and Wales present an aeroplane to the government for military purposes.

Science in Restaurants

Electric mechanism similar to that of automatic telephones has been invented to enable a restaurant patron to order a meal by numbers from an index bill of fare.

ADVICE TO FRUIT MEN

Consumers Will Always Pay For the Best

"One must have the ability to produce fruit of better quality and more cheaply than his competitor to be successful in fruit-growing," said Dr. H. A. Surface, of Harrisburg, Pa., to the Niagara Fruit Growers' Association convention. "Produce the best and the consumer will pay for it. Don't put good fruit in a poor package. Feed and water a tree when it needs it, just like a person." He strongly advised specialization in any community on one class of fruits. Keeping trees low headed was recommended, as this makes it easier to prune, spray and pick. Dr. Surface expressed himself strongly in favor of co-operation among growers, both in the buying of supplies and the sale of products.

In an address on "The Most Profitable Commercial Fertilizers for the Orchard," Prof. R. Harcourt, of the Ontario Agricultural College pointed out the value of growing leguminous crops, like the clover, and plowing them under for the purpose of adding nitrogen to the soil, which these crops get by means of nodules on their roots. "Nitrogen," he said, "is the most expensive and valuable of all plant foods. Potash and phosphorous are always present in the soil, and it is up to the tiller to make them available by proper methods of cultivation. Humus or decaying vegetable matter in the soil is one of the important factors in rendering all these constituents available for the use of the plants.

"Many soils are deficient in lime, which is necessary to neutralize acidity and to aid in keeping the texture in the desired condition. Lime is secured cheapest in the form of dust from a stone-crusher. Before buying a pound of fertilizer, one must first look to the presence and condition of organic matter and lime in the soil, and he must be prepared to give good cultivation. Of all fertilizers barnyard manure is the best, but it can be tied to cause."

Our Point of View

The Globe says that kings are not as great as they were in the 17th, century. That was probably before somebody invented four aces.

◆

From all accounts the opponents of our old friend Vic Huerta conceded his election before the votes were counted.

◆

The Globe says that in Bedford, Mass., barmaids have been put in place of the striking bartenders." They are always doing something down there to drive men to drink.

◆

Now that the A. B. C. mediators have left Niagara Falls after failing to mediate the dove of peace is preparing to grow a military mustache, and wear a slouch hat, spurs and side arms.

◆

The ambition to be noble in defeat rather than haughty in victory is causing the Peterborough Baseball Club to fight steadily for its old place at the bottom of the percentage column.

◆

The Examiner the other day referred to a Suffragette procession of 700 as "a mile of women." We now know how many women it takes to make a mile.

◆

In Mexico when a man gets on the wrong side of an election he is shot. In the U. S. and Canada he is usually required to roll a peanut around the block with a toothpick or do something else equally as freakish.

◆

The World says one reason why men is superior to women is because he always knows where he got his headache. But we move to amend by substituting the word "how" for the word "where." There are times when a man cannot remember the last hotel he visited.

The Progress of Aviation

The impression is growing that 1914 will be known in the history of aviation as a period of great achievement. This new science, after an era of patient labor by its masters, appears ready to claim attention by fresh and amazing victories.

Most prominent in the public mind at present is the prospective attempt of airmen to cross the Atlantic ocean between North America and Europe, during the present summer. It shows the respect that aviation has won for itself and that great confidence prevails in the successful outcome of such a venture either this summer or in the early future.

An appeal is made to the imagination in the statement that the voyage between the two continents will be accomplished in thirty hours actual flying time if the known speed of the motors can be maintained sufficiently long. The mind contrasts this with the speedy five-day liners now plying between New York and Liverpool, and with the ten weeks consumed by the first known voyage across the Atlantic.

Public confidence in aviation has received additional encouragement from two recent achievements in Europe. Siekorski, the celebrated Russian aviator, went aloft with six passengers last week and stayed in the air for six and a half hours while at Paris the other day an aeroplane equipped with a gyroscope, invented by Americans, resisted every inducement to turn over in the air.

This demonstration astonished those who witnessed it. Two men manning the Curtiss waterplane climbed about over the craft far from its center of gravity, but were unable to overcome its automatic balance. The effect of this exhibition was to show that no wrong move by an aviator will serve to capsize a machine equipped with this newest device.

Spare the Birds

In the last number of the Agriculture Gazette of Canada attention is called to the widespread and increasing movement for the protection of our native birds. The old notion that birds were the cause of much damage to fruit and field crops, is not yet dispelled, but it is being replaced by the knowledge that far more injury comes from insect pests, upon which birds mainly feed. Insects constitute sixty-five per cent. of the total yearly food of woodpeckers, ninety-six per cent. of that of flycatchers, and ninety-five per cent. of the yearly food of wrens. Upwards of 5000 insects have been found in a single bird's stomach. These figures are given by Mr. C. Gordon Hewitt, who adds that the value of the birds is increased by the fact that at the time when insects are most abundant birds are most active and require more food, especially animal food, to feed their young. Ontario has had for many years an act for the protection of insectivorous and other birds.

◆

The claim which was made by ship owners and others, and which has been confirmed to a considerable extent by official records kept by the Marine and Fisheries Department of the Dominion, that the level of the river and Great Lakes is being constantly lowered, principally by drainage operations on a large scale, is to be thoroughly tested by a Commission appointed by the Canadian Government. Gauges were placed at various points between Port Arthur and Quebec to make the required tests.

RAND HIGH-GRADERS

Precious Metal Stolen After It Leaves the Quartz

Most people have heard of I. D. B. (illicit diamond buying), a crime which in South Africa is punished with penal servitude on the breakwater at Cape Town.

The Rand, however, has the lesser-known offence of I. G. B. (illicit gold buying). Considering that in the Rand mines only a few pennyweights of gold go to a ton of quartz, it is obvious that the miner does not get much chance of stealing the precious metal. When does the gold thief get his opportunity?

The pieces of quartz are ground into dust by powerful hammers known as "stamps." Water then washes the dust over inclined plates coated with amalgam. The gold instantly combines with the mercury in the amalgam, afterwards being easily separated by chemical process.

It is of this gold-laden amalgam that the dishonest employe will scrape off portions which, though small, will mount up to a good bit of gold in time.

FENCES AND GATES

Should be Strong and Neat—Some of the Reasons

Any man who keeps stock should have good fences and strong gates Broken-down fences and old dilapidated gates are a constant source of annoyance and danger. Many valuable animals are injured by broken fences and gates, not always by the fence or gate itself but by getting through the fence or gate into a field of grain and eating enough to cause bloat or strolling on to a railroad track and being hit by the cars.

Perhaps the whole herd breaks through into a neighbor's fields and destroys his crops. Such things are mighty unpleasant, and cause bad feeling among the best of neighbors.

Good fences and strong gates are cheaper than good stock and damage suits. Good gates and fences add to the permanent value of a farm. If a man has not sufficient pride in his farm to keep up his fences, economy should compel him to give these matters attention. The poor gate is the weakest link in the fence. There is nothing that adds more to the appearance of a farm than good, substantial gates and fences. Such appearances amount to hundreds of dollars when selling farms.

The Company has acquired the petroleum and natural gas rights to all the property as shown in the map submitted herewith, containing in all 2,320 acres, all of which are held under lease from the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

The Company now offers for public subscription 50,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share, payable in full upon application. No shares will be sold at less than par. The proceeds of the sale of this issue is to be used for putting down a well on legal subdivision 13, section 32, township 22, range 4, west of the 5th meridian. Drilling operations will be started as soon as the necessary equipment can be assembled on the ground.

Two of the Company's properties are on the main or primary anticline between the Mowbray-Berkely and Dingman Wells. The Dingman Well is now producing, and this main anticline is now practically a proven oil field. All the properties of the company are located on anticlines and were chosen by our geologist.

We strongly recommend an investment in the Chinook Oil Company, Limited. This Company is as strong as any in the field. Its Directorate is composed of prominent business men of Western Canada, and its holdings are extremely valuable.

The time to act is at present, because with the further development of the oil field, stock values will keep advancing.

In days of old, when knights were bold,
And warriors held their sway,
They fought and bled, at least 'tis said,

The auto has come to make things hum,
And so has the KELLY TIRE.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

SUN'S RAYS WARM MERE SKIN OF EARTH

It Takes Six Months For Midsummer Heat to Penetrate to its Full Extent

How far does the heat of the summer's sun penetrate into the ground? Probably not one person in ten will give a answer that is even approximately correct. Their replies generally vary from one inch to many hundreds of feet, says London Tit-Bits. Actually the distance is about 3 feet. Beyond this depth the temperature of the soil does not vary appreciably from hour to hour, let the midday be never so hot and the midnight never so cold. At this depth the mean temperature in the summer is about 55 degrees Fahrenheit, and in the winter about 36 degrees.

And the annual difference? That is to say, the depth at which there is some difference between the summer temperature and that of the winter? Well, at a depth of 60 feet it is impossible to measure any change due to the changing seasons overhead. Go down only 40 feet, and it is minute—barely measurable. But from 25 feet to 30 feet it is quite a decided amount.

The surface heat takes a long while to penetrate downwards. In fact, curiously enough, the change in temperature of the ground takes just over six months to reach the end of its [illegible] journey. Thus we are faced with the phenomenon of midsummer with the surface [illegible] at the same time as midwinter 25 feet to 30 feet down, and vice versa.

Farmers talk about "cold" soils and "warm" soils. This, although it sounds improbable to those who have never had anything to do with the land, is an actual fact.

Everybody knows that black clothes are hotter to wear when a hot summer's sun is shining than white ones. The reason for this is that black and other dark colors absorb heat, while white and the lighter shades reflect it. And this applies to soils equally with cloths.

Those soils which by their ingredients are a darker color are literally warmer than their lighter neighbors. Peaty soils, some of which are nearly black, others a rich, dark brown, are the warmest; light-colored clays and chalk the coldest. There may be as much as 15 degrees or 16 degrees between the temperatures of two soils, lying next each other and upon the same day.

SILKEN BANK NOTES

A Possibility of the Future, a Woman's Invention

It is possible that before long all bank notes will be printed, not on paper, but on silk of a particular shade. It is by means of photography that most clever bank-note forgeries are effected. An [illegible] held a private demonstration when Mrs. [illegible] Hart explained a new process she invented for waterproofing fabrics without rubber and dyeing them in the same operation. By utilizing this process linen, cotton, or other material can be put into one end of a machine white and brought out a few minutes later colored, waterproofed, and dry! Each machine treats 400 yards in a day, and the materials produced are useful in hundreds of trades, from building aeroplanes to bank note making. As regards the latter, the material produced is of such a color that it cannot be photographed.

Will Crooks' "Don'ts"

Mr. Will Crooks, M.P., gave the following advice in an address to workingmen:—

Don't argue when you are tired; you might lose it.

Don't take the workshop home with you.

Don't talk trouble before the children.

Don't think you can't be "boss;" you can.

Don't think you are worse than other people, and don't think you are better; you're not.

Don't think you have a constant job; the man in the cemetery has that.

Don't talk of being master in your own house. You may be while you are there; but you have to go out.

Don't get angry; no one cares if you do.

Blunders in Book Titles

Nothing so taxes the ingenuity of the bookseller as phonetic endeavors to get at the name of a book. Who but a genius could conceive that by "Within or Outside the Pail" was meant "Beyond the Pale," or that by "The Forgotten Cigar" a customer meant "For God and the Czar?"

Even Mr. Bullen would be puzzled by a reference to "Screws of the Cash Loft" for "The Cruise of the Cachalot." Some other amusing blunders are "The Stripe to Congo" for "She Stoops to Conquer," "Hero of the Week" for "Hereward the Wake," "Lined Pockets" for "Lying Prophets," and "Bad Acre of Greece" for Baedeker's "Greece."

COLD CURES BALDNESS

Nature Steps in and Provides Protection for Head

Can baldness be cured by cold atmospheric treatment? This is a question that has been occupying the attention of scientists.

Sir Ernest Shackleton, the explorer, laid stress upon the fact that many of the men in his expedition before their sojourn in the Antarctic regions were remarkable for the thinness of their locks. They had barely been a few weeks in the frozen South, however, than their hair began to grow, and when they returned from their expedition all had hair remarkable for its thickness and luxuriance.

It has been remarked also that nearly all the men who work the greater part of the day in cold-storage rooms have good heads of hair.

The laws of Nature would seem to emphasise the fact that cold is favorable to the growth of hair. Take the case of the animals. In no countries of the world is their fur so thick and luxuriant as in the frozen Arctic regions. By a special dispensation of Providence the animal dwellers there are given an extra thick warm covering to protect them from the cold. In the brief spell of warm weather they cast their coats for a lighter one more suitable for the season.

A Mountain of Borax

There is a strange mountain in the Death Valley region of Nevada. It is known as Mount Blanc, and consists entirely of borax. Mount Blanc is approximately 1,800 feet high and two miles in diameter.

The market value of this borax where it lies is something more than $100 a ton. Experts estimate that the mountain has at least three billion tons in it.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. BUTTERMILK CHEESE

Dairy By-product Utilized at Agricultural College

In the Dairy Department of the Ontario Agricultural College, Miss Bella Millar, in charge of the Home Dairy Work, made some experiments in the utilization of dairy by-products. Cheese was made from skim milk and buttermilk. The making of cheese from skim milk is comparatively simple, but the buttermilk requires a little more of a process, which is described as follows:

Heat the buttermilk to 80 degrees F., as rapidly as possible, stirring enough to ensure even heating. Leave it undisturbed for an hour.

Heat to 138 degrees rapidly, and with just enough stirring to ensure even heating. Cover it to retain the heat, and leave undisturbed for about an hour.

Without further stirring drain the curd by hanging it up in a cheesecloth bag, or by placing a piece of cheesecloth over a rack or strainer. As the portions of the curd next the cloth will drain more quickly, lift the cloth and allow the curd to roll over, thus securing more even and more rapid drainage.

As soon as the curd is properly drained it is salted and packed. The amount of salt to use will depend on the consumer. 1 ounce of salt to 5 pounds of cheese is recommended, but many prefer 1 ounce of salt to 3 pounds of cheese.

MISSED COBALT'S RICHES

Old French Voyageurs Knew of One Mine 150 Years Ago

That the old French voyageurs and missionaries knew of the existence of at least one mine old maps show beyond disputation. If they had extended their researches for minerals beyond the waterways and had happened upon the silver mines at Cobalt what a difference it would have made to the probable destiny of the Dominion?

The discovery of Cobalt a century and a half ago was quite within the realms of possibility, says The Cobalt Nugget. There was an old Indian trail within a few feet of Long, now Cobalt Lake, and where the Indian chose to go, there too, the French voyageur could and did follow him. There would have been no difficulty in finding the ore. It was right on the surface and could easily have been mined and taken down in boats to Quebec. Then would the world have been astounded with the glamor of a silver Eldorado in the heart of Canada. The French King would have taken more pains to conserve the country which his predecessor had [illegible] as so many arpents of snow and the destiny of the Dominion might have fallen along quite other lines.

For hundreds of years the belief has prevailed that gold dust and gems to the value of $5,600,000,000 lie buried at the bottom of the sacred lake of Guatavita in Colombia, a territory once occupied by Indian tribes renowned for their fabulous wealth.

The aboriginal Indians of that locality had a custom of casting all their vessels and ornaments of precious metal into the waters of the lake as offerings to their gods, and the knowledge of this custom led to the belief that has been handed down through the ages that it was the burying-place of fabulous wealth.

For centuries, almost ever since the country was first discovered, travellers and explorers have engaged in various expeditions in search of this territory, and many attempts were made to drain the lake, without success. The Spaniards were just on the point of succeeding in the task of draining the lake after years of hard work spent on it; but when they were half-way through, the sides fell in and years of work were wasted. In 1900 an English company undertook the work. They proceeded to drain it by digging a tunnel through the adjacent mountains, bringing it below the level of the surface of the water.

The lake was not emptied until 1906, but it kept refilling on account of the heavy rains and the presence of springs. A number of jewels and ornaments found in the mud of the lake bed seemed to indicate that the search for hidden treasure was to prove successful. Then the mud dried hard and fresh difficulty was thus encountered. The engineers continued operations, but no further treasure came to light.

After an outlay of some $75,000 it was decided to abandon the hunt.

SIZES OF SILOS

Depend Upon Amount of Silage Required—How to Determine

The amount of silage required and the size of silo needed to hold it can be quite closely calculated provided the number and kind of animals to be fed from it are known before building.

An average cow or beef animal may be fed about thirty-five pounds of silage per day and the usual period during which silage is used in this latitude will be about 210 days. Large animals, or those that are being fattened, may consume considerably more than thirty-five pounds per day, but this has been found a fair average.

In a silo of ordinary depth, the average weight of the silage is about forty pounds per cubic foot. Near the top of the silo, however, where the pressure is not great, it will weigh only twenty-five pounds per cubic foot, while at the bottom of a thirty-five foot silo it may weigh sixty pounds. Taking these averages, if a cow eats thirty-five pounds of ensilage in a day, she will eat thirty-five fortieths, or seven-eighths, of a cubic foot per day; and with this as a basis it is easy to determine the number of cubic feet of ensilage required to feed a cow or any number of cows throughout the season. The diameter of the silo must be such that the stock on hand can use one or two inches of silage off the top each day during the winter and at least three inches per day when summer feeding of silage is to be practised. This is necessary to keep the silage from spoiling.

A silo ten feet in diameter is adapted to feeding ten mature cattle. One twelve feet in diameter will feed fifteen head, and one fourteen feet in diameter will meet the needs of twenty head; but if there are thirty or more cows to feed a sixteen-foot silo should be erected. These silos should be thirty or forty feet, or even more in height.—A. D. Wilson.

IMPROVED BROILER

Revolves on Pivot and Meat Can be Done on Either Side

An improved type of broiler for gas ovens has been invented. It can be moved up and down in the oven and turned about so that the meat is done equally on both sides. The broiler proper is pivoted to a framework that moves up and down in grooves on the inside end walls of the oven. By a lever outside this framework is operated. Like most broilers it is in two hinged sections that receive the meat between them. When they are locked the device can be revolved at will. A removable drip pan sets in the lower portion of the framework to catch the drippings from the steak, or chops, or whatever the meat may be. The advantage of being able to move the broiler up and down is that you can get it close to the flame or some distance off, according to whether you want it done quickly or slowly.

How People Feel

When They Have

Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basin of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal disease and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The different physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and [illegible] one could not imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The pictures and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, [illegible] crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which break away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take too long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitutions have very little distress.

A Former Waste Product is Now Extensively Employed

Not so very long ago about the only real use anyone had for sawdust was for packing ice. That was when small local saw mills were more common, and the amount of this form of waste wood was, or at any rate appeared, comparatively small. Now, when the tendency is to consolidate these into large mills with a capacity of several hundred thousand feet of lumber per day, the daily waste in sawdust is seen to be enormous and much experimenting is being done to discover new methods of utilizing it. Perhaps the most promising venture in sawdust utilization in Canada is the manufacture of ethyl (or grain) alcohol. The sawdust is treated with sulphuric acid under suitable conditions, resulting in the formation of sugar, which is then fermented to produce alcohol. Several plants have been erected to produce alcohol from wood in this manner, and, though there are some difficulties still to be overcome, the ultimate success of the process on a commercial scale is assured. Sawdust has been successfully manufactured into briquets for fuel for a considerable time in Europe by a very simple process. The shavings and sawdust are first steam-dried, the water contained in the wood being thus evaporated and the resin almost liquified. The sawdust is then compressed under heat into briquets of the desired size, the contained resin acting as a binder. A firm in Vancouver is engaged in a similar line of manufacture, the sawdust being compressed into a cylindrical tube where it is cut into short lengths by a revolving knife, emerging in the form of small round briquets. These briquets are clean to handle, easy to kindle, and leave very little ash. In England sugar is manufactured on a commercial scale by treating sawdust in closed retorts with weak sulphurous acid under high pressure. In Austin, Texas, also a plant is being built to manufacture stock food from sawdust, by a somewhat similar process. The tar, pitch and turpentine are removed from the sawdust leaving only sugar and fibre to which is added forty per cent. of cottonseed meal. The mixture is sold for fattening cattle. Two and one-half parts of clean sawdust mixed with two parts sand and one part cement make a warm long-wearing and sound-proof floor, to which carpets can be tacked with less injury than to a board floor, and which has the advantage over a cement floor in being more elastic. These qualities should win an extensive use for this form of flooring, which has the additional advantage that it can be stained to harmonize with interior finishings by the addition of color to the mixture while in a semi-liquid state. The sawdust of certain kinds of woods is used in considerable quantities by manufacturers for metal polish, for packing, for meat curing, for making safety explosives, and composition novelties, and for fibre and pulp manufacture. Patent cleaning powders for use on carpets and rugs consist principally of sawdust, lightly moistened by some cheap mineral oil.

FAMOUS PHRASES AND THEIR ORIGIN

Some Everyday Expressions Have Come Down to us From the Time of the Caesars

The average person probably does not know the origin of half the common phrases used in ordinary conversation.

No less a person than Cicero first there's life, there's hope," in a letter he wrote to Atticus. "We are in the same boat" is not modern slang, but occurs in a letter written by Clement I., Bishop of Rome, to the Church of Corinth in the first century. This letter is still in existence.

"I never put off till to-morrow what I can do to-day," was Lord Chesterfield's explanation of how he managed to do so much work. "Whatever is worth doing at all is worth doing well," he wrote later in the famous "Letters to His Son."

Lord Eldon, Lord Chancellor of England during the first twenty-six years of the nineteenth century, continually mispronounced the name of Henry Brougham, afterward to be a successor in the Chancellor's office. Brougham objected to being called Broffam, and once, after Brougham had made a speech, Eldon, by way of apology, pronounced his name correctly and made a proverb, "New brooms sweep clean."

"No man is a hero to his valet" has been paraphrased by scores, from Madame du Cornuel, a witty Frenchwoman of the seventeenth century, to Dr. Johnson and Napoleon. The first record of it, however, is found in Plutarch, who states that when Hermodotus addressed a poem to Antigonus I., King of Sparta, hailing him as son of the sun and a god, the monarch replied, "My bodyservant sings me no such song."

The phrase "circumstances over which he has no control" was used by the Duke of Wellington in a letter concerning some affairs in which his son was mixed up, and with which he declined to interfere.

"Conspicuous by their absence" has been used on many occasions in modern oratory. It was first used by Tacitus in relating that in the funeral procession of Julia, niece of Cato, sister of Brutus, wife of Cassius, many of the images of the most famous families in Rome were seen, but "Cassius and Brutus shone pre-eminent because their images were not displayed."

"Nothing is certain but death and taxes," wrote Benjamin Franklin, stating that the Constitution of the United States was in operation and to all appearances would last.

"Those who live in glass houses should not throw stones," was said by James I. of England, when his favorite, the Duke of Buckingham, complained that a mob had broken his glass windows, which were at that time a luxury.

EYES OF AZURE REALLY COLORLESS

Why Some Eyes Appear Blue and the Sky Seems the Same Shade

Are your eyes beautiful, heavenly blue? Yes? Then the scientific fact is that they have no color—beautiful or otherwise—at all! The very same thing is true of the clear sky overhead, which is, in fact, absolutely colorless, despite its apparent turquoise hue! But a girl's pretty pink cheeks, for instance, really are pink. There is true red color in them.

For a long time scientists have been puzzled by these startling color contradictions. The explanation, however, has proved most simple—it's the explanation of the logic of the spectrum of the rainbow.

Perhaps, as you know, we can see an object only when sunlight or some artificial light strikes it and is thrown back from it to our eyes. These "rays of light" as we call them, which come to our eyes from the object we see, are, of course, really trains of ether-waves which vibrate rapidly through the air. In each "ray" of light there are several kinds of waves—some short, some long.

The shortest of these have a length of only one-thirty-ninth of the thousandth part of an inch! When these short waves strike our eyes, we see blue. Waves a little bit longer give us the sensation of green. And the longest ether-waves which the nerves of our eyes are "tuned" to pick up make us see red. Now, we all know that when blue rays come to us from a flower, the flower is really blue. How is it then that the beautiful blue eye is really an eye without color?

Because, scientists have found, the iris of the eye—the colored part—is full of myriads of minute particles of matter which act just like tiny mirrors and reflect rays of light. But these mirrors are so small that the longer light waves pass around them. Only the very shortest of the light waves, which are blue waves, are intercepted by them. These waves are thrown back to our optic nerves by the little mirrors. And so the eye we are looking at seems blue. If the minute mirrors weren't there, we wouldn't see the eye at all, because there would not be any rays of light thrown back from it.

So it is with the azure dome of the sky. The air is full of millions of tiny dust-like particles which catch the short blue light waves, and reflect them in a thousand different directions. So, from the vast expanse of the sky above we receive an almost infinite number of blue light waves, and the heavens seem to our eyes a beautiful azure, while in fact they are without [illegible]

A Dependent Tree

The matapalo tree is one of the curiosities of the tropics. This variety of tree never grows without the aid of another tree. It at first resembles a vine, and usually selects a young palm tree as its aid in its upward growth. In a few years' time it has grown until it has completely surrounded the palm and has choked out the life that aided it.

WON BY PERSISTENCE

A Determined Blacksmith Succeeded at Last

The Scientific American related the following story of a determined blacksmith who won success by determined and [illegible] effort:

"I [illegible] a blacksmith from Canada," he said. "I hammered this out of the a[illegible]. It is going to be used instead of ordinary leather collars." It weighed forty pounds.

"How is a horse to carry this load around his neck and draw a heavy load as well?" he was asked.

"This is a little heavier than it need be," he explained. "It will be all right."

[illegible] made to dissuade him from wasting money on a horse-collar [illegible] forty pounds, but he was [illegible]. Six months later the Canadian returned with another collar, an improvement on the original and which weighed but fifteen pounds. Three times the man came back. Each time he brought with him a new metal collar, lighter and better than its predecessor.

Now almost every fire-engine horse and omnibus horse in this country and in Europe wears what is known as [illegible]. For forty pounds the Canadian had [illegible] almost as many ounces. He has given up blacksmithing and lives in luxury in London.

Many Fruits Unknown to Most of Us Grow Wild There

Mexico is the fruit paradise. Fruits never heard of by the hundreds of millions who live [illegible] grow there in profusion and Acapulco, on the Pacific slope, is perhaps the garden spot of it all. It is noted for the great quantity of indigneous varieties [illegible] grow spontaneously. No effort has been made towards extensive cultivation by the natives, much to the surprise of visitors from the North. With the exception of some indifferent cultivation of cocoanuts and bananas everything else grows wild and in luxuriance.

Of the fruits known in the United States this district [illegible] produces bananas, oranges, [illegible] mangoes, limes and lemons. And here are a few more of other varieties never seen above the border line: toronjas, a species of grapefruit, the aguacate, papaya, [illegible], chico zapote, mamey, llama, anone, granada, caimita, cartajo, meron, [illegible], jicame, tamarindo, nanche, bulcon, icacos, almendra (almond), ciruela (plum), and undoubtedly many others.

But so indifferent are the natives to their possibilities that nothing is exported except the lime and its products.

MAKING INQUIRIES AT ALL HOSPITALS IN HOPE OF LOCATING MISSING GIRL

Family and Friends Have Not Yet Given Up Hope That She is Alive--Believe She Went in an Automobile--Search of District Surrounding Yorke Home Abandoned for Present

Tamworth, Ont., July 17.—Hope of finding Miss Blanche Yorke, the young woman who vanished as if the earth had opened up and swallowed her ten days ago, has not been abandoned by the members of her family and the friends who have for more than a week vainly searched for clues to her whereabouts.

The accepted theory here now amongst those closely connected with the case that Miss Yorke was shipped away late at night by automobile. If this is so, whoever had charge of the arrangements handled them in the most capable manner, for not the slightest clue to aid in discovering the means of her disappearance or her present location was left.

Inquiring at Hospitals.

The family now bases its only hope for the recovery of the girl on the suggestion that she may be in a hospital in some nearby centre, such as Kingston or Napanee. After their fruitless search for the body it is difficult for them to believe that she is not still alive. Working on this suggestion the police are now searching all the hospitals between Toronto and Montreal to see whether she can be located. It is now known that the stomach trouble from which the young woman had been suffering for the past several weeks was of a very serious nature, such as would necessitate her almost immediate removal to a hospital. It was first given out by friends that she was being treated for a throat affection. This, it is now stated, was not correct.

Searchers Tired Out.

Completely exhausted the Yorke family and their friends have given up the arduous search they have been conducting without result in the vicinity of Tamworth. Every inch of water and land within a radius of 12 miles has been covered and nothing found. Mr. Dan McGregor, the young man who had been courting Miss Yorke for the past several years, and was to have married her in the near future, has returned to his home in Croydon six miles away. When leaving Tamworth he stated that he expected to return in a couple of days to see whether there were any new developments in the case on which he might work to secure the recovery of his lost sweetheart.

Dr. C. K. Robinson who was treating the young woman at the time of her disappearance has not returned to Tamworth up till noon to-day.

CANNOT BE FOUND IN LIMESTONE CITY

Search There For Miss Yorke Is So Far Unavailing

Kingston, July 17.—If Blanche Yorke is in Kingston, as rumor states, she is being kept very much out of the way. A thorough search was made to-day of the hospitals in this city and other places to which the girl might have been taken, without finding anything to suggest her presence here.

BASEBALL

The game yesterday at Riverside Park, which resulted in another win for Brantford, was one of those listless kind of exhibitions—no life—no pep, but with ball players like every one else, they like a day off and yesterday was the day. The score was 9 to 7 for Brantford.

Tracey and Miller did the work.

SIGNALS TO STREET CARS

Passengers for street cars are requested to distinctly signal the car as it approaches the stop at which they are waiting by raising the hand, cane or umbrella to a horizontal position or higher.

In many cases it is impossible for the motormen to know whether or not persons who merely step out towards the centre of a street, when a car is approaching, want the car to stop or not, and much uncertainty and consequent delay to passengers may therefore be avoided by our patrons making a distinct signal, as above, when they wish a car to stop for them. MAY CLOSE UP ALL PRIVATE CITY EMPLOYMENT AGENCIES

When Toronto Bureau is Established Proposed Change May Be Made

Toronto, July 17.—If Provincial co-operation can be secured in the proposal of the Board of Control to establish a central city and Provincial employment Bureau, every private employment agency in the city may be abolished.

Such is the view of Controller McCarthy, when discussing the recommendation of the Board of Control which was sent on to the Council this afternoon to appoint a special committee to take the matter up with the Government.

"The splendid success of the civic bureau operated for a few weeks last winter, proves its great value to the city," he declared. "The difficulty is that the people flock into the city for employment, and we need to confer with the Government so that joint action may be taken in reference to cases that belong to the Province, rather than the city.

"Many cities in the United States prohibit private employment agencies finding that the civic bureaus give an altogether better service. This would probably be the ultimate result in Toronto. Personally, I favor this course."

TO DISCARD WRINKLES TAN, PIMPLES, FRECKLES

The use of creams on the face sometimes causes hair to grow. You can avoid the risk of acquiring superfluous hair by avoiding cosmetics and using mercolized wax instead. There is nothing better for any condition of the skin, as the wax actually absorbs the offensive cuticle. The latter is naturally replaced by a clear, smooth, healthy complexion, full of life and expression. It's the sensible way to discard a freckled, tanned, over-red blotchy or pimpled skin. Get an ounce of mercolized wax at any druggist's and apply nightly like cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. It takes a week or so to complete the transformation.

The ideal wrinkle eradicator is made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. Bathing the face in the solution brings almost instantaneous results.

OIL IN ALBERTA FOUND AND PAYS

In this issue of the Times appears an advertisement of the Windsor Oilfields, Limited, that will greatly interest our readers. Now that our Western province of Alberta has "struck oil" there are unlimited possibilities for wealth in owning shares in the wells that produce oil.

Oil to-day is one of the main factors in a Nation's Wealth. The untold gold contained in oil wells is almost beyond human comprehension. With the wonderful growth of the automobile and motor cycle business, oil, that is absolutely essential to the operation of such vehicles means wealth untold to those who own and control the wells.

Deputy-Sheriff Closes Cigar Shops; Cafes to Follow

Hammond, La., July 17.—A deputy sheriff walked into the cigar stands and drug stores here Sunday and warned the proprietors against the sale of tobacco in any form on the Sabbath.

A storm of protest arose.

The city officials disclaim any responsibility for the tobacco famine, but say they have been asked to enforce the State Sunday closing law.

The sale of soft drinks and other feminine refreshments has not yet been stopped, but it is understood a city ordinance on Sunday closing will be before Council this week.

MISSISSIPPI POSSE IN BATTLE WITH SLAYER

Prisoner, Who Killed Pontotoc Marshall, May Die

Pontotoc, July 17.—Oscar Morman, shot resisting posse after shooting to death Town Marshal J. C. Creed, is believed to be mortally wounded.

Norman's lower limbs are filled with shot.

He refuses to tell why he shot the marshal. In the Robertson hotel he and the officer met. Five shots from Morman's gun all took effect.

John A. Donaldson, principal of schools, led the posse and surrounded the home of Morman's brothers, ten miles from here. Morman appeared early Sunday morning. Commanded to surrender, he began firing.

PREMIER ASQUITH IS STILL SILENT ABOUT HIS PLANS

Refuses to Give Any Indication as to Lines He Will Follow in the Ulster Situation

London, July 17.—Premier Asquith announced in the House of Commons to-day that they had decided to hold an autumn session and had fixed the date provisionally for the last week in November or the beginning of December. For the third time within a week the Cabinet held another meeting to-day to consider the Irish situation and the allocation of business for the remainder of the session. The Prime Minister, much to the chagrin of the Opposition, refrained from any reference to the lines along which he would aim at a settlement of the Ulster problem when the Lords' amendments come up before the House at the beginning of the week.

The press in general are indulging in a great game of guessing as to the probable outcome of next week's debates, but even Liberal back-benchers confess they are entirely ignorant of the Prime Minister's plan, and that the whole business is as uncertain as ever. The Government is assailed by a variety of counsels, and even threats, from the Nationalist leaders and the Labor Party. It is also felt, amongst his own supporters that Mr. Asquith would have immeasurably helped matters by some plain indication of how he proposed to deal, on broad lines, with the changes introduced by the Lords.

WILL STUDY SUN FROM MONOPLANE

Russian Government to Aid Professor Todd in Contemplating Corona

Boston, July 17.—From the precarious perch of a monoplane, 20,000 ft. above Mother Earth, Prof. David P. Todd of Amherst college will seek to solve a mystery of the corona of the sun that has baffled astronomers for ages.

Prof. Todd is to sail for Riga, Russia, within a few days, where he is to study the eclipse of the sun in August.

"My first work after reaching Riga," said he "will be to select a site for observation and pick out a suitable place for the starting and landing of the aeroplane.

"The Russian Government has co-operated with me most graciously, having furnished passportem free transportation for my party and instruments.

"Once settled, I plan to go directly to Paris and engage an aeronaut and aeroplane.

"From the ground it is impossible to reproduce the corona on a photographic plate with any absolute accuracy, and the correctness of reproduction means much toward solving the mystery of the phenomena.

"Twenty thousand feet above the earth the power of absorption is materially reduced and I expect to obtain the best photographs of the corona that have ever been taken."

FOLEY & GLEASON GET CONTRACT FOR WHOLE OF STREET PAVING

Warren Paving Co. Would Not Accept Portion of Work Awarded Them--Business Tax Deposit Objected To--More Sanitary Drinking Fountains to be Provided

The City Council met in special session last evening. Mayor Buller presiding. The Aldermen present were Messrs. McIntyre, Anderson, Langford, Sr., Johnston, G. Walter Green, Duffus, Stratton, Duncan and Saunders.

Mr. McRoberts complained that Mr. Kennedy had rented his store in which to conduct a grocery business, but refused to pay the $100 security for business taxes under the Transient Traders Act, hence he stood to lose a good tenant. Mr. McRoberts thought Council might take action to remit to Kennedy the $100 and thus retain him his tenant.

City Solicitor Gordon explained that a $100 fee is charged against any person starting up business in the city as security that their business tax shall be paid. This is a statutory Act, of which municipalities may take advantage by by-law to assure that transients shall not engage in business in the city for a week or two and then clear out without paying to the municipality the business tax assessed against all business operations. This is in protection of the business men in general, and the $100 is merely a deposit against the business assessment when made, and should the tax called for by such assessment not amount to $100, the balance would be returned to the depositor.

It appears that Mr. Kennedy engaged in business here a year ago and he might possibly still be on the roll in the usual way, which would obviate the necessity for making any business tax deposit at the present time. Consequently this question went to the Finance Committee for enquiry and action thereon. Should Mr. Kennedy not still be on the roll by reason of his last year's business operations in Peterborough, the $100 deposit against him will still hold good. To the contrary, he will be free of the customary $100 business deposit.

Street Paving.

The City Engineer reported that Aylmer street, from Hunter to Brock, could be satisfactorily paved, the road foundation at this point being sufficiently substantial. However, as the road's foundation was to some extent composed of tan bark, it might be wise to add a few extra inches of concrete where the tan bark dominated. Council concluded that the cost of any additional concrete foundation at this point shall be chargeable against the general tax.

The Warren Paving Co. refused to enter into a contract for laying their bitulithic pavement on the sections of work to be done this year east of George street unless another 20,000 yards were guaranteed them, and Foley & Gleason refused to accept less work than tendered for and accepted by the Board of Works. Consequently Foley & Gleason get the contract for the whole street paving to be done this year, and a by-law to authorize a contract with them for this work was passed.

Fence Viewers.

A by-law to appoint City Engineer Parsons, Assistant Engineer T. A. S. Hay, Street Commissioner Harry Evans and Sanitary Inspector Spence as Fence Viewers for the city was left in abeyance for further consideration. The duties of such officials will be to decide on the character of line fences between properties, who shall pay the cost thereof, and to guarantee a uniformity of fences within the city limits. The fee for such work is to be charged against the property owners concerned. Some Aldermen thought men other than city officials should be named as fence-viewers, and an uncertainty as to the limit of charges for such work under the statute arose. Hence the question was side-tracked for further consideration.

More Drinking Fountains.

On motion of Ald. Duffus a sanitary drinking fountain will be installed outside the police station low enough for children to use and another at the Central Park.

NUDE WILDMAN

Purvis, Miss., July 17.—The wild man, who for two months terrorized Lamar and other counties, has been captured.

His face covered with a beard, hair on his head striking almost to his shoulders, eyes staring, and devoid absolutely of clothing, the fugitive was jailed here Saturday and later identified positively as John Till who escaped from the Meridian Insane Asylum more than two months ago.

Till was lassoed by Vollie and Quitman Slade, of this city, and led to the county jail here. The Slade brothers chased the wild man through the woods for some time, but did not have a struggle after the lasso was about him.

In jail, too, the wild man did not cause any trouble.

That the wild man has been living in the woods in and around Lamar county since his escape from the Meridian asylum is known positively. He lived off berries and fruit stolen from the farms and slept in the open woods at night.

Farmers on visits to Purvis reported seeing the bearded and gaunt-eyed man running around the country. Many tried to capture him.

Wild Man Tamed

When a report came to Purvis Saturday that the wild man was in the woods near Purvis, the Slade brothers, armed with lasso and revolvers started on the hunt.

They chased him some time, they said, before getting close enough to throw the rope around his neck.

Forced to don clothes at a nearby farmhouse, the wild man, rather tamed, was led to jail at the end of a rope.

Identified, Till was returned to Meridian Monday morning and strict watch probably will be kept on him at the asylum.

ULCERED TOOTH CAUSES DEATH

The funeral will be held from Holy Trinity church tomorrow morning.

REMARKABLE TWINS

Names Merely Transposed, Both Have Long Prison Records

The remarkable Stevenage twins, Ebenezer Albert Fox and Albert Ebenezer Fox, aged fifty-five, whose resemblance to each other has led to more than one complication, were charged at Enfield as suspected persons.

Evidence was given that both men were seen on a farm at Crewe Hill. They had a gun and rabbit snares, and one of them (the farmer could not distinguish between them, owing to their similarity) demanded money, while the other bolted.

Ebenezer Albert said he was occasionally employed by a magistrate and had been out shooting with the King. He would not be allowed to go out with the King if he were a dishonest man.

A detective was about to tell the story of the twin's career when the chairman said: "Now, we must be very clear about this. You are Albert Ebenezer, aren't you?" (pointing to one of the prisoners). "No," was the reply. "That is where you are mistaken. I am Ebenezer Albert."

The officer said that Ebenezer Albert had been convicted thirty-five times, including one term of ten years' penal servitude, and that Albert Ebenezer had been convicted sixty-five times, mostly for poaching and assaulting the police.

Ebenezer Albert declared that he had been wrongfully convicted for his brother.

"We will see there is no mistake this time," said the magistrate. "One month each."

LITTLE USED TITLES

His Majesty Inherited a Considerable Estate From John of Gaunt

Comparatively few people are aware that their Majesties are Duke and Duchess of Lancaster. The first Duke of Lancaster was King George's ancestor, John of Gaunt, and when his son and successor became King as Henry IV. the dukedom became merged in the Royal title and has so remained ever since. The net revenue derived by the King from the duchy is about $500,000 a year, but this revenue is not all derived from Lancashire. John of Gaunt's estates were spread about the country, and the King to-day has a direct interest in the Savoy district in the Strand, where John of Gaunt's town palace was.

LONELY MAN'S END

Lost on the Alps, the Awful Solitude Drove Him to Suicide

One of the most pathetic tragedies in Alpine annals is that of the suicide of a Vienna coffee-house keeper named Kumposcht, whose body was found in the Styrian Alps.

Kumposcht and a friend named Werner climbed the Great Buckstein. During the descent bad weather set in, and they lost their way. Finally they got into a rocky gorge, where Kumposcht broke down. Both spent the night in a small grotto. Kumposcht was so exhausted next morning that Werner was forced to leave him, with nearly a week's provisions, promising to send a rescue party from the valley.

After ten hours' climbing Werner arrived at the foot of the mountain but he was so weak and sick that he could not accompany the rescuers, who failed to find the grotto in the fog. Another party found Kumposcht dead. Driven to despair by weakness and loneliness, he had committed suicide by cutting an artery and stabbing himself in the chest. His last will and some diary notes were found. "I must commit suicide. I can't stand it longer. Nobody comes to help. I cannot eat and cannot sleep. I see men in the valley, but nobody comes. How ungrateful are men! Good by. One minute more and all is over."

OWNERS OF LONDON

A list of the largest ground landlords in the County of London, the area of which is 116 square miles, is given as follows:

Over 1,200 acres each: Lord Northbrook (Eltham) and Dulwich College.

Over 900 acres each: Lord St. Germans (Blackheath), Mr. H. W. Forster (Lewisham), Mr. H. T. B. Barron (Plumstead), and Sir Spencer Maryon Wilson (Hampstead and Charlton). ster (Pimlico).

Over 320 acres each: Lord Dartmouth (St. Pancras and Lewisham) Prudential Assurance Company (various districts), Mercers' Company (various districts), and Magdalen College, Oxford (Wandsworth).

The total number of owners is given as 38,200, the number of individuals owning one house each as about 14,000 and of those owning five acres or more 700. The area held by railway companies and public authorities is about twenty-two square miles.

WIFE AND NO WIFE

English Lady's Marriage to a French Count Annulled

To put an end to an intolerable state of things, Sir Samuel Evans, President of the Divorce Division, in granting a decree of divorce, said he was departing from a rigid rule of law. Unless he granted a decree the lady was no wife in France, but, were she to marry again in England, she would be liable to prosecution for bigamy.

The case was that in which the Countess Kate de Montaigu sought the dissolution of her marriage on the ground of the desertion, from her husband, Count Réne de Montaigu, son of a French marquis.

Married in 1909, at the Rugby Registry Office, the Countess, an Englishwoman, lived with her husband near Rugby. In 1911 he went away to Paris, and never returned to her. The Countess said that she and her husband intended to live in England, but since the proceedings were started she had discovered that her husband's father had obtained a decree of nullity of her marriage in France. Under French law, it was explained, when a Frenchman designedly went abroad to get married in order to evade the laws of his own country the marriage could be annulled under the heading of "clandestinity."

Sir Samuel Evans also said that the case raised an extraordinary state of affairs, and, having regard to all the circumstances, he would follow precedent in similar cases, and would grant the lady a divorce under the law of the land in which she was born.

WOMEN'S POOR WAGES

Sixty-four Cents for Fifty-five Hours' Work, Then Fined Twenty-four Cents

How urgent is the necessity for an increase in the staff of women inspectors in England, is shown in a report of the Women's Trade Union League, from which the following particulars are culled:

In a weaving mill a girl eighteen years of age, who earned 64 cents for a week's work of fifty-five hours, was fined 24 cents for bad work. For talking at their work eighteen girls were fined 48 cents each. In a collar factory workers were charged 10 cents for cotton which they can buy outside for 1 cent. They are fined 4 cents for leaving a needle in their work.

Factory girls who were working from nine till six were compelled to take home bundles. Sometimes they worked till ten and eleven o'clock. Girls leave the factory to work at night in the employer's private house. Women packers, who worked on the ground floor with the door open, sometimes hit their finger instead of the nails, they were so cold. Girls stand all day in damp places, partly in the open air, and have their hands in cold water all day. Their hands are so covered with sores and chilblains as to be almost useless.

Girls making medicated lozenges work in a room full of fumes. In one case the workers kept crockery on the cloak-room floor, which is swept four times a day. It is then carried into the dining-room, where there are no means of washing it. In rooms full of fumes girls have to eat lunch at the bench where they work.

The report pointed out that there has been no real increase in the staff of women inspectors since 1906, although the number of women workers has increased from about 1,500,000 to nearly 2,000,000.

Mother Flew With Son

Sidney Pickles, a well known English aviator, made a flight across the Channel to France, carrying his mother as a passenger.

In order to furnish the innumerable delicate tints of paint required by artists, manufacturers have nowadays to ransack the world. Even mummies are called into use. Mummies are usually preserved in the finest bitumen, and this ancient bitumen has, in the course of centuries, turned the mummies a leathery-brown tint. It has been found that when the bitumen and the shreds of mummy are ground down by machinery, a beautiful brown pigment is the result—exactly the tint required for painting certain shades of brown hair.

Sepia is one of the commonest of artists' paints. It is a deep brown in color, and comes from a source equally strange. It is prepared from the black, inky fluid discharged by the cuttle-fish to blind and baffle its enemies.

Prussian blue is prepared from horses' hoofs, and is made by fusing the hoofs with potassium carbonate.

Raw sienna is soil from near Sienna in Italy. Burnt sienna, another common tint, is simply the same earth burnt.

The majority of pigments for making colors—that is, the dry powder—are obtained from minerals, but many pigments come from the animals kingdom. Cochineal, for example, comes from the dried bodies of insects. A kind of pitch is also used for certain pigments.

A Royal Precedent

It is probable that the Prince of Wales is the first actual Heir-Apparent to serve with a volunteer force under canvas as a private. He said he would not give the witness more than six acres. The accused remained all night, and had his supper and breakfast. The witness went round with the prisoner on the following day to mark out his holdings. Others had similarly entertained the prisoner.

BADLY DELAYED MAIL

Sent to Destination After Third of Century in Seine

During the siege of Paris by the Germans in 1870 the post office administration hit upon the expedient—in addition to the balloons—of enclosing letters in small zinc globes, watertight and hermetically sealed, and dropping them into the Seine. There they floated, if they were not captured by the Germans, down the river to the French lines, where a net stretched across the river gathered them in, and they were sent on their way. Unfortunately for the French the Germans discovered the character of these zinc floats, and as they could not hope to see and fish out by ordinary means all the letters that went down thus, they stretched across the river, at Villeneuve Saint Georges, a net of their own and effectually stopped this system of postal communication. The zinc balls and their use were pretty nearly forgotten, when about ten years ago, a fisherman found in the Seine, near Villeneuve, a queer looking globe of zinc. He opened it, and found three hundred letters, still legible, and all dated December, 1870. They were delivered to the postal authorities, and after this long wait in the river went on their way.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to sufficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $60,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such a company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

Newly-laid Eggs

Bacteriologists tell us that in an egg evaporation and the action of bacteria are evident by the third or fourth day. There are some who believe that from that time on the egg is not perfectly "fresh," or "new laid," nor any other name that should mean the best. It is edible for some time after that if kept properly, but it is not of first quality, and all the statements to that effect cannot make it so. If the farmer has to have longer time than three days to get his eggs to the consumer, he should have to classify them other than the highest, and he cannot expect to compete with the poultryman who delivers his product 72 hours old.

Beets For Cattle

If beets are fed to cows in the barn in large quantities the place should be well cleaned up and aired before each feeding, else the effect on the atmosphere will be so bad it will taint the milk.

What Day Were You Born?

Among the innumerable superstitions about babies is the old saw about the day of birth:

Monday's child is fair of face.
Tuesday's child is full of grace,
Wednesday's child is sour and sad.
Thursday's child is merry and glad.
Friday's child is loving and giving,
Saturday's child must work for a living.
But the child that is born on the Sabbath Day
Is blithe and bonny and good and gay

Only Sardine Fishery in Canada

The province of New Brunswick has this distinction: it possesses the only sardine fishery in Canada. The fishing is carried on in the waters of Passamaquoddy Bay and the waters around the Islands of Grand Manan and Campobello, and the West Isles, in the Bay of Fundy. Of such importance is this fishery, and in such masses do the fish appear that the fishermen who prosecute their calling amongst those islands depend largely upon it for their livelihood.

GASOLINE FUMES

The Gas Given off by This Popular Fuel Acts Like an Anesthetic

Gasoline fumes, in addition to being highly inflammable, are also poisonous to the human being. This fact has only recently been developed by medical authorities and it is possible that its discovery might have the effect of explaining some deaths that have been assigned as probably due to other causes. The fumes are poisonous under certain conditions and it is well to have these conditions thoroughly understood, else there may be more deaths from this cause. Combined with enough air there is little or no danger, but when a person is subjected to the influence of the fumes in a confined place the chances are that they will be affected in a way that might have fatal results. So far as their investigations have gone the chemists and medical men who have investigated gasoline poisoning have come to the conclusion that its effects are very much like being overcome with an anesthetic. The victim suddenly collapses and becomes unconscious. During the period when consciousness is lost the people behave very much as do people who have been subjected to ether as an anesthetic. Some of them fight and scream and some of them are perfectly still. As in the case of an anesthetic, the recovery is dependent on the individual. It is not often that there are any bad effects from it, however. In a number of cases that have occurred in Montreal where the discovery of the poisonous nature of the fumes has been investigated, recovery has been prompt and the victims were able to return to work the next day. In all of these cases, however, restorative measures were commenced immediately on the men being overcome—the victims being men in these cases—so that there is no evidence of what the fumes will do if the person overcome by them is not given immediate attention. That is, there is no positive evidence so far as the Montreal authorities know. There have been cases where deaths occurred which, in light of the discovery that has been made, may safely be assigned to inhaling gasoline fumes. One of these was the case of a man who was painting or cleaning the inside of a gasoline tank and was found dead. Another was the case of a chauffeur who was found dead in a garage where there was no ventilation and where the fumes of gasoline were very strong. It is pointed out that, in view of the universal custom of using gasoline as a cleaning material by women, it would be well to see that the room where it is used, is well ventilated with a steady current of fresh air. There is no danger so long as the fumes are not confined—just as there is little or no danger of explosion when the gas is allowed to mingle freely with the air.

A RECORD STURGEON

One Fish Provided a Meal for 1,000 People

Very seldom indeed is the sturgeon the finny monster which Edward II. made a Royal fish, and which, when caught in the Thames, becomes the property of the Crown, captured in English waters nowadays. For this reason not a little interest was aroused a few days ago when it was announced that a sturgeon 9 feet 9 inches in length, weighing 439 pounds, had been caught in the River Delph at Welney Washes, near Littleport, Norfolk. This fish, which according to the estimate of a salesman at Spitalfields, who ultimately sold it for $30, would provide a meal for nearly 1,000 people, had been noticed in the river, and attempts had been made to shoot it. But the cartridges used were loaded with shot too small to have any effect on the sturgeon's hard skin. A large net, therefore, was drawn across the river, after which a boat was rowed alongside the fish, when one of the men succeeded in forcing in large and powerful hook attached to a strong pole into his throat. This enabled him to keep its head out of water just long enough for the fish to be killed with a gun. Some idea of its size and weight may be gathered from the fact that five men were required to land it. This, however, is by no means the largest sturgeon which has been caught in English waters. The record was a fish weighing 460 pounds, while in the North Sea fish weighing as much as 562 pounds and 725 pounds have been captured by trawlers. It is pointed out that one of the most remarkable facts about the fish netted in the North Sea is that they are similar to the American species, whence it would seem that the specimens caught from time to time in our waters must have made the voyage across the Atlantic, since the fish appears to have died out as a regular inhabitant of British waters. Sturgeons pass the greater part of the year in the sea, but periodically ascend large rivers, and it was due to this characteristic that the specimen was caught recently in the River Delph. Not only do they attain great size and weight, but, according to the estimates of some experts, they sometimes live as long as two hundred years. Apropos of the fact that Edward II. made the sturgeon a Royal fish, it is interesting to note that its flesh, quite apart from the fact that caviare is made from the roe, is always held in great estimation, and in olden days was always reserved for the table of the King.

VARIOUS METHODS OF PRESERVING EGGS

They Must be Fresh in the First Place and Should be Scrupulously Clean

There is no better method of preserving eggs than in water-glass, or soluble silicate of soda, which is not an expensive material to buy, as a pound, which only costs a very few cents, dissolved in the correct proportion of water, will preserve a large number. The amount of water to be added depends upon the sample, but as full directions are usually sent with each tin, it is difficult to go wrong. The eggs are placed in a glazed vessel, and covered with the liquid, care being taken that all the eggs are submerged. When they are wanted for use, they should be gently lifted out of the liquid, wiped dry and used as speedily as possible.

The oldest, but still a very excellent method of preserving is by means of salt, lime and water. Four gallons of lime, one of salt, and twenty of water, should be mixed together, and when the water has taken into solution as much lime and salt as it is capable of doing, it should be allowed to settle, the clear liquid being used to pour over the eggs, which have previously been placed in a suitable vessel. This method has the disadvantage of making the shells rough and extremely brittle—so much so, in fact, that, as a rule, eggs that have been preserved in lime cannot be boiled, the shells cracking with the least touch. When eggs are to be preserved for only a very short time—for two or three months—dry salt answers admirably, but this is an unsuitable method for a longer period.

If a new-laid egg be dipped into boiling water, it slightly coagulates the white, and so prevents the air getting to the contents. For home use this method is suitable, but it does not answer when the eggs are for market. Smearing with vaseline or butter keeps the contents fresh for a week or two, but is not recommended for more than a month.

Only perfectly fresh eggs should be preserved, and it is largely a waste of labor and money to attempt keeping eggs that are more than two or three days old when placed in the preservative. They should be allowed to settle twelve hours after being laid but the sooner after this time they can be treated the better will they be when they are wanted for use. Dirty eggs do not preserve at all well, and if there is any dirt on the shells they should be washed. A dirty egg has an injurious effect not only on its own contents, but on all those that come into contact therewith. As infertile eggs preserve better than those containing a germ, it is advisable when producing eggs with this end in view to keep the hens apart from the male birds.

MONEY IN WOODLOTS

Scientific Principles to be Followed to Secure Best Results

There is no part of the farm which will give bigger returns for so little expenditure of time and labor as the woodlot, says Mr. B. R. Morton, expert forester for the Dominion Government, and there are three ways in which the farmer, by the exercise of ordinary common sense, can vastly improve the composition, production and reproduction of his woodlot.

The first thing necessary is to improve the character of the crop, which can be done by cutting down and using for firewood all diseased and deformed trees, as well as such species whose presence in the woodlot is not desirable. Only too frequently is the method of cutting exactly the reverse. The best trees are cut, often for purposes for which an inferior wood would serve. Firewood probably yields the best returns for a small acreage and for this purpose rapid-growers such as poplar, ash and elm should be encouraged, which should make an annual growth of from one-half to one cord per acre. Basswood, too, will be in increasing demand because of its rapid growth, because it coppices readily and because of its value in small sizes for the manufacture of excelsior, cooperage stock and other small articles for which the wood is particularly adapted. Maple reproduces readily, and although not a rapid grower, it nevertheless yields a substantial revenue when it becomes large enough to tap. Soft woods like spruce, balsam and pine grow much more rapidly than hardwoods and might be advantageously grown for fuel or pulpwood.

When the most suitable species have been selected and the weed-trees removed, the woodlot must then be thinned until the crowns of the best-formed remaining trees are seen to barely touch.

The third requisite in the scientific farming of the woodlot, is that the cattle be kept out, especially after heavy cutting, when reproduction is most desired. Cattle are just as injurious to a young crop of tree-seedlings as they are to a young crop of grain. They may indeed eat the grass in the woodlot, but they would just as soon, if not sooner, eat the young and tender hardwood shoots, and the same can be said of sheep. Even coniferous seedlings are not immune so that certainty in production is only assured by fencing off the cut-over areas.

The longest artificial watercourse in the world is the Bengal Canal, 90[illegible] miles in length.

American Sponge Fisheries

While sponge fishing in the Americas is rather a modern industry, it produces more than two-thirds of the world's supply in weight. The fisheries of the Mediterranean now produce about one-half of the world's supply in value. Sponge fishing is believed to be most highly developed at Tarpon Springs, Florida, and Batabano Cuba. As early as 1822 the inhabitants of Key West, Florida, learned from specimens thrown up on the beaches of the presence of several species of useful sponges. For some time they were limited to domestic use among the inhabitants, but not until 1849 was a cargo sent to New York.

Our Point of View

The attitude of the Orangemen of Manitoba since the election is calculated to cause Premier Roblin to experience many bad half hours.

—o—

Picking out a place for a vacation is easy enough, but picking up the money to go there is another story.

—o—

Dr. William Osler says ninety per cent. of us are tuberculous. He is a delightful old top who is always saying something that will bring cheer to his brother mortals.

—o—

Now that the Hon. Ted Roosevelt has severed his connection with the New York Outlook other writers on that magazine will have a chance to get a look in.

—o—

One of the banks in Manitoba advertises "Money to loan to farmers for feeding cattle." When cattle are fed on money the price of beef, of course, is bound to be high.

—o—

We have just heard that while in Montreal recently the Hon. N. W. Rowell, was struck on the cheek with a stone. He was not seriously injured but it is a safe bet that the stone is in a precarious condition.

—o—

It is said that Mr. N. W. Rowell is willing to retire from the leadership of the Liberal party in Ontario as soon as a successor can be found. As the skids are already signed under him it is well that he feels that way about it.

—o—

Toronto Globe: "Senator Helen Robinson, the lady stateman of Colorado, wants a court of domestic relations and it may interest her to know that we already have one." Wifey sits on the bench and when she hands down a decision there is no refusal.

—o—

An advertisement in the Toronto Globe reads: "Bathing suits for ladies made of wool, brilliantine silk and other materials." It strikes us that a lady made of either wool or brilliantine silk would be something really worth seeing.

—o—

A farmer from the West visited Winnipeg and was sent to the workhouse for ten days for mashing. His excuse was that there were no good looking women where he lived. He may have told the truth, but it is a safe bet that when he returns home the women will prevent his being received with bouquets and a brass band.

Home Rule Without Ulster

...This seems to be the settlement which is now in sight. The situation, however, is still serious enough. The attempt on the part of many to treat the matter as a purely political one ignores the very crux of the whole matter, viz., the difference of religion and the profound distrust by the observant Protestants of the Roman hierarchy. It is easy enough to say that the priests would not rule Ireland. But when we see practically every Roman Catholic newspaper upon this continent urging that Roman Catholics boycott the Panama Exhibition simply because the Roman Catholic Government of Italy appointed as its representative to that exhibition a Jew, who it is claimed, had insulted the Pope we find it hard to understand how Ireland can be governed by a Roman Catholic Parliament in such a way as to allow no priestly interference. And when Lord Roberts declared point blank that the coercion of Ulster would "break and ruin the army," he was voicing the belief of hundreds of thousands of Nonconformist Liberals. According to reports the Asquith Government has at last recognized the tremendous seriousness of the question and it seems probable that Ulster will be exempted from the provisions of the Home Rule Bill. Of course the Irish members will not be very well pleased with this, but we think that even they recognize that unless Ulster is excluded any attempt to enforce Home Rule would mean civil war, with the sympathy of Protestant England largely supporting the Ulstermen. We trust the rumor of settlement is correct, and that the crisis in this matter is safely past. The issue is not fundamentally political, but religious, and cannot be settled along party lines.

Cure Children's Colds By External Treatment

Mothers Will Find Nothing So Speedily and Reliable as Old-Time "Nerviline"

It's really a shame to upset a young child's stomach by internal dosing, when external treatment will so promptly break up a cold.

When your boy comes in after play with his feet soaking wet, his throat hoarse and sore, his little chest tight and congested, just apply Nerviline. Give him a vigorous rubbing over his throat, and put lots of Nerviline on his chest and rub it right in. You see Nerviline penetrates more quickly [illegible] and [illegible] with a hot flannel bandage. This treatment won't fail. Your boy will be [illegible], and you will have the satisfaction of knowing you have warded off perhaps a cold, or grippe, or illness that might have laid him up.

Nerviline is mighty good for [illegible] [illegible] family doc[illegible] is cures all sorts of external aches and pains you simply can't beat it. Try it for earache, toothache, neuralgia, sciatica, lame back, rheumatism, or lumbago. Wherever there is congestion, inflammation or pain in the joints or muscles, Nerviline will cure mighty quick. The large 50c. family size bottle is so economical, so useful it should be in every home. There is also a small 25c. size. Dealers everywhere sell Nerviline.

A BACKWARD RACE

One of England's Oriental Colonies Far Behind Times

"Papua is a country of excellent possibilities," says Judge Murray, the Lieutenant-Governor. "The only disadvantage is the scanty population, which probably will not increase for some time. The natives are savages of the stone age, or what we were some thousands of years ago, and to suddenly come and 'biff' them into the twentieth century throws them out of gear, as it were, but we have done away with head hunting, cannibalism, etc. Labor troubles are less severe than formerly. I am against the introduction of other black labor to take the place of the Papuan, although I gave my approval to the introduction of a number of Japanese for instructional purposes in the rubber industry, but the Commonwealth Government would not allow it. There are eight thousand natives working for the planters, miners, and Government. This is four times the number employed six years ago. Enormous profits have been made out of rubber."

WITH THE SOCKEYES

An Irristible Lure to the People on the Coast

A rare and beautiful spectacle, seen once a year in coast towns like Vancouver, is that of the myriad of fishing boats which dot the fresh and salt waters. It is at night when the beacon lights of these cities of boats beckon from across the waves that the interested observer gets anything like an adequate conception of the number of those who hearken annually to the call of the sockeye which has since time immemorial proved an irresistible lure to the dwellers of the Pacific. These temporary boat cities claim an interesting variety of citizens for their floating population, from the man who is out for the mere sport of it to the cannery representative on business intent. It is an occasion when all nationalities are at one in a common interest, and the white man, the Japanese and the Indian sink their tribal differences at Neptune's altar. Along the shores of civilised and populated districts the salmon-nets are the chief ammunition of warfare and the sibilant, syphon-like sounds emanating from the wooden buttons which buoy them up from the boats possess a weird fascinating music unlike any other sound existent, and which invariably associates them with salmon hunting in the Pacific. In the wilds up the Fraser the Indian may be seen fishing in a more primitive manner with his home-made dip-net. But he is none the less skilful for that, and one might think that he is in league with the sockeye, so thoroughly is he versed in the secret of their ways and so successfully does he capture them. He is the most picturesque of all the fishermen and the unconscious harmony of his rhythmic movement as he raises and lowers his awkward dip-net from some precarious niche of the canyon walls fits him with the picture as perfectly as the jackpine under whose shadow he works.

THE FARM WOODLOT

Free Expert Advice Obtainable on the Subject of Proper Care

With the increasing inaccessibility of the forests and the consequent high price of wood, the small wooded areas common on the farms of Canada are also increasing in economic value. They frequently occupy soils unfitted for agriculture and with a little care can be made to furnish the farmer with a continuous revenue in fuel, fence-posts, rails, poles and structural timber.

Unfortunately these woodlots are frequently allowed to deteriorate through carelessness or lack of knowledge on the part of the farmer. He takes great care to farm his agricultural lands to the best advantage, but often fails to realize that by farming his woodlot with the same care, he could get the same increase in productiveness. Cattle and weeds are not permitted in a wheat-field, yet in the woodlot the cattle range at will, and instead of removing the weed-trees the farmer allows these to increase in number, removing only the trees best suited to his purpose.

To save the farmer from himself, the Dominion Government appointed a technical forester with head-quarters at the Forestry Branch, Ottawa, whose principal duty is to answer all inquiries, and give free advice on these matters. If necessary, arrangements can be made for a personal inspection of woodland properties by this expert. No conditions are imposed on the owner of the woodland, it being assumed that he who is anxious for advice will accept it when given. The expert looks over the stand, determines what species of trees are best suited to the soil and to the local market, shows how to improve the character of the crop and its rate of growth by proper thinnings, and, if desired, gives advice regarding tree-planting, hardwood-coppicing, felling methods and the most profitable sizes to be grown.

BURDENSOME NAMES GIVEN TO CHILDREN

One Girl Loaded Down With Twenty six, One For Each Letter of Alphabet

Probably the most burdensome name ever bestowed on a child was that given by Arthur Pepper, a laundryman of West Derby, Liverpool, to his daughter, born in December, 1882. It comprized one name for every letter of the alphabet, and was certainly ingenious in its way, running: Anna Bertha Cecilia Diana Emily Fanny Gertrude Hypatia Ines Jane Kate Louise Maud Nora Ophelia Quince Rebecca Starkey Teresa Ulysis Venus Winnifred Xenophon Yetty Zeno. P, of course, was provided in the surname, Pepper.

Hundreds of examples of this poor form of parental wit were brought to light by an investigator. Noah's Ark Smith, Sardine Box, Jolly Death, Judas Iscariot Brown, One-too-Many Johnson, Not-wanted Smith, Bovril Simpson, Merry Christmas Figgett, Odious Heaton, Anno Domini Davis, are the names of children probably living who will have to bear them through life. How can such children observe the Fifth Commandment?

There was for a long time a curiosity in nomenclature on the Australian pension list. His name was, "Through - much - tribulation - we - enter - the - Kingdom - of - Heaven Smith." The officials of the Pension Department very pardonably abbreviated him into "Tribby Smith."

It is not surprising that the names of Dickens' characters—odd though they are—should be found in real life, for it was from life that many of them were taken. Some, as we know, were copied from the names over shop doors, etc., but this was not the novelist's only source of selection. Among his papers John Foster found carefully-drawn-up lists of names, with the source from which he obtained them, and the longest lists were those drawn from the "Privy Council Education Lists." Some of the names thus noted are too extravagant for anything but reality—Jolly Stick, Bill Marigold, George Muzzle, William Why, Robert Gorpel, Robin Scrubbam, Sarah Goldsacks, Catherine Two, Sophia Doomsday, Rosetta Dust, Sally Gimblet!

BUSINESS IN 2,000 B.C.

The Babylonians and Their Neighbors Knew of "Short Cuts"

The deciphering of the old Babylonian records of clay have revealed some very interesting facts with reference to business life two thousand years before Christ. In many cases these records relate to trade transactions, to business disputes, incident to the ordinary, every-day doings of the merchants, and to their troubles as to the title to property. There are even data to show how the Babylonians and their neighbors conducted their accounting systems. Nearly four thousand years ago these people had so far progressed in "business" that it was actually found necessary to enact special laws to deal with those who were trying the "short cuts" to wealth. The young man with "prospects," like his prototypes of today, was wont to utilize those prospects in negotiation with the professional money-lender. The banker of Babylon deposited regularly and issued his brick "checks" and bill of exchange, and the law intervened, as it does to-day, to uphold the rights of property. Most careful accounts of revenue and expenditure were kept. These show in many cases that investments in loans and purchases of land, as well as other profitable dealings, were a regular part of the fiscal activities.

WESTERN PIONEERS

Men of the Eighties Who Persevered in the Face of Difficulty

There is little left of the Winnipeg of the early eighties. Each year sees a diminution of the links which bind the days when Winnipeg was the stepping-off place, to the present, in which Winnipeg acts the part of the gateway to prosperity and affluence to all who seek diligently and perseveringly. Each year, one or more of those who formed the little band of pioneers who exhibited that diligence and perseverance in the face of almost insuperable obstacles, who stuck to the town of their adoption in spite of hard times, through all the vicissitudes of the growth of Winnipeg from trading post to metropolis, steadfast in their faith in its future, pass to their long rest having seen their judgment justified, their dreams of the city that was to be come true. The city of Winnipeg, and indeed, the whole of Western Canada, joins in paying tribute to the worth of these pioneer citizens of the prairies, whose unbounded optimism it was which made possible the Winnipeg of to-day, and whose prophetic vision outlined, in spite of the struggles in which they were involved, the glorious future of the west, which to-day is just beginning to be realized. The story of their careers is an object lesson to all in display of sterling character, of business integrity, and a wealth of human kindness.—The Saturday Post.

Out of 85 samples of maple sugar examined in the laboratory of the Inland Revenue, only 43 were the genuine article. The other samples were adulterated with other sweetening materials. Out of 128 samples of maple syrup, only 86 were pure.

Seldom has a man broken more Statutes, acts or by-laws by a single act than Bernard Wright of Saskatoon, who shot a duck on Sunday. He broke the Sunday law in that he was shooting on Sunday, he broke the city bylaw, in that he discharged a firearm inside the city limits, he broke the game act, in that he was shooting out of season, and he broke another section of the same act, in that he shot game without a license. His duck might have cost him $102.75, but he got off with $12.75, and a warning.

Coffee From Figs

Ever since coffee has been a popular beverage, apparently, efforts have been made to find substitutes for it, either as mere adulterants, like chicory, or for the sake of greater wholesomeness or cheapness. Rye and other grains, lupine, acorns, beets and carrots have all been thus used, but the fig coffee of Austria is a decided novelty. An excellent coffee it is claimed to be made from dried and roasted figs, which need not be of the first quality.

They are dried in the sun or in evaporating pans, according to climate, and then roasted in ovens till brown or almost black and quite brittle. They are then ground up and the resultant powder is pressed into tablets. When made use of they are merely dissolved in hot water. The beverage is said to be agreeable in color and flavor with a somewhat sweeter taste than that made from chicory.

The Chinook Oil Company, Ltd., is incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta, Canada, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 500,000 shares, par value $1.00 each.

The Company has acquired the petroleum and natural gas rights to all the property as shown in the map submitted herewith, containing in all 2,320 acres, all of which are held under lease from the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

The Company now offers for public subscription 50,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share, payable in full upon application. No shares will be sold at less than par. The proceeds of the sale of this issue is to be used for putting down a well on legal subdivision 13, section 32, township 22, range 4, west of the 5th meridian. Drilling operations will be started as soon as the necessary equipment can be assembled on the ground.

Two of the Company's properties are on the main or primary anticline between the Mowbray-Berkely and Dingman Wells. The Dingman Well is now producing, and this main anticline is now practically a proven oil field. All the properties of the company are located on anticlines and were chosen by our geologist.

We strongly recommend an investment in the Chinook Oil Company, Limited. This Company is as strong as any in the field. Its Directorate is composed of prominent business men of Western Canada, and its holdings are extremely valuable.

The time to act is at present, because with the further development of the oil field, stock values will keep advancing.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

CABINET SALARIES

Britain Pays Her Ministers Well and Provides Pensions

In Great Britain most of the Cabinet Ministers get twenty-five thousand dollars a year each. The Lord Chancellor gets fifty thousand. And the Attorney-General, with his salary and the fees incident to his office, gets nearer a hundred thousand than the the last-named figure. Most of them have good—and some of them very large—means. Lord Haldane is very rich, as are Lords Crewe and Beauchamp, and Mr. Harcourt, who, in addition, married an immensely rich wife, as did Mr. Asquith. Sir Edward Grey, Mr. Runciman, Mr. Hobhouse, and Mr. Pease are all rich men. Mr. Burns draws a salary of twenty-five thousand dollars a year, and is popularly supposed to live on less than a tenth of it. Recent investigations showed that Mr. Lloyd-George's private income, derived from his savings, was about four thousand dollars a year. Mr. Churchill's private means are small. He made a lot of money by his writings—his "Life" of his father brought him in fifty thousand dollars—but he is a free spender.

Not only are British Cabinet Ministers paid large salaries, but, when out of office, if they can conscientiously make a declaration that their private means do not admit of their living as befits a Cabinet Minister, they can draw a pension equal to half the salary which they received in office. It should be added that the unavoidable official expenses of the senior British Cabinet Ministers are heavy. They have to do a lot of expensive political entertaining. For instance, on the King's birthday, and at the beginning of each session, they have to banquet their principal supporters in Parliament, and these banquets run into a lot of money.

Catarrh Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

INSPIRATION AT HOME

Canadians Are Surrounded With a Wealth of Artistic Material

Speaking of a Canadian architect, a writer in the "Year Book" says, "He holds that the climatic extremes and differences of our three thousand miles width of territory, and the range between, say, Toronto and Edmonton call for types of building, each the natural development of its own environment. He believes that the building material of each district must dominate in a general way its architectural individuality." Here is a future for Canadian art! If the architect may be locally inspired, why not the musician? Why not the painter? Shall the dweller in Quebec paint Devonshire lanes? Shall he of the Rockies paint Quebec? Shall an artist fostered at a Hudson Bay post imbibe the tonality of Whistler? Are the lumberjacks of North Ontario to be depicted in the manner of Burne Jones? You may trust the painters for the answers to these queries They know that our Atlantic coast is finer than Brittany; that Quebec Province contains a wealth of old world picturesqueness as quaint as Nuremberg; that South Ontario is as smiling and placid as Hampshire; that Northern Ontario is as grim as Norway; that the prairies give scope to the lover of vast solitudes, that the Rockies are as sublime as the Alps and that our lakes and rivers have not their equal on earth. The artists have not yet expressed these things adequately. Neither in prose nor in paint has the work yet been done We have had the topography but only brief glimpses of the spirit. We have had the conscientious geographer, not the inspired poet. But now the time is ripe. The poets, the novelists, the painters are enthralled by the beauty of their own country. Will the Canadian public support them

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing, or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

Far Too Much Cocaine Sold in Ontario—Government Inspection

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association is on record as against the traffic in cocaine. The Registrar-General, said that over two thousand ounces of cocaine were sold in Ontario alone during one year, and that was far more than is necessary for surgical use and prescriptions. He declared that too much of the habit begetting drug is being imported into this country by degraded agents, who distribute it like any other commercial commodity. "They barter them on the highway and in secret places for the sake of gain, which is a disgrace to humanity," said the speaker, who told his fellow-pharmacists that the only source of detection and imprisonment of such unscrupulous persons was by the appointment of a Dominion Inspector. The cocaine laws of the Province and the Dominion were not put on the statute books any too soon. Speaking from actual experience, as inspector for the Ontario College of Pharmacy, of sales of cocaine by wholesale houses, he was of the opinion that there was far more cocaine being sold than was necessary for legitimate prescription purposes, and had the same opinion in regard to the sale of morphine and opium. Something should be done to further curtail the illegitimate sale of these three bad habit-forming drugs, and money should be expended by the Government toward furthering this end. He had not found it necessary to bring all cases and druggists into the public courts, but privately faced them with the charge that they were personally violating the law. In some cases, he was sorry to say, such accusations had been denied, but when they discovered that he had had access to wholesalers' records of sales, they acknowledged their faults, professed sorrow and begged of him to overlook their action, and humbly promised never to do it again. Judging from what he knew he would advise all pharmaceutical associations to recommend the Government to appoint a Dominion Inspector.

We are most of us willing to acknowledge that we have been fools—seldom that we are fools.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. THE POULTRY HOUSE

Some Pointers Gathered From a Government Publication

Select a location that has natural drainage away from the building.

A dry, porous soil, such as sand or gravelly loam, is preferable to a clay soil.

In most localities the building should face the south, as this insures the greatest amount of sunlight during the winter.

Allow at least two square feet of floor space per bird.

Proper ventilation and sunlight mean a dry house and healthy birds.

The partial open-front house is conceded to be the best type for most sections.

The colony plan of housing poultry may be adopted to good advantage on many farms. This system does away with the danger of tainted soil.

The roosts should be built on the same level, two feet six inches from the floor, with a dropping board about eight inches below them.

Good roosts may be made of 2 by 2-inch material with upper edges rounded.

The nests may be placed on the side walls or under the dropping boards. It is best to have them darkened, as the hens prefer a secluded place in which to lay.

TWO PESTS OF CATTLE

How to Prevent and Control Lice and Ringworm

These two pests of housed cattle trouble most in dark, damp, dirty, badly ventilated stables. Remedial measures fail if only the animals are treated. So long as calves and adult cattle remain on pasture they are not bothered with vermin or skin disease; but when they go into winter quarters the trouble starts. The reason is that eggs ("nits") of lice remain in the stable from season to season, while the vegetable parasite of ringworm lives on damp walls, partitions, fences and other woodwork as well as on the skin of animals. Both pests, therefore, are acquired in the stable. If animals are to be made comfortable by keeping them free of lice and ringworm the stable should be specially prepared for their reception. Each animal should be allowed four square feet of window-glass and five hundred to eight hundred cubic feet of air-space in the stable.

Good ventilation, too, is absolutely necessary, and by preference should be of the King system. In this method of ventilation the fresh air enters at the ceiling, drives the hot air downward upon the backs of the cattle and is sucked out through wall vents near the ground-level and connecting with pipes discharging through a high chimney in the roof. The cleansing process consists in removing all loose trash, litter and soiled feed, scrubbing walls, mangers, partitions, floors and ceiling with a 1-50 solution of coal-tar disinfectant or crude carbolic acid or solution of four ounces of formaldehyde or sulphate of copper to a gallon of water. Fresh-made lime-wash is then applied with a spraying pump, which forces the wash into every crack, cranny and crevice. An addition of one pound of chloride of lime to three gallons of lime-wash makes it more effective.

To rid animals of lice a 1-100 solution of coal-tar dip may be sprayed on and brushed in, when the weather is not too cold, or an even more effective solution may be made by steeping four ounces of stavesacre-seeds in a gallon of boiling water and using when cold. Frequent applications are necessary, as new broods of lice hatch out from "nits." In cold [illegible] freely with flowers of sulphur, or Persian or pyrethrum insect-powder. Mercurical ointment (blue ointment) is effective when applied to the poll of the head and along the backbone; but treated animals must be separated to prevent licking of the ointment, which is poisonous. Ringworm is indicated by bare, white, scaly, crusty spots upon the face, around the eyes and on the neck or other parts of young cattle. Treat by scraping and scrubbing each spot clean, and then rubbing in iodine ointment every other day until well. "Barn itch," or ringworm, may also effect adult cattle, causing itching, scaly spots on the body and especially about the tail-head. Treat by scrubbing clean and wetting with a solution of two pounds of sulphate of copper to a gallon of water applied hot.

Ensuring Potato Crop

Canadian western farmers are remarkably ingenious in assuring themselves a crop. At least they are reported to be. An Ontario farmer tells of an incident that occurred when he was paying a visit to a relative farmer in the Canadian West. He followed the trail for many miles and finally found his relative digging in a field. The man dug about eight inches and rooted out a good hill of potatoes. He dug to another depth and revealed a second hill. At still another depth a third hill of potatoes was forthcoming.

Mystified, the farmer from the east questioned the digger concerning the magnificent crop of potatoes, by hills, three deep. "Well," he said, "we plant them three deep this way in order to be sure of one crop at least. You see, in a dry season the upper hill is killed by drought, and in a very dry season the second hill is also lost, but it never gets so dry that the bottom hill is destroyed. On the other hand, when the season is wet the bottom hill rots, in a very wet season the middle hill goes as well, but it never gets so wet that the top hill is destroyed. In the third place, in a favorable season the result is three crops, as you see.—Toronto Globe.

CHLORINATED WATER

Drug Can be Added to Kill the Taste After Germs Die

Just when the chemists were congratulating themselves that they had largely solved the problem of pure drinking water by their idea of doctoring water with chlorinated lime to kill germs, protests came from many cities that the water tasted of the chlorine, and they have had to go to work again on the problem. Now they have discovered a way of putting more chemicals into the water to kill the taste of the chlorine after the chlorine has killed the germs.

Usually the amount of chemical spread through the water is so small that no one can taste it; but the proportion varies with local conditions, and there are times when much larger amounts are used. If more than seven pounds of the chemical is used in a million gallons of water, the most sensitive palates begin to discover the taste and complaints are made to the water department. With every additional pound of the chemical come more protests.

One way to get rid of the taste is to store the water before sending it into the mains; but this is not usually practicable, and chemists have been seeking another remedy. Now it is stated that a drug called thiosulphate will hide the taste of the chlorine after the chlorine has had a few minutes' time to kill the germs. The prescription calls for one part of thiosulphate to two parts of chlorinated lime. To prove that the additional chemical is harmless, the discoverer points out that thiosulphate is used in medicine, and that, in order to get a dose the size a doctor would order for a patient, a person would have to drink about 370 gallons of the treated water.

Strength of Insects

If you were as strong, proportionately, as the beetle is, and were a man weighing a couple of hundred pounds, you would be able to lift with ease 400,000 pounds. For a beetle can lift a weight that is just 200 times its own weight.

Or, if you could jump about with the same ease as the grasshopper you could spring over a church without much effort.

Or, again, if you wanted to be nearly as strong as the bee, you would have to drag after you a load weighing 4,000 pounds.

It seems, apparently, from such observations made by naturalists, that the greater in size the animal the greater is the muscular energy needed to move it about, and that there is not much left for outside force.

A Costly Metal

Platinum is among the most precious metals in existence. It is now more than twice as expensive as gold. The metal has been utilized more extensively during the past few years than ever before in the jewellery industry, in the chemical laboratory and in the industrial world.

Former Local Man's Death.

A former resident of Peterborough, Mr. Frank L. Somerville, C.E., died in Toronto on Thursday. He was the son of the Rev. Mr. Somerville of Winslow, Eng., and came to Peterborough about the year 1886 and entered the employ of the Grand Trunk Railway as one of the resident engineering staff, in which capacity he had charge of building the bridge at Campbellford and other important works. He afterwards entered the Trent Valley Canal staff here, and later moved to Toronto.

To Cure Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Persons suffering from catarrhal deafness and head noises will be glad to know that this distressing affliction can be successfully treated at home by an internal medicine that in many instances has affected a complete cure after all else had failed. Sufferers who could scarcely hear a watch tick have had their hearing restored to such an intent that the tick of a watch was plainly audible seven or eight inches away from either ear.

Therefore if you know someone who is troubled with head noises or catarrh, or catarrhal deafness, cut out this formula and hand to them and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer perhaps from total deafness. The prescription can be prepared at home and is made as follows:

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength), about 75c worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, dullness cloudy thinking, etc., while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh; therefore, there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important.—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P. Q., who make a specialty of it.

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

The Law Offices of Roddy & Boreham have been removed to 440 Water Street, (corner of Water and Brock Streets.)

Dr. Frederick will resume his practise on Monday next, June 29.

At yesterday's police court a blacklister pleaded guilty to having been drunk and was handed out a $10 fine.

Last night the fine band of the 57 Regiment, kept thousands at Victoria Park entranced by music rendered.

A local lad is in trouble in Lindsay and has been garnered in by the police. It is understood that he was fined $45, or in default two months in jail.

Mr. Henry, superintendent of the local Children's Shelter, leaves this morning for Toronto in charge of a female insane patient.

Lindsay has passed a bylaw regulating vehicular traffic on the streets there. It is rumored that wireless stations are to be established on Kent Street so that should a pedestrian crossing that thoroughfare get lost he can call up a taxi.

Bermard O'Brien of Marmora tried to stop a dog fight by striking the animals with the butt of a loaded rifle. He stopped the fight but was shot to death when the rifle went off.

Messrs. Macneill & Young, Investment Brokers, Toronto, are offering on another page of this paper a very select list of Canadian municipal debentures. This form of investment is generally recognized as being the safest and most convenient obtainable. Upon the return of normal times and conditions the prices of debentures of this class must necessarily advance considerably.

At yesterday's police court, Henry Thornton, was charged with having been drunk. Henry who hails from Lindsay, said "I don't know whether I was drunk or not." He was let go. Alec Ross, charged with a similar offense and asked "how long since you've been here?" said I'll leave that to you." He was let go. A young man named Ryan was charged with vagrancy as was a young man named Cowes. They were both let go.

CABINET MEMBERS RECEIVE WELCOME AT SOREL QUEBEC

Conservatives Turn Out in Crowds an Honor Three of Canada's Big Men

bers of the Dominion Cabinet received a big welcome here this afternoon when Sorel Conservatives held a great rally here. The three were the Hon. Mr. Coderre, secretary of state; the Hon. Mr. Nantel, minister of inland revenue and the Hon. L. P. Pelletier, the post-master-general. They arrived here early this morning, having come from Montreal on the C.G.S. Lady Grey. The streets were thronged with the crowds and arches had been erected on the tree-clad streets. It was a big day for Sorel and its Conservatives.

The Hon. Mr. Pelletier, who spoke first, criticised the Liberal press for declaring that a general election was slated for this fall. He reaffirmed his declaration made a Louisville the other day saying "We were elected for five years, we have served about three. We are doing our work and we will continue to do it." Since that announcement the Liberals had charged that the Conservatives were afraid to go to the country, as they were afraid of a defeat with the present trade conditions.

Mr. Pelletier poured some hot shot into the Senate, which he charged with throwing out the bill for good roads in Canada. A Liberal majority in the upper house had obeyed the behest of a Liberal minority in the house of commons. "The time will come, thanks to Providence, when the upper house will be the same as the lower one, and then the will of the people will be expressed."

The party, he claimed, stood for the farmers, the workingman and the manufacturers of the country and was in no way the tool of the trusts or their agents. The party was against the free food policy. "We have declared we do not want it. I am opposed to it. It means that the American farmer would be able to send his produce into Canada without paying a cent of customs duty."

TRIAL OF MME. CAILLAUX WILL BEGIN TO-DAY

Intense Interest Shown in Case of the French Woman Who Killed the Editor of the Figaro

Paris, July 18.—Mme. Caillaux, wife of the former French Premier and Minister of Finance, is to be taken to-morrow from the St. Lazare prison to the Conciergerie adjoining the Palace of Justice to await her trial, beginning Monday, for the killing on March 16 Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro.

The prisoner is to be lodged in the cell occupied in 1902 by Mme. Terese Humbert when undergoing trial on charges of swindling the French public out of several millions of dollars.

Mme. Caillaux's health appeared to-day to be much better than it was when she was first arrested in March. It is reported she intends to apply for a divorce after the trial, whatever its outcome, as she is said to consider that by separating from her husband she will show the greatest mark of her love for him, because by remaining with him she would prove an obstacle in his political career.

The trial is expected to last at least five days and probably will not be ended till Saturday.

The space in court usually occupied by spectators is to be given up almost entirely to newspapermen, 142 of whom from all parts of the world have been allotted spaces in the press box. Women are not to be allowed in the public section of the court, but a few places have been reserved for them in the passage way leading from the jury room to the jury box.

May Be Demonstration.

Some commotion was caused to-day in legal circles by the report that the authorities intended to place strong detachments of municipal guards both inside and outside of the palace of justice in order to prevent the possibility of disturbances, as it had been stated that the royalists intended to make a demonstration.

Interest in the trial increases in intensity, as the hour approaches for the public appearance of Madame Caillaux.

NEW PLAYGROUND OFFICIALLY OPENED BY MAYOR HOCKEN

Carlton Playground in West Toronto Were opened to a Vast Crowd

Toronto, July 18. More than a thousand children were present and took part in the inauguration exercises at the official opening of the new Carlton playgrounds at the corner of Franklin and Edna streets on Saturday afternoon, when a demonstration of the uses of the park was given.

His Worship Mayor Hocken, in declaring the playgrounds open made a few remarks regarding the work that is being done to take care of the health and morals of the youngfolk of Toronto. "In 1907," he said, "no such thing as a supervised playground existed in the city. In the past the children have been neglected from a civic standpoint to a great extent, but now the importance of seeing to it that the future men and women of Toronto have plenty of breathing space, will have his first attention."

Starvation In The Midst of Plenty

Many are actually starving, even though eating heartily three times a day. They are starving because the usual diet lacks certain essential elements.

In making white flour the outer coat of the wheat, containing the phosphate of potash and other vital mineral salts, is discarded. These mineral salts are absolutely necessary to nerve health and therefore to body health.

Grape-Nuts FOOD

contains the whole nutriment of wheat and barley, including the mineral salts. The malting of the barley starts digestive processes and the 20 hour baking breaks down the starch cells. Grape-Nuts food digests in about one-third of the time required by white bread.

Ready to serve—convenient, healthful and appetizing.

THE WEEK IN QUEBEC

Political Affairs in the Sister Province--Mousseau--Quite Well Again, May Complicate the Situation

Montreal, July 18.—Although the whole province is sweltering and stifling in the summer heat, events in Quebec have been interesting in many fields, for the last week. Montreal has its municipal vaudeville; the provincial government has its "ennuis;" the two political parties tour the province, each of them saying it is the French-Canadian "habitants'" best friend. The religious problem comes up to the front with a recent and official declaration of the French vice-consul in Montreal made on the 14th, France's National Day and with the proposed establishment of a neutral school at Montreal, with the help of the French Government.

France and Quebec Church.

Is official France to come into conflict with Roman Catholic bishops in Quebec? It seems to. A recent declaration made by Vice-Consul Raynaud, one of France's representatives in Montreal, may be taken as a different orientation of official France's relations with Catholic French Canada. At a public dinner given at Montreal on the 14th July inst., M. Raynaud, speaking officially, said:—"With the help of the French government our group is going to organise in Montreal in the near future a neutral school, such as we have in France." This declaration coupled with M. Raynaud's abstention from going to the annual mass celebrated in Notre Dame for the French Colony of Montreal each July 14, abstention which was ordered from France by special and more explicit instruction says M. Raynaud, has created a great amount of interest and concern in French and Catholic circles in Montreal, and all over the Province of Quebec. Up to now, France's official representatives in the province of Quebec had respected French-Canadian religious convictions, with which a strong and influential group of old country Frenchmen living in Montreal sympathize heartily. French officials used to be present every year at the special mass celebrated at Quebec and Montreal on July 14, France's national day. Even last year Archbishop Bruchesi was asked by Commander Puglisi-Conti, of the "Descartes," a French man-of-war, then moored in Montreal harbour for a few weeks, to celebrate a mass on board; and he went. This, together with the presence of France's official representatives at the French mass on July 4, displeased a very active group of anti-clerical and ultra-republican old country Frenchmen at Montreal. They took the matter up with the French Government and the result is that orders have been issued from Paris to French official representatives in Canada to keep strictly aloof from all religious demonstrations. M. De Saint-Victor, France's representatives in Quebec, on receiving these instructions wired back his resignation to his Government. It was not accepted and he was present at the special mass at Quebec as formerly. In Montreal, Vice-Consul Renaud, in the absence of M. Bonin, France's highest representative in Canada, abstained from the mass and gave publicity to the orders held from M. Vivians, France's present prime minister, one of the most notable anti-clericals in his country.

JUDGE EDMINSON RETIRES FROM WORK

Will Probably be Succeeded By Mr. A. O. Langley of Lakefield

County Police Magistrate Edminson has placed his resignation in the hands of Attorney-General Foy, with a request that he be relieved of his duties at once. Mr. Foy, in replying promised to do so, and requested Mr. Edminson to remain until his successor is appointed and all work in arrears cleaned up. This will probably take a month.

In the retirement of Judge Edminson, Peterborough County loses its oldest public official. Judge Edminson is 79 years of age, and was appointed County Police Magistrate about 20 years ago.

His successor, it is understood, will be Mr. A. O. Langley, barrister, of Lakefield, who is in every way qualified to fill the position. Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., has to do with this matter on account of being a county appointment which usually goes to East Peterborough.

THE BABY SUPPLY COMES VERY FAST

Every Tick of the Clock and There's a Happy Father—Estimate of Increase of World's Population

Paris, July 18. It has been computed that about 36,000,000 babies are born into the world each year. The rate of production is therefore about 70 per minute, or more than one for every beat of the clock. With the one-a-second calculation every reader is familiar, but it is not every one who stops to calculate what this means when it comes to a year's supply. It will, therefore, probably startle a good many persons to find, on the authority of a well-known statistician that could the infants of a year be ranged in a line in their cradles, the cradles would extend in a line around the globe. The same authority looks at the matter in a picturesque light. He imagines the babies being carried past a given point in their mother's arms, one by one, and the procession being kept up night and day until the last hour in the twelfth month has passed by. A sufficiently liberal rate is allowed, but even in going past at the rate of 20 a minute, 1,200 an hour, during the entire year, the reviewer at his post would have seen only the sixth part of the infantile host.

POLICE LOOKING FOR THE "MAN IN GRAY"

Killing in Chicago's Vice District May Cause Place to be Wiped Out

Chicago, July 18.—Search for the mysterious "man in gray," accused of firing the first shot in the revolver battle in the Chicago vice district on Thursday night, in which one detective was killed and three others wounded, was prosecuted by the police department to-day. That the battle was stated by a lot of levee hangers-on, in an effort to kill some of the detectives of the morals squad who had been raiding resorts, is thought to be apparent from the evidence given yesterday in the inquest over Stanley J. Birns, the slain plainclothesman.

Political and police affiliations in the vice district problem were in process of being scented to-day in an endeavor to place the responsibility. That the fatal effect will arouse public opinion to force the effectual stamping out of the whole segregated district was the prediction made to-day by many police officials.

MEXICO'S PRESIDENT GIVES UP CITY FOR PEACE SAKE

Federal Forces Ordered by Huerta's Successor to Evacuate One of Central Mexico's Large Cities

Washington, July 18.—To demonstrate that the new provisional government in Mexico wished to restore peace without further bloodshed, Francisco Carbajal, Huerta's successor, ordered the federal forces to evacuate San Luis Potosi, one of the large cities in Central Mexico. Gen. Carranza, Constitutionalist chief, has sent a commission to Celaya to meet the three commissioners sent from Mexico City by Carbajal with authority to arrange for the transfer of authority to the Constitutionalists.

These advices were received to-day at the Mexican Embassy by Senator Jose Castello, personal representative here of President Carbajal.

Mr. Castello said that since the Constitutionalist forces had arrived in front of San Luis Potosi, and there might be difficulty in arranging a suspension of hostilities, it was deemed more convenient to give the city to the Constitutionalists without conflict, and manifest at the same time the willingness of the Carbajal government to arrange peace. He had received no definite information, however, as to whether the evacuation had occurred as yet.

Unofficial reports from Glaatamore last night indicated that the Federals had departed.

POLICE FAIL TO FIND TRACE OF AUTO BANDITS

Three Masked Men Entered Queen St. Restaurant Early Saturday Morning—They Got $50

Toronto, July 18.—No trace of the three masked auto bandits who held up and robbed James Bees' restaurant, 242 East Queen street, early Saturday morning, escaping with $50 was found by the police up till late Saturday night. Mr. Bees was unable to give a description of the men or the machine in which they fled. No other clues turned up during the day.

The robbers, according to Mr. Bees, drove up in front of his lunch room shortly after 3 o'clock, entered (masked) and ordered him to throw up his hands. Complying with the request, he allowed the men to open the till. Taking the contents, $50, they fired a shot over his head as a warning not to follow and ran to the street. Jumping into the machine they were several blocks away when Bees reached the door in pursuit.

Two men were working in the back part of the lunch room when the robbers entered. Bees was unable to give any alarm to them, so that they proved worthless as police witnesses to aid in running down the men.

KEEPS RIGHT TIME FOR WHOLE WORLD

Greenwich Observatory Has Wonderful Instruments Which do Important Work for all Countries

The British Post Office has a plan by which every person in Great Britain can for $10 a year have his clocks set at Greenwich time every morning. The Observatory at Greenwich is the standard observatory of the world, to which all the rest must in some way or other refer. It is, in fact, the timekeeper of the civilised world.

There are many varieties of observation at Greenwich—general observations of the moon and planets, as well as the wind and weather, but the main business of the Observatory is to preserve absolute accuracy of time, that it may not get out of joint.

The time we mark by our clocks must be checked by the periodical observations of the sky and the stars, and it is to these observations that the staff in the Time Department at Greenwich specially devote their energies. There is much to be learned by the layman who pays a visit to the Observatory.

First of all, there is the mean time standard clock, which is electrically connected with the mean solar clock, but even these two are not sufficient check on one another, and the mean time standard clock is regularly compared with the standard sidereal clock. And if there are any errors in this wonderful instrument, they are discovered by the examination of the fixed stars, which are known as "clock stars."

The sidereal clock is a wonderful affair; it stands in the basement, keeping its inexorable time, which is regulated by the passage of the fixed stars over a filament taken from a spider's cobweb, and laid on the glass of a telescope. The interval between the two successive passages of such a star over the meridian is a sidereal day. These observations are made by what is perhaps the most useful instrument in the institution.

It is a domed chamber, and is supported on trunnions, and is movable, so that it can be made to sweep the entire heavens. It looks very like a curious, old-fashioned cannon and is intended to record the apparent passages of the fixed stars over the cobweb strands, which look more like great bars of iron than frail fly-catching filaments, as you look at them through the instrument.

Then there is the famous time-ball, which is supposed to be the infallible guide of the punctual. It is set on a high tower, and was only wrong on one day late in 1878, and then only half a second.

Practically all the countries of Mid and East Europe, and all round the Empire from Egypt to Canada, and and France, Belgium, Japan, [illegible] and Iceland [illegible] ches by standard time from Greenwich, which is the central point of the universe in so far as it fixes the time of the world.

The ships of the world sail by the time "made" at Greenwich Observatory, the world's factories work by it, schools are opened and closed by it, markets are regulated by it, trains are run by it, and all the affairs of the world are controlled by it.

NEW KIND OF DUCK

Carries Young on its Back and Has Red Eyes

A brand new species of wild duck brilliantly colored, which carries its young on its back, and the young of which are regularly fed by the male bird while the female bird is sitting on a second setting of eggs, was discovered near Lacombe, Alberta, by Senator Peter Talbot.

"The birds were found on a slough near my farm," said Senator Talbot in discussing his find. "The male bird is apparently able to form its body and wings into a kind of boat, and the young always ride around on the back of the parents in this fashion. Even when the parent bird goes under a wire fence and the younger ones are scraped off, they always manage to scramble back on the backs of their parents, and make no effort to shift for themselves, the male bird feeding them constantly."

The color of the new species is remarkable. Except for a dark streak running from the bill back across the head, the head is pure white, while the eye is big and of a bright red color. The neck and breasts of the are bronze in color, while the back is a light grey.

"No one in the vicinity has ever seen ducks of that kind before," said Senator Talbot, "and we cannot find that this particular species ever invaded the Province before."

SAFETY FOR MINERS

Falling Barometer Shows When Explosions May Occur

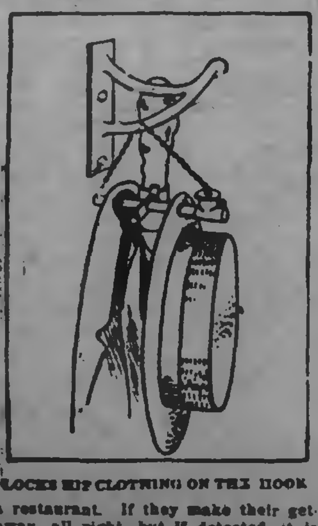
Look out for mine explosions when the barometer begins to drop! This is the new word that has gone out among the coal managers all over the world. The weather bureaus have heard it, too, and are beginning to furnish barometer predictions for mines.

The barometer tells the sea captain of the approach of a storm well in advance of trouble; but the warning is not given so far ahead in the case of the mines. The weather bureau, however, can predict the coming of low pressure as a "low" hove across the country.

Methane is a dangerous gas in mines, developing most seriously in [illegible] workings of coal mines; and [illegible] d that when the

Locking Device Designed to Frustrate Hotel Thieves

Necessity is the mother of invention and the inventor of the lock for wearing apparel shown in the accompanying illustration, was probably prompted by an unfortunate experience in a restaurant of some busy city. He probably discovered that some persons keep themselves supplied with hats, umbrellas and coats by picking out the best at hand when they are ready to leave such a public place as a restaurant. If they make their getaway, all right, but if detected, it is a very simple matter to ask pardon and say mistake.



LOCKS HIS CLOTHING ON THE HOOK

This device, which has been recently patented in this country by a Canadian, consists of a bar with a removable head and a small chain and a key for locking the two parts together. If it is desired to relieve oneself of hat and coat, the garments are secured on the bar and the chain passed through an opening in the wall hook and they can then be left with perfect safety so far as stealing the garments is concerned. This bar is adapted to hold hat, coat and umbrella or cane.

DUELLING DAYS

Young Bloods Practised With Long-Barrelled Pistols

By the end of the seventeenth century the pistol had come fairly into vogue as a duellist's weapon in England, and from that time forward pistol duels were frequent—more frequent than those with the sword. Gunmakers devoted their best workmanship to duelling pistols, and at duelling range, any up to twenty paces, these weapons were as near perfection as skill could make them. The latter-day pistol had a ten-inch barrel, and carried a ball of 45 to the pound. Only constant practice would make a good shot, and a very high standard of marksmanship was set for the man who aspired to be considered an expert with the pistol. When he could hit twelve wafers at fourteen yards, and do it within six minutes, loading his pistol himself between shots, he might consider himself proficient; and it will be borne in mind that the muzzle-loading pistol took several seconds to properly charge.

Proficiency, of course, was not everything. It was quite as daunting to face a pistol at twelve yards as to face the sword at close quarters, and no proficiency at wafers would atone for nervousness on the ground. One ardent practitioner schooled himself with a contrivance of his own invention. He had the life-size figure of a man with a bracketed hand in which a pistol could be held at the "present," and by means of a cord from the trigger of the pistol in the dummy's grasp to his own belt, he discharged the weapon himself as he fired his own pistol, by slightly drawing back.

Great stress was laid on the importance of aiming at a small object. "Mark well one of the gilt buttons on his coat; a person can never fire with accuracy unless he aim at some small object." Which explains why the experienced duellist "went out" dressed entirely in black, that his person might offer no such mark as the gilt button of an older day.

Being in position, the men each held his arm well in to the side and raised his pistol to the proper level, keeping the head straight, the eyes turned as much to the right as possible, and the pistol directed steadily towards the small object—that gilt button, if the adversary were so obliging to wear such. "Move only the forefinger, and that with just sufficient force to discharge the pistol," was a rule supposed to be carefully observed.

HOW TO DOCTOR WOUND ON HOOF

Cleanliness and Antiseptic Treatment as Necessary for a Horse as for a Man

Nature often repairs wounds on the horse's hoof without help from man. All man can do is to assist nature; but often he hinders the reparative process, and sometimes his interference is positively harmful. This is so when he soaks an injured foot in an old, dirty tub and forgets to change the water each time it is used. The foul soaking tub is a veritable abomination. It should be accounted a relic of barbarous days not to be used by modern man.

This advice refers especially to the treatment of a nail-puncture case. It may, however, be admissible in some cases to treat sores of the coronet, or suppurating corns, by soaking in a tubful of antiseptic solution.

The average poultice also is an abomination, and positive damage in many a case. This certainly is so as regards the cow-dung poultice. Germs teem and multiply in it, and these germs induce pus or possibly may cause tetanus (lockjaw). Any hot, moist poultice in which an antiseptic is not mixed will harbor and grow noxious germs. If a poultice of any sort is used, it should be made up with a solution of a good disinfectant or germ-killer.

Modern treatment seldom employs a poultice in the nail-prick case. When a nail has been found and removed, the horseman often is contented to pour some turpentine on the wound and allow the opening to close. Germs may be retained, and in the absence of air they may cause tetanus; for the tetanus germ can live and grow only in the absence of oxygen. The right way to handle the case is to remove the shoe, cleanse the hoof thoroughly with soap and hot water, pare away all soiled horn of the sole and rinse it off with a 1-500 solution of corrosive sublimate (bichlorid of mercury) or five per cent. solution of coal tar disinfectant, lysol or carbolic acid.

Then cut down upon the puncture with a sharp, sterilized hoof-knife, removing enough horn to expose the wound and allow blood, serum or pus to escape. When this has been done the wound should be well swabbed with the 1-500 solution of corrosive sublimate and at once covered with a mixture of one part of iodoform and seven parts of boric acid, fresh absorbent cotton and a clean bandage, to be covered in turn with a square of clean gunny sacking, held in place by a strap around the pastern.

If there is objection to the strong odor of the iodoform mixture, substitute one part each of calomel and subnitrate of bismuth and six parts

WHY FISHES LEAP

Usually They Have a Good Reason—Not Done in Play

If an angler were asked pointblank why he calls salmon and trout "game fishes" rather than carp and roach, I imagine that he would quote their habit of jumping out of the water when hooked as one of the reasons for which, affording finer sport, they are more game than the coarse fish, writes F. G. Aflalo, in The London Morning Post. It cannot be merely the fact of their taking an artificial fly, for the dace is also commonly caught on it. No, the power of leaping clear of the service, adding, as it does to the glorious uncertainty of bringing them to book, undoubtedly sets these members of the salmon family higher in the sportsman's estimation than the ground-hugging carp tribe. If this be definitely accepted, then the salt water fisherman has a wider purview of game fishes, since the mighty tarpon, the fierce swordfish, the delicate little ladyfish, and many other denizens of seas fulfill the conditions and give far more exciting sport on the rod than those which merely bore or sulk.

There are two possible reasons why fishes jump out of water. They certainly do not do so, like lambs in a meadow, for sheer joy of life. If you see small fry jumping in a lake, as likely as not some old pike or trout is on their track. Such larger fishes as attract the angler do not jump to escape their enemies, but are either jumping after flies or some other natural food, or shaking off parasites. The tarpon, to the best of my belief, jumps only when in trouble of this kind, and then, if not too tired, it will jump every time the rod is jerked after it has been hooked. The fish that gives the most striking displays of leaping in the Gulf of Mexico is the gigantic whipray, and its object is quite evident, for I have seen these great fish fling off three or four remoras in the sunshine. The remora, or sucking-fish, is frequently found adhering to sharks and rays, and to carry a number of these about must be weary work. And so the whipray jumps to shake off its remoras as a dog might try to shake itself free of fleas.

Now and again both salmon and trout are known to jump into boats. In one case I knew of, a fifteen-pound salmon jumped clean into the lap of a lady fishing in the Duke of Richmond's water on the Spey. Porpoises are also notorious acrobats, jumping more continuously than any fish, and one of these marine mammals once jumped into the skiff of a sportsman and knocked him overboard. The only fish known deliberately to charge its captor's boat when hooked is the tremendous swordfish, caught on the rod on both sides of America, and the effect of a swordfish careering along, as it were, on its tail, seemingly erect, is alarming to anyone unaccustomed to such demonstrations. The others, tarpon and the rest, come in collision with the boat only by accident, and the rarity with which such accidents occur must often have struck those of us who have watched huge tarpon repeatedly fall back in the water within a foot or so of the gunwale.

TYRUS HAS BRAINS

Might Have Developed Into a Star Football Player

In the opinion of Dan McGugin, the famous Michigan football player, Ty Cobb would have made just as great a name for himself as a football player as a diamond star had he stuck to the gridiron game. The reason why Cobb became a baseball star, says McGugin, is because he made a careful study of the game. Some years ago Ty was at Nashville, Tenn., and tried out his hand at football. The first couple of weeks he was a joke. But later, after he had learned something, he was drop kicking better than any man there. Ty wasn't a natural footballer, but he used his brains. And that is what made him the great ball player he is to-day, says McGugin.

WATERING THE STOCK

Four Rules That It Will Pay to Know and Observe

An unlimited supply of good pure water is essential to the health of all animals used for farm purposes. Pools formed from surface drainage where large quantities of organic matter are carried into them, and wells or pools contiguous to farmyards or manure heaps are especially to be avoided. Water from good tanks or wells, running streams, and properly-constructed pools is usually good, but too much care cannot be taken in reference to this matter. The quantity of water is also of importance. No animal will drink too much if watered sufficiently often, hence there is no necessity for limiting the supply except when the animal has been deprived of water for too long a time. Animals at rest should be given water at least three times a day in summer, and twice a day in winter, if they cannot have free access to it at all times. There is a common error that horses should not be watered when warm. An animal is never too warm to be watered if not more than two gallons be given. A large quantity of water will injure an animal at any time, but especially is this so when he is very warm or much fatigued.

Watering horses or animals immediately after feeding, so frequently practised, is not in harmony with the physiology of digestion. The stomach of a horse is very small in proportion to his size and the quantity of food he consumes, hence only a small amount of water can remain in the stomach, and if given immediately after feeding undigested food must of necessity be carried with it in its passage through the stomach into the intestines. Another reason why animals should not be watered immediately after feeding is that the digestion begins only when the food has been warmed to a temperature of about 90 degrees; therefore if a large quantity of cold water be mixed with the food the temperature of the contents of the stomach must be lowered and consequently digestion must be retarded.

ROAD MAINTENANCE

Various Suggestions as to Distributing the Cost of Good Roads

With the appointment of the three highway commissioners by the Ontario Government come various opinions and recommendations regarding the good roads movement throughout the province. In the hope of getting suggestions the secretary of Ontario good roads communicated with the reeves of various townships scattered about the province, and the result was a decided tendency to ask more money from the government. The most common recommendation is that the government pay one-half the cost of good roads construction, instead of one-third, as provided under the Highways Act. A second common demand is that motorists be compelled to pay more towards the roads they help to destroy. Complaints are made that motors wear roads out faster than the townships can afford to keep them repaired, and that it is the motor and not the horse vehicle, which does the bulk of the damage. This seems to be particularly the case in townships lying close to the larger cities. Force motors to pay a high tax, proportionate to weight of the car, is the suggestion. From one county comes the recommendation that the roads leading from large centers of population, bear the full cost, and hold this out as an incentive to the more remote districts. Some districts are not inclined to favor the movement entirely, stating that more progress will have to be made at less cost, or the system will rapidly become unpopular among the people who are now paying the bills. The government, however, might absorb a good share of that cost. The suggestion of a frontage tax comes from another county. It is a recognized thing that improved roads increase the value of adjoining farms and the recommendation is that these farmers help pay for the roads in larger pecentage than those whose farms are benefitted less.

INDIAN HEAD BARN

On the Experimental Farm at Indian Head there is a wonderful barn. Cement work was very largely used in the construction of both the stable—which was completed last autumn—and barn, as both have a 10 foot wall of cement. This material was also used in the floor and stalls of the horse stable and of the basement of the barn, which will be used for the winter feeding of cattle.

The horse stable, which is a huge affair, is splendidly fitted up in every way, while the barn is the last cry in barn-structure. Its dimensions are 48 feet by 116 feet with an elevation of 52 feet. This height gives the building an added appearance of immensity, especially from inside, but there are no posts; the barn is framed with eight large bents, with hip roof.

A goodly space on the ground floor is reserved for work shop, and granaries have also a generous allowance; the windows are hung on weights, and can be easily lowered, indeed, taking it all in all, the barn is so very fine a structure that the fire which destroyed the old buildings may now be regarded as more of a blessing than a curse.

HARVEST OF THE SEA

Great Wealth in the Fisheries of the Pacific Coast

The halibut of British Columbia have an enviable reputation, for they are less over-grown and of finer texture than the Icelandic and North Sea fish; a length of five to six feet and weight of 250 pounds is exceptional for the British Columbia halibut. The waters between Queen Charlotte Islands and the mainland, especially off Rose Spit, and off the west shore of Banks Island were at one time veritably overcrowded with halibut.

Very large fish were often taken then, some weighing 150 pounds, but the general weight now is only from 20 to 60 pounds. The halibut are scattered all over the strait, but regular migrations have been noticed, and where the waters of Dixon entrance meet the currents, moving from the south through Hecate Strait, and food appears abundant, the fish congregate in large numbers.

The superabundance of herrings on the coast of British Columbia has been recognized from early times, but, as the local demand was insignificant, no herring fishery can be said to have existed, until about thirty years ago. At intervals, and in a desultory way, various parties engaged in the herring industry, and quantities were converted into oil and guano. Within the last ten years, however, the value of this fishery resource has been realized.

Herring occur all along the coast as far as Alaska, though in sheltered areas, like the waters near Nanaimo, Ucluelet, Barkley Sound, Virago Sound and Queen Charlotte Islands, the schools appear to form solid phalanxes.

Discovery of Rock Salt

An extensive bed of rock salt has been discovered on the Skeena River, about 45 miles from Prince Rupert. Five holes have been drilled, about a mile apart, and salt has been struck in ever case at depths varying from 50 to 250 feet. About eight tons of salt has been raised. The product is absolutely pure and of the best quality.

Our Point of View

We are told that the apple crop this year promises to be unusually abundant, but we know some Peterborough politicians who are more interested in the yield of plums in Ottawa.

—o—

The Toronto World says: "In Paris society people have discarded shoes and stockings and taken to the simple Greek sandal." Persons who want to make a study of corns and bunions ought to take a trip to Paris.

—o—

"The future of mankind depends upon parenthood," says The World. How true, how true. Without parenthood mankind would soon peter out. We should be thankful that every once in a while somebody rises to utter a sublime truth that sinks deep into our soul.

—o—

We are glad to note that the feminist movement has received a serious check. The Minnesota Supreme Court has decided that a woman who compels her husband to get up and cook his own breakfast is guilty of cruel and inhuman treatment.

—o—

"What do you think is the prettiest of lights?" asks our fair young friend Chlorinda. That's easy. We have seen moonlights, starlights, electric lights, and some beautiful Israelites, but to our mind the softest and most heavenly light is that which shines in the eyes of a young mother as she fondles her first born.

Not Ripe For Union

The vote in the Presbyterian general assembly on the question of organic union with the Methodist and Congregational churches shows that a large majority of the delegates are still in favor of union. The vote was 286 for and 109 against. No doubt this division represents approximately the division of opinion among the church members throughout the country.

If it is prudent to decide such a momentous matter as this by majority rule, there is no reason now why the movement should not go forward rapidly to consummation. But there must be grave misgivings even in the minds of many unionists, as to the prudence of such a course. When nearly 28 per cent of the representative men of a great religious denominations are irreconcilably opposed to that course, it is evident that to force it on would mean the perpetuation of the Presbyterian church weak in numbers and resources though aggressive in spirit and bitterly hostile to the united body, which in a certain degree would reciprocate its bitterness. The union movement would cause disunion.

It is not always wise or expedient to settle large questions by majority rule. In this case it is best to wait and trust to the mellowing and reconciling influences of time and brotherly co-operation. The union movement is a progressive movement. It will continue to grow and it will be much stronger in the generation of church members now coming up than in the pass away. Denominational generation which is soon to pride and prejudice are not nearly so strong now as they were in the last generation, and will be weaker still in the next. The union of Protestant churches is sure to come as a result of the operation of natural forces and through force of necessity the consummation might only be delayed by attempting to bring it about prematurely.

The Hindu in B. C.

Liberal papers are seeking to make it appear that the Government is changing its mind about the exclusion of the Hindus, and is now ready to admit them, no matter what the effect may be on the labor interests of Canada.

There is no truth whatever in this story. The Government has not changed its policy one iota, and all the Hindus will be shut out except those who have previously resided in Canada, and who complied with the conditions of entry then in force.

The position of the Hindu in Canada is entirely different from that in other British Colonies. Without a doubt, he has done good work in tropical countries like Ceylon and in the East and West Indies. When slavery was abolished by England it became a question where the labour was to be found for the cultivation of cotton, cocoa, tea, palm oil, sugar, and such like commodities, and the Indian coolie appeared in the breach.

At first he was merely an indentured laborer, his expenses to the foreign shore were paid in advance, and he had to work them out on his arrival, after which, in many cases, he was free to remain in the colony, although his wages were not very high. In due course, however, trouble arose between him and his employers in the Mauritius, and of late it has taken on a serious aspect in British South Africa. Forty years ago Lord Salisbury pointed out that it was most important that the Hindu shold have all the privileges of a white man after he has completed his indentured service in the colony, but it was found that when he had become free, in the sense of having paid his indenture account he immediately began to work for wages considerably less than those charged by the white laborer, and forthwith an agitation was started to secure his banishment, or, what was the same thing, the imposition of heavy taxation upon him.

But there has been nothing known of this sort in Canada. The Hindu came here, not as an indentured laborer, but as a free laborer. British Columbia was under no obligation to provide him with work, and from the beginning he was warned that the white man would not long tolerate his presence.

British Columbia is a splendid country, but it cannot be said to be a tropical one, and he would do better in his own interest by going elsewhere. Of late some authorities have boldly said his migration to that province is neither more nor less than part of a conspiracy to create friction between the Imperial Government and the Indian Empire. This is a rather far-fetched view, although the conduct of some of the Hindu leaders at Vancouver has not been at all reasonable. At any rate, the Ottawa authorities are resolved to put the recent exclusion orders into full effect.

The Hindus make a great point of his being a British subject, and thinks that this entitles him to being admitted as a free citizen to every part of the Empire. But there is no general law of the Empire which allows a man of the Asiatic race to come here with his wife and family and start life anew if the white in Canada, as in this instance, see fit to object. Just let us think for a moment what might happen if the Asiatics of India were to settle in British Columbia in very large numbers. We know what happened to the Southern States from their having a Black Belt, and a Brown Belt in British Columbia would be sure to become a menace.

Best Liniment of All Destroys Every Pain But Never Burns

"How thankful we are to get hold of such a wonderful household remedy as Nerviline," writes Mrs. E. P. Lamontagne from her home near Wetaskawin, Alberta. "In this far'away section, far away from a doctor or a druggist, every family needs a good supply of liniment. Nerviline is the best of all. It destroys every pain, but never burns. We use Nerviline in a score of ways. If it's rheumatism, aching back, pain in the side, sciatica or stiff neck,—you can laugh at them if you have lots of Nerviline handy. For earache, toothache or cramps I don't think anything could act more quickly. For a general all-round pain remedy I can think of nothing more valuable and speedy to cure than Nerviline."

The above letter is convincing —it tells how reliable and trusty this old time remedy is. Nerviline for forty years has been a household word in Canada. Scarcely a home in Canada you can find without Nerviline. Every community has its living examples of the wonderful curative properties of Nerviline which will cure pains and aches anywhere in the joints or muscles. It's penetrating, soothing, warming and safe for young and old to use. Get the large 50c. family size bottle; its the most economical. Small trial size 25c. at any dealer's anywhere.

Shooting Oil Wells

Keen interest is being taken in the development of the Manitoulin oil fields by Senator Peirer and representatives from all the chief centres on the Island assembled at Green Bay to witness the shooting of some of the wells. E. A. Stokes, of Petrolea, was on hand, and a fuse was lighted, and a sharp shock was felt and the earth trembled, from the mouth of the pipe a greyish liquid shot into the air to a height of about eighty feet and fell gracefully to the ground. This was followed immediately by a second gush of a watery liquid which ascended to a height of about a hundred feet. About fifteen quarts of nitro-glycerine were used in shooting the well.

FORETOLD A CHANGE

Canadian Soldier Saw That Mounted Riflemen Would be Supreme

Some thirty-six years ago, Col. G. T. Denison, Toronto's police magistrate wrote a book, "A History of Cavalry," and entered it in a competition inaugurated by the Russian War Department, by authority of Emperor Alexander II., for the best history of cavalry. There were three prizes, and Colonel Denison, in competition with the world, won the first prize—5,000 roubles. There never had been before and there never has been since any such complete work on the subject. And, furthermore, a principle which he advocated—a principle revolutionizing the cavalry service—and which he claimed would be the basis of future military mounted operations—has proven sound and has been universally adopted.

With the perfection of firearms, Col. Denison foresaw a coming change in cavalry tactics. He prophesied that cavalry would be armed with firearms, that the sword and the lance would fall into disuse, that cavalry would not be used to beat down an enemy by shock, but would be in effect mounted infantry. This contention—regarded as mistaken or absurd by most military authorities when Colonel Denison's book first appeared—has been proven sound by modern war.

In the Boer War and the Russo-Japanese War, the mounted rifles won the day. The sword and lance were nowhere. The rifle was supreme.

Yet nearly forty years ago Colonel Denison had foretold what the professional soldiers of Europe failed to see clearly. He said: "In the next great war whichever nation employs mounted rifles extensively will be found winning decisive campaigns by the wise adoption of a necessary reform."

WHAT THE TONGUE TELLS

The latest "scientific" whim, a substitute for palmistry, hailing from Germany, is the pastime of reading character and telling fortunes by the tongue.

A sensitive, quivering tongue denotes the artistic temperament. A tongue of a brilliant carmine hue denotes long life; a pale, pink tongue, deficiency and weakness of character.

The man with a short tongue usually is of a secretive nature, and likely to succeed in life either as a lawyer or as a detective; but although he may acquire money by economy and saving, he has not the largeness of mind necessary to the amassing of a great fortune.

Long tongues suggest generosity and openhandedness. But the man with a long, broad tongue is apt to be a dangerous gossip; just as the man with a short, broad tongue is addicted to craft, and even deceptiveness.

Very thin, pointed tongues may be found in people of all temperaments, and are indications of failure. The man with such a tongue, it is said, will never make a success of life.

JOT DOWN YOUR IDEAS

They Are Worth Money and May Quickly Slip the Mind

You've had ideas, of course? Brilliant ones, maybe? What's become of them? You will remember them with a gnash of the teeth, when you read that the idea you let slip went on to someone else—someone who nursed it, developed it, and cashed it! You will look into the shop windows and see the idea that came to you—but which you didn't keep—making money for someone else!

Next time, make a record—and make it at once! Wherever you are—and ideas come anywhere, at any time—make a record of that fleeting thought. Smart men have an idea book, that nothing shall escape them. They build on ideas; it is their valuable raw material.

Track the great inventions, and what were they in origin? Just ideas! Think of the safety-pin. A pin with a covered point, that's all. But a fortune for the maker.

The pneumatic tire. Dunlop watched his boy at play, and suddenly the great idea came to him.

The screw bottle-stopper. Another brilliant idea.

Boots will wear down at the heel. Hence the boot protector—a new idea, and a fortune.

The perforations in the stamp sheets. Just an idea!

Many a workman who has slipped his "idea" into the idea-box in the works has his own house to-day, and draws a royalty larger than his wages, because he had an idea and did not let it go until he had cashed it!

There's always a market for ideas.

DODGING WASPS

Those Acquainted With Them do Not Run But Throw Themselves Flat

A man on his first trip into the wilds and marshes of an unknown country with a party of engineers was struck by a unique method they have to escape from the attack of wasps and hornets. The country traversed is generally covered with thick undergrowth, and a path has to be cut through this all along the line. So when a big wasp nest is reached there is very little warning, sometimes the axmen cutting into a big one with their machetes.

The person relating this experience was some sixty feet behind the axmen with the instrument, when all at once the two axmen dropped in their tracks as if they had been struck by a thunderbolt. The man behind and the two chainmen did likewise. While they were lying prone on the grass and wet marsh, they heard what sounded like bullets singing over their heads. One after the other they came with angry zips. When things had quieted down a bit, work was continued, and the new man found that to escape from wasps or hornets the thing to do was to drop instanter. The insects seem to be so mad that they fly in straight lines along a level, and do not have time to hunt around for you.

It is said that hornets are not so prone to follow this rule as wasps; but the wasps never vary. Men have been stung to death by hornets, and horses and mules likewise.

The Company now offers for public subscription 50,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share, payable in full upon application. No shares will be sold at less than par. The proceeds of the sale of this issue is to be used for putting down a well on legal subdivision 13, section 32, township 22, range 4, west of the 5th meridian. Drilling operations will be started as soon as the necessary equipment can be assembled on the ground.

Two of the Company's properties are on the main or primary anticline between the Mowbray-Berkely and Dingman Wells. The Dingman Well is now producing, and this main anticline is now practically a proven oil field. All the properties of the company are located on anticlines and were chosen by our geologist.

We strongly recommend an investment in the Chinook Oil Company, Limited. This Company is as strong as any in the field. Its Directorate is composed of prominent business men of Western Canada, and its holdings are extremely valuable.

The time to act is at present, because with the further development of the oil field, stock values will keep advancing.

For full particulars and prospectus write the fiscal agents.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

CANADA'S PROGRESS

Lord Strathcona Predicts Era of Tremendous Expansion

"Looking back on Canada as it was seventy-five years ago," said Lord Strathcona recently, "the change is indeed, amazing. Canada was then comparatively a wilderness, with a population of barely a million or so of people, and now she has eight or nine millions. And this is nothing to what it will be in another three quarters of a century, when it will unquestionably have a population equal to or greater than that of the United Kingdom."

"Little more than forty years ago," Lord Strathcona added, "the great territory of Rupert's Land, then possessed by the Hudson Bay Company, did not produce enough breadstuff for the use of the 200 or 300 white people who then resided at the company's posts, and out of that vast territory have been carved the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, and Alberta—which produces annually 200,000,000 bushels of wheat—the city of Winnipeg, then non-existent, with a population of about 200,000, and several other cities with populations ranging from 30,000 to 130,000, the latter being that of the city of Vancouver to-day."

Diseases of Trees

If you eat too much, the chances are that you will get fat and flabby. It is the same with trees. If the food they get is too easily digested the fibres of the tree turn spongy and rotten and the sap weakens. When fruit trees turn fat, the fruit is at first richer and riper. It soon becomes insipid, however. A man may keep down his fat with diet, exercise etc. There is no cure for the fat

WILLIAM SULZER

William Sulzer who was impeached from the Governorship of New York State was born to be a politician and a leader of men. He had an uphill fight all along the way, but by either genius or good luck never has been shelved. His father, Thos. Sulzer, was a politician before him, so much so that he suffered imprisonment for a cause he believed in. The elder Sulzer was a German patriot and a comrade of General Sigel and General Schurz. He was a strong advocate of constitutional liberty, and while a student at Heidelberg University, joined the patriots in a revolution. He was captured and imprisoned, but through clever manœuvring managed to escape to Switzerland. He came to this continent immediately and soon cast his lot with the Democratic forces. This was in 1851. The elder Sulzer married soon after he arrived here and settled in Elizabeth, N.J. His wife was from Dutch and Scotch-Irish stock. They lived in the New Jersey city for several years, and there William Sulzer was born. Soon afterward they removed to New York, and young Sulzer, who was exceedingly bright as a boy, was sent to the Public schools and was graduated, despite the fact that it cost many a hard effort and sacrifice on the part of his father and mother. Afterward he was sent to Columbia University, where he studied law. Both in the Public school and at college he was recognized as a forcible speaker. As early as 1884, when Mr. Sulzer was but twenty-one years old, he attracted attention as a masterly orator.

SKATING MADE EASY

No Falls and no Feeling of Insecurity For Beginners

Learning to skate either on ice or rollers is a difficult job—and yet it can be done if the beginner will take the trouble to make himself a device like that shown in the sketch. It is made of ¾-inch gas piping with a furniture caster fitted at the bottom of each leg. One end is left open for the skater to enter. The work of learning to maintain one's balance on skates is then easy, as the frame will keep the learner from falling and yet it moves about as easily as the skates

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. For particulars and details of this magnificent enterprise, address

TRAFFIC IN DRUGS

Too Much Cocaine Sold in Ontario—Government Inspection

The Canadian Pharmaceutical Association is on record as against the traffic in cocaine. The Registrar-General, said that over two thousand ounces of cocaine were sold in Ontario alone during one year, and that was far more than is necessary for surgical use and prescriptions. He declared that too much of the habit begetting drug is being imported into this country by degraded agents, who distribute it like any other commercial commodity. "They barter them on the highway and in secret places for the sake of gain, which is a disgrace to humanity," said the speaker, who told his fellow-pharmacists that the only source of detection and imprisonment of such unscrupulous persons was by the appointment of a Dominion Inspector. The cocaine laws of the Province and the Dominion were not put on the statute books any too soon. Speaking from actual experience, as inspector for the Ontario College of Pharmacy, of sales of cocaine by wholesale houses, he was of the opinion that there was far more cocaine being sold than was necessary for legitimate prescription purposes, and had the same opinion in regard to the sale of morphine and opium. Something should be done to further curtail the illegitimate sale of these three bad habit-forming drugs, and money should be expended by the Government toward furthering this end. He had not found it necessary to bring all cases and druggists into the public courts, but privately faced them with the charge that they were personally violating the law. In some cases, he was sorry to say, such accusations had been denied, but when they discovered that he had had access to wholesalers' records of sales, they acknowledged their faults, professed sorrow and begged of him to overlook their action, and humbly promised never to do it again. Judging from what he knew he would advise all pharmaceutical associations to recommend the Government to appoint a Dominion Inspector.

We are most of us willing to acknowledge that we have been fools—seldom that we are fools.

fidence to quit the mills and take up natural surgery. Almost at once he acquired a big practice. The Bonesetter has repaired so many ball players, boxers and men in other lines of sport, that he had difficulty recalling individual cases.

He does remember Ed. W. Geers, the famous horseman, however. Geers was thrown from his sulky and a broken ankle resulted. After the doctors were through he went to see the Bonesetter for relief. He found Rees' house after difficulty, but saw no shingle, and when he finally saw Rees he complained that a patient ought to be able to discover where a doctor lived without having to climb to the front door to read his name on a two-by-four door plate.

Some years ago Geers revisited Rees with a broken wrist, and now swears no one compares with him.

Rees had another famous patient in the person of Battling Nelson, to whom he refers as the most mussed up piece of humanity he ever treated. He thinks the Dane's name should be "Battered," instead of Battling. The veteran boxer carries such a choice collection of fractures that he is almost beyond help.

One look at Rees' hands betrays his secret. Large, sinewy and knotty they are the sort you'd expect to see upon a steel worker. The very sight of them creates an impression of power, but gives no hint of the wonderful delicacy of touch that enables them to locate instantly a displaced muscle or a tiny broken bone. A callous on the knuckle of each middle finger is significant of the great number of cases Rees has treated. These callouses, about the size of a five-cent piece, and as hard as stone are the result of his bonesetting practice.

It is with the knuckles of his middle finger that Rees forces the broken bones together. These callouses, his sensitive fingers, and powerful arms and shoulders, are his only instruments.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. VARIATIONS IN MILK FAT

They Show That Cows Should be Tested at Frequent Intervals

Frequent experiments have shown that one single test of a cow's milk is not reliable as an indication of what percentage of fat her milk normally contains. A great many well known causes affect the test, also some causes that are unknown at present even by the closest students. This "variation in the test" is one of the puzzles of the cow's individuality, and because of these puzzling variations it is advisable to take composite samples at intervals so as to ascertain the average test.

Some painstaking investigations at one of the dairy research stations in England, with seven cows for two days, even covering such details as a separate test of eleven successive pints, three times a day, from the four quarters of the udder, show that while thirty pounds of milk per day ran 3.6 per cent., the variation was all the way from only six-tenths of one per cent. up to nine and a half per cent. of fat.

This is clear proof of how misleading one single test may be. If the real earning capacity of each individual cow is to be computed, it must be on the basis of her annual production of milk and fat less the cost of feed; regular weighing and testing give that [illegible] every [illegible] patron

CHAMPION WALKER AND HIS METHODS

English "Ped" With Marvellous Record Tells Some of the Rules He Follows

The wonderful pedestrian powers of Mr. T. E. Hammond, hon. secretary of the Surrey Walking Club and a member of the Stock Exchange club, are well known in England, but perhaps not generally known in Canada. He it was who, a few years ago, set up fresh figures for a twenty-four hours' walk, reaching 131 miles 580 yards in the allowed time, while he is also the holder of the London to Brighton and back record and the London to Oxford record. While making his 24-hours' walk Mr. Hammond lost nine pounds in weight.

Some people may have the idea that it is necessary to lead a Spartan life in order to become a champion walker. Mr. Hammond confesses, however, that he is neither a teetotaller nor a non-smoker, but he is always most abstemious, and, as regards smoking, he seldom departs from the pipe, which he fills, say, three or four times a day only.

In training for a walking race, Mr. Hammond does not recommend walking long distances at a slow rate, as they make one lose speed. When a novice has acquired a good style of walking—and this is most important, as bad faults are more easily acquired than eradicated—he should commence walking in order to obtain speed. A good plan is to begin with a quarter of a mile at top speed. "As soon as he can accomplish this in anything under two minutes," says Mr. Hammond, he may gradually increase the distance from day to day, but must be particularly careful not to continue long distances if the watch indicates that he is at all affected in his speed."

Putting the Foot Down

Referring to style in walking, the champion says that fair walking is generally called "toe and heel," and one foot should always be on the ground. The steps are taken as much as possible from heel to heel, which part of the foot must touch the ground first, and be firmly dug into it. The ball and toe of the foot should not be on the ground for any perceptible space of time. If they are dwelt on the walker loses a certain amount of time in each stride, besides causing the knee to bend by bringing the weight of the body on the toes, which are unable to bear it.

"At each stride the loin and hips corresponding to the leg which is put forward should be twisted well round, the right loin and hip towards the left, and the left loin and hip towards the right. By this means the walker is enabled to put his feet down in a geometrical straight line, one in front of the other, and thereby gains additional length of stride.

"As regards the upper part of the body, the arms must be kept well up and inclined outwards from the chest, with the elbows slightly bent; since in fast walking the arms perform almost as important functions as the legs.

Watch the Arms

Each arm must be swung across the chest and the shoulders well lifted at the same time, in unison with each alternate stride. The object of this motion is to raise the weight of the body off the heels, and thereby enable the legs to take a quicker stride. Some walkers keep the arms close to the body, move them much less, and more towards the nostrils. This method, however, is only suitable to men very slightly built about the chest and trunk.

"They can walk with a very quick and rapid stride, being enabled to move their legs much faster from having no weight to carry. Above all things, the shoulders must be kept well back, the chest out, the whole body as upright as possible, and the knees quite straight. Nothing tends so much to 'lifting' as stooping forward with the body or bending the knees."

AN ARMY OF PEACE

Well Equipped Buildings Needed For Technical Education

Dr. F. W. Merchant in discussing "Technical Education, said there was a great deal of talk about conservation these days, but the loss to the nation in the matter of material things was nothing compared to the unrealized gift of its citizens, which had no chance to find an outlet for its genius. The present system of evening classes was not one conducive to the best results. Pupils came jaded to the classes after their day's work, and the speaker contended that the day school must be depended upon more for the support of vocational education. The ages best suited for the making of industrial efficiency were between fourteen and sixteen, and it was here that the nation lost a large number of young members who might be drafted into the ranks of the technical schools. He was afraid that they would eventually have to take the action of Germany in this regard and make technical education compulsory. A great movement was going on with regard to militarism; halls were being erected all over the country, and Dr. Merchant declared that they wanted similar buildings equally well equipped for the training of what Lord Haldane calls "an army of peace to maintain Amateur Burglars at Work.

There has been an epidemic of housebreaking at Campbellford. The seemingly amateur burglars stole an iron safe from Mr. John Harris' feed store, carried it up the railway on a handcar, and broke it open. Finding no money the marauders burned Mr. Harris' books, entailing a loss of $2,000. They also took the safe out of the G.T.R. station, but were evidently frightened away, and left it on the platform.

The Lost Was Found.

Dr. Young on Saturday morning reported the loss of a valuaqle bay mare, to the police. It appears that on Friday evening the Dr. attended to the locking up of the stable in the usual manner, and on going to the stable during the morning, found the horse missing. However, the hosse was later on found wandering the streets.

Our Fire Alarm Boxes.

As is generally known, the fire alarm boxes have been somewhat differently placed on account of the additions to the fire alarm system. The question often arises, "How do people know where to go at night to ring in alarm, in case of fire?" The suggestion has been offered, and it is a sensible one, that as an indication of the location of a fire alarm box, a red light be displayed.

An Incorrect Statement.

The statement appearing in the local papers and sent to The Globe that the Executive Committee of the Conservative Association recommended an appointment to the Dominion Government is incorrect. When the federal member asks for recommendations to him by the committee they are made, but in no other way.

The authorities took her into custody. She was committed to the asylum for safe keeping. At one time she was mentally troubled, some years ago.

Former Local Man Killed.

Mr. John Belleghem, formerly of this city, and nephew of Mr. D. Belleghem, of Peterborough, met death early Saturday morning in an accident in the C.P.R. yards at Havelock. It seems that Mr. Belleghem, who is an engineer, was on the way to his work about six o'clock and attempted to pass between two sections of a freight train standing in the yards. There was barely room enough for him to get between the cars, and just as he went to pass between, the engine shunted the first part of the train backwards. Caught between the cars, unseen by the engineer, Mr. Belleghem was almost cut in two at the waist. The late Mr. Belleghem was born in Peterborough and resided here until about eight years ago. He will be remembered by a great many local people who will learn of his tragic death with sorrow. He was the son of Mr. John Belleghem, of Toronto, and was 35 years of age. He is survived by his father and mother in Toronto, one sister, Mrs. Rorborough, and two brothers, Ernest and Charles. He leaves also a wife and three young children.

WOMAN WALKS HALF MILE WILH BURNS

Falls Unconsious in Flower Bed on Hospital Grounds—Found by Attendants Roused by Sister, Who Herself Burned, Faints at Doors But Gives Alarm

Worchester, July 18.— With her body terribly burned from knees to arm pits by the explosion of a gas stove in her home at 5 Blake Street Mrs. Ellen Healey, aged 55, wife of James H. Healey, walked from her home at St. Vincent Hospital Sunday night, a distance of over half a mile, fell unconscious in a flower bed near the Winthrop street side of the hospital where she war found later by attendants of the hospital, and died today in the hospital from the effects of her burns.

Mrs. Healey was preparing to get supper in her home when a flare back as she touched the match to the gas, set fire to a flimsy apron she was wearing. In a second she was a mass of flames but she tore from her body the blazing clothing, assisted by her sister Miss McNulty, and she threw over her burned body a light kimona gown and started for the hospital with her sister.

Miss McNulty had burned her right hand in her efforts to help her sister, but none of the people passing by the women on their way to the hospital dreamed that both were suffering from burns and that one was walking with death at her side.

When the women reached the hospital grounds, Mrs. Healey fell unconscious in a flower bed and Miss McNulty hurries to the hospital where she collapsed at the entrance and fainted after crying "My sister, my sister."

Hospital attendants thought her sister was one of the patients in the hospital and that she was overcome with fear for her condition, until they discovered her burned hand.

They then realized that another woman had been burned and began a hunt of the hospital grounds, discovering the unconscious body of Mrs. Healey in a clump of bushes on one of the flower beds.

They took her into the hospital, where everything possible was done to save her life, but she died at 9 o'clock this morning.

NEW TRAGEDY AND MYSTERY STRIKE AT TAMWORTH
DOCTOR IS MISSING; RUSSELL YORK IS LIKELY TO DIE

Dr. Robinson, Thought to be in Kingston With Sick Wife, Now Cannot be Found in That City Nor at His Home

Tamworth, Ont., July 20.—What seems like a second disappearance within a few weeks—this time of Dr. Robinson—has again set the little town of Tamworth all ablaze. Dr. Robinson is the physician whose office the missing Miss Blanche Yorke visited on the night of her mysterious disappearance a week ago last Wednesday.

On Thursday, the Dr. left town, ostensibly to go to Kingston, where his wife is lying sick in the Hotel Dieu. As far as can be learned, Dr. Robinson is not in Kingston, nor does he appear to have returned to Tamworth.

When he boarded the train Thursday morning, the doctor, it is claimed, stated he would return that evening, and, although he failed to do so, it was accepted around town that he was remaining by the bedside of his wife in the Kingston hospital.

Yesterday, however, the reporter of a Kingston newspaper arrived on the scene in search of Dr. Robinson in Tamworth. He had searched Kingston for two days, he stated, without finding trace of the doctor, other than the information that he was in Tamworth.

The doctor's child is also in Kingston, being at the home of Dr. Bell, a veterinary in that city.

A number of Dr. Robinson's patients in Tamworth are becoming anxious regarding his protracted absence. The other physician in this town has been obliged to take them over.

Superintendent Rogers, of the Provincial police, when asked to-day about the reported disappearance of Dr. Robinson, said: "He has not disappeared. We have no word to that effect, however."

With reference to the statement that there was a fire in Dr. Robinson's furnace the day after Miss Yorke's disappearance, which was caused, according to Dr. Robinson's statement, by his burning rags, the superintendent stated that he knew all about that and there was "nothing in it."

HEAVY FINE FOR SOCIETY WOMAN

Failed to Appear to Answer Charge of Cruelty to Animals

Toronto, July 20.—Twenty dollars and costs or forty days was the sentence meted out today in police court to Mrs. Steel, of 348 Palmerston Boulevard, for cruelty to animals in a case prosecuted by the Toronto Humane Society.

Mrs. Steel acted on the statement she had previously made to the Society, and failed to appear in court. Twice previously she had failed to appear when her name was called, and counsel representing her succeeded in obtaining a postponement. To-day, however, not even counsel was present, and the Humane Society officers were called upon to state their case.

Inspector Burge told of the trip to the house, and how they had found nine cats and one dog shut in the cellar, half starved, covered with vermin, and in a condition of indescribable filth. The cats have since been killed. His evidence was corroborated by Inspector Bragg, also of the Humane Society. Secretary Craven gave evidence and the Magistrate named the fine, without the defendant being present to answer the charge.

FREIGHTER AGROUND NEAR POINT VIVIAN

Kingston, July 20.—The steamer Port Colborne, en route to Montreal with grain, struck the bottom at Point Vivian, near Alexandria Bay. The Cornwall and a lighter of the Donnelly Wrecking Company left this morning to assist her. The cargo is not damaged.

REDUCES WEIGHT MAY JOIN FORCE

Chicago, July 20.—Determined to be a policeman, one candidate for the civil service commissioners. twenty-five pounds in five days, it was made known today from the Examiner's headquarters. The outside weight allowed is 180 pounds. The candidate reduced from 225 pounds to 200 in the five days between July 9 and 14.

She did it by sucking ice and lemon peel instead of eating and by taking vigorous exercise, she told the civil service commissioners.

"Give me five days more," she pleaded when told that the extra 20 pounds she carried would still bar her despite her remarkable feat of reduction. The chance was granted her and her daily weight reports will be checked.

TRAINED NURSE HELD FOR GIVING POISON

San Francisco, July 21.—A warrant charging murder awaits Miss Eva Rinehart, aged 27 years, reported to have left San Jose Cal., on a pleasure trip in an automobile. She is accused of causing the death, by poison, of Mrs. Katherine Bluett in January in the Auburn, Placer county hospital, where the two were nurses. Mrs. Bluett's body was taken to Reno and buried, but was exhumed. Examination, it was said, failed to bear out Miss Rinehart's report that death was caused by burns and the Placer county authorities issued the warrant charging murder.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT IN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Opening of Panama Canal Will Establish New Trade Route

Ottawa, July 20.—Sir George Foster, Minister of Trade and Commerce has been making an exhaustive study into the possibilities of an increased world-wide trade in British Columbia having in view the coming opening of the Panama Canal.

The Canadian Trade Commissioner H. S. Flood, has, at the Minister's request been making a study of the possibilities of an expansion of trade in the islands. In a report to the department he says:

"After the opening of the Canal, shippers of lumber in British Colum- for the British West Indies, Mr. E. bia will have an opportunity to compete for part of the trade of the West Indies. Up to the present time no lumber from the Pacific Coast has been imported, except a small shipment of shingles which found its way into Barbadoes a few years ago. Interest has been expressed by dealers here on this subject, and inquiries have been made in regard to the characteristics of douglas fir and western pine and spruce and as to their suitability for the tropics as compared with the pine and spruce from Eastern Canada and the pitch pine now imported from the United States. To satisfy these inquiries, a request has been made to the Forestry Department of British Columbia to furnish samples of the different varieties of lumber that are commercially important and suitable for export. These samples will be shown to the trade, and afterwards sent to Trinidad, Jamaica, British Guiana and the Northern Islands. In this way an opportunity will be afforded for a comparison of British Columbia lumber with that now imported, and will stimulate the interest now taken, and assist in preparing for an early trial shipment as soon as intercourse is established through the Canal."

He also adds:

"A steamship service between British Columbia and these colonies that would give an outlet for lumber and other products of Western Canada, would depend to a great extent on the availability of return cargoes. The products of the West Indies that now seek the preference market offered by Canada and that could make the voyage to British Columbia without deterioration, are sugar and molasses, cocoanuts, and many other products."

FARMERS ARE LOSING HEART IN FIGHT WITH ARMY WORM

Plague Appearing in Millions All Over County--Viewed With Alarm

Woodstock, July 20.—The plague of army worm in Oxford County is reported by the agricultural experts this morning as being even more serious than at any time since the pests were first discovered over a week ago.

This morning it was reported that worms had been discovered in thousands in the northwestern section of the county. Many miles from where the plague first broke out, so that at present the entire country is infested. Messrs. G. R. Greenwood and R. G. Sutton, district agricultural representatives, are working night and day in assisting the farmers to fight the plague, but to the present it has been a losing battle, so numerous are the cases becoming. Many of the farmers of the district are becoming discouraged and the progress of the worms is viewed with alarm. Thousands of dollars damage has already been done to the crops and it is estimated by Mr. Green that the injury to the farmers will be much more severe before the last has been heard of the plague. Latest reports received here state that the worms have been also discovered at Thamesford near the borders of Middlesex county. Many cases have been reported this morning from the district surrounding this city, while the first case from Ingersoll district was also discovered to-day. Farmers in all parts of the country are keeping a watchful eye for the worm and in the excitement harvesting has al- been forgotten for the present.

SHE SMOKES IN LOBBY OF HOTEL

New York, July 20.—Many guests at the exclusive Vanderbilt hotel were greatly shocked today on beholding a pretty woman seated in the lounge puffing at a dainty gold-tipped cigarette with marked nonchalance.

The smoker, who apparently was utterly oblivious to the attention she attracted was Mrs. Agnes Freund, a guest at the hotel. Incidentally Mrs. Freund is said to have consumed many cigarettes to the surprise of the men who gazed at her.

Mrs. Freund said that if men smoked in the lobby of a hotel she could see no reason why a woman shouldn't and that nobody ought to be surprised at that.

Young Cousin Of the Missing Girl Mistook Liniment for Liquor; Hovering Between Life and Death: Hope Abandoned

TOOK TWO HOURS FOR FLEET TO PASS

Gour Hundred Vessels, in Battle Array, Sail Majestically Past the King

Portsmouth, England, July 20.—The British home fleet, composed of over 200 fighting ships and an equal number of auxiliaries, including submarines, torpedo boat destroyers, and sea planes, was led out to sea by King George this morning. His Majesty was on board the Royal Yacht, accompanied by the Prince of Wales, Winston Spencer Churchill and the other Lords of the Admiralty.

At the entrance to the English Channel the Royal yacht dropped anchor and the ships in line abreast passed in review before His Majesty while a fleet of sealplanes from the Calshot Airship Station flew in pairs above the Royal yacht and circled above the slowly moving ships. It took the great fleet two hours to pass before the king.

MONEY IN OIL

Province of Alberta Now Seems to Possess Big Share of World's Oil Production.

As is known to any thoughtful or well-read man, the future fuel of the world is oil. Crude petroleum furnishes the coal oil of commerce and its by-products such as gasoline, etc. that are all in big and growing demand.

In this issue of The Times appears an advertisement of the Hole-Woollard Oil Co. that will bear close inspection by those seeking a safe lucrative investment for funds in either large or small amounts. As may be seen by the advertisement referred to, the property of the Hole-Woollard Oil Co. is practically proven ground. There are, as previously intimated, wonderful possibilities in oil.

Tamworth, Ont. July 20.—As if one affliction at a time were not sufficient burden for the stricken Yorke family, a death from drinking liniment may be added to the mystery of the missing Miss Blanche York.

Unable to support longer the nerve snapping tension and strain resulting from the disappearance and unavailing quest of his pretty cousin, Russell York, on Saturday afternoon sought temporary relief and solace in a bottle of whiskey. Upon obtaining the liquor, and already half dazed with grief, he made his way to the barn belonging to the manager of the local brick works where, stretching himself on the stable hay, he hopefully quaffed the sorrow-numbing potion.

Later in the evening, emerging from his stupor, he reached again for the bottle, but instead of the whiskey, his hand struck a bottle of horse liniment resting on the floor in the corner. The bottle was of a similar size to the other and unable to distinguish between the two, young York poured down his throat what remained of the liniment—nearly half a bottle.

As the mixture of disinfectants, powerful narcotics and other drugs in the liniment began to gnaw at his vitals, he set up a frantic screaming, which drew the attention of the neighbors.

When found he was in convulsions. Medical attention was immediately summoned, but it is not yet known whether it will be effective in saving his life.

All yesterday young York writhed on a bed of pain, hovering between life and death, at his home, outside the town, on the banks of the Salmon River, in which it was for some time believed his fair cousin lay dead.

Young York is being attended night and day by the members of his family. Everything within the range of human possibility is being done in an endeavor to spare the afflicted family yet further grief.

It was stated today that only the slightest hopes were held of his recovery, although his almost superhuman strength may pull him through in the end.

SHARP TEETH AND APPETITE EXCITED BY SMELL OF BLOOD

Bitter Attack by the Figaro on Slayer of Former Editor Madam Caillaux Placed on Trial

Paris, July 20.—The thoughts of all Parisians were occupied to-day solely by the opening of the trial of Mme. Caillaux for the murder on March 16th of Gaston Calmette, editor of The Figaro. Proceedings started at noon in the Palace of Justice, with Judge Louis Albanel acting as President of the court.

The dramatic setting of the affair, involving political intrigues, in which the prisoner's husband, a former French premier and Minister of Finance, was a prominent figure, was just to the taste of the French public. Added to this was the rumored threat of Royalist hotheads to create a disturbance during the trial and the extensive precautions taken by the Government to prevent an outbreak.

Long before the opening of the Palace of Justice crowds defying the drizzling rain had assembled in the vicinity and special forces of police were called out to keep them in order.

From an early hour long lines formed on the Place Dauphine and the Boulevard Du Palais, hoping to be lucky enough to secure the few places left for the general public in the court room, which had been for the most part allotted to press representatives and barristers.

TO PROPERLY TREAT OBSTINATE WRINKLES

Particularly where wrinkles are long and deep, the massage devotee is apt to rub too hard and too frequently. This loosens the skin, causes muscles to sag, aggravates the wrinkled condition—just the opposite result from that sought.

Better than massaging, or anything else, for the most obstinate wrinkles, as well as the finest lines, is a formula well known in England, which you may readily avail yourselves of as you will have no difficulty procuring the inexpensive constituents from druggists in this country. It is this: One ounce powdered saxolite, dissolved in one-half pint witch hazel. Bathe face, neck or hands in this.

The effect is really marvelous, not only as to wrinkles but also in cases of baggy cheeks and chin. Marked improvement is noticed after the very first application. The lotion is cooling and soothing, tending to relieve fatigue and remove that tired look."

KING CALLS CONFERENCE OF PARTY LEADERS ON HOME RULE

All Invited Have Agreed to Attend at Request of His Majesty--Difference Over Tyrone County

London, July 20.—The King has called a conference of the leaders, of all the parties to seek a solution of the Irish problem. This is the momentous announcement which Premier Asquith is expected to make today, when the bill amending the home rule bill comes up again for consideration in the House of Commons.

The Prime Minister's speech on this occasion, indicating how the Government proposes to deal with the Lords' amendment to the amending bill, is awaited with deepest anxiety, and it is probable that the House will immediately adjourn the debate on the amending bill indefinitely, to allow the negotiations for a settlement to proceed outside of Parliament. Premier Asquith has been with the King at Portsmouth during the week-end, and the King's anxiety to get the difficulty settled resulted in the decision to call a conference.

It is said the various leaders invited have accepted the invitation and that the conference will meet at an early date probably on Tuesday, in London. The King will receive the delegates, but will not himself preside over the conference which it is confidently thought, under such exalted auspices will prove successful.

At the same time the Ministers are placing great reliance in the persuasive powers of Chancellor Lloyd George, who has been temporarily been shunted from his financial duties to assist the Prime Minister in finding a solution for the Irish difficulty.

Chancellor George's practical business is to smooth the path between Nationalists and Liberals. It is understood that the Government is willing to go a considerable way in the direction of meeting the Carsonite demands, but is hampered by the unyielding attitude of the Nationalists.

"BABYLON"

Wonderful Oriental Spectacle at Canadian National Exhibition.

"Babylon" the magnificent Oriental spectacle now in preparation for this year's Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, will outshine in the beauty of its coloring and costumes, its life and the number of its people, any similar spectacle ever produced on the American continent.

The very name "Babylon" is a synonym for luxury and lavishness, and the story of the handwriting on the wall that dazed the rioters at the feast of Belteschazzar, and later the destruction of the most beautiful city of ancient times, lend themselves readily to romantic depiction and spectacular reproduction. The material is already to the hand of the author and artist.

When it is learned that a thousand costumes for the king, the nobles, the state officers, the envoys of other nations, the priests, the warriors, the Assyrian guards, the Nubians, the Arabs, the slaves, the charioteers, etc. etc., are being imported, that they will be accurate in every detail, you can form some opinion of the riot of color the stage will hold.

The stage setting will consist of a view of the ancient city 700 feet in length—the largest stage in the world.

HOPE TO EVOLVE A PERFECT RACE

Man at Present a Mere Caricature Says British Doctor—Baby Swam When Seven Years Old

Some most interesting discussions took place at a conference of the British Medical Association at Brighton. Particularly attractive was the debate on the possibility of producing a perfect race.

Dr. Harry Campbell, of London, declared that it was theoretically possible to breed a race of super-men, to convert man—at present a mere caricature of the ideal— into a being perfect in form and supreme in moral and intellectual endowment. What, above all, was needed, he added, was that the public standard should be educated in the fundamental principles of evolution. The great truths of science had not yet been incorporated into our religious and ethical codes. We still prayed to be delivered from plague, pestilence, and famine as though they were visitations of Divine wrath, whereas they were in a large measure under our control.

Sir James Barr ventured the opinion that what was wanted was a race which would be more or less immune from disease, and which would possess a strong inherent power of recovery when affected.

The merits and dangers of sea-bathing formed another interesting subject for discussion. Dr W. J. Tyson, of Folkestone, said it acted as a tonic, and had a strengthening effect when wisely carried out, but there were certain rules which ought to be observed. There was one rule never to be forgotten—always leave the water before the reaction stage was reached. The length of time in the water should be from five to fifteen minutes. For non-swimmers the five minutes should not be exceeded. Slow dressing, he said, was as bad as slow bathing, and a rough towel to create friction should be used.

Dr. Kennedy, of Bath, discussed the age at which it would be advisable for children to have sea baths, and added, amidst laughter, "I bathed a child in the sea before he was one year old, and the remarkable fact about it is that the baby swam. I am quite prepared for the laugh, but the first moment I put the infant into the sea it struck out, and actually swam, but it never tried it afterwards. As a rule when you put young children into the sea it is a great shock. I have seen little children practically paralyzed, although they have been in the sea but a very short time."

Giving his views on crime and its punishment, Dr. Scott, formerly governor of Halloway Gaol, said the view had sometimes been enunciated that crime was a disease inherited or acquired, and that criminals should be pitied and not blamed, put under kind treatment, and not punished.

There was certainly an analogy between crime and disease, but it was difficult for most of them to think that the accomplished criminal should be pitied and not blamed, and be treated better than many honest and law abiding people could afford to treat themselves.

Education, it was thought, would affect crime, but its results had been that if we had fewer offences against the person with violence, we had a larger number of clever and ingenious frauds.

Professor Benjamin Moore (Liverpool) said crime was a good thing "because it brings us to understand social problems. Perfect laws would show that we are no longer progressive. Old crimes are disappearing and new crimes are arising, and I trust new crimes always will arise."

A GOVERNOR'S FALL

Herded Swine Where He Once Virtually Ruled

From statements made when he was under the influence of drink, an extraordinary story of a man's downfall has come to light in Russia. The governor of a province hired a swineherd for his farm at Mistopolsk. The man had not long been at work when his fellow servants told their master that the new employe made the most extraordinary statements when he was in a drunken condition, and used to say that he was really governor of the Don Cossacks province.

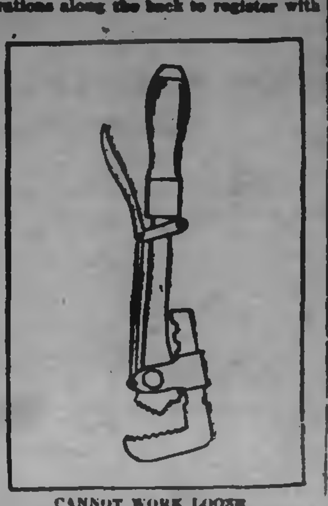
The swineherd was summoned before his master, who is said to have found to his great surprise that the man's story had a foundation of truth. The guardian of the pigs had, years before, been governor of the province, but had been sent to prison for embezzlement.

After his term of imprisonment had come to an end he had led a vagabond's life until, impelled by a desire to return to the scene of his former exploits, he had returned to the province, where he accepted the job as swineherd on the farm of the new governor.

NEW KIND OF WRENCH

Head Fits Over Serrations That Prevent Its Slipping

A wrench that is said to have unusual strength and gripping power is a new invention. A movable jaw is pivoted on the end. The jaw is L-shaped, with teeth along its short-end and with recesses in the long end. The head of the wrench is also formed with teeth facing the short end of the jaw and with serrations along the back to register with the recesses in the long portion of the jaw. A rod leads down to the handle, and by means of this rod the jaw is tightened around the pipe or nut or whatever it is the wrench is used on. Once this grip is secured the locking means along the back prevent the jaw from working loose until it is freed by means of the connecting rod.



CANNOT WORK LOOSE.

COST OF LONG LIVING

In Seventy Years a Man Consumes a Mountain of Food

Have you any idea of the amount of food you will have eaten if you attain the age of seventy-five—providing, of course, that you are of average height, weight, and appetite?

Fifty-four tons of solid food, and fifty-three tons of liquid—about 1,300 times your own weight! That is the take-your-breath-away answer.

The tons of bread you have consumed would equal in size a small family hotel, and a ton and a quarter would be the equivalent weight of butter.

If you had been a lover of bacon and were to stretch it out in single slices, four miles would be the length. Five tons of fish, and 12,000 eggs stand to your credit, whilst a normal cheese eater easily consumes 400 pounds.

The vegetables you have consumed would fill a train three miles long and to that train-load you could add 10,000 pounds of sugar, and 1,[illegible]0 pounds of salt.

SUCCESSFUL DAIRYING

Depends to Large Extent Upon Knowing Individual Worth of Cows

There are such excellent concrete examples now and again outcropping of men who prove that it pays to take up cow testing, that their records of success make stimulating reading for dairy farmers all over the Dominion.

Here is a good example of what one man at Cedar Hall, Quebec, in the Gaspe Peninsula, accomplished by carefully watching his fairly good cows and feeding them better. The first year his eight cows gave him 33,511 pounds of milk, an average of 4,188 pounds, at a feed cost of $22.58, netting a total profit of $76.8?, an average of $9.60 profit per cow. Two of the best cows in the herd the first year were lost accidentally, two heifers made up the herd to eight again; a pure bred sire is kept.

The next year his eight cows gave him 41,400 pounds of milk, an average of 5,176 pounds, or 1,000 pounds of an increase per cow. The feed cost $4.12 more per cow, but the total profit was $177.20, or an increase of 130 per cent. in the profit. It pays to give additional feed if the cows kept are of the type to make use of it profitably.

The forcible realities are these: The gross income from milk increased by $133.43 from the same number of cows, the profit far more than doubled, and the owner has received every encouragement to try for still better results. That is where a trial cow testing trip generally lands the herd owner.

Frowsy Kings

It has been suggested that, for the sake of historical accuracy, the impersonator of Charles II. at the Versailles fete should have been shabbily dressed, as that monarch was by no means particular about his clothes. Too much precision in making-up for masquerades would, however, upset some of the participants. To impersonate Louis XVI. with accuracy it would be necessary to abstain from washing, a little cold cream applied with a handkerchief being the only tribute he paid to cleanliness. In St. Simon's detailed account of the king's day, from the passing of his periwig through the closed bedcurtains in the morning to the ceremonial placing of the nightshirt over his shoulders when he retired, there is no mention of any ablutions.—London Chronicle.

SUBMARINE CRUISER MARKS A NEW EPOCH

Huge War Vessel For Use Both Above and Below Surface—Carries Mines and Torpedoes

Russia's navy will soon boast of the most powerful, epoch-making submarine cruiser of the world. The "terror of the seas" will be virtually a submerged cruiser, or torpedo Dreadnought. Her displacement submerged will be 5,400 tons, and while manœuvring under water she will be capable of planting or picking up mines and stationary torpedoes. Her length will be 400 feet and her maximum beam 34 feet. The surface speed specified is 36 knots and submerged it is said she will develop at least 14 knots. She is designed to carry more than 800 tons of liquid fuel.

This vessel will combine to a great extent the power and radius of action of a torpedo boat destroyer with the "sneaking" ability of a submarine. She has been well termed a "submarine cruiser." Her torpedo equipment will consist of 36 launching tubes, and she will readily carry 60 long 18-inch Whitehead torpedoes. The specifications call for 16 launching tubes in each broadside, with two bow and two stern launching tubes. Such a vessel after proceeding under water into the midst of a fleet could produce untold havoc, and even though she might be destroyed herself the sacrifice might decimate, possibly annihilate, an enemy's squadron or fleet.

The mine planting equipment will provide for the carrying of 120 naval defence mines. To protect herself in this work the submarine cruiser will have a battery of five 4.7-inch rapid fire guns, which would prove very effective in repelling an attack by surface torpedo boats or destroyers. They will be useful during the interval in which the cruiser is preparing for a plunge. In surface condition the displacement will be 4,500 tons, which means that about one thousand tons of water ballast must be taken into the vessel to prepare her for her subsurface work. The designers believe that the vessel will be able to perform this work in three minutes minutes, but during those three minutes the cruiser's guns might be greatly needed.

A revolving turret forward and a conning tower midships, both of which telescope, are two unusual features of this remarkable craft. When telescoped they can be housed within the curved armored superstructures.

The naval defence mines, which will be launched through the bottom of the vessel may be placed while the craft is submerged. The largest submarines now under construction, except this one of Russia's have about eight hundred tons displacement submerged.

SALVATION ARMY IN THE FAR NORTH

Indians Rapidly Becoming Civilized—They Like Their Uniforms and the Band

After an absence of over thirty years from his home in the little village of Slingsby, Yorkshire, Major "Bob" Smith of the Salvation Army took a longing to see his old mother again and got leave of absence for the trip home. Before leaving Canada he told an interesting story of his work amon- [illegible] and the changes that are coming about by the ever-advancing tide of civilization.

In the early eighties Major Smith and his two brothers came to Canada and located at Winnipeg, and in that city the major was converted and began work with the Salvation Army. For the last fourteen years he had charge of districts among the Indians in British Columbia and Alaska. For ten years he worked in Alaska with his centre at Wrangell. The four previous years he was in British Columbia among the Simshian Indians and in Alaska, in the south-eastern part, he dwells chiefly among the Thinget tribe. He has also worked among the dying race of Hydah Indians on Queen Charlotte Island and Prince of Wales Island, B.C.

The work is making wonderful strides, he said. Every year sees the old order changing among the Indians. The growth of the mining centres in Alaska is causing a big influx of white people. In the last decade there has been a decrease of 14 per cent. in the Indian population, and the tribes are gradually dwindling down.

Old Burial Custom

Speaking of the old customs of the Indians and their heathen superstitions he said that these were fast disappearing. One custom at the burial of a person was to inter the body but a few inches below the surface and build a log hut over the spot and around the grave, place the deceased's belongings and scatter food on the ground. In these death houses he has seen sewing machines and clocks left by the departed's relatives.

The old unwritten law that members of the same tribe must not intermarry is also being relegated to the past, and members of the same tribe are now being joined in matrimony. In the village of Killisnoo, where he has one of the eleven stations under his supervision, the Major had 100 soldiers in the corps, and on one of his visits he conducted 15 weddings.

The story is told that Killisnoo got its name through a young Scotchman who, with a companion, was captured by the Indians. The adventurous pair were to be put to death, but the execution was postponed and the Scot, suffering from the exquisite torture of having his life hanging by a thread and the uncertainty of the day of doom, is stated to have shouted, "Kill us noo." The Indians liked the sound and so the village got its name. What happened to the prisoners is not known.

Indians Enterprising

And the village called Kake is also in the Major's district, and it is not very long ago since white men carried their lives in their hands in visiting the place. Not so now, civilization is wiping all this out. Trapping, hunting, fishing, logging are the industries the Indians chiefly follow. There are many enterprising men among them and this is shown by the number of gasoline launches that they now have plying up and down the river.

In many instances the Major has to do his missionary work through an interpreter. Many of the officers are Indians and of their work and devotion to duty Major Smith speaks highly. They make smart figures in the Army uniforms, which greatly appeal to them. As musicians they are very successful and they are especially good at singing.

ORIGIN OF BOOT HEELS

Women First Wore Them so They Could Not Travel

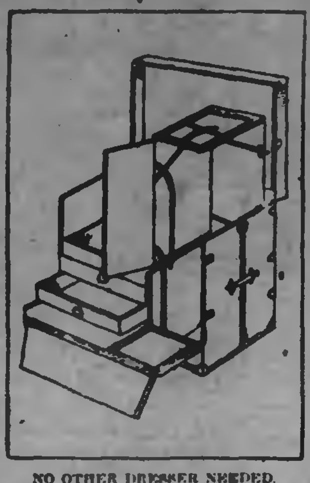
It is said that the heels now worn on shoes had their origin in Persia, where they took the form of flat wood on sandals to raise the feet and prevent them from the hot sands.

It was many years afterward that this fashion was introduced into Venice, but the reason for its adoption in this case is said to have been quite different. Here the originators of the fashion were jealous husbands who reasoned that their women thus equipped would not venture far outside the precincts of their dwelling. These heels were called "clogs," and in order to satisfy the vanity of the wearers and perhaps to sweeten the pill—that is, the discomfort of appearing in them—they were elaborately adorned, sometimes being encrusted with gold and silver. The height of the clogs determined the rank of the wearer.

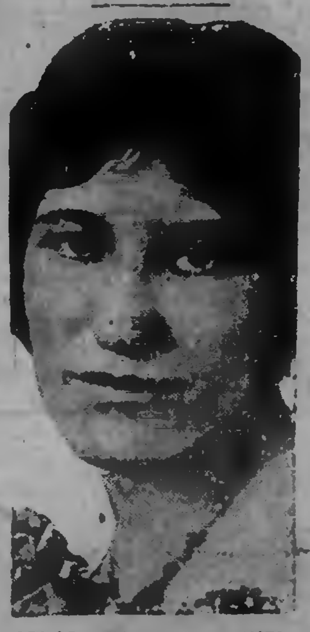
A COMPACT TRUNK

Can be Opened up to Provide all the Comforts of Home

Since the wardrobe trunk was first invented there have been many variations, and one of the latest is that shown in the picture. This is not like the usual wardrobe trunk—tall and vertical in position. It is substantially square in shape, but when opened up it forms a regular dresser and has a compartment that rises to twice its normal height and provides a wardrobe in which garments can be kept unfolded and can be slid in and out on hangers as in regular wardrobes and the tall trunks. Furthermore, this trunk forms a dresser, with an assortment of drawers, in which a man can keep his clothing as he packed it. Traveling with one of these trunks, one need not have any other article of furniture in a room but a bed and a chair. He can hang a mirror in the trunk lid.



NO OTHER DRESSER NEEDED.



SENORITA ANITA CARRANZA

a Mexican girl who has won fame as a soloist. She says that the men of her country cannot resist the excitement and prospect of loot attendant upon civil war and this love of fighting as a sport means that the country is seldom tranquil. The women are the ones who know the horror of it, with plundered homes bereft of husband, son or father.

Child's Narrow Escape

When a train which had left Ottawa reached the bridge over a tributary to the Gatineau and just beyond Hull, the engineer noticed a small child on the track. Before he could stop his train the engine had passed over the child. When the train stopped the engineer descended from his cab to look for the youngster's body, when he found that the little one had lain down flat on the trestle work of the bridge where there was just room for the outer edge of the engine to pass over his body without hurting him. In this way he escaped uninjured. He was taken out by the engineer and sent safely home. He did not seem much frightened when taken from his perilous position under the train.

Saving Hotel Carpets

For handling baggage in hotels there has been invented a truck with rubber tired wheels to save the carpets and with handles that fold when used in crowded spaces.

The Crooked Billet—an inn which still stands upon Tower Hill, as it has stood for generations past—boasts itself as the oldest wine and spirit house in London. There is every reason to believe that the inn dates from the time of Henry VIII. Certainly no London inn is more romantic in the matter of sliding panels and concealed doors, secret rooms, and underground passages—one of these reputedly [illegible] to the Tower—and thick walls richly carved. There is a tradition that Oliver Cromwell once lived (or lodged) at the Crooked Billet.

Our Point of View

The advertisement of a popular brand of beer says it "spells temperance." But it also spells two dollars or ten days if you drink enough of it.

—o—

Of course the story about a dog being discovered in Lindsay that can think intelligently, is utterly absurd, because if he could he wouldn't stay there.

—o—

Sylvia Pankhurst's new policy of "no vote, no rent," is no less foolish than window-smashing. It hits all landlords, without regard to whether they are in favor of woman suffrage or opposed to it.

—o—

A news item says indigestion may be cured by eating sand, but we haven't grit enough to try it. However, ferable to the crow they have been our Liberal friends may find it prefeating for the last two years.

E. A. Lancaster, M.P., for Lincoln, will retire from parliament because, he says, the sessional indemnity is too small. Maybe it is too small for Mr. Lancaster; but $2500 a year is far above the annual income of the average citizen—even of the average professional man.

Free Divorce

A few days ago England began the operation of what is called her "free law for the poor" scheme. It is a law which Parliament has passed for the benefit of persons who have claims to justice at the hands of the courts but are unable to meet the expenses of litigation. Now it may be truly said that there is one law for the rich and another for the poor yet this law for the poor is not unjust, but is a remedy for injustice, because hitherto in many cases only the rich could bear the cost of the proceedings requisite to obtain a judicial decision. This has been especially so in the matter of actions for divorce. To the poorer people the costs have been prohibitive.

Rightly or wrongly, divorce was long made difficult by English law. Up till 1857 a marriage could only be dissolved by a special act of Parliament. Then an act of that year established a new high court for divorce and matrimonial cases. In Canada we have no specially constituted matrimonial court. Parliament being the only power authorized to grant relief.

Nearly 900 applications for legal aid under the plan of free law for the poor have been received in London, and almost one half of these are from persons wishing to take proceedings in the divorce court. This confirms what has been said of the smallness of the number of divorces among the working classes" having been due to want of money for court expenses. It is doubtless true that many marital wrongs have been endured, and much immorality and cruelty virtually protected, under the law that closed the door of the divorce court against all but the rich. Therefore the new law is really a very desirable measure of reform.

Good-Bye, Old Backache Nerviline Will Fix You

Stiffness Is Rubbed Right Out; Every Sign of Pain Disappears.

No more stomach dosing necessary to cure your lame back.

Every trace of lameness, every bit of stiffness, every sign of weakness in the back's muscles can be rubbed away for all time to come by good old "Nerviline."

No other liniment can do the work so quickly, can penetrate so deeply, can bring ease and comfort to the back-weary sufferer as Nerviline invariably does.

Backache isn't the only malady Nerviline is quick to cure. For lumbago, or sciatica you would go far to find relief so speedy as Nerviline gives. For chronic rheumatism there are pain-destroying properties in Nerviline that give it first rank. The way it limbers up a stiff joint and takes soreness out of strained or rheumatic muscles is simply a wonder.

If you have an ache or a pain anywhere, if you have a sore back, a stiff neck, a stiff joint, a strained muscle—if you have lumbago, congested chest or sore throat, just try Nerviline. Rub it on plentifully—it won't blister, it can't do anything but cure you quickly. The large 50c family size bottle is the most economical of course, but you can, from any dealer, also get the 25c. small size of Nerviline, the king of all pain-relieving remedies.

CLEAN MILK METHODS

Brush the cow's udder and wipe with a dry cloth; use clean water and dry with a clean towel.

Milkers should wash their hands with soap and water and dry with clean towel.

Keep barnyard clean and have manure pile at least 100 feet from the stable.

Have abundant windows in cow stable to permit sunlight to reach the floor.

Arrange a proper system of ventilation for the cow stable. King system is suggested.

Do not use milk from any cows suspected of garget or any udder inflammation. Such milk contains enormous numbers of bacteria.

COUNTRY LIFE

Better and Stronger Men Than Are Produced in the City

A. C. Pratt, member of the Ontario Legislature, in the course of an address at a public meeting said that he was a strong advocate of the country life. It produced, in his opinion, better and stronger men, and did much to build up a healthy, happy race, who would form the bulwark of the country. He pointed out that the man living in the country to-day labored under none of the disadvantages of the early pioneer. To-day farms were fitted with telephones, electric light, and all the modern conveniences, whilst they had lost none of their old-time power of giving a man a clean and healthy life.

He contrasted the high rental paid for land in the Old Country with the infinitely lower rental here, and said that the land in this country could be bought outright for less was paid as rent in England.

Comparing the conditions of living in the city and the country in Canada, Mr. Pratt said that the balance was immeasurably in favor of the country. In Oxford County it was possible to purchase an acre of land for eighty dollars, to plant it with trees for another twelve dollars, and to have the trees pruned and the land cultivated for a very slight additional outlay. When the orchard came into bearing, said Mr. Pratt, it would realize quite a nice little income, and by planting fruit and vegetables on the land in between it would be possible to make a living out of even this small area.

He would not advise a man to first of all go on the land with no knowledge of farming. He should first work for a farmer, learn the art of fruit culture, and then strike out for himself. From a well managed farm of ten acres it was possible, in his opinion, to make a good living. The average Canadian would starve to death in such countries as Denmark, though the natives of the country made a good living on the land there. This was because they had a co-operative system of farming in Denmark by means of which their produce was disposed of to the best advantage. It would be a great boon to Canadian farmers if such a system were in vogue here. What would a Danish farmer do in Norfolk County?

"The day is at hand," said Mr. Pratt, "when the Government must consider some method of giving financial assistance to the people of the country to enable them to get back to the land and become producers. City life is a miserable caricature of country life. A man becomes better, bigger, and more generous by living in close touch with nature; it adds years of healthy life to the span of each individual, and I hope to see the day when the Government will give a bonus to enable men to leave the cities and go back to the country."

POULTRY POINTERS

Young turkeys are of a delicate nature until they are fully feathered and have thrown out the red on their heads, which usually occurs at about three months of age. After that they are hardy and may be allowed unlimited range at all times.

When the hens have the run of the farm, which is common, many are disposed to make their nests away from the regular buildings, says The Weekly Witness. Unless they are to be allowed to set, much care is needed in locating these nests and gathering eggs. Indeed, it is best to confine the hens for a time to induce them to lay in the regular nests.

RETIRED FARMERS UNHAPPY IN TOWNS

They Find Themselves Out of Their Element And Pine For Open Life of the Country

When the farmer sells out or rents his farm and moves to town with his family he is like a fish out of water, says the North-West Agriculturist. He has no fields over which to tramp and plan for the next year's crop; or meadows on which for years he has seen his cattle graze and the calves and colts grow and thrive. There are no cows to milk, no pigs to feed, no sheep to shear. In a word, he is idle, and idleness was never yet good for a man, rich or poor.

The times hangs heavily on the farmer's hands. He does odd jobs about the house, then he light his pipe and saunters down to the square. He sits in the bank for a while. He has a right to do that, he thinks, because he has deposited the price of his farm there. But it is a busy place, and no one has time to talk to him, so he goes over to some of the stores and lounges around a while. If he likes horses, you may find him sitting in front of the livery stable. He also takes an active interest in the arrival and departure of the trains, and you will find him at the station, eagerly scanning the passengers and the baggage deposited on the platform. Then he goes to the post office [illegible] papers from [illegible] him for a while, and if he is a talkative man he will voice his opinion on political questions. When all the excitement is over he wanders back home and tries to put in the time until the chickens go to roost.

Unfortunately the retired farmer does not, as a rule, agree with the progressive spirit of the town people. He wants to live among them, but he does not care to become one of them. He very much disapproves of taxes for the benefit of the community. He does [illegible] for public improvements. He can get along without electric lights or works or paved streets [illegible] those new-fangled notions. For these and other reasons the retired farmer is not considered a valuable [illegible] to a town. He is too [illegible] sided for a live, go-ahead [illegible] curious thing about the [illegible] that the farmer who moves to [illegible] is more than likely to have [illegible] perience of a shrub transplanted in uncongenial soil. It may [illegible] short time, but its life history [illegible] So with the man who has spent his best years out in the open. The [illegible] ed confines of town and city [illegible] not his natural environment, and fades and withers as do the plants [illegible] a few short years and he returns to the soil and becomes, not its [illegible] but a component part of it. He [illegible] stick to the farm.

Canada's Egg Production

The value of Canada's annual egg production is officially placed at $23,500,000. The hen coop, therefore, is a great deal more to the nation than a hobby of the farmer's wife. It is one of the big agricultural industries of Canada, as the following comparative figures indicate:

Value of eggs	$23,500,0
Value of barley	14,60
Value of corn	14,510,0
Value of fruit	12,732,0

Nevertheless Canadians do not produce nearly enough eggs for themselves.

THE TIMES' DAILY SCRIPTURE READING

St. Matthew 21; Verses 17-22

17. And he left them, and went out of the city into Bethany; and he lodged there.

18. Now in the morning as he returned into the city, he hungered.

18. And when he saw a fig tree in the way, he came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaves only, and said unto it, Let no fruit grow on thee henceforth for ever. And presently the fig tree withered away.

20. And when the disciples saw it, they marvelled, saying, How soon is the fig tree withered away?

21. Jesus answered and said unto them, Verily I say unto you, if ye have faith, and doubt not, ye shall not only do this which is done to the fig tree, but also if ye say unto this mountain, Be thou removed, and be thou cast into the sea; it shall be done.

22. And all things, whatsoever ye shall ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive.

The Chinook Oil Company, Ltd., is incorporated under the laws of the Province of Alberta, Canada, with a capital of $500,000, divided into 500,000 shares, par value $1.00 each.

The Company has acquired the petroleum and natural gas rights to all the property as shown in the map submitted herewith, containing in all 2,320 acres, all of which are held under lease from the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

The Company now offers for public subscription 50,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share, payable in full upon application. No shares will be sold at less than par. The proceeds of the sale of this issue is to be used for putting down a well on legal subdivision 13, section 32, township 22, range 4, west of the 5th meridian. Drilling operations will be started as soon as the necessary equipment can be assembled on the ground.

Two of the Company's properties are on the main or primary anticline between the Mowbray-Berkely and Dingman Wells. The Dingman Well is now producing, and this main anticline is now practically a proven oil field. All the properties of the company are located on anticlines and were chosen by our geologist.

We strongly recommend an investment in the Chinook Oil Company, Limited. This Company is as strong as any in the field. Its Directorate is composed of prominent business men of Western Canada, and its holdings are extremely valuable.

The time to act is at present, because with the further development of the oil field, stock values will keep advancing.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

DR. OSLER ON DRUGS

Eminent Canadian Doctor Not a Great Medicine Giver

Dr. (Sir) William Osler is probably the greatest living authority on the use of drugs in the treatment of disease. At one time a professor in John Hopkins University, Dr. Osler was appointed Regius Professor of Medicine at Oxford University, England, and he is regarded by the doctors of every English-speaking country as a great authority.

Dr. Osler says of diphtheria:

"We are still without drugs which can directly counteract the tox-albumens of the disease, and we must rely upon general measures of feeding and stimulants to support the strength. Medicines given internally are of little avail in diphtheria."

Concerning pneumonia, Dr. Osler says:

"Pneumonia is a self-limited disease which can neither be cut short nor aborted by any known means at our command. Even under the most unfavorable circumstances it may terminate abruptly and naturally without a dose of medicine having been administered. There is no specific treatment of pneumonia. The young practitioner may bear in mind that patients are more often damaged than helped by the too promiscuous system of drugging, which is still only too prevalent."

Of scarlet fever, Dr. Osler says:

"Ordinary cases do not require any medicine. Medical antipyretics are not of much service in comparison with cold water."

Some Statistical Facts About British Columbia

British Columbia has an area of about 253,000,000 acres, of which about 1,600,000 acres is composed of lakes in the interior. There are over 100,000 acres of timber land of no value for farming other than for stock purposes, and while it is estimated that 3,000,000 acres are either under cultivation or partly so, statistics show that the actual yielding acreage, other than for grazing purposes, is not more than 250,000 acres.

It is stated that with the exception of Siberia, Brazil and the Northwestern United States, British Columbia's timber wealth is unparalleled in any other country. The investigations of the forestry branch show that there are not less than 100,000,000 acres of forest land in British Columbia and that the total stand of commercial timber amounts to about 300,000,000,000. Taking the present lumber output of the province as a basis of figuring, which is about 1,250,000,000 feet per annum, and making no allowance for annual growth, it would take nearly 250 years to use up merely the mature timber now standing.

In the production of copper British Columbia stands first among the provinces, the output amounting to more than a third of that of all Canada. Fishing is one of the province's chief industries, and the vessels of all kinds which enter Vancouver total up to over ten thousand per year.

THE WESTERN SPIRIT

This Philosopher Ready to Prove There is no Blood in a Stone

The following letter to an eastern loan company from a Saskatchewan client, was published in a leading financial publication. It speaks for itself:

"Dear Sirs:—In reply to your letter, I must say that I can not pay you the interest on your mortgage this year.

"You seem to think you can make me pay this as you state in your letter that you will not allow it to remain. How shall I pay when I have not got it? You can make extension till next year or not just as you please, there are millions of acres of unoccupied land out here. And what good is it to us farmers anyway, we only get a poor living from it, and if you are not satisfied with the way I am running your property out here come and run it yourself. You threatened before to foreclose; why did not you? I am getting tired of waiting for it.

"I would advise you to wait till next year as you will get at least one more year's interest.

"Why is it that you fellows that produce nothing and do nothing useful own everthing, and we that produce everything own nothing?

Canadian Grape Fruit

A fine specimen of grape fruit and weighing 29 ounces was produced at the Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and the horticultural department there proved that this article of diet can be successfully produced here in green houses. While an occasional specimen has been grown by private people, it was not generally known that it could be grown here. This fruit equalled the flavor of that grown in southern latitudes. The plant from which this fruit was grown was bought in the nurseries in New Jersey ten years ago but went nine years without bearing.

MANGELS FOR POULTRY

A Cheap Food to Grow Where There is Room

In the production of mangels as a poultry food, very small areas, or comparatively large ones, show a decided profit when given over to the culture of these beets. They have proved to be one of the best and one of the most popular of the roots used as poultry food, because of their ease of growth and of their very heavy yielding qaulities. They grow to immense size, and will produce a good many tons of roots per acre on good soil, are easily stored with little expense, and are highly relished as a part of the daily ration throughout the winter months.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore-supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. CURIOUS FISH

Remarkable fish have been captured in depths of from one thousand to two thousand fathoms in the Atlantic and brought [illegible]. The majority of these living at these depths were [illegible]. Their luminous portions which light up the dark regions which they inhabit are marvellous.

These fish plough through the dark waters like flaming torches. Some have elongated snouts, with luminous tips emitting great volumes of light. Others have rows of luminous cells on top of and below their bodies, with reflectors and lenses which serve the function of projecting light in definite directions. This light serves the purpose of illuminating the surrounding water to avoid foes, to recognize their own kind or to capture prey.

The greatest depth found by sounding was until lately 5,269 fathoms, or 31,614 feet—nearly six miles. This is a point in the Pacific ocean off the coast of Guam, about 100 miles or so. But a surveying ship of the German navy has recently discovered a deeper spot in the ocean, near the Philippines, about forty sea miles off the north coast of Mindanao.

Boy Fixes Hat on Lightning Conductor Above Buildings

High above the street, pierced by the lightning conductor on top of the Eton memorial buildings, Windsor, England, was visible a soft grey hat, a challenge and a defiance to the powers that be.

It was placed there by a boy who had first to attach the top of the massive dome, then to surmount a number of pillars and ornamental work, and finally at a dizzy height above the street to "shin up" the lightning conductor.

How the climb—which to the ordinary man looks an utterly impossible one—was accomplished remains a mystery.

A local builder was called in to remove the hat. He engaged the services of an expert climber, who with the aid of ladders and other appliances succeeded in getting it down amid the cheers of the boys—but the dare-devil boy who fixed it had no ladder for his 100 dizzy climb.

The "Natural Figure" Style

The silhouette gown on a slender woman is graceful and natural looking, but, as in all fashions some woman tries to "go one better," and succeeds in getting far away from the form nature intended them to have.

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located; and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. The Increased Use of These Would Mean Improved Health

If the taste for olives were generally cultivated and the use of highest grade olive oil made a part of the daily diet, the health of the people would be materially improved. It is as a delicacy, however, that the olive and its oil has become known and popular in Canada. Their use as regular articles of diet is confined to the comparatively few who have acquainted themselves with the history and many virtues of the olive and have themselves experienced untold satisfaction and benefit from the daily use of it and its products.

There is a reason for this lassitude. There are hundreds of varieties of olives grown in many districts, some of very inferior quality. Obsolete methods of handling that are anything but sanitary prevail in many sections, and the oil readily lends itself to adulteration by mixing with oil of the cottonseed, peanut, sesame, curracchee and many others.

Fancy Huckaback Towel

An unusually handsome towel can be made of heavy linen huck and coronation crochet insertion. Procure a huck towel of the size desired (the insertion is rather too heavy for the small guest towel with hemstitched ends). Cut one end off about an inch and a half above the hem. On the raw edge of the towel and on the raw edge of the piece cut off make the narrowest possible hems by hand. The coronation crochet to be used is that beautiful lace made by crocheting coronation braid into a design with heavy crochet cotton. Join the two pieces of the towel, after they are each hemmed, by whipping on to both small hems the strip of insertion. Only one end of the towel should be ornamented in this fashion, the hemstitching being sufficient for the other end.

Some Dress Allowances

Some idea of the enormous sum spent by society women in Chicago on personal adornment may be gathered from figures which were given at a convention of the Chicago Dressmakers' Club. According to these statistics, several of the leaders of society spend no less than $75,000 a year on dress, while one hundred of the women who form the "élite" of the city were said to have a yearly expenditure of $50,000 apiece. Ten thousand others spend the mere trifle of $5,000 per annum to deck themselves.

PENALTY OF GENIUS

Genius and ill-health, it would seem, often go hand in hand. At any rate, many of the greatest deeds that the world has seen performed have been accomplished by men physically infirm.

Darwin suffered so acutely from nervous exhaustion that he could only work for two hours a day at a time. Thackeray was frequently ill; Johnson nearly always in poor health; Dickens at the age of fifty-five was an old man, with shattered nerves; whilst Sir Walter Scott, a subject to spasms, was a chronic invalid during the later years of his life, and died at the age of fifty-nine.

Milton, William Morris, and Charles Keans, the actor, all were slaves to gout, and Milton was further handicapped by being blind. The poet Keats died of consumption when still quite young. Elizabeth Barrett Browning was an invalid for the greater part of her life.

Insanity claimed Dean Swift; whilst Rousseau, Cowper, and King George III. all were insane during periods of their lives.

ANCIENT SURGERY

Bone-setting Practised in Egypt Six Thousand Years Ago

At a lecture delivered in London Dr. F. M. Sandwith, consulting surgeon to the Khedive of Egypt, said that the first surgeon of whom he could find any record lived at the time of the fifth Egyptian dynasty, and must have been court doctor to the Pharaoh some 4,000 years before the Christian era.

The first surgical implements of which anything was known, said Dr Sandwith, were splints found in the Nubian Desert. In one place a graveyard was found, and here were remains of bodies with fractured limbs that had been set with bark splints. One was a right thigh bone that had been broken, and was still held in position by a workmanlike splint and bandages.

All the knots were true reef knots, and the wrapping showed how the strips of palm fiber cloth were set just as a good surgeon would set them nowadays, so as to use the full strength of the fabric.

In other cases, bodies were found with compound fractures, where the broken ends of the bone had broken through the skin. Death seemed to have come very quickly after an accident of this kind, for no trace of healing of the bones was to be found

OUR PUBLIC SPIRIT

Scotchman Says Unpleasant Things About Canadians

A young Scotchman, after three years in the Canadian West, wrote a letter to the London Everyman describing in unvarnished terms some of the Canadian characteristics, says The Ottawa Citizen. They can hardly be said on the whole to be complimentary, which doubtless makes their expression all the more valuable from the Canadian standpoint. It is always well to "see oursels as ithers see us," and a touch of Scotch opinion may in this case help to improve the spirit of Canada. One of his criticisms regarding the latter is as follows:

"Nor does the public spirit of the Dominion strike a stranger as abundant. It does not find its expression in the Territorial forces, at any rate, which are manned, out of all proportion, by home-born Britons. Certain Canadians suffer from the gratifying belief that the Dominion saved the effete Empire in 1901, and are indignant when told that of the Canadian contingent sent to South Africa eighty per cent. were home countrymen. Nor does public spirit find much expression in local government, where the 'best people' are conspicuously absent —too busy making money to bother with such matters."

Without discussing the incident of 1901, The Citizen says by way of comment, the truth of the rest of the criticism must be confessed. Canadians have been so busy with the multifarious tasks of a new country that they have not had much time to devote to the interests of the country at large. But surely Canada has now advanced in development to such an extent that more attention can be given to [illegible]. Unless such [illegible] is given, no greatness of future can be safely predicted. That public spirit that makes a citizen think and feel and act for Canada, as for his larger self, is without doubt the great need of Canada to-day. Others recognize the fact, and Canadians cannot too soon follow their example, and profit by it.

RULES FOR HUSBANDS

L. C. Dillman, a Seattle millionaire, as the result of eighteen years of marital bliss promulgated the following rules for husbands:

Keep all promises made before and at the time of marriage. Keep a joint bank account. Go to your club no oftener than one night a week. Have no dogs or pets of any kind. Call her up on the telephone at least three times a day. When away from home write or telegraph every day. Take her with you on business and pleasure trips. Be more polite to her than to any other woman you meet. Remember that she likes flowers, candy and books. Make it a business to be comfortable whenever she is happy. Do not criticize her dress. Be a gentleman to all women, but a husband to one only. If you have only a dollar you are not wasting it by spending it on her. When she is dissatisfied get [illegible]. Life is too short to waste any of it in trying to please an absent woman.

Foot Hurt by Ale Cask.

Yesterday morning as a cart containing a load of ale hogsheads was crossing the sidewalk just West of the American House, the shock of "making the grade" caused the big barrels to jump. One of them came down on the driver's foot causing a severe bruise. He first said something that rhymed with ham and remarked, "I've heard of holding a seat on the water waggon. After this when carting ale, I'll sit on the casks."

HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

Myrtle H.: Perhaps it is the face powder you use which is causing your complexion trouble. Many cosmetics do this by clogging the pores and preventing natural circulation. Don't worry. Your skin will probably respond at once to this simple treatment, which is also a beautifier. Dissolve 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint water; add two teaspoonfuls glycerine let stand cold and keep tightly corked It is a delightful and most effective lotion which answers a double purpose of preserving the youthful texture of skin and whitening it, too, In Summer I use no other powder, as it relieves the shine and stays on the skin longer than ordinary face powder.

Mary M.: That "stubborn" hair and healthy scalp are probably due to improper washing. You should never use soap on your hair. The Alkali makes it dry and brittle. Hair that is faded and streaked is usually the result of soap shampoos. The ideal shampoo is the simple and ever reliable preparation made by stirring one teaspoonful canthrox in a cup of hot water. It eats away all the dead matter, removing all dandruff and leaving the hair soft, fluffy and lustrous. If your hair is thin, get some quinzoin from your druggist. It makes a splendid tonic.

Nellie R.: For close wrinkles there is no better remedy than this simple home-made one. It will support and strengthen the muscles of the face and cleanse, heal, stimulate and smooth the skin. Obtain from the druggist an ounce of almozoin, dissolve in ½ pint cold water and add two teaspoonfuls of glycerine. Stir briskly and let stand overnight. Rub the preparation into the skin night and morning. It is a splendid prevention of blackheads and rough "muddy" spots Be careful to use a good powder for which see answer to Myrtle H. and keep the blood and system clean (see answer to Cora K.)

Cora K.: With spring fever comes complexion troubles. You must purify your blood before you can help the skin much by external application Tone up your system with a good blood tonic to remove the cause of that sallowness. I highly recommend the following reliable, home-made preparation: Get ½ pint alcohol and 1 ounce kardene. Dissolve kardene in the alcohol, put in ½ cup sugar and add enough water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful of this before each meal. It will aid your digestion, make the liver active and clear [illegible] of the poisons that are spoiling your complexion.

Mary S.: When the ends of your hair are split there is usually trouble with the scalp. Here is a fine recipe for a home-made hair tonic: Get an ounce of quinzoin, dissolve in ½ pint alcohol and add ½ pint water. This restores scalp health and prevents dandruff. It is an antiseptic and stimulates the vitality of the roots. If your hair is losing its freshness, you should restore it at once with this treatment. The effect should be all you need to bring back the natural shade and a luxuriant, 6 glossy growth. I recommend, also, frequent shampoos. For these you should use only canthrox. Ask your druggist for these items.

Olive: You are right in taking steps to reduce your weight. There is a remedy for excess flesh, easily prepared at home, which I am glad to suggest to anybody who sees her figure and good looks threatened by fat. Dissolve 4 ounces parnotis in 1½ pint water and take two tablespoonfuls three times daily. This treatment does not call for starvation or martyrdom of any kind. It simply checks a tendency to obesity. Its action is healthy and there is no shrinking of tissues of the skin.

Molly: It is not likely that you need glasses. You may be nervous and your eyes feel the effects. By the use of a cheap, home-made tonic you can easily get back that brightness which you say "he" used to rave about. It means only a trip to the drugstore for an ounce of crystos. Dissolve it in a pint of soft water and drop two drops of the solution in each eye. If the lids are red use it two or three times daily. To make weak eyes strong and beautiful, put a little of the solution on dabs of cotton, and lay them over the eyes and lie down for a few minutes.

Clarissa: Yes, there are many so-called "chin-reducers" made, but I cannot recommend any special one. For flesh-reduction see reply to Olive. Retta Dern's Beauty Book, $5, Adv.

VOL. XLI, NO. 167 WEDNESDAY MORNING, JULY 22, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

LEADERS IN BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS NOW IN CONFERENCE WITH KING, SEEK TO AVOID IMMEDIATE CIVIL WAR OVER HOME RULE, ALL CLASSES ARE DEEPLY STIRRED

ALL CLASSES DEEPLY STIRRED BY HOME RULE CONFERENCE

Great Crowds Surround Buckingham Palace as Leaders Arrive--King Greets Each With Cordiality

London, July 21.—The conference at Buckingham Palace after being in session for only about an hour and a half adjourned for the day, but will meet again to-morrow.

London, July 21.—While the leaders of the Liberals, Conservatives, Nationalists and Ulster Unionists were in conference to-day at Buckingham Palace, endeavoring to find a solution of the Home Rule problem, preparations were being made by the chief Unionist organizer for a general election. He sent orders to all the constituencies to prepare for an election three weeks after the conference as the leaders are convinced that no matter what may be done at Buckingham Palace the House of Commons soon must be dissolved.

During the time the confreres sat around the table in Buckingham Palace they found an opportunity to discuss many points of difference and before adjourning touched on the question of the exclusion of the county of Tyrone from the operations of the Irish Home Rule bill, a point which everybody recognizes as the most thorny one of the whole subject.

The general impression prevails that the conference will settle this matter since nobody believes the question of the exclusion of one county will be allowed by eight politicians possessing the ability of the confreres to turn the scales for civil war.

At the same time it is thought that Parliament will accept any compromise going beyond the offers already made and refused, and if the House of Commons did do so, Ireland itself would not fall into line.

RAINBOW REACHES VANCOUVER ANCHORS NEAR HINDU SHIP

Preparations Are Being Make to Take Komagata Maru by Storm

Vancouver, July 21.—At 9.45 the Hindus were served with an ultimatum giving them until noon to decide whether to surrender or fight.

Vancouver, July 21.—The Rainbow entered Vancouver Harbour at 8.15 o'clock to-day, and took up an anchorage near the Komagata Maru. The Rainbow made a fairly good run u the Gulf, but at not more than her normal half speed. Commander Rose was forced to proceed carefully in the fog.

The Rainbow was a welcome sight to Mr. H. H. Stevens, M.P., and the various officials. Mr. Stevens with Messrs. Reid and Hopkinson and military commanders, at once made ready to go aboard for consultation with Commander Rose. Arrangements for this meeting had been made by telegraph last evening. At this conference it was proposed to complete plans for attack if that were necessary. Mr. Hopkinson transmitted a final appeal and notice in writing to Gurdit Singh this morning.

Only One Revolver.

At nine o'clock, conference between officials and Commander Rose aboard the Rainbow, was proceeding. As she swings at anchorage her bow is about 300 yards from Komagata, whose bows are crowded with Hindus anxiously gazing towards the cruiser. Signs of life could already be seen aboard the Komagata Maru. All day yesterday Hindus aboard had been erecting barricades of wood and carrying up coal from the cargo in the hold. It is not believed there is more than one revolver aboard the vessel, so that in way of offence at any instance she will not be at all formidable. But it was known that nearly every Hindu aboard has a knife or a dagger, and there are many other weapons, many home made, but none the less effective.

Rigged from commanding position in crow's nest of the Rainbow is a big fire hose, with two-inch nozzle, which looks businesslike. With this outfit Commander Rose expects to do some preliminary execution which might preclude the necessity of using fire arms

OVERTURNED BOAT THREE ARE MISSING

Saratoga, July 21.—An overturned boat, a boy's hat and a pair of oars, drifting nearby found this afternoon in Saratoga Lake, gave mute testimony to a tragedy which is believed to have cost three lives.

The last occupants of the boat, Arthur Finney, sixteen, of Schenectady, and Ethel and Charlotte Heimburg, eighteen and nineteen, of No. 23 Second street, Troy, have been missing since last night from the summer hotel where they stayed. Tonight a score of boating parties sought their bodies in the lake.

The girls and their escort left the east side of the lake early last night intent on a row across the water to a park a mile away. It is thought that they attempted to change seats in the darkness and thus upset the boat.

GLYNN URGES USE OF STATE MONEY ON GRASSHOPPERS

Albany, July 21.—Immediate war on grasshoppers at the state's expense was urged today by Governor Glynn, in a letter to Calvin C. Huson, commissioner of agriculture. It was stated at the agricultural department recently that no funds were available for the state to make the fight against the pests, but the Governor pointed out today that an act passed at the last session of the legislature would permit the controller to borrow $50,000 for this purpose. The Governor directed the comptroller to place all necessary funds at the disposal of Huson.

Upon receiving the letter Huson replied that he and George T. At[illegible], an expert in the horticultural department, would inspect the infested districts immediately and arrange to kill off the pests.

Reports today were that not only Fulton and Saratoga but also Hamilton and Montgomery counties were suffering from the ravages of the pests.

An inquest will be held into the death at Deseronto of Sampson McConnell, whose abdomen showed bad bruises.

There is still no clue to the whereabouts of Blanche Yorke who disappeared from Tamworth last week.

THE WEATHER.

To-day—Southerly and south-easterly winds; fine until night.

FALLING HAMMER IS ALMOST FATAL

Just Missed Pedestrain at New Royal Bank Building To-day

Toronto, July 21.—A narrow escape from instant death was the fortune of Alfred Gadsby, when a hammer fell from the new Royal Bank Building to-day, missing his head by inches and grazing his side and arm. The force of the blow was such that while he was not seriously injured, it took him several minutes to recover from the shock. It is a question in Gadsby's mind whether he should consider himself unfortunate in being present when the hammer fell, or fortunate that it did him no really serious injury.

WILL WEAR CALICO AND OVERALLS TO CHURCH

St. Louis, July 21.—The congregation of the East Alton Baptist church will go to church next Sunday in calico and overalls as a means of rebuking Dame Fashion. The members noted a decrease in church attendance and decided that many persons preferred to be comfortable on Sunday to going to church and decided on a plan whereby they could do both. The pastor Rev. D. D. Blunt, is enthusiastic over the plans. Some of the persons who had been remaining away from church told the pastor they had done so because they did not have clothes which enabled them to make a "splurge" that compared favorably with that of other members. The pastor thinks the new order will have one good effect at least. The women will devote their time to worship rather than getting fashion hints.

ANXIOUSLY WAITING WORD OF OUTCOME

Authorities at Ottawa Did Not Order Out Militia to Quell Hindus

Ottawa, July 21.—The authorities at Ottawa are anxiously waiting word from Vancouver as to the outcome of the Rainbow's attempt to capture the Hindus on board the Komagata Maru. It is expected that the Rainbow will reach the scene of action some time this morning. The orders from Ottawa are that the law is to be carried out and the Hindus deported, though no unnecessary violence is to be used. As the Hindus apparently are desperate, it is feared that there may be serious difficulty before they are overpowered and handcuffed.

Ottawa knows nothing of the calling out of the militia as reported in a Vancouver despatch. The orders were not from the Capital and apparently it was a local move. From private advices received from Vancouver feeling is so strong that there is grave danger of rioting.

It is possible the militia have been called out to keep order. Just whether the Hindus return by the Komagata Maru or the Empress of Japan which sails on Thursday depends on the Hindus themselves

Ten men were arrested at Montreal charged with wire tapping.

DINGMAN WELL BECOMES A GUSHER

Shoots Continuous Stream of Oil When Uncapped--British Canadian Starts to Drill on Anticline

Calgary, July 20.—It seems evident that the Dingman well is developing into a real gusher. When it was uncapped yesterday it shot a continuous stream of oil four inches in diameter over the top of the crown block of the derrick, and ceased only when the well was capped again.

The performance was conducted for the benefit of Willie Williams, representative of St. Paul, Minn., papers. The drillers are greatly excited, believing that the well is gradually "bringing herself in," as they call it, by reasons of tremendous gas pressure in the oil sands.

The wet gas produces an average of five gallons of the highest grade gasoline to one thousand cubic feet of gas. The Dingman wells produce about 2,000,000 cubic feet of this wet gas every twenty-four hours. It is said that the officers and stockholders of this company have an immense fortune within their grasp.

The British-Canadian Oils, Ltd., has commenced drilling on part of their holdings. The location of their well was chosen by Mr. John Reynolds, a petroleum engineer with a national reputation. Great expectations are held out for this well as it is situated on the apex of one of the most promising anticlines in the Alberta field.

M. B. O'Farrell & Co., Brokers at Calgary, Alberta, are strongly advising their clients to purchase shares of British-Canadian Oils, Ltd.

SHAMROCK IV. HAS SAILED FOR AMERICA

Falmouth, Eng., July 21.—Shamrock IV., with her convoy, the steam yacht Erin, the former under her own sail, left here to-day for the United States. It is expected that the next port of call of the challenger for the America's Cup, will be the Azores.

REMEMBERS HIS STAY IN CANADA

Harry K. Thaw Sends Cheque to Citizens of Coaticook

Coaticook, Que., July 21.—Harry K. Thaw has not forgotten the people of Coaticook and the friends he made during the brief but exciting sojourn in this town last August. The intention of the citizens to hold an "Old Home Week" having been brought to his attention, Thaw has sent a cheque through Mayor Lovell, to help towards the expense of entertaining the returned wanderers.

Ezra Iler, for thirty one years turnkey at the county jail, Sandwich has tendered his resignation.

CAUGHT IN CHURCH BY BURGLAR TRAP

Alarm Device Results in Arrest of Man Crawling From Cathedral

New York, July 21.—A burglar catching device early to-day caused the arrest of Wilhelm Kipper of Chicago, just as he was crawling out the windows of St. James' pro-cathedral in Brooklin.

Many petty robberies have occurred at the church recently and the rector had had a burglar alarm installed. Any time a door or window in the church is opened at night all the lights in the church go on and a bell rings at the rector's bedside.

Early to-day the rector was awakened by the ringing of the bell and he notified the Adams street police station. An officer reached the church just as Kipper was crawling out a window. The police are puzzled over Kipper's action in staying in the church after the lights went on.

EUROPE ALARMED AT TENSION BETWEEN AUSTRIA AND SERVIA

London, July 21.—Despatches received here from Vienna and other capitals indicate a growing tension between Austria and Servia, whose relations are alleged to be becoming very strained. It is asserted by Austrian newspapers that and Austrian investigation into the recent assassination of Archduke Francis Ferdinand and his wife at Serayevo, tends to establish at least the indirect complicity of Servia and that the Austrian Government will make strong representations at Belgrade on the subject.

A prominent cracow newspaper declares that Austria is determined to use this opportunity to settle in her own favor both the Servian and Albanian questions and that she is negotiating to this end with Turkey and Bulgaria.

There was a semi-panic on the Berlin and Vienna Bourses yesterday due to rumors of a possible war.

LIBERAL CAUCUS CALLS FOR ACTION

Demand That Government Carry Out Home Rule Programme

London, July 21.—A Liberal caucus summoned, as one of the leaders put it, to "buck up" the British Government, was attended by upwards of one hundred Liberal members of the House of Commons. A resolution was passed to the effect that the members unswervingly supported the claims of Ireland as put forward by the Nationalists, and as embodied in the Irish Home Rule bill, and the gathering showed a determination to see the cause finally won. The meeting further expressed the opinion that it was the duty of the Government to complete its whole programme before making an appeal to the constituencies.

RICH STRIKE OF GOLD QUARTZ AROUSES GREAT EXCITEMENT

Latest Find is in the Lake Sesekinika District Forty Miles East of Cobalt, on the T. and N.O. Railway

Montreal, July 21.—Tidings of a new mineral strike in Northern Ontario, which bids fair to open up an important mining district, has been brought to Montreal by Mr. John A. Smith, a mining man of this city. The latest centre of excitement is in the Sesekinika Lake district, on the T. & N.O. Railway, some 40 miles south of Porcupine. It was stated by Mr. Smith that the real importance of the discovery lay in the fact that for the first time in Ontario telluride-carrying gold and silver values had been discovered, the quartz formation with the telluride veins running through it being similar to those found at Cripple Creek mines.

Forty Dollars Per Ton.

Mr. Smith brought back with him 50 pounds of samples taken from the various veins not specially selected. These showed that on the pieces taken from the pay streaks, the values ran around forty dollars per ton in gold, with about twenty ounces per ton in silver, the various samples running around fifty dollars a ton, which is considered exceptionally rich ore for a milling proposition.

"So far as I could see," said Mr. Smith, "the prospects extend over a wide area. While the veins are not excessively large, averaging about 16 inches in width, new finds are constantly being reported, and it is impossible to say what may develop there, especially in view of the richness of the ore which has so far been assayed."

Veins Easily Traced.

Mr. Smith said that the veins were perfectly free and easily traced along the surface. The whole question, as at Cobalt, was as to whether the values would continue down to any extent. "From what I saw," said Mr. Smith, "there is indication that the values will continue down, and it looks like the real thing. This however, will be proved before long, as engineers and mining men are crowding in, and a lot of development work is bound to be done during the present summer, when shafts and cross cutting will reveal what the various veins amount to."

DOMINION PARLIAMENT WILL NOT MEET THIS FALL

Proposal to Hold Session Before Christmas is Practically Abandoned

Ottawa, July 21.—It is understood that it is the present idea not to summon Parliament until after Christmas. Sir Robert Borden will not be back from his western tour until the end of October. So that the House could not open until November. Past experience has shown that when the session commences in November little progress is made before the Christmas holidays. A fall session is very inconvenient to members from the far West and far East, and they greatly appreciated the fact that last year the House did not meet until January 15th. Business seems to be completed about as rapidly when the House meets after Christmas, as when it opens in the fall. Both parties are looking for a hard fighting and strenuous session if not a long one. In all probability elections will be held a year from this fall, so that the coming session will be the last. In view of this both parties are preparing for the usual bitter pre-election session.

There is considerable important legislation already on the tapis, left over from last session. The two most important bills are the measure to revise and consolidate the Railway Act and the co-operation Credit Bill. The Bill to amend the Insurance Act is another important measure which was left over, while Hon. T. W. Crothers is planning to introduce a bill to consolidate labor legislation now on the statute books.

MRS. ANGLE BITES FLESH FROM ARMS, RAVES IN HER CELL

Stamford, Conn., July 21.—To-day Mrs. Helen M. Angle was under guard of a strong nurse in her cell at police headquarters following her attack on herself last night when she tore pieces of flesh from her arms with her teeth. Worry over her arrest in connection with the mysterious death of Waldo R. Ballou is believed to have driven the woman delirious.

Her personal physician advised that she be taken to a sanitarium and the chief of police consented, but sanitarium officials refused her admittance, claiming the ensuing notoriety would injure their institution.

A strong trained nurse was then employed employed to guard Mrs. Angle in her cell and she will be watched day and night.

Coroner Phalen is still conducting an investigation into Ballou's death.

Mrs. Angle is held without bail until that is completed.

TURNED ON STEAM INSTEAD OF WATER

Bell Boy on Steamer Terribly Scalded When Taking Bath

Kingston, July 21.—Herbert Miller, bellboy on the steamer Syracuse was terribly scalded on the boat last night while the steamer was on the way to Kingston. He went to take a bath, and by mistake turned on the steampipe instead of the water tap. His arms, legs and face were badly scalded, and his condition is serious. As soon as the boat reached port he was rushed to the hospital but he suffered a great deal during the night.

OTTAWA WINS FROM PETES

You Can't Beat an Umpire When He Has a Grouch

Yesterday was Ladies' Day at the ball grounds and the fair fans were there in large numbers, the main stand being well filled.

The game opened with Tracey in the box and Kelley catching, and a good class of ball was put up by the boys, who gave the best of support, but what good is support, if Mr. Umpo is short sighted, and the game yesterday should have been a win for the Petes if they had their due. The boys worked like trojans, and but for the raw decisions Shag's aggregation would not have had a look in.

The score at the end of the game stood 4 to 1 in favor of Ottawa.

INTRODUCTION

[illegible]

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

No. of Skins	Kind		Price

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD.

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

The Company has acquired the petroleum and natural gas rights to all the property as shown in the map submitted herewith, containing in all 2,320 acres, all of which are held under lease from the Government of the Dominion of Canada.

The Company now offers for public subscription 50,000 shares of stock at $1.00 per share, payable in full upon application. No shares will be sold at less than par. Two of the Company's properties are on the main or primary anticline between the Mowbray-Berkely and Dingman Wells. The Dingman Well is now producing, and this main anticline is now practically a proven oil field. All the properties of the company are located on anticlines and were chosen by our geologist.

We strongly recommend an investment in the Chinook Oil Company, Limited. This Company is as strong as any in the field. Its Directorate is composed of prominent business men of Western Canada, and its holdings are extremely valuable.

The time to act is at present, because with the further development of the oil field, stock values will keep advancing.

THE NEW MORALITY

A New York Woman's Ideas on Better Conditions

Grace Isabel Colbrone of New York, discussing "The New Morality," said: "The New Morality is to my mind really the old morality revived. I mean the morality of the New Testament. The Christian church to-day is not teaching this. When the early Christians fought for their faith, it was not for a church doctrine, but for a doctrine of civil service. Nowadays you can start a church any day in the year. Witness Mrs. Eddy and Billy Sunday. And you will get rich over it, but when you start a doctrine of social service you are in danger of being crucified." On the equality of birth Miss Colbrone was quite clear. "Put one hundred babies in a row," she said, "and no one could tell by looking at them, which was born in a hovel or in a palace. Everything that each little body needed is provided by the land, and everyone born is an increase of wealth to the land, because everyone has a mouth, it has also two hands to work and provide for that mouth; yet every little child is the supreme egotist and it is the duty of the mother to teach it the rights of its brothers and sisters. Applying this to the community morality would only be best developed when individuals consider the rights of others."

SAVING THE SEALS

Only International Agreement Saved Them From Extinction

Russia, England, Japan and America agreed to suspend sealing in the open sea for fifteen years and sealing on land for five years. The need for this close season is explained by George Archibald Clark:

Pelagic sealing proved very destructive to the herd. It respected neither sex nor condition of the animals found, and the catch fell principally upon the nursing females, which were taken upon the summer feeding grounds in Behring Sea; for when the migration route of the seals had been covered the sealers entered Behring Sea and lay in wait for the mother seals as they visited the fishing banks one or two hundred miles distant from the islands for the purpose of feeding. As a result of the death of the mother, the dependent young starved to death on the rookeries. In the fall of 1896 sixteen thousand fur seal pups died of starvation on the rookeries of St. Paul and St. George islands.

As pelagic sealing developed through the increasing number of ships, its catch grew from 8,000 at the beginning to a maximum of 140,000 in 1894; but this could not last, and with the declining herd the pelagic catch also began to decline. In the season of 1911, the last of the industry, the catch numbered about 15,000 skins. From the known catch of the sealing fleets and from conservative estimates as to animals killed but not recovered it is apparent that more than a million breeding female fur seals and a like number of unborn and dependent young were destroyed during the thirty odd years the pelagic industry has been in operation. The result is the depleted condition in which we find the herd to-day. Our best information places the number of animals in the herd in 1867 at between two and three millions. It numbers to-day about 215,000.

FREAK PLANTS

Trap and Devour Insects, Digesting Bodies of Their Prey

Among the strangest of all nature's products are the insect-eating, or carnivorous, plants. They actually catch, eat, and digest various insects by a process practically as thorough as that of the animals.

The so-called Venus "fly trap" or "vegetable butcher" is one of the most remarkable of these. It grows in a wild state in the forests of North Carolina, where it creeps along the ground, presenting thousands of gaping mouths, into which the unsuspecting fly or insect is lured and imprisoned.

The leaves of this plant consist of two valves, shaped like clam shells, which, when closed, form a trap. The ends of the leaves are baited with a sweet juice which attracts the insect. The leaves are covered with minute hairs, which correspond very closely to the arrangements of the nervous system in animals. On the edge of the leaves are rows of long, fine teeth.

When the unsuspecting insect has been lured to the leaf by the attractive juice he steps upon one of the microscopic hairs, and the two valves shut with a snap, keeping Mr. Fly secure.

Still more curious are certain plants in Borneo, which distill liquors for the purpose of luring their victims. Many of these are miniature grog shops. In their leaves are little pitchers, which are filled with hard alcoholic liquors. Each of the pitchers has a tight-fitting cover which keeps the dew and rain from diluting the liquor. No scientists have yet succeeded in analysing the liquors with any satisfactory results, but it is evident that they are of different kinds, since different species of the plants attract different insects.

The most unique of all the productions of nature is the plant popularly known as the "goose plant." It is Guatemala, and receives its name from the bud, which has the shape of a goose floating along the water with its neck proudly arched. The flower is very beautiful, but repulsive. It has an odor resembling that of decayed meat. The plant attracts the carrion fly, which is the agent of fertilisation.

IN THE LISTS

Women Compared With Men in Feats of Endurance

The athletic young woman of the twentieth century has shown that there are some sports in which she could give points and a beating to the men of her grandfather's time.

Take golf, for instance. Some few years ago, Miss Nancy Hazlet did a 77 at Burnham on a rough day. It would take a very fine player of the other sex to equal this score, let alone to beat it. And, more lately, Miss Leitch showed that even an Open Champion could only just give her a half—that is, nine strokes in an eighteen hole round. This is all the more wonderful when you come to consider that the longest drive yet achieved by a woman is 234 yards, whereas a man has driven a golf ball a distance of 370 yards.

Mastering Ben Nevis

Men have run the hundred yards in under ten seconds, but no woman has done the distance in less than thirteen, and man can long jump nearly twenty-five feet as against less than fifteen by the best feminine athlete.

Oddly enough, when it comes to feats of endurance rather than short and concentrated effort, woman shows up to much better advantage. Take, for instance, the favorite race up Ben Nevis, which is a terrific strain even for the best trained man. The time taken by the champion runner was just an hour and a half. A woman has done it in under two hours.

In long distance swimming the case is similar, for while a man is one-fifth faster than a woman in swimming a hundred yards, when it comes to a mile race in the water man is only one-fifteenth faster than his best feminine competitor. In other words, a man has only ten seconds' advantage over a woman in a mile swimming race. There is actually a case on record of a thirteen-miles swimming race, from Brooklyn to Coney Island, in which two girls came in ahead, beating no fewer than thirty-one men. Madame Icarescu, the Austrian lady swimmer, has done forty-eight miles in the Danube against the current in just over eight hours. Very few men could emulate such a magnificent swim, especially in fresh water.

In Shooting

Coming to shooting, we find that women can hold a rifle as straight as most men. A team of European ladies living in the Straits Settlements actually beat a team of marksmen by 19 points, the distance being 100 yards and the weapons rook-rifles. And with the gun, too, there are women who can bring down fast-flying birds with amazing accuracy.

The Duchess of Bedford has killed 115 partridges in a day's driving, and more than 200 pheasants in one day's covert shooting. She has also bagged 39 wild ducks with 56 cartridges, a record that any man might be proud of. A woman is not so quick with her cartridges as a man, but, apart from that, she is practically his equal as a game shot.

Mountain Climbing

At mountaineering, woman has showed herself to be able to bear the strain of climbing great heights. Mrs. Bullock Workman has climbed a peak 23,560 feet in height. Very few men alive can boast of having accomplished such a feat as that.

At long distance cycling man is hard pressed by the other sex. At a hundred miles on the road the latter is barely an half an hour slower than her male competitor.

There is just one game at which ladies can boast that they are equal to men. This is croquet. Miss Lilian Gower, after winning the Ladies' Championship, threw down the gauntlet to men, and proved victorious.

IMPORTANCE TO THE RACE

The Development of Woman is of National Value

In the course of a lecture Dr. A. T. Schofield, of London, England, remarked:

"The better developed the woman, both physically and morally, the more marked the improvement of the race. Whereas man's physique is no longer so important as it was—for modern inventions have replaced mere muscle—the woman's body is always important, since she is the bearer of the coming race.

"That nature herself recognizes the greater value of women is proved by the fact that during the siege of Paris, when the population was badly fed or starving, nearly all the children born were boys. So you see Nature only makes girls of good material, whereas she will make boys of anything."

Dr. Schofield also stated that women had better memories than men, quicker intuition, better instincts and more tact. The only people who acted by pure reason were all in lunatic asylums. Sane people acted by a combination of reason and instinct called common sense. Women, too, had better color vision than men. The spirit of women was the spirit of the race. The one thing a man never forgot was what he had learned from his mother.

WHY HOT WATER CLEANSES

The Effect of Hot and Cold Water Upon the Skin When Washing

We know by experience that when our hands get dirty it is necessary to wash them in warm water to thoroughly cleanse the skin, though all do not know why hot water cleanses better than cold.

Through the pores of the skin an amount of natural fat and perspiration is always escaping. This grease forms a layer on the surface of the skin, to which the particles of dust and dirt adhere. To get the dirt away from the skin it is necessary first of all to dissolve or liquefy the grease. Cold water cannot do this, for it has the effect of chilling the grease, and so making it more solid. By washing our hands in cold water we can remove only that superficial dirt which has not become firmly embedded into the oily layer by which the skin is covered.

On the other hand, hot water has the effect of melting the grease upon the surface of the skin, so that the particles of dirt which have adhered to it are loosened and can be easily washed away. Soap assists the loosening of these dust particles.

Shooting Oil Wells

Keen interest is being taken in the development of the Manitoulin oil fields by Senator Poirer and representatives from all the chief centres on the Island assembled at Green Bay to witness the shooting of some of the wells. E. A. Stokes, of Petrolea, was on hand, and a fuse was lighted, and a sharp shock was felt and the earth trembled, from the mouth of the pipe a greyish liquid shot into the air to a height of about eighty feet and fell gracefully to the ground. This was followed immediately by a second gush of a watery liquid which ascended to a height of about a hundred feet. About fifteen quarts of nitro-glycerine were used in shooting the well.

Child's Narrow Escape

When a train which had left Ottawa reached the bridge over a tributary to the Gatineau and just beyond Hull, the engineer noticed a small child on the track. Before he could stop his train the engine had passed over the child. When the train stopped the engineer descended from his cab to look for the youngster's body, when he found that the little one had lain down flat on the trestle work of the bridge where there was just room for the outer edge of the engine to pass over his body without hurting him. In this way he escaped uninjured. He was taken out by the engineer and sent safely home. He did not seem much frightened when taken from his perilous position under the train.

Saving Hotel Carpets

For handling baggage in hotels there has been invented a truck with rubber tired wheels to save the carpets and with handles that fold when used in crowded spaces.

The Crooked Billet—an inn which still stands upon Tower Hill, as it has stood for generations past—boasts itself as the oldest wine and spirit house in London. There is every reason to believe that the inn dates from the time of Henry VIII. Certainly no London inn is more romantic in the matter of sliding panels and concealed doors, secret rooms, and underground passages—one of these reputedly leads to the Tower—and thick walls richly carved. There is a tradition that Oliver Cromwell once lived (or lodged) at the Crooked Billet.

Our Point of View

This is the season of the year when the Recording Angel has to work overtime booking the fish stories.

—o—

Those who have been following the Home Rule battle in the old land will agree with the Times that Redmond is the chap who put the cuss in discussion.

—o—

We note that Premier Asquith has issued an ultimatum, but nobody should be alarmed. An ultimatum these days is as harmless as a doxology.

—o—

Now that Johnson, the Toronto baseball pitcher, is married the old joke about making home runs is being worked off on a suffering public.

—o—

A headline says: "Huerta Has a Bad Cold." Yes, but it is in his feet, as is indicated by his haste in leaving Mexico.

—o—

"Man Hangs Himself to Escape Heat," says a headline in the Globe. But it is a safe bet that by this time he is in a hotter place than the one he left.

—o—

The Examiner says that straws show which way the wind blows. Straw hats, the Times would add, often indicate the rate at which it is blowing.

—o—

The Hon. Mr. Rowell is said to be gaining flesh, which shows that he has learned how to thrive on criticism.

—o—

A French Canadian paper says there are two Bourassas. As a matter of fact, there are three, but the Lord be praised two of them are not chips from the old block.

—o—

When women get their "rights" we suppose that they will insist on buttoning up their husbands in the back just to show their equality with mere man.

—o—

Recently the Liberal newspapers have been saying much about the Liberal advance in Manitoba, but the Times remarks that it consists in not getting licked as badly as last time.

—o—

A member of Toronto literatti, who calls himself "The Poet of Nature," begins a song with these words:

A nymph, she sat sniffing the breeses;
Her homespun stockings hiding her kneeses.

Australia and the Building of Battleships

In discussing the above subject, our valued contemporary, The Kingston Standard, says that Australia was imbued with the idea of Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his party concerning the ability of the people of the antipodes to build their own battleships. The intention and undertaking of Australia were heralded all over Canada by the press of the Liberal party, and it was freely declared that Canada would accomplish anything within the possibilities of the people of far-off Australia.

It develops that Austaalia is sincerely regretting her experiment in building battleships. Skilled labor and material are scarce in Australia and as a consequence, the attempt as far as it has progressed, has cost that colony thirty per cent. more than the work would have cost had it been built in one of the many well equipped shipyards of the old land.

The Australian Government are now aware of the fact, that the ships whose keels they have laid and on which they are now slowly and spasmodically working, will be obsolete in type long before they are completed and made ready for sea. They regret the costly and aborite attempt to build battleships in successful competition with the builders along the Tyne, Clyde, or on the waters of Lough Foyle.

Sir Robert Borden knows well that this would be the experience of Canada in battleship building, so he preferred, for economic and practical purposes, a contribution to the Imperial navy, so that British could use the money to the best possible advantage, as far as her own, and Canada's interests were concerned. It would be as easy to manufacture ice in that region mentioned in the minister's sermon last Sunday as to build battleships in Canada under existing conditions.

Magic "Nerviline" Ends Stiff Neck, Lumbago.

Any Curable Muscular or Joint Pain is Instantly Relieved by Nerviline.

GET A TRIAL BOTTLE TO-DAY.

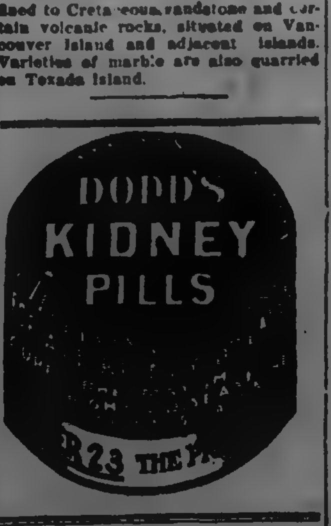
You don't have to wait all day to get the kink out of a stiff neck if you rub on Nerviline. And you don't need to go around complaining about lumbago any more. You can rub such things away very quickly with Nerviline. It's the grandest liniment, the quickest to penetrate, the speediest to ease muscular pain of any kind.

One twenty-five cent trial bottle of Nerviline will cure any attack of lumbago or lame back. This has been proved athousand times, just as it was in the case of Mrs. E. J. Grayden, of Caledonia, who writes:—"I wouldn't think of going to bed without knowing we had Nerviline in the house. I have used it for twenty odd years and appreciate its value as a family remedy more and more every day. If any of the children gets a stiff neck, Nerviline cures quickly. If it is earache, toothache, cold on the chest, sore throat, Nerviline is always my standby. My husband once cured himself of a frightful attack of lumbago by Nerviline, and for a hundred ailments that turn up in a large family Nerviline is by far the best thing to have about you."

BUILDING MATERIALS

Valuable Resources Being Gradually Opened up in Western Canada

With the exception of British Columbia there is very little building stone produced in Western Canada. This is due to two causes. First the rocks which underlie the developed portions of the Prairie Provinces are of comparatively recent age, and are, consequently, soft in character and weather rapidly; second, there are very few rock exposures in the settled portions of these provinces, except in the Rocky Mountains and the foothills. In British Columbia there are large potential resources of building stone. They have, however, been developed only in certain localities on the Pacific Coast, and have been confined to Cretaceous sandstone and certain volcanic rocks, situated on Vancouver Island and adjacent islands. Varieties of marble are also quarried on Texada Island.



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

WORKING WITH LITTTE SLEEP

Great Men Who Spent Small Amount of Time in Slumber

Thomas Edison has an abnormal capacity for dispensing with sleep. Twenty hours' work and four hours' slumber was his daily programme for many years. On one occasion he worked on the incandescent light problem for five days and five nights "without a wink." After that he slept for twenty hours without moving a limb.

Napoleon during all his most strenuous years rarely slept more than four hours a night. Five o'clock in the morning invariably found him immersed in the details of his campaign, or in the conduct of the great empire his single will ruled, and he was equally invariably the last to go to bed.

Like many other great workers however, he had the capacity of being able to sleep at will—to close his eyes for a few moments, and to sleep so profoundly during that short interval that, when he awoke, he was as fresh as many men after an hour's slumber. Wellington had the same enviable capacity as his great rival. During his Peninsular campaign—and indeed, to the end of his long life—he seldom slept for more than four or five hours at a time; but he could at will snatch a few moments' slumber, even on horseback, which made, as he said, "a new man of him."

Cobden was rarely in bed after four o'clock in summer and five in winter. M. Thiers, President of the third French Republic, used to boast that for years he was out of bed and at work at four o'clock every morning.

Girl Climbs Church Spire

Miss Dorothy Willink, daughter of Canon Willink, rector of St. Martin's Church, Birmingham, climbed to the top of the church spire, 260 feet high, and scratched her name on the cap to which the weathercock is fixed. She climbed as far as possible by the steps inside the church, and ended the journey on the steeplejack's ladders, the spire being at present under repair.

An Effort to Commercialize the By Products Failed

An enthusiastic genius from England who visited Newfoundland promoting a scheme for developing various fishing industries more extensively, advocated the employment of a steamer to follow the sealing fleet, pick up all the carcases, and bring them into St. John's, where the best of the meat might be sold and the remainder converted into fertilizer; but it was pointed out to him that if it would pay a steamer to do this it would pay her very much better to engage in the actual seal hunt, and the scheme thereupon collapsed. The same genius it was who proposed, and actually did put into practice, the experiment of canning flippers and offering them for sale, but it is scarcely necessary to observe that as the appetite for these dainties is somewhat of an acquired taste he has not yet succeeded in inducing even the inland railway to include them in its dining-car menu. At the same time it must not be imagined that there is anything unpleasant or unpalatable in seal flippers, because the contrary is the case. They are excellent nourishing food.

The flipper or the carcase must be eaten fresh to enjoy it at its best, but staleness is not an insuperable obstacle, as may be understood from the fact that the salting of both into barrels for summer consumption is by no means unusual. Just as with beef and other meats the flipper or carcase of an old seal is not nearly so delicate or tender as the younger one, and it becomes rancid through the operation of the oil much quicker. There is, however, an ample number of the flippers of young seals obtainable every year to satisfy all of the local demands, and it would be no exaggeration to say that the sturdy health of the 4,000 Terranovan seafarers who tread the Arctic icefloes in the quest for these creatures is due in a substantial measure to their indulgence in flippers and seal meat, which provides the good red blood and the other elements that make for strength and physical endurance.

A Powerful Magnet

What is described as "the most powerful electro-magnet in the world" is installed in the laboratories of Professor Becquerel, at the Polytechnic School of Paris.

According to a French scientist potassium must be added to the list of radioactive substances.

Town Left in Darkness

It is not often that a complete electric light station sails away after having done good service to a town. Such an unusual thing happened in the Township of Ocos, in Guatemala which after enjoying the benefits of electric lighting, unwillingly reverted to oil lamps, its powerhouse having gone to sea. A few years ago a liner was imprisoned in the lagoon without suffering any damage. An enterprising engineer thereupon used the ship's dynamos for supplying the whole township with current for lighting. The scheme was a great success until a salvage company appeared. The connecting cables were severed, the vessel went back to sea, and Ocos was temporarily left in darkness.

A REAL ESTATE YARN

Ex-Mayor Waugh of Winnipeg told a real estate yarn in a way that was as fetching as the story itself. A real estate agent, selling California city lots in the mid-West, entered a town when it appeared to be deserted. Discovering that the town was virtually paying its respects to one of its departed citizens, the agent, seeing no chance of doing business, joined himself to the company of mourners in the cemetery chapel. He entered as the clergyman was asking anyone who would like to say a word in memory of the deceased, let him now come forward. No one accepting the invitation, despite a repetition of the request, the real estate salesman rose and respectfully said: "Mr. Minister, as no one seems anxious to say a word for the deceased, and as I didn't know him when he was alive, perhaps you will permit me to tell you something about some California lots that I have to sell."

Feigned Dumbness

The Kirkintilloch Police are on the track of a man who has been perpetrating an ingenious fraud upon the public. Feigning dumbness and by using the deaf-mute alphabet, he succeeded in disposing of a number of prize-drawing tickets at sixpence each, the drawing to take place at a number in Kelvinhaugh street which does not exist.

Wife Fond of Novelettes

In a divorce action at Edinburgh James Wilson, thirty, a laborer, said not long after his marriage he came home frequently from his work on the night shift, and found no breakfast ready for him. His wife was fond of lying in bed in the morning reading novelettes, and she practically took no interest in the house. Divorce was granted.

A bush fire wiped out the town of Hearst, 134 miles west of Cochrane, on the N.T.R. only five buildings being left.

The present strength of two units of the permanent force, the Engineer Corps and the Army Service Corps isto be reduced by the Minister of Militia.

COAST TRADE OPPORTUNITIES

Southern American Markets for Canadian Exporters—Railways and Shipping

Trade opportunities in South America were discussed by Mr. H. R. Pousette, Canadian trade commissioner to that part of the world. He has travelled in nearly every republic of South America and reports that the political unrest is subsiding and better conditions are apparent. This is particularly noticeable on the Atlantic side, and is being followed by the investment of large sums of money, especially by British interests. They have invested about five hundred million pounds in South America, the larger portion of which is in Argentina. This part of the southern continent compete with Canada in so far as wheat, flour and cattle are concerned, but on the other hand it imports large quantities of agricultural implements and machinery, windmills, motor cars, carriages, lumber, paper, wire, furniture, hardware and food stuffs. Mr. Pousette thinks Canada should be able to capture some of the trade of that part of the world, both by the Pacific and Atlantic routes. Mr. Pousette adds that a fair amount of flour can be marketed in Ecuador and Panama, as well as in countries on the Caribbean Sea, when the Panama Canal is open for traffic. He says that British traders have already built up an excellent name for themselves which will confer an advantage on Canadians.

EMPIRE BUILDERS

Such Are Poets Whether of Words or of the Axe and Pick

Like the Greeks who made no distinction between thinking and doing, we who speak the English tongue were above all a practical people, who loved being and doing and the strong, free life, said Mr. F. R. Benson, the great interpreter of Shakespeare's dramas.

A transcontinental railway builder was a poet, not of words but in vision, leader of a band who carved out empire, not "writing his sorrows on the bosom of earth, making dust his paper," but in terms of pick and axe and dredge, in tunnel and train, wedding east and west. He was one who could identify himself with the living principle of all things, who saw the relation between the particular and the universal, surely a practical man for our generation, and all generations to come, and that was the meaning of poet. A concrete example was given at the Stratford-Upon-Avon festival, where people were joined in a mighty realization of the brotherhood of man, not in the pink-blooded terms of the copybook heads, but with the vital intensification of national feeling and patriotism. Mr. Benson had a vision of a great empire of English-speaking people, of which Shakespeare's drama would be one of the chief links.

In a time of strikes, a striker told him how at Shakespeare's shrine he had gathered a sense of the harmony of life, and had seen the due relation of things. He added: "Shakespeare has shown me a better way than dynamite." Another man had prayed God's blessing on the Stratford Theatre. "It has shown me in Shakespeare's plays how we British became what we are, and how we may keep so."

TREES DYED AS THEY GROW

Sap Carries Stain Upward Through the Trunk

Staining wood by inoculating the growing tree with dye fluids is an industry described in the Independent. The staining solution is introduced into the tree by holes bored through the trunk near the ground, and the color spreads with the flow of the sap. The liquid is absorbed very rapidly. A Scotch fir was known to take up three gallons in two days.

When a tree so treated is cut up it is often found to be beautifully veined. This is particularly true in the tropics because of the rapid upward rush of the sap at certain seasons.

Only dyes soluble in water will serve, and many of these are useless. One per cent. solutions have been found to be the best, and the dye best suited to each wood must be determined in advance by experiment.

"Birch was splendidly colored," the article says, "by malachite green and methylene blue, yet eosin produced a very streaky effect. Eosin is not fast to light, another objection. Aniline chloride reacts with the lignum of the wood to produce a beautiful yellow. In fact, many chemicals not in themselves dyes, are suitable, because they act on compounds in the wood to form colors. A splendid salmon-red may be secured by using paraphenylenediamine. Tannic acid acts in a different way. After it has penetrated the wood thoroughly the tree may be cut and sawed into boards and fumed with ammonia just as oak, chestnut and any wood naturally containing tannic acid is fumed. Treated with potassium bichromate, a rich brown results with [illegible] which has previously absorbed [illegible] acid. Thus cheaper woods may be made to equal the more expensive oak in appearance.

SOME SIMPLE FACTS ABOUT THE MOON

A Lesson in Astronomy About Our Nearest Neighbor in the Realms of Space

Did you ever stop to consider that every bit of light the moon furnishes us, is stolen?

The moon is simply a distributing agent for the sun. And the habit of stealing light has become so firmly fixed with the moon that part of the time when it can't get all it wants from the sun it actually steals a little from the earth!

When the earth was a mass of gas and lava-like liquid whirling through space at a terrific rate, a big drop of the material of which it was made formed on one side and was thrown off into space, according to the best theories. The drop that fell off kept whirling, too, as it went off into the air. It followed the general path of the earth, only revolving a bit slower. As the earth cooled, the big drop cooled, too. And that drop became the moon we know now. It is the nearest thing in the heavens to the earth—being only 238,800 miles away.

A person can learn more about the moon by observing it through a simple pair of opera glasses than can be learned about any other heavenly body, studied in any way. A survey shows that it is completely covered with big bumps and hollows. These are great mountains and valleys. In the early days of astronomy it was believed that there were seas and lakes on the moon. This has since been disproved by closer investigation.

Of course, then, there being no water on the moon, there is no life there. That is the reason there are no changes in the surface, astronomers say, although it was believed for a long time that there were changes.

The mountains, some of which are very high, one at least reaching an altitude of 20,000 feet, are most interesting to study. More than 500 of them have been mapped by astronomers and half of these have been actually named.

The Earth, as it Would Look to an Observer on the Moon.

Besides these mountains there are immense plains. These are mostly given the names of seas and the names are far more poetic than those of the waters of the earth. Thus we find the Sea of Tranquility, the Sea of Showers, the Sea of Serenity, and the Bay of Rainbows.

We see only half of the moon. The other half has never been seen by man. And the reason for this is that the moon moves around the earth in exactly the same time that it takes it to spin once on its axis—27 days, 7 hours, 43 minutes and 11½ seconds. As the earth turns the same way there is always just one side of the moon turned toward us.

The moon gets its light from the sun. In other words, it simply throws a reflection of the sun's light. But few persons are aware, however, that it also reflects light from the earth. There are certain times when it does, however.

You see, the entire surface of the moon is not always where the sun's light will be reflected to the earth. This is what gives it the different shapes we see. Suppose, for instance, we observe the moon in what we call the "new moon" shape. The sun, is just shining on one edge of the great moon-ball. But if we look closer we see a rather dark shape that continues the spherical outline of the whole moon. This is sometimes called the "old moon in the arms of the new moon."

But that darker reflection, scientists declare, is really the reflection of the earth's light on the moon. Or rather a reflection of the sun's light reflected from the earth. This is of course, not so bright as the direct reflection of the sun on the moon itself.

The most important influence of the moon on the earth is in the action of the tides. This is caused by gravitation and is the force or pull exerted by the rotation of the moon on the water on the surface of the earth. Both the sun and the moon pull the water up as they near the earth. And the fact that the two are pulling sometimes together and sometimes in opposite directions, is what makes the higher tides—the spring tides—and the less high tides—the neap tides.

Performing Horse Dies

The death occurred of a wonderful performing horse, Alpha, which belonged to Mr. R. D. G. Shaw of Great Falls. The animal, which had performed before several members of the royal family, could play the national anthem on a harmonium, could write its own name on a slate with chalk held in its mouth, and could do difficult sums in the first four rules. Another horse, called Beta, also belonging to Mr. Shaw, accompanied Alpha on show, and together they could play "Home, Sweet Home," with bells fastened on their feet.

KLEM NOT A PLAYER

Best Umpire in Baseball Not a Graduate of Diamond

Manager McGraw of the Giants, who never had any particular love for umpires as a general thing, thinks highly of Bill Klem, the peppery arbiter of the National League, because he recognizes that Klem is a master of his business. McGraw has often maintained that Klem was the only man in the business who could do Christy Mathewson justice on balls and strikes and would always rather have him in an important series than any other arbiter. Klem is popular among the ball players, too.

In the course of a regular season the umpires associate very little with the ball players. They stop at different hotels and their schedule is so arranged that they seldom travel on the same trains as the ball clubs. Klem is probably the most successful silencer of ball players now extant. He became the best umpire in the business by making a study of his line of work. He studied pitchers and motions so as to not be deceived on balls and strikes and he knows where to place himself for the various plays that come up under certain situations in a game. Klem is usually paired off with the new umpires breaking into the league, so that he can school them on the way it should be done in the majors.

Unlike most other umpires, Klem has never been a ball player, at least not a professional. He started out as an umpire but gave his line the same attention and study that other successful men give to their work.

Frying Need Not Smell

If the disagreeable smell of frying pervades the house, examine the bottom of the frying-pan, and you will find it covered with burnt fat which smells as soon as it is hot. To prevent the smell, besides washing the pan with strong soda water just after it has been used, it is necessary to boil it out in a larger vessel with soda in the water. Rinse, put in some clean water, and the smell will no longer persist.

Lady's Lost Finger

A singular flying accident occurred on Lake Windermere. A party from Bolton were attracted by a hydroplane, and one young lady arranged to go for a flight across the lake. She took her seat behind the pilot and after the hydroplane had travelled about 100 yards from the shore, she leaned from her seat and waved joyously to her friends. Suddenly she felt a sharp twinge of pain, and on looking at her left hand was horrified to find that one of the fingers was missing, having been cut off by the propeller.

Nieces of Poet Laureate

There are two relatives of the poet laureate living in Canada. These are the Misses Bridges, nieces of the doctor, who have a five-acre ranch in a delightful part of British Columbia near Mission City. These two ladies came from England some years ago and bought land in British Columbia and have led a retired life since that time, raising chickens and gardening. Naturally they are greatly pleased with the honor recently conferred upon their uncle, Dr. Robert Bridges by Premier Asquith, in appointing him poet laureate.

Exhibits of bird houses, built by boys of the schools in Portland, Ore., have attracted much attention and aroused no little rivalry among the boys themselves as to design and execution. They constructed charming little bungalows of rustic strips of bark; quaint reproductions of old-world thatched farm cottages; log cabins, and tiny homes wrought of silvery birch-bark and bits of moss on sloping roofs. Through the co-operation of the Oregon Audubon Society and the State superintendent of Public Schools a widespread movement for systematic bird study and bird protection was inaugurated over a year ago in the Portland schools. Each schoolboy in the intermediate grades constructed at least one bird house during the year. These were placed in public parks, residence grounds, and along the highways. This was the beginning of a State-wide plan to bring the children of the schools into closer relationship with their bird neighbors. William L. Finley, State game warden of Oregon, has done much to have the economic value of birds taught to school children. The crow and the kingfisher both have unnecessarily bad reputations, it is pointed out. To determine the economic status of the crow the department of agriculture examined nearly a thousand of them taken in every month of the year all over the country, and it was found that most of the corn eaten by these birds was waste corn, and the part destroyed while growing was only 3 per cent. of the total food. On the other hand the amount of harmful insects and mice eaten rendered the final verdict in favor of the crow. It was also determined that the kingfisher does not eat trout, but only fish that are of no value to man.

"UNDER-RATED PEOPLE"

Text: "Seeing I am a poor man and lightly esteemed."—1 Sam. xviii:23.

I hold a brief for the under-rated, for those whom the world has not sized up properly, and who therefore do not earn as much as they should, whose advice is not listened to as it ought to be, and who, consequently, cannot do the good they might otherwise accomplish.

There is always a reason for the discounting of talents. I divide all possible causes into three classes: Causes which the under-rated ones themselves can cure, causes for which the outside world is to blame, and causes for which no one in particular is to blame, but which will in time disappear. The great majority of under-rated people may seek the reason for their discounted position in the first group.

Some over-rate their own underratedness. When David complained that he was a poor man and lightly esteemed, he did not realize how many heads were at that very moment turned his way. Men do not, in after life, get marks as they did at school. People do not run alongside of the meritorious man every day and say, "Good boy." Preachers need not expect a whole congregation to walk up to the chancel after service and say, "Doctor, that was a fine sermon."

Count's Kindly Action

Count and Countess Antoine de la Rochefoucauld, who moved into a new house in Paris, gave their old residence as a home for eight poor married couples with large families for the remainder of the lease.

The eight families entered the house to the music of a band, and were given champagne at the count's expense.

THE PHOTOGRAPHER'S ART

Camera Models Not Always the Prettiest Girls

A photographer who was called on to pick five beauties from a group of 100 for the purposes of a picture group selected five girls very quickly. A spectator gasped at his choice. "I shouldn't call these the prettiest!" he exclaimed.

"They're prettiest for photographers," answered the photographer, who proved his point by the result.

Here's one part of the secret: There are "photographable" faces, and the artist in photography knows the trick of picking them, as well as that other trick of making the most of them before his camera.

The quality of being "photographable" in any special degree is not commonly discernible to the average person. Many famous camera models make a good living by the discovery of this quality.

Of course, looking charming in front of a lens is something, too, of a mental gift. There can be no doubt that many women look their best before a lens. What is an ordeal to other women is to them a stimulation, an incitement to sparkle. Women with the gift naturally have a great advantage, quite aside from the advantage furnished by strictly facial charm. Their "look" is attractive as well as their "lines." Their eyes, instead of looking set and "starey," look interested—quite as if they were looking into the eyes of a friend. That is certainly a part of the sitter's trick—to make friends with the lens.

COPPER
The Red Metal
MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. THE DAINTY "FLIPPER"

A Delicacy in Newfoundland Associated With the Sealing Season

A dainty peculiar to Newfoundland which so far has received little attention is the seal's flipper or fipper which is the paw with which the seal propels itself through the water. It is esteemed by the people of the Island as one of their greatest delicacies. A flipper weighs about a pound, and when the seal ships begin to arrive in St. John's most people begin to talk about securing "a meal of flippers." Small boys and others swarm about the steamers, and the crews are importuned to supply these dainties to all who ask for them. In the olden times they were given away freely, but latterly it is not uncommon for fifty cents a gad (six on a string) to be asked for them, while many among the crews now make a practice of salting quantities into barrels for their own consumption during the summer. A fresh flipper makes a most appetizing meal. The method of cooking them is to wash them thoroughly in fresh water, then soak them in water in which salt has been dissolved; next transfer them to a baking pan or pot with slices of pork or bacon, and after being cooked over a hot fire they are as delicate of flavor and taste as the finest of veal.

Among all the capitalists in St. John's interested in the sealing industry, flipper suppers, with the accompaniment of champagne, etcetera, are the invariable rule as the ships come in, and owners, captains, and others indulge annually in these repasts at some of the hotels or inns near the city. Very many family parties also partake of the unusual dish, and among the poorer classes flippers are looked upon as a great and welcome luxury, a change from the usual dietary and one that is beyond all question nourishing and healthy. Roman Catholics likewise patronize flippers largely because, as the seal is an amphibious animal, it is not meat, and may be eaten during the Lenten season or on fast days. All round the north and west coasts, where the seals are often taken close in shore, they are a recognized item in the daily menu—not alone flippers but the carcases as well. These are perhaps even more appetizing than the flippers, because there is less fat permeating them, but, of course, space is too valuable aboard the ship to allow of carcases being brought home for consumption, they being worthless for any other purpose, and seal pelts being valued at $100 a ton dead weight.

INCONSPICUOUS CLOTHING

Dark Blue and Green Can be Seen the Farthest

Some curious and rather unexpected results have followed experiments in Europe for the purpose of determining what color in a soldier's uniform is the least conspicuous to an enemy. Of ten men, two were dressed in light grey uniforms, two in dark grey, two in green, two in dark blue, and two in scarlet. All were then ordered to march off, while a group of officers remained watching them. The first to disappear in the landscape was the light grey, and next, surprising as it may seem, the scarlet. Then followed the dark grey, while the dark blue and the green remained visible long after all the others had disappeared. Experiments in firing at blue and red targets, according to same experiments, proved that blue could be more easily seen at a distance than red.

It may be that khaki, which is the fashionable color now for army uniforms, will have to give way to grey, for in these days of long-range weapons inconspicuous clothing is vitally necessary for soldiers.

Light of Fireflies

It has been proved by experiments conducted by M. Ives, a chemist, that the light emitted by fireflies, glow-worms and other insects is purely chemical and not in any way biological. Mr. Ives finds that this light is not extinguished by death. Of course after death some stimulus is necessary to excite it, but it can be produced in their tissues two years after their death, which makes certain that it is chemical in origin.

Corrugated strawboard containers which fit closely all around their contents have been invented for shipping single eggs by parcel post.

Mines For the Public

The supreme court of Panama has sustained a recent law whereby the government reserves ownership in metal mines and deposits of coal and oil.

Clean pots and pans with GOLD DUST

Germs of decay accumulate on oft-used pots and pans, and ordinary soap and water only clean off the surface.

Gold Dust does the work—and does it right. It digs deep after germs, cleans like a new whistle and leaves your pots and pans as new, as bright as the day they were new—and sanitarily safe.

Gold Dust does this work in just half the time required by soap or any other cleanser. Does it better, too.

Gold Dust cleans everything like magic.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work."

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a poor shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worms, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, [illegible] a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. BRITISH INFLUENCE IN SOUTH AFRICA

Intermarriage Lessens Hate—English Literature Over-runs the Country

Mr. B. Ryan, of East London, South Africa reports that a great deal of intermarrying is taking place between Briton and Boers, that the country is being over-run by light literature all of which is published in English and the children become absolutely English. While the Dutch do not like the other race at the present time the country is surely becoming British in spite of Boer prejudice and customs.

Mr. Ryan then explained why South Africa was bound to be British to the end. Although the Government had spent a million and a half pounds on a magnificent Parliament building at Pretoria, evidently with the object of keeping it in the old Transvaal capital, Johannesburg with her 300,000 people and the Rand with its gold production of $200,000,000 per annum, will be in connection with the British influence in Cape Colony the ever-growing predominating power in the South African Confederation.

PERHAPS YOU KNOW THAT

The income-tax is levied in India on all incomes of $165 and upwards, and then only one man in 700 comes within its scope.

St. Peter's at Rome will accommodate 54,000 persons, Milan Cathedral 37,000 persons, and St. Paul's Cathedral, London, 25,000 persons.

While repairing a temple the Chinese cover up the eyes of the idols in order that the deities may not be offended at the sight of the disorder.

The skins of 100,000 animals are used every year for the covers of Oxford Bibles alone, and 400,000 sheets of gold are required for the gilt lettering.

The Sheep Pays

Money invested in sheep will nearly double itself in one year, since the fleece will pay for the feed and care of the sheep, and the lambs, often two per ewe, are the profit. It is estimated that ten sheep may be kept where one cow may, and the cost is much less. It may be said that the sheep always carries her pocketbook with her. If she dies, her pelt or fleece pays her funeral expenses. If she lives, her wool in the spring and her lambs in the fall pay double revenue. No other stock pays as large a percentage of clear profit on the money invested. Nothing else will build up a rundown farm as quickly as a flock of sheep. While pasturing, the sheep's manure is distributed so evenly that no manure spreader could equal the sheep in its work.

POPULAR SOVEREIGNS

ADVICE TO MOTHERS

Some Useful Hints For Those Who Have Children at School

Don't make the mistake of bundling up your child's throat every time it goes out. In the morning after its bath pour cold water over your hands and rub its throat, chest and back with it. Then rub it with a coarse towel. If you do this you find your child will be immune from colds.

See that your child's feet are kept dry. Overshoes are indispensible, as they can be taken off at the school house, leaving the feet warm and dry.

Be sure that your little girl's hair is perfectly clean. It should be washed every two weeks. Whenever your children's hands are washed teach them to dry them thoroughly and if they chap rub them with mutton tallow.

Remember to look carefully at your children's eyes and teeth. A small toothbrush with bristles that are not hard and plenty of boracic acid water solution must be used daily. Teach them not to swallow this solution, although it is not poison.

Impress your children with the idea that they must not rub their eyes with their fingers, as they can infect them. Neither must they put their fingers or coins in their mouth. Teach them to keep their mouths shut when out of doors. To habitually breath through the nose will often prevent one contracting the germ of cold.

Visit the school and see that the chair in which your child sits and the desk in front of him is the right height. Look at the ventilation of the room. Insist upon plenty of fresh air. It is of more importance than heat.

Visit the school at least twice each term; talk with the teacher and encourage her in every way you can to co-operate with you in laying the foundation not only of a "book" education, but of an education in good morals and good sense.

CALM VERSUS BUSTLE

The Efficient Woman Works Quietly and Knows Value of Leisure

Falstaff's saying, "It were better to be eaten to death with rust than scoured to nothing with perpetual motion," comes to mind when one notes the many busy-nesses of some modern women.

"Rushed to death!" she cries. "So much to do, so little time," and away she patters to attend a committee meeting or address a convention or "see somebody" about something. And it never occurs to her that this odd world would wag along just the same if she did none of these things—in fact, she would be highly indignant were such an insinuation made.

The woman of real executive ability goes about her duties quietly; she mentally organized her work. Whether she moves about in her own house or engages in outside endeavors, she is calm and composed—and effective. She has, moreover, a sense of proportion which enables her to recognize how much of her energy, and time can profitably be given to any one thing.

You will find that the really efficient woman is not busy with her busyness all the time. She knows the value of leisure and that hurry and haste never produce the best results.

How Perfume is Used

Some women burn pastilles and ribbon of Bruges to scent their rooms. Some use scented handkerchiefs. A few pin their faith to incense, and put it in a red-hot iron spoon which they carry about their apartments. Others use a scent syringe and waft white rose, violet, or heliotrope over themselves and their belongings.

No Inquest on Her.

A sad occurrence is reported from Welland about the desecration of a tomb there where a dead woman's limbs and arms had been stolen by ghouls. When the setting western sun shone on a lady yesterday, who wore an X-ray skirt, as she crossed Hunter street bridge returning from the ball game. That lady had possibly seen the Welland dispatch and had decided that no coroner would ask whether her lower extremities had been amputated. As a matter of fact, not fiction, she had them still.

Whiskey Spotters Buy Tea.

There is one man in Kinmount who has a sense of humor. Ascertaining that there were two Ontario Government whiskey spotters in that village on July 13th, when many visiting Orangemen were there he filled some bottles with cold tea and started they were not labelled and each sale selling them from his buggy. The bottle was accompanied by a suggestive wink. The two spotters put up $1.50 for a bottle and sent it to Toronto for analysis. The laugh is now on the "spotters" as the report of the analysis came back stating that the supposed liquor was none other than cold tea.

Got Drunk and Was Robbed.

Two men named respectively, Herron and White were charged with having stolen $20 from a man named Dayne. Dayne, first witness, said he had taken a few glasses of beer on Saturday. When it got in from the shanty he had $52. He had four $5 bils and a $2 bill. He had a time cheque for the balance. He met the prisoners in a hotel yard Saturday afternoon. He had never seen them before. He met the prisoners in the hotel yard and, aftir entering the stable, went up to the hay loft. He lay down and Herron lay beside him. When he went up to the loft he had money in three pockets. He recognized the short man Herron but said the tall man, the hostler "didn't take nothing from me." Detectives Newhall next gave evidence. He said White was in the granery. He and Detective Meagher questioned White about Herron's whereabouts. White denied knowing anything about Herron. The officers heard a scuffling noise in the loft., Witness said Meagher went to the loft and he heard a lively time going on "Witness went to help Meagher. He found Herron on top of the two. He asked Meagher for his handcuffs. Meagher replied "I can't as Herron has some bills in his hand and has my thumb in his teeth. I then struck Herron on the jaw, when the latter grabbed his, Newhall's hand in his teeth. Herron had a $5 bill in his right hand and a $2 bill in his left. He found the old man's money in Herron's coat pocket.

The two prisoners were found guilty and remanded for a week for sentence.

A NATIONAL DISH

Eating Poi is an Operation Demanding Skill

Poi is the national dish of the Hawaiians, and a poi supper is an event long to be remembered by foreigners admitted to participate therein. Poi is made from taro, a big, coarse dark-skinned vegetable grown under water, the size and shape of a large sweet potato. The taro is pounded until it becomes a coarse moist mass, and is then left to ferment.

When poi is served each guest bathes and dries the right hand, and then proceeds to dip the index finger of that hand into the mass. There is quite a knack in the operation an' it is always necessary to instruct the novice that there is absolutely no need for one to move his arm, but simply the wrist.

One removes his finger at the same time that his neighbor does. On the finger of the skillful operator there will be a pear-shaped ball of poi, but the clumsy one's fingers will simply be thinly veneered with the substance. Then, if the stranger asks what was the matter with his movement, he will be told that he held his finger too straight. He must crook it a little and turn his hand, not too fast, with a wrist movement only.

WHERE TO MARRY

Quebec the Most Expensive of the Provinces

The Province of Quebec is the most expensive place there is in which to be married by license. This is because the Province puts a tax on marriage by license. Six dollars is drawn down every time a license is issued by the Government. The total cost is eight dollars. Two of these go to the issuer of the document. This money does not go into the general fund of the Province, but is devoted to the higher Protestant educational institutions, and is placed at the disposal of the Educational Board. It is given in this way because Roman Catholics do not marry by license.

The tax amounts to many thousands of dollars every year. In one office alone in 1913 no less than 800 licenses were issued. Undoubtedly the total would be in the neighborhood of $100,000.

In Ontario the Government charges nothing for the privilege of getting married. The license costs two dollars, but that goes to the official who issues the document. This, it is understood, is the usual method.

Another curious feature, and one, it is maintained, should not be struck from the code, is the fact that the happy couple must be bonded. The bridegroom going to the issuer of licenses is astounded, if he has not learned of the law, to find that he must bring two householders who will go bond for him for $300 each, to show that there is no reason why the marriage should not take place. It is to prove that neither of the parties have previously been wedded, that they are of age, or if not, that the consent of the parents has been obtained. It is merely a matter of form. There are no records known of any bondsmen being sued for the amount of the bond by the Province or by an irate parent. Nevertheless, the bond must be given.

TAX ON RACING BETS

German Government Proposes to Legalize Making of Books

The "bookmaker question" is one which has long agitated German sporting circles. For the last thirty years bookmaking, according to the strict letter of the law, has been "verboten," like so many things in the Fatherland. Yet the profession has contrived to run its business and prosper to a fair extent.

Now the whole position is about to be changed. The Government has been considering the matter, and a bill has been drafted which will have the effect of giving State recognition to the bookmaker.

In Germany, as in France, the parimutuel system is in vogue, and the Government taxes all the transactions of that machine to the extent of 16 2-3 per cent., and realises about $7,000,000 annually therefrom.

Now it is proposed to reduce that tax to 12 per cent. Of that the State takes one-half, the other 6 per cent. going to the various Rennvereine, or racing associations, for the purposes of horse-breeding. The Government hopes that it will lose no revenue by the decrease, as the bookmaker tax will preserve, and very possibly increase, the amount the State receives. As to the bookmaker, the bill provides for the recognition of a certain number in each large town, the figure to be fixed according to the population. He must pay a tax of 6 per cent. of his takings to the Government, and the Rennvereine will receive a small percentage of the winnings from the person betting. Small wins will be free from tax, which will afterwards rise as high as 10 per cent.

SUPERSTITIOUS CRICKETERS

Why cricketers should be superstitious is hard to say, but that the majority of them are very much so is a well known fact. Probably the most common belief in the cricketer's creed of superstition is that a bat which has made a good score can, if given a fair chance, repeat the performance. Hundreds of cricketers would give very large sums to possess themselves of a bat with which some famous batsman has knocked up a big score, and high prices have been offered for the bats of the leading cracks by amateurs who believed in the superstition.

Very frequently a batsman who discovers that he is unable to score with his own bat will borrow one with which some other man has made a big score. Another popular belief is that if a batsman places his pads on before the preceding batsman is out the bowler will almost invariably bowl him before he reaches double figures, and he will often ignore his captain's orders to be ready in that he refuses to put on his pads before he sees the retiring batsman well on his way to the pavilion.

THE ART OF LIVING

Many people never learn the art of living because they never see the relative importance of duties, opportunities and interests, and never discriminate between the things on which they ought to throw the full weight of their energy and those which they ought to touch lightly in passing. It is so easy to know a little of everything that many people know nothing thoroughly. They become eclectics in religion and their spiritual energy evaporates in a vague interest in the gossip, so to speak, of half a dozen faiths; they read the text books of all the arts, and end by losing whatever capacity for pleasure in beauty they had when they became "globe trotters" in the galleries, museums and studios; they hear lectuures on philosophy and get a smattering of the dialect of thought without learning how to think; they join a hundred charities, and never give themselves; they are eager for all the reforms, but have no time to give real support to any of them. They respond to every call, and no sooner start in one direction than they are diverted into another path and never reach the end of any road. —(The Outlook).

PREMIER ASQUITH TAKES RESPONSIBILITY 'FOR HIS MAJESTY'S SPEECH TO CONFERENCE

King's Address Was Submitted to Conferees and Made Public Only Upon Their Sanction and Approval

London, July 22.—Premier Asquith to-day assumed in the House of Commons full responsibility for the speech made by the King yesterday, to the political leaders who had met at Buckingham Palace to confer on the Irish Home Rule problem. He thus set at rest various reports in circulation since the Ulster controversy has become acute and since the first announcement of the conference. The Premier said:

"The speech was sent to me in the ordinary way by His Majesty the day before it was delivered, and I take the entire responsibility for it."

Acted Constitutionally.

The King left it to the discretion of the conference to determine whether or not his speech should be published and the conference decided unanimously in favor of its publication.

Time Will Show, Says Premier.

"His Majesty throughout this matter has followed the strictest constitutional practice. He has not taken any step from the beginning until now, except in consultation with and on the advice of the Ministers."

Premier Asquith, on being questioned as to the calling of the conference, said, with emphasis, that all attending the conference did so unconditionally. He declined to discuss why it was being held in Buckingham Palace instead of the House of Commons.

When asked whether there would be an opportunity for discussion of the subject in the House, Premier Asquith retorted, "Time will show."

PARTY WHICH WINS THE WEST TO HAVE CONTROL AT OTTAWA

Tours Are Announced by Both the Premier and Sir Wilfrid --Leaders Will be Well Supported

Ottawa, July 22.—Western Canada will have a surfeit of politics this fall. It was announced yesterday that Sir Robert Borden, Hon. W. T. White, and Hon. L. P. Pelletier would make a Western tour this fall commencing on September 8. No sooner was this announcement made that the counter announcement was made today from the Liberal headquarters that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, accompanied by Hon. Geo. P. Graham, Hon. Mackenzie King and Mr. E. W. MacDonald would leave the last week in August for a political tour through to the coast.

It is thought in Ottawa political circles that the Liberals were holding back the announcement of the Laurier tour until it was known just when the Premier intended to leave.

With the West having 22 additional seats by the new redistribution bill both parties evidently figure that the battle ground of the next election will be Western Canada. Undoubtedly the party which can carry the West will be the party which will be in power, so that the supreme struggle will be in Western Canada.

DESERTED HOME A TRIBUTE TO HIS WIFE

Laporte, Ind., July 22.—When Samuel Thompson, a wealthy farmer living near Walkerton, lost his wife, fifteen years ago he vowed he would close his home just as she had left it and never open it again as a silent tribute to her memory.

Today the old home was opened for the funeral of Thompson who died in Chicago. The home will again be closed and will remain closed until the walls crumble and fall.

WILL AID COLLECTORS ROUNDING UP TAX DODGERS

Washington, July 22.—For the purpose of aiding internal revenue collectors in rounding up income tax dodgers the treasury department today issued a circular defining losses deductible from income on which return must be made and tax paid under the law. Loss, the department says, shall not be depreciated or wear and tear, but such as is absolute and complete and actually sustained. Depreciation is allowed for, but this does not relate to shrinkage in stocks or fluctuations in their market value.

In trade, also, only losses actually sustained are deductible. "Loss," the circular explains, "is the difference between selling price and cost where the selling price is less than the cost."

ALLEGED JURY TAMPERING TO BE INVESTIGATED

Watertown, N.Y., July 22.—Alleged tampering with the jury by friends of defendants in the Oneida Milling Company case, on trial before Judge George W. Ray in Federal Court here, is to be investigated by the Grand Jury. said that the names of the persons who made certain inquiries of jurors and the names of those engaging them to "sound" the jurors are known by the court. Judge Ray, it is said, intends to go to the bottom in his investigation in the matter.

Damaging evidence against Max M. Hart and Adolph E. Wupperman, both of New York, two of the four defendants in the Oneida milling case for alleged misuse of the mails, was given this morning Frank W. Fowler of Pittsburgh, a co-defendant. He told of post-dated company checks to the amount of $12,000, alleged given to Wupperman to meet heavy personal obligations when the company only had $35,000 in the bank.

CALLING OF CONFERENCE LOOKED UPON AS SIGN OF END OF ASQUITH GOVERNMENT

Many Criticisms of Premier Made by His Own Followers in Press--General Election Looked for Soon

London, July 22.—For the first time in the modern history of England the King yesterday recognized that the cry of civil war was on the lips of many of his responsible and sober-minded subjects in connection with the Irish Home Rule crisis. His speech to the leaders of the various parties called together in conference at Buckingham Palace was very grave in its tone as he told them he regarded them as the trustees for the honor and peace of all, and left them to confer in view of reaching a settlement. He told them their responsibilities were great and that time was short, and advised them to exercise patience and to be earnest and conciliatory in their deliberations.

Cause of Much Comment.

London, July 22.—The King's speech at the opening of the conference on the Irish situation at Buckingham Palace yesterday has created a sensation among political leaders which is hardly less than that caused by the convening of the conference. When the text of the speech was communicated to the members of Parliament last night the first question of all hands was whether it had been made by the advice of the Cabinet or was the King's own work. No answer has as yet been given. The Radicals insist that it was impossible for the Ministers to have sanctioned the phrase, "And to-day the cry of civil war is on the lips of the most responsible and most sober-minded people," for the words imply that the Unionists are "responsible, sober-minded people" for all the talk of civil war has come from them.

The Ministerial supporters are consequently in a state of angry irritation, which the Liberal morning papers voice in an outspoken manner. The Daily Chronicle calls the speech an amazing one, and warns the King to "beware of raising a grave issue which may dwarf all others. The Liberal party has not removed the veto power of the House of Lords in order to install the veto of the Crown."

How to Keep Face Young

The way to ward off old age is not to fear it, not to allow one's self to be oppressed by the dread of advancing years. Use only legitimate preventitives and avoid trying experiments with preparations not indorsed by physicians. An entirely safe and very effective way to keep the complexion young-looking and beautiful is to apply ordinary mercolized wax to bedtime, using it like cold cream, washing it off in the morning. This gradually absorbs the withered, faded cuticle, which is replaced by the more youthful, pink-tinted underskin. One ounce of this wax, to be had at any drug store, is enough to completely rejuvenate a worn-out complexion. Crow's-feet and other wrinkles, the first signs of advancing age, may be removed by a simple, harmless preparation made by dissolving an ounce of powdered saxolite in a half pint witch hazel. It is used as a face bath.

City Apply to Judge Huycke for an Order to Take Possession of Same at Above Price--Hydro-Electric in Full Swing by September First

The City Fathers met in special session last night, Mayor Buller presiding, there were also present Aldermen Anderson, Langford, Johnston, G. Walter Green, Duffus, Stratton, Duncan and Saunders.

New Power By-law.

Ald. Johnston, chairman of the Power Committee, submitted the following:

Gentlemen,—Your Power Committee beg leave to report and recommend as follows:

That the former by-laws expropriating the property of the Peterborough Light and Power Company and appointing an arbitrator in the matter be repealed and that a new by-law as prepared by the City Solicitor be passed to expropriate the property of that company.

This report was adopted as read.

To Take Possession.

Moved by Ald. Johnston, seconded by Ald. Langford,—That the City Solicitor be authorized to make an application to His Honor, Judge Huycke, Judge of the County Court of the County of Peterborough, for an order to enter upon, take possession of and use the property expropriated, of the Peterborough Light and Power Company, Limited by By-law No. ....of the City of Peterborough, and to pay to the Peterborough Light and Power Company, Limited, $100,000.00, the amount fixed by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario, as the price of the property of the said company, expropriated by by-law above mentioned, and the City Solicitor is further authorized to take such steps and to do all acts necessary to obtain such order, and further that the City Treasurer be authorized to issue a cheque for $100,000 upon the order of the Mayor and the Chairman of the Power Committee for that purpose.—Carried.

Hydro-Electric by Sept. First.

Ald. Johnston is father of the information that by Sept. 1st next the electric power of this city will be exclusively under control of the city authorities, with whom users will then have to deal. It had been hoped that the city would have acquired possession of the Peterborough Light and Power some time ago, but unavoidable delay has been caused in the shape of prolonged litigation. Parties desiring any information in regard to their light or power service to be supplied by the city's Hydro-Electric system on and after September first next will receive same on application at the City Clerk's office.

BATH CHIEF DEAD BY BOY'S PRANK

Some One on Freeport Street Put Poison Tablet in Pendergast's Glass

Boston, July 22.—A boy's prank caused the death of Superintendent Frank J. Pendergast of the Freeport street baths by accidental mercurial poisoning Tuesday, according to the statement last night of Dr. Edward J. Brearton of 1015 Dorchester avenue, brother-in-law of Superintendent Pendergast. It was first reported that Mr. Pendergast drank by mistake a solution of bichloride of which he had prepared to clean a cut on a bather's leg. The police have begun an investigation.

"Mr. Pendergast had a glass of ice water which he was about to drink when a young man came in with a bleeding cut on the lower part of his leg," said Dr. Brearton. The superintendent put down his glass without drinking the water and took out three bichloride tablets, putting one of them into another glass with water in it and started to treat the cut. The other two tablets were left lying on the table, the two glasses were less than a foot apart.

"While the injury was being treated a large number of men and boys crowded around. When Mr. Pendergast turned around after the wound had been dressed, he took up his glass of ice water and drank the entire contents. Alarmed at the acrid taste of the water, he glanced hurriedly at the table where he had left the two tablets. But one remained.

"He realized instantly that the other tablet had been placed in his glass of ice water, probably put there by one of the boys standing near whose curiosity to see it dissolve had got the better of his judgment. Mr. Pendergast knew, too, that he had swallowed a fatal dose, unless an emetic would work. He drank some milk and eggs quickly with mustard, but felt no relief.

MENDING HUBBY'S CLOTHES

It makes all the difference in the world to the way a man is "turned out" if his wife knows just how to mend his clothes and keep them in order.

Darning That Can't be Seen

If a man tears a jagged rent in a coat, or some other garment, with a look of despair on his face he's almost certain to declare, "Now that coat's done for!" But it is just then that the really clever little needlewoman steps in with a "Not a bit of it, John! I'll be able to mend it so that the rent is scarcely visible!" This is how it is done. First of all, a wee bit of the coat lining is unstitched, and from the small edges of the material left over at the seams a few threads are pulled out. Now comes the most delicate task of all—the darning of the rent with the threads worked in exactly the same direction as the weave of the material.

The Size of the Stitches

Size your stitches so that they are about the same length as those used in the weave of the cloth, and be careful not to draw them too tight. With the tear neatly darned, a damp cloth should be placed over the repair, and then it is pressed with a very hot iron. Be quite sure that the cloth is wet, and don't on any account go on with the pressing after it has become dry, or else you'll make the coat shiny. You'll be delighted and surprised with the result. Truly, it's very difficult to find the rent.

Patches That Last

When repairing men's underclothes, circular patches are by far the most durable. As they are round, they don't strain any of the rest of the garment unduly. Commence by cutting out a round piece of good material; it should be large enough to quite cover any threadbare portions. Then lay your patch in position. Start running stitches in a very tiny circle in the middle of the patch, and continue rounds of these stitches until you have come to the edge of the patch. Such a renovation will last for years.

MOVING PICTURES FOR AMATEUR USE

Camera and all Can be Made at Home by Following These Directions Carefully

Why not take a few moving pictures of the family with your own machine? The process is extremely simple and the apparatus is not necessarily complicated. The camera box, in the first place, must be deep enough to hold the film in the bottom in a succession of layers.

The lens to be used must be capable of taking 16 pictures a second. A lens from an ordinary hand camera having a focal length of 3 inches is sufficient, provided it has also the speed, and most of them have. The width of the camera from front to back is determined by the focal length of the lens.

The camera in the sketch was prepared by an expert. The box is 14 inches high and 3 inches wide, with the depth depending on the focal length of the lens. The inside of the box must be painted dull black and black paper pasted firmly around all joints so that it will be light proof.

The lens is set in the box about 4 inches from the top. The back of the box should be hinged so that it can be opened and at the places where the back fits onto the box strips of black velvet should be pasted so that the back will fit absolutely tight

AVIATIONATIS

Are we to have a new disease? Half a dozen well known aviators declare that five years' regular flying will shatter any man's nervous system.

The medical faculty are almost unanimous in their declaration that for a person suffering from heart disease to go flying is to court death. Despite the assertion of an experienced lady aviator that she has never had any "sensation" when up in the air, it is common knowledge that flying brings on a dangerous dizziness, and that frequently a flying-man has to exercise most strenuous will power to keep awake while flying. When surrounded by clouds, an aviator frequently has not the faintest knowledge of his position—a fact that is probably accountable for a number of "inexplicable" falls of machines. Most flying-men find eventually that they need to reserve all their nervous force to use when up in the air—they dare not excite themselves or perform any too great exertion otherwise. The toll of the air has been great, but it is a mistake to reckon only those persons who have met their death while actually flying. The number will be greatly [illegible] if you include those who have [illegible] more or less physical wrecks through their devotion to aerial science.—[illegible]

Novel Fire-escape

A novel and apparently effective fire-escape has been patented. It is of the ladder type, but, instead of being rope, as are most ladder escapes, is of iron or steel chains, with rungs of the same metal, and is, of course, non-inflammable. Short horizontal arms with slightly upturned ends to keep the ladders from slipping off accidentally support the escape outside the window. By means of rings at intervals of its length the ladder is attached and it takes only an instant to slip the rings off the arms [illegible] the ladder drop its full length. This is an advantage over most rope fire-escapes, as they usually have to be hunted up and placed in position, and sometimes, in the case of ropes, are not entirely to be trusted.

FLAMES CANNOT HURT IT.

ON THE MEDICINE SHELF

Some Simple Remedies That Should be in Every Household

There are a few inexpensive medicines which may be considered almost a necessity in every household, especially in the country. One of these is boracic (boric) acid, which should be purchased in the form of a fine, white powder and used for dusting wounds or for allaying excessive perspiration. In saturated solution, this acid is among the most generally useful antiseptics known to physicians. In this form it is used as a mouth wash, a lotion for inflamed eyelids, a wash in catarrhal conditions of the middle ear and for various other purposes.

Peroxide of hydrogen is another antiseptic which should be always at hand. Diluted with from one to four parts of water it is useful in cleansing cuts, wounds and sores and is also an excellent mouth wash and gargle for sore throats. Clear or diluted it is soothing to mosquito bites, bee stings, and the like, as well as being antiseptic. In full strength, sprayed into the nostril or applied on absorbent cotton, it is one of the best remedies for controlling nosebleed.

Epsom salts are another cheap and valuable medicine. These are used principally as a laxative but are also efficient as a local application for erysipelas, ivy poisoning, etc., when used in a solution of ordinary strength. When there is even a suspicion of inflammation and a laxative is desired, castor oil is the safest and surest, and modern pharmacy has robbed it of much of its old-time nauseating taste.

AWNING FOR WINDOWS

Simply Made From Roller Blind—Easily Put out of Way

Though the cost of living has gone up in most things and all of the new-fangled household apparatus costs more than the old, still there is an exception in the matter of awnings for the windows. A person who wants an awning of the very newest type without paying a lot of money for it can get one easily by utilising a window shade. The shade should be a little wider than the window where the awning is to be used. Make a wooden case for the shade and roller, with a slit in the bottom so that the shade can pass through. The wooden case is to protect it from the weather. Put a pair of screw eyes in the window frame about the height of the top of the bottom sash. Secure a piece of heavy wire or a small iron rod and

WOMEN OFFICIALS

All the Public Positions in Froissy Are Held by Women

In the little French village of Froissy, in the department of l'Oise, on the borders of l'isle de France and Picardy, which has a population of between 500 and 600, all public positions are held by women.

The station-master is Mme. Taillefer. Her husband is a guard. It does not trouble him that he has to take occasional official instructions from his wife. He knows that if she were a guard and he the station-master the home would suffer.

Froissy gets its daily mail delivered by a woman postman, while it is the business of another employe des postes to see the outward mail aboard the train.

In Froissy there is no such person as a male barber. All the men's heads are placed at the mercy of Mlle. Jeanne Marchandin, who, with skilful hands, shaves or cuts the hair of all her friends.

The most striking and interesting figure in the community, however, is Mme. Druhon Marchandin. Hers is the task of heralding all important public events with drum music—weddings, for instance. She has an erect martial figure, strongly marked and humorous features.

There is also in this little town a woman road mender, and, lastly, a young woman telegraphist, who keeps Froissy in touch with the outside world.

OWNS A LARGE FARM

An English Woman Was Attracted by Farming in Alberta

Mrs. Hamer Jackson is one of the most remarkable women farmers in the Dominion of Canada. She handles a square mile of land in the Red Deer district of Alberta, which is devoted to mixed farming. Mrs. Jackson was formerly a journalist in England, and became interested in Canada through the emigration authorities. Shortly after making her first trip to Canada she took over 30 people and placed them on her land in Alberta. She had no previous knowledge of farming methods, but as an evidence of what a woman of intelligence and resolution can accomplish Mrs. Jackson, through her individual efforts, placed these people on her farm. She is her own managing director, and has nothing but thoroughbred stock on her farm. She housed her people in tents in the first instance, but soon had all the necessary buildings erected.

A hot water bottle that has begun to leak can still be used to furnish heat, although not by water. Fill the rubber "bottle" with hot sand, which retains the heat for a long time.

SOME KITCHEN DON'TS

Don't throw away the water in which unsalted rice has been boiled. It makes the best starch for lingerie waists.

Don't throw away the paraffin from jelly and marmalades. Wash each piece, and save it. Boil the accumulation, and there will be clean paraffin for next jelly-time.

Don't throw away the coarse, green leaves of celery. Dry them in the oven for flavoring soups and sauces.

Don't throw away lemon and orange peels. Dry and powder for flavoring, or cut into shreds and boil in a white syrup for a sweetmeat.

Don't throw away the water in which potatoes, peas, beans, and so forth, have been boiled. This water contains the valuable vegetable salts, and added to the soup-kettle is a healthful economy.

Don't throw away broken or dry pieces of bread. The larger pieces can be made into toast for poached eggs, or toast points for creamed meats and fish. Smaller pieces may be buttered, cut into cubes, and browned in the oven as croutons to serve with soups. They may be made into a bread or chocolate pudding, or used for excellent poultry stuffing. If too dry for this, roll them, and set away in a glass jar for cutlets and croquettes.

Don't throw away the few spoonfuls of various vegetables. There are few vegetables that do not mix well. They may be blended into an appetizing salad.

Don't throw away cold, baked potatoes. Peel and slice them, and make into a German potato salad.

NATURAL BASIN NEAR CALGARY

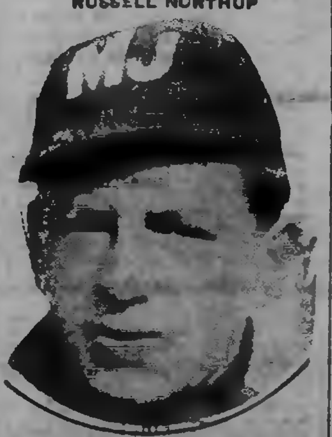
Immense Water Supply is Only Thirty five Miles Away

That the citizens of Calgary have a natural basin with an estimated storage capacity of 503,000,000 gallons of water, enough to supply the city for an entire winter, only 35 miles up the Elbow river, was an interesting report made by Mr. A. W. Ellison Fawkes.

For some months Mr. Fawkes had a crew of surveyors and assistant engineers working out the data on a pipe line scheme and also a proposed filtration and pumping scheme as an alternative.

On a trip up the Elbow Mr. Fawkes inspected three feasible sites for the location of an impounding dam. The nearest of these for a pipe line is about 35 miles distant, and here the Elbow widens into a big basin with the immense storage capacity mentioned. It would be necessary to have a dam at this point 400 feet long. Five miles farther up the river and again three miles above this point there are other suitable sites. But, of course, the closer site, 35 miles up, has the advantage, when the cost of constructing a pipe line is considered. The upper sites would on the other hand be narrower and would not require as long a dam.

RUSSELL NORTHUP



BOB STEELE

Pitching a no-hit-no-run game is the ambition of every pitcher in baseball. Few have achieved the honor and that two youngsters on one team should break into the exclusive class within four days is but one of the remarkable things that make baseball.

Bob Steele and Russell Northup of the Moose Jaw Robinhoods, Western Canada League, are the youngsters who thus achieved fame. Northup performed the feat against Medicine Hat, holding the Hatters to a hitless, runless game for nine full innings and Steele duplicated the performance at Calgary. Northup hails from Des Moines, Iowa, but Steele is a Canadian his home being in Vancouver.

ROYAL LOVE AFFAIRS

Dan Cupid Sometimes Supersedes Tradition

The romantic love story of the Archduke Francis Ferdinand of Austria and his wife, the Duchess of Hohenberg, provides a striking illustration of what a woman of inferior rank may have to suffer for marrying a royal personage. The archduke who is heir to the Austrian throne, declined to marry any of the royal ladies offered for his choice, for he had fallen in love with a maid of honor, the beautiful woman who is now his wife.

Although the emperor at last gave his sanction to the marriage, imperial honors were denied the bride, and it was only after some years that she and her husband wore down the prejudice which existed against her, and she was created a duchess by the emperor—a title which conferred upon her privileges more in harmony with her dignity as the lawful wife of the future sovereign. By the terms of the marriage settlements, however, the archduke's wife cannot become empress, nor even her children succeed to the imperial throne; although it is pointed out that royal marriage settlements have, before now, been set aside.

Our Point of View

Our real worth is what our life is worth in service to others.

—o—

A Montreal paper says there are two Evanturel's, but that is not so It would be absolutely impossible for the country to stand more than one.

—o—

When you see a friend wearing a worried look don't jump to the conclusion that a death has occurred in his family. The chances are he has just received his city tax bill.

—o—

The bomb that killed four anarchists in New York while they were preparing to destroy other people is about the only bomb that ever served a useful purpose.

—o—

Mary Garden says that her success on the stage is due to the Scotch that is in her, and now people are wondering if she takes it straight or in the form of a high ball.

—o—

One of the magazines publishes a story on "The Power of Touch," but as this g.i.j. has felt the power on several occasions we do not think the story would interest us.

—o—

A Toronto man says that what this country needs is a fish that tastes like porterhouse steak. But that would be no improvement on the porterhouse steak, which already tastes like rubber.

—o—

The Globe, in an article on dairying says: "As we possess our own cows we serve the creamiest milk, home-made butter, strictly fresh eggs and spring water." It strikes this g.i.j. that such extremely versatile cows ought to be able also to produce strawberry shortcake, ginger beer and hot doughnuts.

Street Noises and Nerves

As our cities go, Peterborough is a reasonably quiet place to do business in. There are no flat wheeled cars on our well managed street railway, the street piano has not yet appeared, and with the ever increasing noiseless street pavement, ordinary vehicular traffic does not become the nuisance it is elsewhere.

But we have our street noise nuisances just the same, and some of them avoidable. For instance, there is altogether too much automobile "honking" everywhere — much more than is really necessary. At no time is the average auto signal a harmonious sound; the way a good many Peterborough autoists work it overtime, it is a positive nuisance.

In Paris they have been making a serious study of the unnecessary street noise problem. M. Emile Gautier, a distinguished scientist, declares that "every pulsation and noise causes nervous shocks comparable to blows from a hammer, and are felt throughout the entire cerebral mass. These shocks are always liable to cause serious trouble. Experts who have studied the noises of Paris and their effect on the nerves and brain matter are convinced that the modern malady of neurasthenia is directly attributable to the riot of sounds by which we are daily assailed. No other explanation is needed for the growing number of nerve disorders."

If one-half that this man says is true we cannot put the baun on unnecessary street noise any too soon.

Pleurisy Pains Vanish! Chest Colds Cured!

NERVILINE HAS NEVER FAILED TO CURE.

Don't suffer!
Nerviline is your relief.

Nerviline just rubbed on, lots of it, will ease that drawn, tight feeling over your ribs, will destroy the pain, will have you smiling and happy, in no time.

"I caught cold last week while motoring," writes P. T. Mallery, from Linden. "My chest was full of congestion, my throat was mighty sore, and I had the fiercest stitch in my side you could imagine. As a boy I was accustomed to have my mother use Nerviline for all our minor ailments, and remembering what confidence she had in Nerviline, I sent out for a bottle at once. Between noon and eight o'clock I had whole bottle rubbed on, and then got into a perspiration under the blankets. This drove the Nerviline in good and deep and I woke up next morning fresh as a dollar and absolutely cured. Nerviline is now always part of my travelling kit, and I will never be without it."

The large 50c family size bottle is the most economical or you can easily get the 25c. trial size from any dealer.

Red Indian Tango

The Red Indian has caught the tango fever. The whole Shoshone nation of Nevada Indians has learned the dance, and the old tribal gyrations are now entirely discarded. The Indians of the White Pine country have started the construction of a large hall to be devoted exclusively to the practice of the tango. Three Indian maidens, who have mastered its intricacies, are besieged with pupils eager to pay $2.50 for a lesson.

Neither Ladies Nor Helpers

Mrs. Cloudesley Brereton is leading an educational campaign to spread what she calls the old-fashioned ideas of the well bred English gentlewoman concerning servants.

That the women leaders of England from feudal times on, never have believed they lost caste by understanding kitchen science is her contention. She believes most servant troubles are due to the mistresses' ignorance. She advocates domestic service as a career for educated women.

If the educated woman was to be the domestic handmaiden of the future, Mrs. Brereton said, it must be as a friend and colleague and not as serf and dependent. The new type of servant, she said, certainly would not be that known generally as the "lady help," who was seldom a lady and very often not a help.

Hero Dogs

One of the most interesting classes in English dog shows is the "heroes" class. Dogs who have saved life from fire or drowning make up the chief proportion of heroes among dogs; and one year's entries also included a dog which had protected a policeman from the attack of a sailor's knife, one that had rescued a child from being run over by a horse and wagon, and another who had helped a clergyman to find his "lost" little daughter.

Nothing New

These Futurist women who try to show their Futurism by wearing green and blue and pink hair are really a few centuries behind the times. Colored hair is nothing but a back number. Ancient Rome saw the first of the craze, and the Roman matrons kept the wigmakers busy supplying them with hair of all hues for all occasions. Faustina, wife of Marcus Aurelius, had several hundred colored wigs in her wardrobe.

DAIRY FEEDING

There can be no hard and fast rules in feeding. Each dairyman must study his herd and the feed at his command.

There are certain principles, though, that can be applied to dairymen everywhere.

All cows should be given as much feed as they will consume without gaining in weight. If they gain in weight the feed given is not properly balanced. Too much feed rich in carbohydrates is being fed. These foods are corn, corn silage, oats, carrots, sugar beets, timothy hay, etc., and they produce fat and energy.

Foods rich in protein are alfalfa hay, clover hay, bran, oil meal, cottonseed meal, gluten meal, etc. These foods produce muscle tissue and milk.

Balance your ration.

Feed all the roughage, such as alfalfa, clover hay, corn silage, ect., that the cows will eat up clean.

About one pound of grain for every three pounds of milk produced should be given daily.

Succulent feed, such as corn silage and roots, should be fed, as it is both profitable and it makes the ration more palatable.

Whenever the dry season sets in, supplement the pasture by feeding silage. This feeding of silage in the dry season helps greatly to keep up the milk production.

Study your cows and the feed that you have. Prepare a balance ration, have good pasture, and keep the cows in good condition.—Rural Farmer.

EARTH'S POLES ARE IN MOTION

These Much Sought Points Reach Charted Position About Once in Fourteen Years

If a man should come into possession of a piece of polar property, and it should be stipulated in the deed that the exact point of the pole was to serve as a corner-stone, he would have to keep moving his fences about to avoid possible prosecution for trespass. If the North Pole were to be marked with a monument to some of the brave heroes who gave their lives in the attempt to discover it, it would have to be mounted on runners to keep it on the move. A permanent stone covering the race track of the pole would have to be as large around as a circus ring.

For, curious as it may seem, the poles of the earth are wobbling about apparently at random, but confining their travels within a circle of sixty feet in diameter. It means simply this: If the true North Pole area were a little black ball on the smooth, glassy surface of the Arctic Ocean, it would be perpetually rolling around in an aimless sort of fashion, within a circle of thirty feet radius.

Like some living thing, this little point, which has for more than a century been attracting all sorts of men from the various corners of the earth, is crawling about all the while. Its speed is worse than snail-like. It has never been observed to travel farther than four feet in a week. Sometimes it requires more than a month to cover a yard. In six months it has described an irregular semi-circle of about sixty feet diameter. No orbit or path of oscillation has yet been determined by observers.

The authentic North Pole is not, according to the astronomers, the pole which men point out on the charts. In 1909, the wandering pole passed within a foot of the charted North Pole, and it wanders home just about once in every fourteen years. Since then it has contented itself with moving about in a sort of irregular spiral curve, sweeping back again, then out again, and so on, travelling in curves all the while.

FOLKLORE OF LONDON

Superstition of a Girl Who Has Been Jilted

Italy and the East-end of London may especially be considered to be homes of the folklore of the world, according to Mr. Edward Lovett, a member of the Folklore Society, who gave a lecture at the Horniman Museum. When a young girl in the East-end is jilted by her lover she invariably proceeds to the nearest chemist's and purchases some orris root, which she takes home without speaking to anyone and burns it. The one who has jilted her is then sure to repent of his unfaithfulness and return to her. Amongst the Jewish community charms are largely used. One of the most important is that which is hung around the neck of young boys when born. It generally bears the words, "May this boy grow up in Thy law and guard him from the evil eye." The broken horn charm is considered the most lucky one in nearly all countries. The balls made of glass which we see here in some sweetshops are hung up in grain fields in Italy to prevent the witches from damaging the crop; in the East-end they are considered to bring good luck to the owner of the shop. In the East-end the coral necklace is put round the necks of children with weak eyes. It is regarded as better than any doctor's prescription. The coral being the color of blood, brings pure blood to the eyes, and so strengthens them. Throughout London placing a cork in the bed is regarded by hundreds as a sure preventive against cramp.

Queen's Guests Disturbed

Queen Alexandra quite upset her guests at a house party in Norfolk by appearing at the breakfast table.

This would not have been so serious had the dowager been in the habit of doing so, but it was the first time she had thus come down from her bed chamber in the morning for twenty-five years. The women at the house party had not brought any breakfast gowns.

The Queen was much amused at the perturbation of her guests, but as she herself appeared in only a dainty white satin and lace blouse and navy blue, black braided skirt, their plight was not so terrible.

Historic Conductor

Some repairs have recently been made to the tower on St. Paul's Cathedral, in London, and during the course of the work the discovery was made that a part of one of the original iron bar conductors was erected about 140 years ago, under the supervision of Benjamin Franklin. This bar, which was inside one of the towers and so not exposed to the weather, was still in a good state of preservation.

RANCH MANAGER—ARTHUR McKINNON
Farmer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

WILLIAM HENRY TOWNSEND
General Contractor, Rollo Bay, P. E.I.

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $90,000. This Company re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs — all young foxes— good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leaving $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:— "We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $90,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play, for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this Company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

Largest Hats in the World

What would you think of a hat that was so large it would safely shelter your father, mother, sisters and yourself under it should a sudden rainstorm come up? The men of Korea like these enormous hats and would not feel properly dressed without them. These hats look like great flower pots set on a round table six feet across. The crowns are nine feet in height, and three inches wide, much like a chimney on a one-story house. How do you suppose these large, round head coverings are kept on? Under the brim is a small, close-fitting cap, held on by a padded string which ties under the ears. The material of these hats is bamboo, so finely split that it is like thread; and, lastly, they are varnished to keep out the sun, and rain, and the wind.

The Earliest Price Was From $30 to $60 a Pound

The earliest record of tea being mentioned by an Englishman was probably that contained in a letter from Mr. Wickham, an agent of the East India Company, writing from Firando, in Japan, on June 27, 1615, to another officer of the company, resident at Macao, in the south of China, asking him for "a pot of the best sort of chaw." It was not until the middle of that century that the English began to use tea; they received their supplies from Java until 1686, when they were driven out by the Dutch, says the "Bulletin" of the Imperial Institute. At first the price in England ranged from $30 to $60 per pound. In the Mercurius Politicus of September, 1658, occurs an advertisement of the "China Drink called by the Chineans Tcha, by other nations Tay, alias Tee," being sold in London. Thomas Garway, the first English tea-dealer, in 1659 or 1660, offered it at prices varying from $3 to $12.50 per pound. Not until 1677 is there a record of the East India Company having taken any steps for its importation.

Newspapers in Britain

There are forty daily publications in London, 183 dailies in the rest of the kingdom, while British weekly and monthly publications total 2,647 and 1,483 respectively. England, excluding London, has 138 daily papers and 1,365 weeklies, Wales has eight dailies and 121 weeklies, while Ireland stands well in the journalistic world with nineteen dailies and 200 weeklies. In London there are 696 weekly publications.

[illegible] Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. CRICKET IN ENGLAND

Some Sarcastic Comment by a Lover of Amateur Sport

When I come across a man who decries the glorious game of cricket, writes George Robey in "Answers," the warlike spirit of my gladitorial forefathers inspires me, and I want to slay him.

I don't say that first class cricket is an ideal game from the spectator's point of view; but, after all, it was fashioned for the players, not for idle onlookers, and I don't think I have met a practical player who has anything to say against the present condition of the game.

But, of course, if it is necessary that cricket be brought up or down to the business level of Association football; that the gentlemen and sportsmen who govern the game are to throw aside the old traditions and become keen seekers of dividends; and that "gates" are to be secured at any price, then the game must be forced upon the public.

First of all, the game must be discouraged at our schools and on our open spaces, because, once cricket is learned by the younger generation and "the seed is sown," I know of nothing which will turn a player into a spectator, and so secure gates.

But, before doing this, we must, at least, provide sport worthy of good patronage. Three-day matches are long-drawn-out affairs, and only made necessary by the fact that skill is opposed to skill. But if big "gates" are necessary, science is not wanted; the enjoyment of those who actually play is a some consideration.

Excitement must dominate cricket completely; and so it will be necessary to curtail the time spent on a match, and crowd into, say, two hours, an international game, or a County Championship fixture.

We must condense the game by giving each man on the side an innings of five minutes, both sides fielding.

The eleven scoring the greater number of runs in the allotted period, would, of course, be declared the winners. At all matches played in fine weather a military band should be in attendance. I fancy I can see C. B. Fry and Jack Hobbs endeavoring to take a ball off the middle stump and place it to leg when a selection of "rag-time" is given.

I have always understood that "money talks;" so if we desire absolute success in cricket from the spectacular point of view we must talk and think in thousands, as they do in the more refined world of football.

But—and a very big "but"—why do we want to make the game more attractive to the spectator? Cricket is a game, and not a business; and as a glorious branch of sport I know of nothing so full of pleasure.

WOMEN AS MILITARY SPIES

One Lady in the Secret Service Who Followed the Dictates of Her Heart

Military spies of the fair sex are comparatively common. Some years ago a young English lady attached to the secret service was told off to secure, if possible, certain army secrets of France. With the hope of being successful, she attracted the attention of a member of the French headquarters service, who promptly fell in love with her. Her conscience, however, reproached her with the traitorous part she was playing, and finally she found herself returning the affection of her victim. As a consequence she resigned her post and was led to the altar by the young officer.

At the time the Rock of Gibraltar was being turned into a strong fortress a young German girl took up her

MANY GOWNS SOLD

Royal Ladies Dispose of Dresses Which They Need no Longer

There is a custom existing among most royal ladies, as well as among others who spend large sums on dresses, of disposing of the dresses and gowns that are put out of their wardrobes to certain dress agencies, and the money so realized is used to defray part of their dress bills. Two large dress agencies in Paris have the handling of most of the cast-off dresses of European royalties. These transactions are conducted by the chief dressers of the various royal ladies, and the former are allowed to take a certain commission on the sales.

Neither Queen Mary nor the German Empress, however, ever sell their cast-off dresses. Queen Mary's cast-off gowns are given away to the poorer dependents of royalty, or are distributed through certain charitable agencies to poor gentlefolk. The German Empress disposes of her cast-off dresses in much the same way, except that they are practically all given to people in some way or other connected with the Court.

The history of many royal dresses would, no doubt, make curious reading if they could be gathered together. The manager of a celebrated firm of modistes once said that an English lady's-maid came to his establishment on her mistress's business in a gown that he had made for the Czarina of Russia, which he recognized at once, in spite of certain alterations that had been made in it. The modiste could not refrain from seeking to ascertain where the maid had obtained the gown, and learned, after much questioning, that the maid had bought it for $2.50 from an English actress's maid, whose mistress had given it to her.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. Coral and Kindness

Queen Helena of Italy has set a new fashion in Rome. For the last few years the coral fishermen of Torre del Greco, near Naples, have had bad times. No one wanted the red stone of the seas. They appealed to the Queen, and the consequence was that at a Court ball at the Quirinal, instead of the magnificent pearl necklace which she usually wears, Queen Helena wore round her neck six rows of coral, and her beautiful hair was crowned with a diadem of diamonds and coral. Coral at once became the fashion. Old coral ornaments that have slumbered for years in their cases are being furbished up, and the jewellers are being besieged with orders for the blood-red stones. Queen Helena's kindness has succeeded, and the fishermen of Torre del Greco are happy again.

Many Cooks in Famous Inn Stood Over Forgotten Well

The Saracen's Head is one of the oldest and best-known hotels in Dudley and district. In the smoke-room are fine specimens of well-preserved oak beams. Somewhat extensive repairs were being made to the house recently and the workmen discovered more than one old well covered over and with nothing to show their existence. One of these wells was in the kitchen where for the best part of a century the cooks have stood over it preparing food for Masonic and other banquets, to say nothing of the daily meals. A piece of sheet-iron beneath the flag-stone was all the covering. When "plumbed" it was found to be 70 feet deep, and there was a considerable quantity of water in the well [illegible] Saracen's Head in the long ago [illegible] farm-house.

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

How People Feel When They Have Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a [illegible] or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a basket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, [illegible] a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always effects a cure. WEARING MOURNING

The Custom of Wearing Black For the Dead is Dying Out

The request of an Englishman of title in his will that no mourning should be worn for him is an instance of the disrepute into which the once national custom of wearing black for dead relatives is falling amongst the smart set.

The managing director of one of the largest mourning warehouses in the West End said it was becoming no rare thing for ladies to go to funerals in half-mourning, such as greys, heliotropes, and even for men to go attired in dark Oxford greys. Few people wear crepe or widow's weeds, and even where black is worn a tendency is to go into colors again at the earliest opportunity.

So great is the falling off in the allegiance to black that the mourning wear department of the big drygoods stores, formerly a very important section of the business, is now the least important. Many firms do not even trouble to devote a special department to it. A famous countess who lost her husband and son at different times on each occasion declined to wear mourning, though she loved them both dearly. At the funeral of her son, who was a great sportsman, she, and the other members of the family, appeared in shooting costume.

SPLENDID SPORT IN FLYING BOATS

All the Thrills of the Automobile, Aeroplane and the Motorboat But Not Nearly So Much Danger

Year by year, almost day by day, flying is becoming to the regarded more as a sport than what was once called "the art." Although flying is yet in its infancy, it is not too much to predict that the flying machine will become a strong competitor of the automobile and likewise, if not more so, the flying boat, to any other kind of sail pleasure craft. The landings from the aeroplane have not always been successful, but to alight with a flying boat after a flight is as easy as to guide a motor car to a standstill.

In the first recorded race of these craft, held on Long Island, the sight of three machines jockeying for position was inspiring, while the close finish of the return trip from the outer buoy would stir the blood of any sportsman.

Water flying is safe mainly because there is always a good place to alight. It is not necessary to guide the machine along a narrow course for starting or to pick one's ground in landing. The surface is smooth and level, and one may head in any direction with safety. Winds over the water are invariably much steadier than over land, and if, through carelessness or inexperience, the operator does make a bad landing, or plunges the boat at too steep an angle into the water, or strikes a wing too hard, the accident cannot be grave. The machine is not seriously damaged and the operator is none the worse, except for his "ducking."

The first development in water flying, the hydro-aeroplane, has these advantages, but the later flying boat with its large surplus of buoyancy has all the advantages of a motor boat and a flying machine combined. It is as seaworthy as any motor boat of its size, and flies as well as any aeroplane of equal proportions.

Now that we have a safe system of flying, the development of aviation is sure and unlimited. For racing nothing can compare with the flying boat. There is the same chance to struggle for position as in yacht racing, and every opportunity for the airman to exhibit his skill in rounding the buoys and making his starts and landings. No prettier or more impressive sight can be seen than a fleet of flying boats rising from the water at the start of a race, or coming down the course "neck and neck" at the finish.

On the water, the flying boat is handled like an ordinary motor boat, although the controls resemble those of an automobile. The rudder is operated by a steering wheel, which also operates the device for elevating.

SECRET OF LONG LIFE

From Japan comes the secret of long life. It is in the form of twelve commandments, as follows:

1. Arise and retire early.
2. Sleep six to seven hours daily in a room perfectly dark with open windows.
3. Spend as much time as possible in the open air.
4. Eat meat only once a day.
5. Drink moderately tea and coffee, and do not smoke or drink.
6. Take a warm bath every morning.
7. Give up silk garments for woollen ones.
8. Rest one day a week and in that day do not even read or write.
9. Avoid warm places, especially those heated artificially.
10. Re-establish your exhausted organs with identical animal's organs.
11. Avoid getting excited and do not fatigue your intellect.

And the twelfth commandment is the most interesting one:

12. If you are a bachelor get married without delay; if you are a widower, contract a second marriage immediately.

NEW ENGLISH CHAMPION

Charlie Mitchell Says He Can be Found

Charlie Mitchell, the veteran English heavyweight who has not lost interest in the game, says:

"The man who says the fighting instinct is dead in Great Britain is a fool. I wish all the problems of life were as easy to explain. The British so-called champions have of late years been boosted into prominence, they have not fought their way to the front. As soon as they did one or two decent things in public they were hailed as world whippers when, as a matter of fact, they were a little better than novices, and had no right in the limelight at all.

"As soon as they jumped into a man of any class they were dropped out and made us, as a nation, something of a laughing stock for the world.

"It needed only a French middleweight to come over and knock out our best heavyweight to make us fully realise where we stood in the game of fighting. How would we feel if a German repeated the French boy's [illegible]"

A BRONCHIAL COUGH, PERHAPS WEAK THROAT USE "CATARRHOZONE"--DEAD SURE CURE

Wonderful Success Reported in Thousands of Bad Cases.

How many thousands are there who would gladly any sum to be cured of bronchitis or catarrh. Many could be cured if they would just use common sense in selecting their remedy.

Bronchitis of course is an inflammation of the bronchial tubes, which were made for the passage of air alone, and neither the moisture of an atomiser nor the liquid of a cough syrup can get where the trouble really is. The diseased parts can only be reached by a remedy that can force its way through all the breathing organs. Doctors who have used "Catarrhozone" say it is the only rational cure for bronchitis. It cures by inhalation.

You breathe in its healing balsams inhale its soothing, antiseptic vapor and relief is immediate.

Simple to use, delightful and pleasant —nothing compares with Catarrhozone which is the cure of the day for all bronchial and throat troubles.

Mr. H. B. McLaughlan, the well-known representative of Parks and Blackwell, Toronto, says: "I have used Catarrhozone for years and can honestly say it is the only remedy that relieves me from painful attack of Bronchial Catarrh. The inhaler for Catarrhozone is always in my pocket and I simply couldn't get along without it. I firmly believe Catarrhozone is a wonderful remedy."

Large size sufficient for two months' use, guaranteed, $1.00; small size 50c.; sample or trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Drunk Joy Rider Fined.

The farmer living east of Lindsay, who gave the residents of King St., in that town an exhibition of how to drive an automobile when slightly intoxicated came up before Magistrate Jackson this morning, and was fined $50 and costs, amounting in all to $53.45.

Steamboats Inspected.

Yesterday Mr. Thos. P. Thompson, of Kingston, inspected the Steamer Manita and all the other local steamers. The Manita passed a most satisfactory inspection, everything being in first class condition. Mr. Thompson left for Lakefield to inspect the Stoney Lake boats.

Army Worm Getting Near Here.

A small outbreak of the army worm has been discovered on the farm of Mr. John Robertson of the Scotch Line, South Verulam, Victoria County. So far the pest has been found only on two-acre piece of corn. A part of this has been pretty well stripped and the worms are gradually working across the field.

May Erect New Building.

It is understood that Mr. John Mervin, the Hunter street butcher, and Thos. Brightman, whose hide establishment is located on Aylmer Street are considering extensive enlargements to their respective places of business. They are, we hear, considering the erection of a single building at the corner designated. This proposed enlargement is due to rapidly increasing exigencies of business.

A Popular Resort.

Peterborough is growing in popularity as a summer resort. It is situated in the right spot for sport for those who enjoy the sport of fishing, being midway between Rice and Stoney Lakes, with daily boat service eachway. The fishing is good in either directions as well as in the river that flows through the city.

Hard Times Ahead.

The Charity Board would seem to have a strenuous winter ahead unless the labor situation becomes more hopeful, according to remarks of Mr. Finch Miller, the relief officer. Yesterday Mr. Miller said that he had noticed over twenty able bodied men sitting in Central Park, such evidently out of work. He had also noticed numerous men standing round the street corners.

When the Horse Ran.

A few days ago a local livery man hired a horse and buggy to a young man. The horse and buggy were returned. The horse was bathed in sweat and the buggy was badly damaged. The young man paid $18 for repairs. When asked "How did that horse run away?" he replied: "Well, you see I had a young lady out for a drive in North Monaghan, the horse took fright at a flying newspaper. I had one arm round the girl's waist. She became afraid, and as I have only two arms, I threw the lines away and used both arms on the kid!"

A Nervy Lindsay Burglary.

Lindsay Warder: To enter the Lindsay station of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, tear down a portion of the doorway and wall leading into the ticket office, and carry out the big iron safe, pry it across the station platform, load it on a stolen lorry, cart it off to almost the corporation limits, dump lorry and safe into the ditch, blow open the safe and carry off the contents, was the daring outrage and bold piece of burglary successfully undertaken by a gang of robbers last night. It is stated that the burglars got between $170 and $200 in cash. The manner of the escape of the offenders is but a matter of conjecture, although it would appear that they had an automobile waiting.

Yesterday's Cheese Board.

At yesterday's session of the Cheese Board, our factory was permitted to sell its product off the Board. Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., opened at 12 cents. Mr. W. S. Cook raised it to 12¼c, Mr. Flavelle 12 3-16c, Mr. John Riddell 12¼c. Mr. Cook boosted the price to 12 11-16c and selected Villiers, Westwood, Ormonde, Daisy D. and Keene. Mr. Morton offered 12½c for the balance, but Mr. Cook put forth his former price, and selected Norwood, Killarney, Warminster, Warsaw and Oakdale. Mr. Flavelle secured Myrtle, East Emily, Shearer, Fleetwood and Indian River at 12 11-16c while Mr. Morton took Selwyn, Young's Point and Lang at 13¼c.

The local gas company is now making from 125,000 to 130,000 feet a day. The demand for "gas for cooking" is constantly on the increase.

Rumor stated that the Lindsay plant of the Canadian Cereal Company may open its doors in the near future under a new management.

Mrs. Simpson, proprietress of a hotel in local option Kinmount has been found guilty of selling cider that contained 8 per cent. of alcohol. Sentence was deferred.

Mr. Herbert Cox has been elected to the presidency of the Canada Life Insurance Co. to succeed his deceased brother, Mr. E. W. Cox, who died recently in England.

Mr. J. A. Culverwell, of Port Hope, is advocating a by-law for that town to prohibit whistling by railroad locomotives in the municipality. We have such a by-law in this city—but !

A near catastrophy occurred at the Wellington Street bascule bridge at Lindsay yesterday when a young man on a motorcycle did not see the bridge rising as he approached it. His wheel was caught between the rising bridge and the concrete roadway.

Howard B. Shelby, alias J. A. Mears alias Jas. Phelps was arrested at Lindsay on July 18th for pocket picking. Two acquaintances put up $150 bail and Shelby was let go. He did not however, appear for trial on Tuesday when called. The bail was forfeited.

USEFUL SEWING HINTS

A Contrivance to Keep Your Materials off the Floor

To turn a hem in heavy goods or material that does not crease well, such as serge, turn the correct length and trim the hem the desired width. Instead of turning the second time, bind the edge with a bias fold of cambric or lawn the same shade and stitch through the binding. The seam will be flat and make a much neater finish than if turned in the old way.

When sewing days come put two screwhooks or eyes under the top of your machine, near the ends, and two more the same distance apart on the chair rail in your sewing room. Pin an old sheet to these, one side to the machine and the other to the wall. This forms a fine, large pocket, which will keep your materials from catching round the wheels or slipping to the floor. This method has been used for many years in an exclusive dressmaking establishment.

When the small boys' hose wear thin on the knee, cut foot off, turn leg around with worn part behind knee. Sew foot on again with seam on outside of stocking. Cat-stitch seam open. Best to have hose on to see where to cut, so the seam will be above ankle. Can attach tops of one pair to feet of another this way.

One woman has found that in making buttonholes in children's underwear she gets better wear by making an eyelet in each end of the buttonhole.

When using a sewing machine, if the thread breaks easily, soak spool and all in hot water for about two minutes.

Memorizing Figures

Mark Twain told of a pilot who knew every bend, creek, current and shallow in the Mississippi river throughout its whole mighty length, but could not remember what he had for breakfast. A story is told of one man with a memory that apparently collects only figures. He can always remember one's age, even if he forgets the name. He will memorize easily the times of all the trains to a given place, but he generally forgets the platforms from which they start. Reel off to him a column of statistics and he will recite them again a month later without a mistake.

HEALTH AND BEAUTY AIDS

BY MRS. MAE MARTYN

ALICE: You are quite right in assuming that you would not have dandruff if your hair were healthy. Dandruff keeps your hair from growing, it is doubtless the cause of all your other 'trials.' It is the decomposed matter sent forth by the oil glands. Sounds horrid, doesn't it. But it can be relieved wonderfully by this simple remedy made at home: Dissolve one ounce quinzoin in ½ pint alcohol, then mix with ½ pint water and you have a tonic for the scalp that is far better than any ready prepared stuff. Twice a week rub a little well into the scalp. It will inspire your hair to a lustrous, healthy growth. Shampoo with Canthrox.

MIRA D.: You are probably one of the millions who need a tonic because they stayed indoors too much this winter and ate too much meat and too few vegetables. You evidently need a good tonic and blood purifier. Get an ounce of kardene and half a cup of sugar and dissolve in half a pint alcohol. Then though cold pure water to make a full quart. Take a tablespoonful of this before each meal. Its action is to sharpen appetite, assist proper assimilation, regulate the liver and thereby purify the blood. There is no better general tonic that I know of either.

ATHLETICA: You certainly do not have to give up all outdoor pleasure just because you tan and freckle so easily. Here is how you can have your good times—and your good looks too. Prepare a lotion by dissolving 4 ounces of spurmax in ½ pint of hot water. Add 2 teaspoonfuls glycerine. Let stand until cold, then bottle. Apply this morning and night and it will act like magic to keep away the bad effects of exposure to sun and wind. Many women find it a splendid substitute for ordinary face powder; it keeps away the shine of perspiration and imparts a natural healthy glow without an artificial look. In fact it seems like a part of the skin.

MIDDLE AGED: I have every sympathy with your objection to 'facing the light' if your complexion is not good and wrinkles are beginning to show, but I am sure you are mistaken in saying it is 'ruined'. All it needs, probably, is toning up. When the skin is lined and flabby it can be restored to fresh firmness by this simple means. Get an ounce of almozoin and mix with 2 teaspoonfuls of glycerine add ½ pint cold water, stir and let stand two hours. Apply freely and note the contracting of the skin, which acts as a pore cleanser and stimulator of circulation. It positively will not grow hair. I have found great benefit in this lotion because of its healthy effect on the pores and outer cuticle as well as on the tissues beneath.

K. T. D.: I sympathize with you in the 'stickiness' as you call it, of [illegible] I am glad I can tell [illegible] as well as dandruff [illegible] avoid the [illegible] Get some Canthrox [illegible] druggist's and dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. Never use soap. The canthrox is enough, leaving the scalp perfectly clean and the hair fluffy, giving the appearance of an abundant growth whether you have it or not.

MRS. B. W.: From what you say about your eyes, I am sure all they need is a little care. Get an ounce of crystos and dissolve in a pint of soft water. Drop two drops daily in each eye, or oftener if the lids are inflamed. This treatment faithfully used restores brightness and color to the eye as well as clear sight. Many actresses use crystos to make the eyes sparkle, and it has this effect without the slightest harmful results.

B.B.: Your excessive flesh will be even more troublesome as the weather grows warmer, and you are quite right to take some simple means of reducing it. Ask your druggist for 4 ounces of parnotis. Dissolve this in one and a half pints of water. Take a tablespoonful of the solution after each meal. This is simple, safe and sure. Parnotis merely aids nature in establishing a normal assimilation of food. You do not have to exercise violently or restrict your diet.

VOL. XLI, NO. 169 FRIDAY MORNING, JULY 24, 1914 PRICE TWO CENTS

TORONTO'S MAYOR REPUDIATES CONNECTION WITH OR INTEREST IN REAL ESTATE CONCERN

He Telegraphs a Statement in Answer to Attack Made Upon Him by an Evening Paper--Holds No Vacant Property

Toronto, July 23. The attack made upon Mayor Hocken by an evening paper last night, during his absence from the city, and the demand to know what his name was doing on the advisory board of a real estate firm, is productive of an explanation from the Mayor which is complete and unequivocal. The paper in question reproduced an advertisement which appeared in the Evesham Standard and West Midland Observer, of England, being the prospectus of The Building Corporation of Toronto, Limited, capitalized at £40,000, half the stock in which was offered for public subscription. Underlined in the advertisement, as it was reprinted in the local paper, were the names of Mayor Hocken and Mr. W. F. Maclean, M.P., as members of the Canadian Advisory Board, and that of Controller McCarthy, in connection with a letter confirming a statement made by him before the Clay Products Association, which convened in Toronto early in the year.

In the Mayor's Absence.

Editorially, the attack on the Mayor was continued, the newspaper critic of Mr. Hocken charging that his principal achievement as Chief Magistrate had been the annexation of large tracts of undeveloped land, and suggesting indirectly, that the Mayor's advocacy of Todmorden was influenced, if not prompted, by his connection with The Building Corporation of Toronto, and his desire to advance the personal financial interests of himself and his suggested colleagues in the real estate promotion.

Mayor Hocken was at Orchard Beach, Maine, on a vacation, when the attack was made and had no knowledge that it was impending. The News telegraphed to him a statement of the case last night, and to-day received his statement, which should satisfy all honest and fair-minded people of the Mayor's integrity and honesty of purpose.

The Mayor's Statement.

The statement reads:

"There must have been some misunderstanding by Mr. McEachren. As I recall the circumstances, last year, or at the beginning of this year, Mr. McEachren asked me to subscribe for stock in a housing company, which he was forming in London, England. My recollection is that there was to have been a Canadian board, of which he wanted me to be a member. I thought he had a good scheme, and I promised to give his proposal my consideration, as I have had a score of similar proposals since I became Mayor. I do not remember Mr. McEachren returning to the subject. I have not invested a dollar in the company. I have seen no literature in connection with it. I know absolutely nothing of its operations. I do not own a foot of land in Todmorden, or in any of the recently annexed districts.

"I bought a lot in Moore Park last August, intending to build a home when convenient. That is the only vacant property held by me, and there is not a foot held for me by anybody. I have not invested a dollar of interest in any business or company other than my own printing and publishing company. As to my policy of annexing, may I point out that since I first entered the city Council, in 1907, I have favored every annexation, believing that Eglinton Avenue, the Humber River and the Scarboro line should be the limits of the city.

(Signed), "H. C. HOCKEN."

A FIERY SPEECH IS MADE BY COL. MOORE

Wants Irish Nationalists to Prepare to Fight for Independence

London, July 23. A speech that can only be described as of the spread eagle variety, was delivered by Colonel Moore, at Athenry, Count Galway, yesterday to a gathering of Nationalist Volunteers, of whom he is one of the chief organizers.

He declared that the spirit animating the volunteers was that of the Fenians. They were drilling for a time when they would all have rifles, and then they would be prepared to "defend their rights and liberties."

"Our spirit," he said, "is the spirit of Wolfe Tone, Emmett, the Fenians, the men of 1848 and 1867' That is the spirit animating Ireland at present.

"I am glad to see many of the volunteers equipped, but I hope to see more than that by the end of the year drilled with other things we are trying to get for you, but with great difficulty.

"Soldiers' equipment is not complete with arms.

"You are now drilling for the time when you will all have rifles, and know how to use them.

"We also want discipline to gain independence, and then be prepared to defend our rights and liberties.

"With spunk and hard work the spirit that is now abroad will raise Ireland into a great nation."

BON VOYAGE PAID TO CANADIAN HINDU MEN

Steamer Komagata Maru Has at Last Left Vancouver Harbor--Was No Demonstration

Vancouver, B.C., July 23.—Shortly after five o'clock this morning the Japanese steamer Komagata Maru steamed out of the harbor, on her way back to the Orient. The Hindus on board made no demonstration, and the services of the local militia companies, who spent the night on the wharf, were not needed. The vessel was convoyed out of the harbor by the Cruiser Rainbow, which will accompany her to a point off Vancouver Island. Two months ago to-day the Komagata arrived in Vancouver harbor.

WOULD NOT PAY; HOUSE IS BURNED

Quebec, July 23.—Police authorities are to-day looking for an unknown adept of the Black Hand, who would extort $1,000 from Thomasso Zacharia, Italian grower, whose house was gutted by fire early yesterday morning.

The Black Hand writer threatened to burn Zacharia in his house if he did not pay up. Zacharia refused to be blackmailed, and his house was effectively set afire

PRIZE FOOD.
Palatable, Economical, Nourishing.
A Western woman has outlined the prize food in a few words, and that from personal experience. She writes:
"After our long experience with Grape-Nuts, I cannot say enough in its favor. We have used this food almost palatable, economical and nourishing.
"We sometimes tried other advertised breakfast foods but we invariably returned to Grape-Nuts as the most palatable, economical and nourishing of all.
"When I quit tea and coffee and began to use Postum and Grape-Nuts I was almost a nervous wreck, I was so irritable I could not sleep nights, had no interest in life.
"After using Grape-Nuts a short time I began to improve and all these ailments have disappeared and now I am a well woman. My two children have been almost raised on Grape-Nuts, which they eat three times a day.
"They are pictures of health and have never had the least symptoms of stomach trouble, even through the most severe siege of whooping cough else failed.
"Grape-Nuts food has saved doctor bills, and has been, therefore, a most economical food for us."
Name given by Canadian Postum Co., Windsor, Ont. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."
Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true and full of human interest.

POSTMASTER WILL NOT REDUCE RATE

Little Hope That Tariff on Magazines Will be Cut Down

London, July 23.—Further representations are being made to the Postmaster-General on the subject of Canadian magazine rates, but there is little hope that Mr. Hobhouse will accept the proposed new terms. Mr. Hobhouse still believes that the proposed scale, while relieving the community as a whole from expense in the transmission of these packets, will not press unduly on senders of packets by magazine post, and will in no way hamper the spread of Imperial sentiment in the Dominion for which the post was instituted. The Empire Press Union will issue the Postmaster's reply in the course of a day or two

All the overseas Governments have signified their intention of sending delegates to the conference of postmasters, to be held in Madrid shortly. They will support the proposal for universal penny postage, rather than in favor of 1½ penny rate recently suggested. Some of the Dominions, Australia in particular, are prepared to enter into reciprocal arrangements with any country which will agree to establish penny postage.

MR. MORROW FILLS PRESIDENTS CHAIR

Elected to Position in Imperial Life Vacated by Mr. C. Cox

Following the resignation of Mr. H. C. Cox as president of the Imperial Life Assurance Company of Canada, and his assuming the position of president and general manager of the Canada Life Assurance Company, the Board of Directors of the former company, elected Mr. G. A. Morrow, formerly vice-president to the position of president

Mr. E. T. Malone, K.C., was elected vice-president, to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Morrow's elevation. Mr. J. F. Weston, formerly general manager of the company, was elected to the Board of Directors, and becomes managing director.

TO START WORK ON NEW UNION STATION

Toronto, July 23. Work on the new Toronto Union Station Monday next, was the decision arrived at to-day by the Board of Architects, and Engineers, meeting in Toronto. About the middle of next week a battery of steam shovels will be put to work clearing the excavation for the immense new structure.

The first sign of activity will temporarily shut out all other signs of activity, consisting, as it will, of a huge board fence surrounding the property on Front, Bay and York streets. Following this a field will be in which the office and engineering staff will find quarters.

THE WEATHER.
Today Fine and warm.

ELOPED ON EVE OF HER WEDDING DAY

Now She is Sorry and Wants Mother to Come and Take Her Home

Savannah, Ga., July 23.—The romance of Florence Martha Pickard, daughter of the Rev. Dr. W. L Pickard, the new president of Mercer University, who eloped last Friday with her old sweetheart, Mr. Everett Harrison, of Halifax, N. S., while her announced fiance, Mr. Karl Gustave Karsten, was on his way from London to wed her, ended sadly in New York after a honeymoon of four days.

Mrs. Pickard received a communication from her daughter yesterday urging her to go to New York and bring back the bride. The information was hardly sufficient to determine whether Mrs. Harrison has been abandoned by her husband or whether she has merely grown dissatisfied with her choice. Mrs. Pickard will leave immediately.

On the day the engagement was announced Harrison arrived in Savannah, and visited Miss Pickard. He was said to have been engaged to her once. Within five days Miss Pickard eloped with him. Karsten reached America on the same day.

STRIKERS SHOT DOWN BY RUSSIAN POLICE

Serious Fighting in Streets of St-Petersburg—Police Officers Injured

St. Petersburg, July 23.—At least five striking workmen were killed and fighting in the streets of St. Petersburg between the strikers on the one side and the police and cossacks on the other, which continued throughout the night and ceased only at dawn this morning. Three police officials also are known to have been severely injured and taken to hospitals.

Official returns of the number of men who have quit work give the total of 120,000 in the city itself. These include the street car employes, but do not comprise a large number of unskilled laborers in the building and other trades.

At an early hour this morning the strikers attempted to set fire to the Samson bridge leading across the river to the Viborg district, and they also tried to destroy the neighboring waterworks, but a strong detachment of police arrived in time and prevented them doing so.

LINDSAY WANTS TO COME IN

The town of Lindsay wants the proposed Hydro-electric Radial Railway to Port Perry extended to Lindsay, and a meeting of the Ontario Municipal Railway Association will be held at Agincourt in about two weeks' time, at which the proposal will be considered. The municipalities affected are preparing their by-laws and informing their electorates. Western Ontario is ablaze with Hydro radial enthusiasm, according to reports reaching the commissioners' office, and the railway idea promises to spread as fast and far and wide as did the power and light one

The third steel lighter ordered by the Dominion Government for use in Hudson's Bay, will be launched at the Polson Iron Works on Saturday morning.

CROPS NEEDING RAIN EAST OF TORONTO

Even Apples Will be in Danger it the Dry Weather Continues

Rain is the present prayer of the most unbroken drought in the Mid-Ontario farmer. Six weeks of all-land counties has spoiled the hay crop and depleted the small fruit harvest. In contrast to the wonderful cherry yields of the Oakville and the Niagara regions, there is scarcely a cherry to be found in the counties east of Toronto. Two more weeks of even partial dryness will endanger the apples upon which so many farmers thereabouts rely. The bright spot appears in the grain yield, which will be a large improvement on last year's. Though the straw is short, the heads are filling well.

Harvest has been in progress throughout the country generally for a week now. Though there is still some hay yet uncut, the binders have been singing in the fall wheat crop, and some of it is indeed in the barns. An observer in the country may see the large oat fields, the plants golden at the bottoms but still wafting green heads to the breeze. Peas and barley are the earliest of the spring crops, and the hot weather has rendered them ready for the reaper by the coming week end. But still throughout the Province the interesting spectacle of the farmer with monkey-wrench and oil can, overhauling his winter-rusted binder, can daily be seen. This act commences the harvest.

ITALIANS HIDDEN IN THE WOOD-PILE

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 23.—During the hearing of smuggling cases involving the admission to Niagara Falls, New York, of two score Bulgarians during the past three weeks, it developed that a cache was situated near Queenstown, Ontario, in which the contraband foreigners were sheltered preparatory to their being ferried across the Niagara River to Lewiston or Youngstown under cover of darkness.

This information was given by Ivan Popoff, one of five foreigners arrested last week, who became a Government witness at the solicitation of the American immigration officers. Ivan is said to have made a full confession to the Federal agents, in which he charges Ivan Tsoncheff, of Toronto, one of the men under arrest, with being responsible for their being in the country. With Popoff they were arraigned yesterday Tsoncheff, Ivan Ratncheff, alias Rikoff, and Hinko Isanoff.

LEADERS WILL MAKE FINAL ATTEMPT TO SOLVE PROBLEM

Meeting To-day Was Protracted But Failed to Break Deadlock--Premier Closed With His Majesty

London, July 23. The absence of the hitherto prompt announcement that the "conversations will be resumed to-morrow," at the adjournment of to-day's conference at Buckingham Palace, between the leaders of the political parties, in reference to the Ulster situation, was generally accepted as an indication that their efforts to find a solution had failed.

The extreme pessimism and the anticipation of a definite break-up of the conference were not justified, however, as later in the day an official announcement was made that the conferees would continue their discussions to-morrow. The delay had caused a great deal of misgiving.

The meeting was a little more protracted than the previous ones. It was attended by Premier Asquith and Chancellor of the Exchequer, David Lloyd George, representing the Government; Andrew Bonar Law and the Marquis of Lansdowne, of the regular Conservative Opposition; John E. Redmond and John Dillon, of the Irish Nationalists, and Sir Edward Carson and Capt. James Craig, of the Ulster Unionists.

Compromise Impossible.

The crucial question of the area to be excluded from the control of the Parliament in Dublin under the Irish Home Rule measure, was the chief subject of discussion. It is supposed that it was found impossible by the conferees to attain an acceptable compromise on this matter without further consideration

FRANCE CLOSES 141 CATHOLIC SCHOOLS

Laws of 1904 and 1901 Are Being Invoked

Paris, July 23.—Decrees have been signed ordering the closing of 141 Roman Catholic schools and congregational establishments. The law of 1914, which forbids teaching by religious orders, fixed a period of ten years within which the law was to become completely effective. This period expired on July 7.

Thirteen boys' schools belonging to the Brothers of the Christian schools, and 113 girls' schools, most of them belonging to the Sisters of Saint Vincent de Paul, and one missionary School in Algiers will be closed. Other establishments to be suppressed do not belong to teaching orders. They are being closed in accordance with the law of 1901, which authorizes the government to suppress all congregational establishments, even those which have been authorized.

SERVED TWO DAYS AND THEN DESERTED

Soldier Placed Under Arrest At His Home—Joined at Halifax

Kingston, July 23.—Pte. R. W. Denney, aged 25, a deserter from the Royal Canadian Regiment at Halifax, was placed under arrest here at his home by Constables Bateson and Nicholson. Denney was over in the old country, and coming out a couple of months ago joined the regiment at Halifax, but after staying two days slipped out. It was believed that he had gone to his home here, and the local police were asked to keep a watch for him.

CANNOT PUBLISH ELGIN QUOTATIONS

Chicago, July 23. An injunction restraining the Chicago Butter and Egg Board from publishing prices on butter, eggs, and other products was issued today by Federal Judge Landis.

In a suit filed some months ago the government charged that by publishing prices on the commodities in which it dealt the butter and egg board artificially created higher prices than the market warranted and violated the federal law restraining such acts.

The suit is similar to the recent action of the government against the Elgin Board of trade, which resulted in the entering of a decree directing that actual sales should alone be quoted and no attempt to fix prices should be made by what was known as the price committee.

It is the intention of the district attorney to draft a similar decree in the case of the Chicago Butter and Egg Board, making actual sales the basis of butter and egg quotations.

Washington, July 23.—Attorney General McReynolds tonight received a report from District Attorney Wilkerson at Chicago outlining Judge Landis' decision in the Chicago butter board case. The decree in the case will be submitted to the attorney general for approval before it is entered in court.

CALGARY OIL PROSPECTS HOLD GOOD PROMISE

In this issue appears a big advertisement of the Marquis Oil and Gas Ltd. that will bear close investigation.

As is generally known oil is the coming fuel. Its by-products such as naptha in gasoline are in enormously increasing demand. The battleship of the present is, in many cases impelled by power derived from oil. Oil now is King. The advertisement we refer to states that the Marquis Oil and Gas Ltd. has a treasury stock of $300,000. The company claim to hold 3590 acres. To quote from the advertisement, "You can't get away from facts." Look into this proposition!

EARLY FAILURE OF HOME RULE CONFERENCE IS FORECASTED

Liberal and Unionist Payers Alike Pessimistic of Result of Meeting

London, July 23.—At the close of a Cabinet Council late yesterday it became known that there is only the smallest prospect of the Home Rule conference arriving at an agreement, and that its termination when it reassembles to-day is regarded as certain.

Sir Edward Carson, it is understood, stands for the complete exclusion of six counties in Ulster from the operation of the Home Rule Bill, including Fermanagh and Tyrone, while John Redmond declines as firmly to go beyond the concessions Premier Asquith already has made in permitting county referendums, and unless some way out of the difficulty is discovered at the eleventh hour, it is believed that Premier Asquith will be obliged to announce to-day the failure of the conference.

Premier Asquith's assurances to the Parliament yesterday, assuming full responsibility for the King's speech, and declaring that no constitutional precedent has been contravened, allayed much of the angry feeling among the Liberals, or at least transferred it from the King to the Premier himself.

Active negotiations are proceeding outside of Buckingham Palace between the party leaders. Premier Asquith had an interview last night with Lord Lansdowne and Andrew Bonar Law, the Opposition leaders, between two separate sittings of the Cabinet.

FEWER HARVESTERS NEEDED

Winnipeg, July 23.—That the railways will not hand out so big inducements to the harvesters from the East this year as formerly, and that an effort will be made to keep the number down in order that laborers already in the country may secure employment in the harvest fields, is the opinion expressed by local officials of the various railroads.

A meeting between the representatives of the Western Provincial Governments and the railways will take place in the C.P.R. office next Monday, when the situation will be discussed and plans formulated for the handling this year's crop.

ALL ABOUT CONCRETE

Some Wonderful Possibilities of the Future Described by an Expert

Concrete was used by the Romans who also invented the celebrated Roman nose, which is still used with such great success. Concrete is composed of cement and broken stone, which are mixed with water by a tired man in overalls and a red flannel shirt and converted into a sort of geological Irish stew. The mess is then stuffed into a wooden mold, and when it dries it is so hard that when Time attempts to nibble it with its justly famous tooth it has to go to the dentist's with a low shriek of agony.

Nowadays concrete is used with great success in building houses, skyscrapers, bridges, baseball parks, pavements, sidewalks, wormless tombs, boats, artificial legs, telegraph poles, water tanks, artificial pipes, false teeth, cathedrals, smokestacks and eating-house sandwiches. Concrete has, in fact, become the most useful thing in the world, and many a mountain which has only been an obstruction to traffic will be ground up in the next few years and sold in sacks to men who have cities to build.

Thomas Edison has recently invented a method by which concrete houses can be poured to order by two strong men while the family is unpacking the furniture. This will be a great boon, and before long we may expect to buy our houses at the store by the gallon and to draw a cute little Queen Anne garage out of a faucet and take it home in a pail.

Concrete, reinforced with steel, is the strongest material yet invented, but science thus far is only building bridges and skyscrapers with it, and has not yet used it in providing practical backbones for public men. When this has been accomplished the grade of statesmen available will be vastly improved and the old style officeholder with the gutta percha spinal column will wabble into oblivion along with the wooden hotel.—Kansas City Star.

HORSEFLESH AS FOOD

Tourists Get it For Beef in France—Said to be Wholesome

Apropos of the discussion in Parliament regarding the eating of horseflesh in Montreal, it is interesting to note that the London Chronicle gave prominence to a letter from Mr. F Langworthy, of Claygate, Surrey, advocating the establishment of horseflesh butchers' shops in the large towns of Great Britain.

He declares that as horseflesh is now eaten by "our rich," he sees no reason why the poor should go without this cheap meat simply "because there is no one with sufficient enterprise to try to overcome a prejudice." He further says that he has seen English people very contentedly eating horse for beef in some of the most expensive hotels in Paris, and for himself he would much sooner eat it than the flesh of the pig.

His theory is that the meat of animals that have been cooped up—such as pigs in styes, cattle in barns, and fowls in runs—is not wholesome, while the meat of horses, which lead fairly natural lives, is cheap and nourishing; indeed, he adds, the French say that horseflesh is particularly good for those suffering from anaemia.

EXPLOSIVE AGRICULTURE

Nitro-glycerine Used With Much Benefit in Orchards

Poets have sung of swords being turned into ploughshares for years without anybody taking much notice of them. It is, therefore, pleasant to learn that such deadly explosives as nitro-glycerine and nitro-cellulose are being used in the peaceful professions of agriculture as well as in the filling of man-killing shells. The experiments have been carried out chiefly in Canada and the United States, chiefly for the planting of trees and the rejuvenating of old orchards.

By exploding a cartridge, judiciously placed in the ground, the soil is shaken up and fissured to a greater extent than can be managed by spade work. New trees planted in ground that has been prepared in this way make much more rapid and vigorous growth. In an old orchard the ground can be similarly opened and shaken without injury to the standing trees, which, by the way, are given a new lease of life owing to their roots having less dense soil to penetrate.

Flavor in Fish

Recent experiments indicate that the muddy taste in some fish, which has been attributed to the water in which they live, is due to certain aquatic plants that they eat.

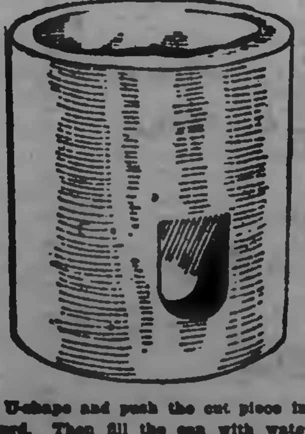
A rosy night makes a blue morning

Sweeping assertions are liable to raise clouds of misunderstanding.

FOUNTAIN FOR CHICKS

Keeps the water Clean and Minimizes the Spilling

It's not a bit of trouble to keep the chicks from fouling their drinking fountain if you have the proper kind of a fountain. Of course, some of these porcelain affairs made for the purpose are expensive, but a tin tomato can is just as good. Cut the tin about 2 inches from the bottom of the can in a U-shape and push the cut piece inward. Then fill the can with water up to the opening. The chickens cannot get its feet in the can and it is so well protected that outside dirt cannot get into it, although the opening is plenty big enough for the chickens to get all the water they need. This style of drinking fountain is particularly good for a coop.



Replanting the Forests

Over twelve thousand letters have been received at the Dominion Government Forest Nursery Station at Indian Head, Sask., and almost two and three-quarter million trees distributed for planting on the farms of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba. To accommodate this constantly increasing demand, a branch nursery has been established near Saskatoon. Nine inspectors supervise these prairie-farm plantations, and give personal advice to the farmers, and the Forestry Branch, Ottawa, issues bulletins free of charge to anyone interested in the work in Canada or elsewhere.

Accident Restored Sight

A remarkable case of the sudden recovery of sight through being struck on the nose by a piece of wood was that of Mr. Henri R. Germain, an employe of the Quebec agency of the Marine and Fisheries Department who resides at Beauport.

Mr. Germain had been practically blind for over two years, following a severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. He was chopping wood when a piece flew up and struck him on the bridge of the nose. This severed a vein, and as a result Mr. Germain lost much blood, which was black in color. Immediately after Mr. Germain discovered that he could see distinctly.

THE WORLD'S BIRTH RATE

Astonishing Figures Showing How the Population is Increasing

It has been computed that about 36,000,000 babies are born into the world each year. The rate of production is therefore about seventy per minute, or more than one for every beat of the clock. With the one-a-second calculation every reader is familiar, but it is not everyone who stops to calculate what this means when it comes to a year's supply. It will, therefore, probably startle a good many persons to find, on the authority of a well known statistician, that could the infants of a year be ranged in a line in cradles, the cradles would extend around the globe.

The same writer looks at the matter in a more picturesque light. He imagines the babies being carried past a given point in their mothers' arms, one by one, and the procession being kept up night and day until the last hour in the twelfth month had passed by. A sufficiently liberal rate is allowed, but even in going past at the rate of twenty a minute, 1,200 an hour, during the entire year, the reviewer at his post would have seen only the sixth part of the infantile host.

In other words, the babe that had to be carried when the tramp began would be able to walk when but a mere fraction of its comrades had reached the reviewer's post, and when the year's supply of babies was drawing to close there would be a rear-guard, not of infants, but of romping six-year-old boys and girls.

BUYING AT RANDOM

Queer Bargains Picked Up When Unclaimed Freight is Sold

At sales of unclaimed freight it is usually the practice in Canada to refuse bidders the privilege of examining the contents of the box or case on which they are willing to take a gamble. At such an auction in Toronto, a good sized refrigerator in fair condition was sold for the paltry sum of 50 cents, and the delighted buyer took it out to the cart to be taken to his home. A large solid leather valise, that had evidently not travelled many miles, was bought by one lucky person for twenty-five cents.

while a glass show case, that would stand some four or five feet high, was let go for two dollars. A cradle and a bundle of clothes were put up, and much to everybody's surprise, bid for quite excitedly. The final bid the first time was just a quarter, but it seemed that two or three men had bid and they could not agree as to who should have it, so it went up again. The result was that it was boosted from twenty-five to fifty cents, and of course only one man was able to take it.

Another man, who purchased a small suit case for a quarter and then rued his bargain, attempted to resell it but was unsuccessful. Perhaps the luckiest man of all was the one who paid the trivial sum of fifty cents for

Appeal to Young Men to Lead Sober, Christian Lives

Addressing the young men of the Central Y.M.C.A., Toronto, Mr. Fred B. Smith, of New York, said that out of one hundred young men who start drinking, only five of them ever come back. "Young men, don't ever know one day of wild oats' sowing!" he cried. He believed that Jesus Christ would one day rule the world, but before Jesus Christ could rule this world whiskey had to go. Whiskey was baptized in murder.

The speaker advised the young men to go in for the bringing about of the union of the Churches. He saw the time was past when young men could become enthusiastic over John Knox. The Y.M.C.A. movement had demonstrated the fact that it was possible to bring all denominations together. He further urged them not to regard the Y.M.C.A. as a play house. He believed there was no fear of Canada dying out physically. He was a Calvinist, and believed in the destiny of nations, and that God had a great destiny for Canada.

Soil For Small Fruits

Both currants and gooseberries thrive in limestone soils, provided the climate is not too warm. Both of these small fruits are cool-weather crops, and demand fertile soils. There is an increasing demand among canneries for these fruits.

Parrot in Pink Hose

One of the parrots at the National Cage Bird Show in England was garbed in a red corsage, black skirt, and green coat, its bright red beak surmounted by a purple headdress, and its hose was a delicate pink. Its conversation was of the brief, rapid, but exultant style beloved of Marinetti, and its every movement spoke the joy of living.

His Quiver Full

The Rev. E. J. Hardy, in his new book, "Still Happy Though Married," writes: "Some one is said to have begun a story of a trifling adventure with the words, 'As I was crossing Oxford street the other day with fourteen of my daughters.'"

Our Point of View

It is said that when Huerta crossed the Mexican boundary, he kept on running which proves what a wise old boy he is.

—o—

Before we forget we wish to say that Vie Huerta got a good running start before he let the Mexican people know that he had resigned.

—o—

The captain of the ship on which Kemp, the tramp poet, returned to Canada put him to work peeling potatoes. We owe that skipper a vote of thanks for showing us how to make our poets useful.

—o—

To be called a Scottish pig and lambasted with a horsewhip are the penalties for being Secretary of State for Scotland, according to the views expressed by the Hon. McKinnon Wood who recently had a run in with the London suffragettes.

—o—

It is not too late to say that the Provincial election resulted in a fine assortment of political prophets being dumped on the bargain counter. To our mind the most attractive of the lot, if anybody wants a prophet, is Mr. Lindsay, K. C., Toronto, who devoted himself assiduously while speaking in the Opera House in Peterborough and elsewhere, to the manufacture of rainbows so that he would have a fresh one to twine around the brow of the Hon. N. W. Rowell.

—o—

A Kansas candidate for a county office has introduced a novel and what seems to be a very useful plan of electioneering, and might be a pointer to some of our Canadian candidates for office. In his rounds he takes with him in his buggy a competent ploughman. When he hails a farmer in the field the ploughman takes the plough or cultivator and the work goes right on, while the farmer stands in the shade of the hedge row and listens to the tale the candidate tells. It works like a charm. Some farmers would rather be talked to for a whole day in the shade than plod in the new field behind the implement.

The Loss in War

Drowning accidents appear more numerous this year than usual. Perhaps it is that the modern system of reporting is more careful and comprehensive. But the toll of the water is enormous. If a disease were wiping out as many within a small area, there would be panic.

Obviously, knowledge of swimming is not sufficient to guarantee against death in the water. Two deaths reported from Oakville, Ont., for example, were both of swimmers. One was diving, and the other swimming to the rescue of an overturned canoe. Clearly it is as fatal to over-estimate one's ability to swim, or to take risks in swimming, as it is to venture into the water without the ability to keep afloat.

Prudence is always necessary in playing with water. It is not man's natural element. It will kill him if for a moment his vigilance, his skill or his strength fails. In the heat of summer, it is a most tempting playground; but we shall always remember that the sword of death— like another Excalibar—lies just below the smooth and shining surface.

End Misery Instantly

NO REMEDY SO SPEEDY OR EFFICIENT.

A real cramp cure?

Yes, a real one—in a twinkling the cramp is a dead one, and the last squirm is over, once you get a stiff dose of Nerviline on the inside.

This isn't mere talk,—it's a solid, truthful fact. No other remedy— not a single one, —will cure cramps so quickly and harmlessly as Nerviline. It hits the spot in a jiffy and saves a heap of misery.

"Last Saturday night my stomach felt like an infernal machine," writes T. P. Granger from Hartford. "I was awakened from a sound sleep and found myself suffering the worst kind of torture. I was so doubled up I could hardly cross my room. I had used Nerviline before for the same thing and took a real good dose. Once I felt the warm, soothing sensation of Nerviline in my stomach I knew I was all right. It finished the cramps—just one single dose."

Sickness at night is rendered a nightmare of the past if Nerviline is handy. It may be earache, toothache, or cramps. Nerviline in every case will cure at once and save calling the doctor. Nerviline is a family physician in itself. The large 50c. family size bottle of course, is most economical. Small trial size costs a quarter. All dealers sell Nerviline.

Deaths From Drowning

A warning to the world as to the destructiveness of modern weapons of warfare is furnished by the report of the International Commission to investigate the Balkan atrocities.

There were about 1,500,000 men in the armies of all the nations engaged in the two Balkan wars, and ⅓ of these one-third, or about 500,000 men were killed or wounded, although both wars were included in the space of a single year.

This was more than twice the number killed and wounded in the war between Russian and Japan, which also lasted only about a year.

And the testimony of the commissioner is that the wounds of those who survived were largely on a ghastly and horrifying character, entailing upon the sufferers lives of anguish and helplessness, and upon the nations to which they belonged an age-long burden of sympathy and support.

When they rushed so hastily into these wars the nations involved did not realize the vast advance in the destructiveness which the last few years have added to weapons of warfare. But it will be the fault of any nation contemplating making war hereafter, if it does not learn the lesson of the Balkan wars, and consider carefully the cost of going into a war in which it has now become possible for a few men, by the scientific use of explosives, to annihilate the enemy by regiments.

Napoleon's dictum that victory is on the side of the heaviest battalions is no longer true.

Sermons in "Movies" Appeal to People

Rev. Clarke R. Parker, pastor of the First Baptist church, of Terre Haute Ind., believes in keeping abreast with the times. He uses moving pictures to illustrate his Sunday evening lectures, and his church is always crowded. The people like the idea and men and women who had forgotten what the inside of a church looked like are now regular attendants at the "movie" sermons.

Value of a Letter

How completely the sense of a sentence is altered by the omission of an initial letter is shown in the following current selections from various papers:

"The conflict was dreadful, and the enemy was repulsed with great laughter."

"In consequence of the numerous accidents occasioned by skating on Taunton Lake, measures are to be taken to put a top to it."

"When the President's wife entered the humble sitting-room of the miner she was politely handed a hair."

"At a large dinner given last night at the —— nothing was eatable but the owls."

"A man was yesterday arrested on the charge of having eaten a cabman for demanding more than his fare."

"The Russian soldier, Kachkinoffcohowsky, was found dead with a long word sticking in his throat."

Love is a medicine that needs taking in large doses after marriage to be of any real effect. But before marriage a very little goes a long way.

Canadian Insurance Companies Have Suspicious Claims to Settle

"A period of depression causes a serious drain on the fire insurance companies of Canada through the deplorable increase of arson," said a provincial manager of one of the largest Canadian fire insurance companies.

"The frequency of arson in the Province of [illegible] is [illegible] every insurance manager [illegible]. But arson is about the most difficult of all crimes to prove conclusively and while we are thoroughly satisfied of its presence in many cases, we are obliged for lack of evidence, to swallow our medicine."

About thirty-five per cent. of the fires occurring in business places, this man thought, were open to suspicion. He told of one case were a clever scheme failed through a trick of fate.

A clothing manufacturer was twelve miles away from his home town at the hour his factory went up in smoke. In the subsequent investigation he proved a very fair alibi, and would easily have escaped but for one fact. In examining the ruins, the adjuster discovered a section of a wooden table on the second floor standing immediately over a heavy brick vault. Under the table was a piece of a coal oil lamp to which was attached a wire. And near the wire was a dead cat. The rascally proprietor had lighted the lamp under a table of clothing, attached a wire to the burner and on the opposite end of the wire had tied a chunk of meat. In the course of its peregrinations the office cat had discovered the meat—as was intended—over went the lamp and soon the factory was in ashes. But fate so arranged, that the proprietor should have set that lamp over the one spot in his factory that was prevented from burning, and the next morning his crime was clear to every eye. They landed the gentleman in the penitentiary.

LONG-LIVED BIRDS

The question of which birds live the longest has never been settled satisfactorily. But the raven comes very high in the list, and is said to reach the great age of two hundred years.

Eagles and vultures also enjoy long lives. Indeed, an eagle-owl is known to have lived ninety years in captivity. In this particular case, the bird began to lay eggs after fifty years, and during the last forty years of its life brought up numerous little ones.

A hundred years is probably a conservative estimate of a parrot's age and it is recorded that one of these birds also started nesting after thirty years of captivity. With ordinary luck, both the crow and the swan may reasonably expect a century life.

It is not by any means the largest birds that enjoy the longest lives. For instance, the sparrow sometimes celebrates its fortieth birthday. Other ages reached by birds are: Hens, ? years; pheasants and partridges, ? years; pigeons, 20 years; canaries, 2? years; peacocks, 20 years; and herons 60 years.

BONFIRE OF BANK BILLS

Rich Chinaman Dropped Lighted Candle Into Treasure Trunk

An excited Chinaman rushed into a branch bank in Toronto's downtown district and laid before the manager a pile of charred fragments of paper, which upon close inspection proved to be the remains of bills—fives, tens, twenties and about ten hundred dollar bills. It was all that remained of $1,800 in bills and was the property of Jim Lee, one of Toronto's wealthiest Chinamen, and a recognized leader among his fellow-countrymen.

Lee kept the money at the bottom of an old trunk in an upper room of his store on West Queen street. While holding a candle to search through the trunk, the Chinaman had the misfortune to drop the lighted candle. In a moment the whole of the trunk's contents was in flames, and although Lee made desperate efforts to save the money, he did not smother the flames before they had partially burned the small fortune reposing at the bottom. Only about half of the burned money was found to be redeemable, but according to the police officials the loss will not seriously affect the old Chinaman's finances.

ENGLAND'S KING AS A BUSINESS MAN

His Majesty a Methodical and Indefatigable Worker

The King has impressed everybody at St. James' Palace both by his industry and the businesslike way in which he goes through his work. The amount of correspondence which his Majesty must personally deal with tends ever to increase, and though Lord Stamfordham relieves the King of as much work as possible, there remains after the most exhaustive sifting sufficient to keep the monarch occupied for several hours a day. It is possible that the King, if he liked, could deputize most of his work, but like his father, the late King Edward, he takes the perfectly correct view that it would be injudicious to put his name or give his assent to any document or plan which he had not himself carefully studied. Besides, to one of his Majesty's clearly defined views, tacit agreement on some matters would be highly repugnant. The "Wake-up-England" King believes in looking into things himself.

His Majesty is an early riser. Generally breakfast is served upstairs, a light meal over which very few moments are spent. Then, if the King has not a morning engagement, he attends to his private correspondence, which often means dealing with a score of letters daily. Some letters he dictates, others he writes himself, autographed letters mostly being to royal relatives. Then comes the business of dealing with State correspondence, an ordeal which keeps Lord Stamfordham and his staff occupied the whole day.

No letter directed to the King, excepting it be from a crank or a madman, who frequently pick out royalties for their effusions, goes unanswered. It may be a mere formal acknowledgment or it may contain an expression of the King's feelings. Whatever the case the courtesy of an early reply may always be expected from the Palace.

WEALTH IN METEORS

An expedition is shortly starting for Disco Island, off the coast of Greenland, with the object of breaking and bringing away the big meteorite there. It weighs over one hundred tons, and the theory is that it was projected up to the earth from the moon countless years ago. Fragments of it have already been carried away and assayed, with the result that it has been found to contain iron, copper, and several besides rarer metals including polonium. Now polonium is a cousin to radium. Hence the expedition. The organizers of it argue that if they can only extract from the meteorite even a small fraction of an ounce of radium their fortunes are made.

It is quite possible, too, they say that there may be large diamonds embedded inside the mass. Very small diamonds have undoubtedly been taken from the interiors of small meteorites. Then, too, here is in existence a diamond of fair size taken from a meteorite discovered near Tucson, Arizona.

The known quality of high-grade springs proves the standard efficiency of the Temco — long double coil sensitive to the least jar— tough and tested quality to outlast any car. This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. 326-A Eighth Avenue West, Calgary, Alberta.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

Primary expenses of the Company are estimated at $2500.

No amount is intended to be paid to any promoter, nor is any sum payable for good-will.

KELLY-SPRINGFIELD TIRES

COMPARISONS

In days of old, when knights were bold,
  And warriors held their sway,
They fought and bled, at least 'tis said,
  In a way we don't like to-day.
But now we go without fear of foe,
  Or sword or the gun's hot fire,
The auto has come to make things hum,
  And so has the KELLY TIRE.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars, and testimonials.

CURIOUS PARADOXES FOUND IN POISONS

Many Toxins Are Found to be More Dangerous After Being Diluted

Two eminent toxicologists, Drs. Violle and Penfold, conducted a series of experiments to ascertain the best antidotes for certain poisons. One of the results of their experiments was the revelation of curious paradoxes in regard to certain toxic substances when diluted with water.

These two savants noted that many bacteriological poisons become much more active and powerful in intravenous injection when diluted with large volumes of distilled water. This conclusion was arrived at after exhaustive experiments on rabbits, and one of the strangest features is that the effect is almost the same whether the poison is diluted with water when injected or injected in an otherwise non-mortal dose within two hours of a large injection of distilled water. A great number of widely different bacilli seem to have their poisonous action approximately doubled, paradoxical as it may seem, when diluted with a hundred times their volume of distilled water.

The newly-discovered phenomenon whereby two factors, separately insufficient to produce death, but able to do so when combined, is styled "Toxohematolyse."

A debate on the subject brought out the following additional interesting facts: The old saying that one man's food is another man's poison has been extended in a wonderful way of late by scientific observation. It is now known that what is food to one part of the body may be a deadly poison to another. The simplest instance of this is the effect of the bite of the most dreaded of all Indian snakes—the cobra.

If the poison glands are cut out of a newly killed snake of this type their contents may be swallowed with impunity by a healthy human being, and will be digested like any other nitrogenous food. If, however, the man who swallows it has any sore place in his mouth, such as split lip, whereby the virus can get into his blood, his life will be very short.

Strychnine is one of the most powerful vegetable poisons known, but it has very bad effects. Up to about one thirty-second of a grain it is often used in medicine as a stimulant. Very little more is required to bring on that peculiar state known as "tetanus," in which the muscles lock themselves up in such hard masses that they are as rigid as bone. An overdose, however, has been known in at least one instance to cure itself.

HUNGER, A STIMULANT

It is a mistake to use artificial means of bucking up. Animals are far wiser than human beings. When my fox terrier is out of sorts he does not sit up and beg for a cocktail. He eats grass, or he refuses all food for a day or two. In vain do I tempt him to eat. He backs away from his bone or his biscuit. If you feel off color, go and be a dog for forty-eight hours. "What!" you cry. "Starve for forty-eight hours! Impossible!" It is not impossible. On the contrary it is quite easy. The hungrier you grow the happier you will be. In fact, the cheapest way of bucking yourself up is to fast until you feel as if you were walking on air. It is simply a method of getting drunk without touching alcohol. In many respects England is still a barbarous country in which savages feel at home. The English eat in order to be sociable and drink in order to be at ease. Hence that primitive orgy, the public dinner, at which witty men grow stupid and beautiful women grow ugly. The English are not naturally dull; but, after they have eaten too much, all the blood descends from their brains to their stomachs. A dog goes to sleep after his dinner; the English after a public dinner go to sleep with their eyes open. All the gay after-dinner speakers take care not to dine. They speak on a fasting stomach. Not only brevity, but also hunger, is the soul of wit.—James Douglas.

Hairdressing is Significant

Yesterday when coming per express train from Tokio, says a traveller in Japan, we sat near a Japanese matron whose beautiful, glossy black hair was done up elaborately with a very peculiar portion of it resembling an eccentric teapot handle at the back. She was a yellow, hard-featured lady, with a big boy in a petticoat by her side—presumably her son. The meaning of her headdress was: "I am a widow, and have determined not to marry again." Every female can fly headdress signals denoting her state, condition and wishes. There are styles for "married," "engaged" and "single." The sweet debutante can be at once recognised, and it must be admitted that inconvenience and loss of time can conceivably be prevented by adopting this Japanese system.

COPPER

The Red Metal

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. A piece of starch placed in the water will keep flowers fresh for quite a long period.

If a little saltpetre is sprinkled over the fire occasionally it will keep the the chimney free from soot.

After washing cut-glass articles let them dry and afterwards rub them carefully with prepared chalk, with a soft brush.

Potatoes are more nutritious if boiled in their skins, after being scrubbed clean; they can be skinned before taking to table.

After using a gas-stove for baking leave the door open a little while to allow the heat to escape. This will prevent sweating and rusting.

The best way to keep a dustbin fresh and clean is to put hot ashes into it each time it has been emptied. It keeps it quite clean and free from all smells.

Celery or parsley rubbed on the hands after peeling onions will counteract the odor. Lemon, borax, or ammonia is excellent for removing stains from the hands.

Brown stockings should never be ironed, but just pressed through the mangle to smooth them out. A hot iron will spoil the color and give them an unpleasant yellow tint.

When washing oilcloth a tablespoonful of painters' size added to a pail of water will give it a glossy surface and make it wear much better than when washed in the ordinary way.

Extraordinary Names For Everyday Habits

Here are a few of the new names that alienists have introduced to describe certain aberrations of the mind that are not insanity but that are classified as psychoses, being indications of a condition that is not exactly normal. Most of us have some one or more of them. Most of them are merely bad habits, expressive of the nervous strain of modern life.

The following, taken from an account in a scientific magazine of a recent congress of neurologists and nerve specialists, are a few of the more novel terms they used in their addresses and in their debates:

Mistakoshepsomania—The common habit that young men have of pulling their budding moustaches.

Otodactylomania—The habit of putting the little finger into the ear and agitating it violently.

Strobecrhabdomania—Twirling the umbrella as one walks.

Omiphagomania—Biting the nails.

Stomadactylomania—The habit, so common among babies, but by no means uncommon among adults, of keeping a finger in the mouth.

Harmoniomania—Beating a tattoo with the finger tips upon the window, the table or other furniture.

Trepodomania—Moving the legs nervously.

Kratopomania—Crossing the legs one over the other and pulling up the trouser leg to reveal the socks.

To these curiosities may be added those more serious psychoses which are signs of real though perhaps only slight mental derangement, namely, "agoraphobia or dread of open places; and kleistophobia," or dread of enclosed places.

THE SHAPE OF THE MOON

Scientist Says It is Oval-Shaped—Preacher's Strange Theory

Prof. Stiattesi claims to have demonstrated by means of experiments at Bologna that the moon is oval-shaped.

The moon is more easily measured than any other heavenly body, but though it has been measured thousands of times no difference has been detected between its polar and equatorial diameters. A clergyman recently put forward the theory that the side of the moon always turned away from the earth is of the same size and shape as the great pyramid which, according to Revelations, forms the New Jerusalem. Eventually, so asserts the author of the theory, the moon will fall on the earth, and the hemisphere turned earthward will bury itself in our planet, while the pyramidal New Jerusalem will project above the rack and ruin of the elements as the Celestial City, where the faithful are to spend eternity.

This remarkable theory was published with a preface by the Bishop of Exeter.

Pruning Berry Bushes

Raspberries when grown without supports should have the canes pruned back in summer, so as to make them stocky and self-supporting; when fastened to supports they may be left longer.

Sinful Waste

Lewisham Guardians have decided to purchase 200 Bibles for the use of patients in the infirmary at a cost of $50, though a member declared that the expenditure was "a waste of the ratepayers' money."

Honesty is the best policy for you when it's the other man's.

Novel Undertaking by People of an Indiana Town

A mothers' pension plan is in effect in Evansville, although there is no law in Indiana creating a mothers' pension fund.

The pension arose in this way. Mrs. Alice Kelley, widow, announced through a newspaper that she would be forced to give away two of her children. She said that since the death of her husband she had earned a scant living at the washtub, but that her health had begun to fail and she felt she could bear the burden no longer.

Mrs. J. H. Conn, president of the Cumberland Circle of King's Daughters, took up the matter, and several other people in the city became interested and agreed to give Mrs. Kelly a certain sum each week for one year. This led to the organization of Mothers' Pension Club No. 1, and the club has paid Mrs. Kelly $2.50 each week.

An Awkward Motto

A good story relating to the Erskine family motto is recalled by the recent death of Lord Erskine, who was a great-grandson of the famous first Lord Erskine, Lord Chancellor of Great Britain. For centuries the family motto had been "judge not." When the first Lord Erskine became Lord Chancellor, chief of all the judges of the Empire and the Sovereign's legal adviser, the motto was obviously an awkward dictum to appear on the panels of his carriage and elsewhere. His Lordship proved himself to be a man of the times and invented a new motto for himself—"Trial by jury"—which has ever since appeared beneath the family arms.

Lord Macaulay's Precocity

In the story of Lord Macaulay's very precocious childhood we are told of a little plot of ground in the garden marked as his own by a border of oyster shells. The maid one day threw these away as rubbish; he ran straight to the drawing room, where his mother was entertaining guests, and said with the solemn intensity of childhood: "Cursed be Sally, for it is written, cursed be he that removeth his neighbor's landmark."

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulvaney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulvaney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. The Questions of the Child

Dr. Helen Webb, of London, England, believes parents will do well and rightly to answer, as fully and as truthfully as may be possible the questions asked by the children in the home. Dr. Webb says that one of the causes of ill-temper and ill-deeds in children is intellectual starvation—a condition easily relieved by judiciously imparted parental information. Dr. Webb might have amplified the discussion of this theme by adding that parents who make shift to answer the questions of their children establish a habit and a bond which can be made of the greatest use in retarding steps along the wrong path by the child. That child who is rewarded with, "Oh, shut up, will you?" or "Oh, stop your noise, can you?" soon learns to seek information from other than parental sources, you know—and there is a big risk that such a child will gather an unsavory mess of misinformation, don't you think? Of course, it may be a little difficult to reply to all the questions asked by a keen-minded child—but one ought to be proud of the child with such a mind, don't you

WOMEN WHO RULE

Father Minds the Baby While Mother Works

The district of Willesden is a perfect paradise for a certain type of husband. There is no need for him to go out to work; his wife will see to that. All he need do is stay at home and mind the baby. He has a job for life, and practically nothing to do.

It is no uncommon thing for a husband to mind the baby while his wife goes to work. This arrangement is due to the peculiar industrial conditions of Willesden, where there are many laundries and factories, and female labor is much in demand. Although it is cheaper than male labor would be at the same class of work, the wages are good considering that only five days a week are worked in the laundries, the women not being required on Mondays. As much as from $5 to $6 a week can be earned, $5 being a common wage, even for girls.

Consequently the women rule the industrial world of Willesden. The positions of man and wife are reversed. There is no need for the man to go to work. Not only would he be unsuitable for the job, but the labor and the wages would not suit him.

IMPERFECT WOMAN

Noted Scientist Says Ideal To-day is Defective

"The imperfect or defective type of woman is that represented by the very slight, thin-chested and nervous woman, at present so favored by fashion," declared Dr. Richard Root Smith, of Grand Rapids, in an address at the National Conference on Race Betterment. Dr. Smith added, however, "that we have no reason for believing that woman is worse off now than she has been for many generations."

The conference aimed to bring humanity to ultimate physical and mental perfection through eugenics chiefly, and euthenics, incidentally.

At the opening session Dr. Stephen Smith, vice-president of the New York State Board of Charities and president of the conference, despite his advanced age of 92, read a typewritten manuscript of 43 pages devoted to the idea that 100 years is man's nominal age.

Modern methods of living, Dr. Smith said, have not proved more disastrous to women than to men. He added that the most perfect type of woman is "that represented by individuals compact in build, deep-chested with steady nerves and fleshy enough for the anatomical angles to be nicely rounded out."

Of the imperfect type in favor, he said she exists not because of any modern fad or fashion, or of diet, or of diversion, but because her deficiencies existed in her progenitors. The only time to correct faults, the speaker said, is in childhood or before.

Dr. Smith spoke of the hook-worm disease. She had recently completed an extensive investigation through the hills of eastern Kentucky, and the information which she gathered was given to the conference.

CHURCH TOO DIGNIFIED

Terrible Effects of Alcohol Outlined by Speakers

There were scenes of stirring enthusiasm at Massey Hall, Toronto, when Rev. J. R. Patterson told the convention of the Dominion Alliance the story of the "Catch-My-Pal" movement. The transformation scene which came over Armagh and other Irish cities and towns and villages was told in a manner which brought tears to the eyes of a great many.

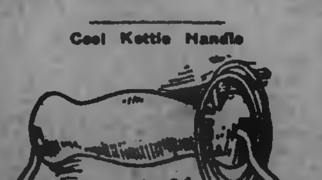
"I want the men who make the problem to go and solve it. The desire for drink was lost in the desire of saving. The Church's work is half damned with too much dignity. Go down into the gutter and pick up your fallen brother and sister."

Dr. J. Edmond Dube of Laval University, treated the subject of temperance from the standpoint of the scientific man. Scientific opinion and the results of experiments declared alcohol to be a poison.

"I have a large practice myself," said the doctor, "but I never prescribe a drop of alcohol." The dire results of drinking by enciente women upon their children, causing all sorts of deformities, and the dangers as far as heredity goes were sketched with no uncertain effect.

"Alcohol in the blood of a father is an awful thing," said the doctor. "Morrell has stated a law that children of alcoholic parents will disappear after the fourth generation. The easiest road to tuberculosis," said the speaker, "is lined with whiskey bottles."

Cool Kettle Handle



Although a wooden handle on a kettle is supposed to protect the hand, it frequently happens that the handle absorbs enough heat from laying on the metal part of the kettle to cause severe burns. Besides, it has frequently happens that the handle is burned or charred. A good way to prevent both of these happenings and keep the handle cool is to attach a coil of wire to one side of it, as shown in the sketch. This keeps the handle away from the kettle, and while it may get warm will never get hot.

CLEARS THE HEAD, OPENS THE NOSTRILS STOPS SNEEZING, CURES CATARRH

You Get Instant Relief by Inhaling the Soothing Vapor "Catarrhozone."

Catarrh is bound to come with this weather. Slight colds become more offensive and sickening every day. The inflammation extends further into the head. Soon the ears begin to buzz and ring. The head aches, the eyes pain dreadfully, the nose gets plugged up and this forces the patient to breathe through the mouth. Vile filthy secretions are forced back into the throat, requiring a great deal of coughing to keep the air passages free. Finally, this foul matter finds its way into the stomach, causing Dyspepsia and general ill-health. By this time the patient has SYSTEMATIC CATARRH, which saps strength, depletes the vital energies till consumption is the unhappy result.

There isn't the slightest use in trying to cure this condition with tablets, snuff or spray. Such treatments are wholly inadequate. You must employ Catarrhozone the only remedy that possesses power to kill the germ of Catarrh. The healing vapor of Catarrhozone is carried by the air you breathe to the most minute cells of the nose, throat, bronchial tubes and lungs. Its antiseptic medication goes everywhere that air can go. No case is too chronic, no person too old—everybody that has catarrh of any kind can be cured by this grand treatment which is endorsed by thousands of physicians throughout America, who say' "The only way to permanently get rid of Catarrh is to use Catarrhozone."

TWO MONTHS' TREATMENT GUARANTEED TO CURE, PRICE $1.00; small size 50c.; trial size 25c. Sold by dealers everywhere.

Looks Bad For This County.

Lindsay Warder: Farmers in this county are becoming alarmed over the inroad of the army worm, and are fearful that the depredations made by this fast moving body in other sections of the country may be carried on in Victoria County. Apparently the army worm is moving in a south-easterly direction, and the possibility of them entering Lindsay gardens is entertained. Gardeners and farmers would do well to acquaint themselves with the best methods of combating with this huge pest army.

Won't Sell Local Pitchers.

The directors of the Peterborough Baseball Club decided not to sell either Pitcher Schettler or Pitcher Searling to Ottawa. Shaughnessy is badly in need of a pitcher and made cash offers for Peterborough twirlers, but the local directors felt that they would not be showing the home fans much consideration if they weakened the Petes.

A New Light on Death.

Here is a new light on medical matters. Everyone knows that "Rigor Mortis" sets in after a human being, an animal or a bird dies. "Rigor Mortis" is a stiffening of the limbs and the whole system that all nature has dictated. Still in a local moving picture house is a film portraying an uncle killed on account of a forged will. Twenty-four hours after death, the dead uncle, seated in a chair is shaken by a relative who thought he, the uncle, was sleeping. That poor corpse, 24 hours after solving death's mystery, when shaken wiggles its arms and legs.

Yesterday's Police Court

At yesterday's police court, Alexander Ross pleaded guilty to having been drunk. He was fined $2 to be paid forthwith. Arthur Kennedy was charged with stealing two waggon wheels, worth $15 from Mr. George Fitzgerald. Through his counsel, Mr. Gordon he pleaded guilty. He also pleaded guilty to stealing a big brass kettle from Munro's hotel and also a garbage can in front of Mr. W.H. Moore's residence. Mr. Gordon remarked that whilst Kennedy had been in the court before for drinking but this is his first criminal charge. He urged, as Kennedy had a wife and children the prisoner be let go on suspended sentence. By consent of M. Wearing, the County Crown Attorney he was let go on suspended sentence and will report weekly to the Chief of Police.

A Bargain in Pictures.

Mr. I. S. Levy, the New York artist and picture dealer, who with Mrs. Levy, a former Peterborough girl, is stopping at the Oriental Hotel, had a chat with a Times representative yesterday.

Our scribe related how, some years ago he purchased a mutilated picture by Sir Joshua Reynolds of "Samuel praying to the Lord" which was later bought by the late Senator Cox. Mr. Levy told of a bargain he got in Norwalk, Conn., and secured a portrait of a lady painted by Reynolds. It seems he was selling a $200 water color to a rich lady in that city. She told him she had, in her attic a portrait by Sir Joshua Reynolds that she did not like. It had descended to her through dead ancestors. She offered to trade the Reynolds for the water color. Mr. Levy told her, after seeing it that the Reynolds was very valuable. The rich woman remarked "I don't like the portrait and, as I got it from my father I do not care to sell it." The exchange was made. Two weeks afterwards Mr. Levy refused an offer made by a New York Art Gallery, of $40,000 for his Reynolds.

Advice To Local Farmers.

Now that this county is threatened by an invasion of the "Army" worm a few words on this subject may be of interest to local farmers and gardeners.

On account of the crops in some districts being badly attacked by this pest, even in Victoria County, it is advisable for every farmer to be on the outlook and ready to combat it if it comes his way.

The army worm is about one and one-half inches long when full grown, and is striped with black, yellow and green, of a dingy appearance, and much resembling the cut worm. When detected, all efforts should be centred on keeping the worms out of crops not yet attacked. A deep furrow, (several furrows are better) ploughed around the fields with a vertical or steep side of the furrow next to the crop to be protected serves as a barrier to prevent the march of the worms, as they will not be able to crawl up the straight side of the furrow. Holes or pits should be dug in the bottom of the furrow every ten or twelve feet to catch the worms as they crawl along looking for a place to get out. They can then be destroyed with a blunt stick or by burning straw over them. By thoroughly spraying or dusting a small strip of the crop in advance of the worms with Paris green, and literally distributing poisoned bran (mixed at the rate of fifty pounds bran and one pound Paris green with enough molasses and water to sweeten it) large numbers may be destroyed.

TREATING DISEASES OF HORSES FEET

Simple Treatment For Commonest Foot and Leg Trouble.

In sore shins the trouble appears as a swelling, generally on the front of the cannon bone in young race horses.

It is the result of concussion on hard ground, and much resembles a splint in both cause and treatment, but differs in that it is diffused or scattered over a large surface, whereas a splint is smaller and more confined. A splint, too, is on the side of the bone, while sore shins are always in front. It may be produced by even a single gallop, therefore suspect this if the colt goes lame immediately after a sharp burst of speed, and remember that it will increase with exercise. As in splints he walks soundly but drops when trotted. When examining him, if the hand be passed down the front of the bone he will flinch when the spot is touched. In such an early stage as this, when there is practically nothing to be seen at a mere glance, many jump to the conclusion that the trouble is in the shoulder. Later on a swelling is seen on the front of the bone, but by this time much damage may have been done unless care has been taken.

The treatment is practically the same as for a splint.

1. Take off the shoes and give him perfect rest.
2. Bathe with hot water then change suddenly to cold water, and use this freely.
3. Use the same blister as in splints: Biniodide of mercury, two parts; lard or vaseline, eight parts.

Jockeys frequently use cocaine to hide this disease just before a race, but they thus intensify the trouble and turn what might have been a simple case into a serious one.

SILK FROM SPRUCEWOOD

Beautiful Cloth Spun From Filaments of Great Logs

Silk dresses are now made from wood. There is the cleverly "mercerized" cotton, but machinery and chemicals have gone a step even beyond that in rivalling the art of the silk-spinning worm. The process of making silk yarn from a spruce log is a remarkably speedy one, and the results astonish you when you see the wood thrown carelessly into a great vat to appear a few hours later in shining thread. The wood is first cut into thin sheets, after which it is put into a tank for chemical treatment. It is chewed and mashed by the machinery and "digested" by the strong chemicals until it closely resembles molasses in color and consistency. The solution is then forced through well-heated tubes, each with an outlet containing just as many perforations as there are to be filaments in the thread. Simultaneously it is sprayed with a chemical which "fixes" the thread, shrinking and hardening it. But to the wearer of silk, a garment made from wood pulp looks every bit as good as the product of the silkworm.

Cloth of this kind wears like leather, and is cheaper than the cheapest cloth. The value of the material thus spun is that it dyes extremely well, the colors coming up admirably, and it is, as a matter of fact, a good imitation of silk.

The people of Tibet have for a long time now worn clothes constructed of wood. In Ecuador the bark of a tree which grows on the slopes of the Andes is utilized for making blankets. Usually the blanket is six feet long and five feet wide, and is as soft and pliable as though it were made from flannel. It is about the thickness of a good flannel blanket, and can be rolled up and put in a strap without hurting or injuring it. This tree or bark blanket is merely a strip of bark cut from a section of the trunk of the demajagua tree. The Indians make a cutting around the trunk to get it, and they prepare it by soaking it in water until it is soft. It is then pounded so that the rough outside can be stripped off and the inside alone left. The inside is of fine fibres so joined together by Nature that it makes a beautiful blanket, warm enough to be used as a cover, and soft enough for a mattress.

One Pound, One Horsepower

That he can produce one horsepower for each pound his engine weighs is the claim of the French inventor of a motor depending upon the explosive force of gunpowder for power.

Italians Like Garters

The wearing of garters by men in Italy is becoming general. Dealers estimate that 60 per cent. of the male population wear them. The colors most in demand are a uniform oaf grey; next, soft grey-blues, soft pal greens, brown or mauve, of the lighter shades. Bright or fancy colors do not sell as readily as undefined colors. Garters are sometimes offered with suspenders, neckties, and handkerchiefs, all matched in colors, packed in one box for purchase for presents

CITY IN PARAGRAPH

A motor party hailing from Los Angeles, Cal., stopped yesterday at the Oriental. They were returning home from Buckhorn.

Overheard in a George Street car yesterday. Maud "I'm losing quite a lot of my hair lately." Minnie, "Why don't you lock it up dear?"

Owing to the recent startling disclosures as to the impurity of Port Hope's drinking water, the Commissioners have requested citizens to keep away from the Water Works grounds of that town.

Bills are out announcing the fifth annual Regatta of the Trent River Cottagers' Association, which is to be held on the Trent River on Monday August 3rd.

Thirty years ago yesterday Messrs. G.A. Strickland and J.E. McIntyre, (former proprietor of the Oriental hotel), entered for the junior sculling race held in Toronto under auspices of the C.A.A.O.

The contemporary press are making a lot of fuss because people at Atlantic City danced tango to the air of "Lead Kindly Light." Pshaw, that's nothing. The "kindly light" of the sun, on Wednesday, demonstrated that a girl on Hunter street wore a delicate shade of pink garters under an x-ray skirt.

CONFERENCE ON HOME RULE PROVES A COMPLETE FAILURE

Deadlock Over Area to be Excluded From the Measure --Announcement by Premier Asquith

London, July 24.—The fact that the conference at Buckingham Palace between the leaders of the various political parties had been rendered abortive by its failure to agree upon the area of Ulster to be excluded from the control of the Dublin Parliament, was confirmed by Premier Asquith in the House of Commons to-day.

The Premier's statement on the subject of to-day's meeting of the conference was very brief. He said:

"The possibility of finding an area to be excluded from the operation of the Irish Home Rule Bill was considered, but the conference, unable to agree in principle or in detail on such an area, brought its meeting to a close."

Premier Asquith merely added:

"That is the report made, Mr. Speaker, by the chairman of the conference to the King."

Mr. Asquith then announced that the second reading of the bill to amend the Irish Home Rule Bill would be taken on July 28.

The Premier was invited to inform the House as to the exact differences of opinion which has prevented the attainment of a settlement by the conference and on the reply said:

The House of Commons then adjourned.

ROMAN CATHOLIC INTOLERANCE

Just how Roman Catholics in Roman Catholic countries love tolerance was seen a few weeks ago in Barcelona, Spain when a gathering of Roman Catholics was held to protest against the holding of the recent Christian Endeavor meeting in that place. They declared that the Government should not have permitted this "heretical" demonstration, and they sent the following telegram to the Apostolic Nuncio at Madrid: "The Catholics assembled at the House of the People protest against the complaisance of the Government towards false religions and they beg you will transmit to His Holiness in Rome their sentiments of filial submission." And we venture to say that not one Roman Catholic editor in Canada will venture to reprove his co-religionists, or intimate to them that such bigotry is intolerable.

JAPANESE SAILORS ATTEMPT TO ESCAPE FROM KOMAGATA MARU

Spring Over Side of Vessel and Swim for Shore But Are Nearly Exhausted by Strong Current

Vancouver, July 24.—As the Komagata Maru was passing through Plum pois Pass two Japanese were seen to dive over the side, and "Man overboard" signal was given to the convoying cruiser. Within a few seconds one of the warship's cutters was lowered and manned. With strong breast stroke, the Japanese seamen were endeavoring to conquer the fast running current, but they were rapidly becoming exhausted. In the nick of time the Rainbow's cutter overtook them, and brawny arms soon hauled them into the cutter. They were then put aboard the Rainbow and placed under the care of the ship's doctor.

The Japanese had evidently carefully planned to escape from the ship, as when they were sighted up they were clothed in bathing suits and had their clothes strapped to their backs. They were unacquainted with the strong nature of the tide running through the pass.

TO KEEP SKIN WHITE VELVETY, WRINKLE-FREE

C.M.W. says: "I perspire so excessively that powder makes my face streaky these days and creams make it greasy and shiny. What can I do?" Try the treatment recommended to "Anise."

A.F.G. writes: "My skin seems so loose and wrinkly in hot weather. What will help it?" Use a wash lotion made by dissolving 1 oz. powdered saxolite in ½ pt. witch hazel. This is immediately effective in any wrinkled or flabby condition. Use daily for awhile and results will astonish you.

Anise: A simple way to keep your skin smooth, soft and white is to apply ordinary mercolized wax before retiring, wash it off in the morning. This keeps the face free from particles of lifeless cuticle which constantly appear. The wax absorbs these worn-out particles, so the younger, fresher, healthier skin is always in view. An ounce of mercolized wax may be had at small cost at any drug store. Use like cold cream.—Aunt Sally in Women's Realm.

BIBLE IN MOVING PICTURES

Interesting Exhibitions Given Daily at the Grand Opera House.

Much interest is being aroused by the Photo-drama of Creation now on at the Grand Opera House 3 and 8 p.m. daily, and the appreciation of the public is marked by increased attendance. At present Part 4 the last of the series, is being enacted; and, with a vividness only possible where moving pictures and talking machines are combined one is carried from the life of Christ on into the Messianic reign.

The preparation of the films has involved great activities and expense. The cameras have been carried into the Holy Land, and there on the Mount of Olives and in Jerusalem have been found the backgrounds for re-enacted tragedies. Death of the first Christian martyr Stephen is thus forcibly portrayed; but the taming of the lions by Marcellus transcends all else in interest, and gives a glimpse of the persecutions of the early Christian Church. The "movies" take us into Japan, China and India, and portrays street scenes and customs, the whole giving us a broad glimpse of worldwide conditions to day, and showing us the need of the kingdom for which we are taught to pray "Thy Kingdom come."

There is no question as to the popularity of moving picture shows. The present effort is how to make use of this great popularity by instruction in that which is profitable, educative and elevating. Undoubtedly the witnessing the representations of Biblical events will stimulate interest in the Book of Books and deserves the support of all. Both sessions, 3 and 8 p.m. daily are entirely free to the public. Saturday evening Part 4 will be given for the last; but on Sunday at the usual hours Pastor C.E. Heard of Vancouver will give two very interesting and instructive addresses. Pastor Heard is a speaker of rare ability, and some of the finest moving picture scenes will be given in connection with the lectures.

Winnipeg, July 24.—Harvesting in Manitoba has commenced and the first sample of new wheat grown in Manitoba was exhibited on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange this morning by Mr. Andrew Kelly, of the Western Canada Flour Mills. It was grown on the Lowe farm, forty miles southwest of Winnipeg, where about fifty acres of wheat have been cut. The sample is described as being hard, firm and of good quality.

TROOPS CALLED TO SUPPRESS RIOTING

Royal Canadian Rifles Held in Readiness for St. John

Halifax, July 24.—At ten o'clock this morning the officer commanding the Royal Canadian Rifles at Wellington Barracks was notified by headquarters to hold a contingent of the troops in readiness to proceed at a moment's notice to St. John to assist the local authorities to maintain order in that city, as a result of the street railway strike.

TO PROBE HUERTA'S FINANCIAL METHODS

President Carbajal Has Ordered Investigation—Will Punish Offenders

Mexico City, July 24.—President Carbajal has ordered an investigation of the financial methods of the Huerta Government in reply to public rumors of possible wrongdoing. The investigation, it is stated, will be made by high officials of the Ministry of Finance, and if irregularities are found those guilty of them will be punished according to law.

The Government announced to-day that it will immediately begin negotiations with the American authorities of Vera Cruz to arrange for the re-establishment of the Federal service there under Mexican officials. The Government will also propose the re-establishment of Mexican military authorities at Vera Cruz.

MANY CHANGES AT THE FOREIGN OFFICE

Earl Kitchener to be Viceroy of India—Lord Hardinge for Paris

Montreal, July 24.—A London cable to the Daily Mail says important changes at the Foreign Office are in prospect. Sir Arthur Nicholson, the present head of the permanent department is likely to succeed Sir Francis Bertie as Ambassador at Paris, his place being taken by Sir Eyre Crowe, one of the assistant under secretaries of State. Sir Arthur Nicholson's tenure at Paris, however, is not likely to be lengthy as the embassy there is ear-marked for Lord Hardinge, at present Viceroy of India, who may be succeeded by Earl Kitchener.

ALL IRELAND TORN APART BY HOME RULE QUARREL

Unionists Pessimistic As to Fruitful Outcome of Legislation

Dublin, July 24.—Ireland is frankly pessimistic about the home rule amending bill. To Unionists and Nationalists alike it seems about inconceivable that a formula of compromise can be found. The text of the bill has been published, and the measure is seen to be even worse than was anticipated. It is a phantasm, a shadow, a thing without substance. It does not even pretend to furnish the means for carrying out its own provisions. In the forecast the fear was expressed that the government would provide no effective machinery for administering an excluded Ulster. They have not done so. They have evaded the problem of administration altogether.

Ulster, or the excluded portions thereof, will be controlled by the Lord Lieutenant, who is apparently to have spacious and far-reaching power. Nothing is done to solve the questions of the customs and postoffice. In judicial cases appeal is evidently to lie in Dublin. The borough of Londonderry is dealt with in one way, and the borough of Newry in another. As to the time limit the Unionists are entirely at a loss to understand Lord Crewe's suggestion that at the end of six years there is to be "obligatory consideration" and not automatic inclusion.

Ulster is given no real option at all. She has to vote whether she will have home rule now or after a definite interval. Whichever way she votes she will still be voting for home rule. In other words she will be voting for submission to a Dublin parliament, which the Covenanters have sworn to resist. They will never vote for automatic inclusion at the end of a stated period. To do so would be to abandon the liberty for which they have struggled.

A Wearing Game.

The ministry is evidently hoping to wear out the Covenanters. They probably calculate that the heavy strain of keeping together an elaborate military organization cannot be endured much longer. Possibly they think that if they procrastinate long enough, the Ulster forces will disintegrate. But, as has been the case throughout this controversy, they understand Ulster very little, say the Unionists, if they suppose that further delay will produce defections in the ranks of the Ulster Volunteers.

The Ulstermen are angry and defiant. They treat the repetition of Mr. Asquith's old offer as an insult. The news from Ulster indicates that the Unionist council will devote itself henceforward to active military preparations. It is understood that the council has never wavered in its purpose; and all its committees have been formed, and that the provisional government can be set up at 24 hours' notice. It is almost certain, therefore, that a situation of the gravest and most dangerous kind will arise if and when the home rule bill becomes law without any provision for the permanent exclusion of Ulster. This is the Unionist view and in a case of such gravity, of course, both sides must be heard.

The spread of the Irish Volunteer movement in Belfast and throughout Ulster has been remarkable. It is officially stated that the strength of the Belfast regiment, which started three months ago with a mere handful, is now between 2,500 and 3,000, all of whom are regular attendants at drills thrice weekly.

HURRY ALONG WITH THAT PRESERVING

Cherries Will be Off by Middle of Week, and Raspberries Waning

Hamilton, Ont., July 24.—The last of the cherries will be off by the middle of the coming week, when raspberries too, will be on the wane. Tomatoes are ripening fast and will be fairly plentiful within a few days. F. J. Woolverton & Sons are getting a car of pre-cooled fruit and vegetables ready for the Montreal market with the intention of sending it east on Monday. It will be the first car of pre-cooled products to go out from the new Government cooling plant.

SHOT DEAD WHEN HE ASKED FORGIVENESS

Young Man Who Eloped With Sweetheart Killed by Father-in-Law

Haverstraw, N.Y., July 24.—In his cell in the county jail at New City, where he was taken after he shot and killed Eugene B. Newman, his 19 year old son-in-law, Mr. Wm. V. Cleary, prominent in county politics and for fourteen years town clerk, refused to-day to discuss the murder or tell why he shot the young man.

Young Newman, who is a son of one of the owners of The Rockland County Messenger, secretly married Cleary's 18 year old daughter, Anna Cleary, last Saturday in Weehawken, N.J. Yesterday the couple confided in their respective mothers and Newman was advised to tell Cleary and ask his forgiveness.

It was while on this mission that Newman was shot. He entered the town clerk's office, where Cleary was talking with three friends. Newman extended his hand and asked for Cleary's blessing. Cleary, with hardly a word and before his friends could interfere, fired four shots into the young man's body. Newman died instantly and Cleary shortly afterwords surrendered himself to the authorities.

Newman and Anna Cleary had been sweethearts from their first meeting, six years ago. It was an established thing in the village that Newman was to marry Anna. His parents did not object and Cleary himself never showed any bitter opposition to the match, although it is said, he did not look upon it with favor.

PROPOSED MERGER IS BEFORE MINISTER

Ottawa, July 24.—It is understood that the application for the approval of the merger of the bank of Nova Scotia and Metropolitan is before the Finance Department. In the absence of Hon. W. T. White, Financial Minister, no statement could be secured at the Department this morning. However, the Department has been fully apprised of the movement for a merger.

By the new Bank Act the approval of the agreement between the two Board of Directors must be given by the Finance Minister before it is passed and the amalgamation proceeds further.

AUSTRIAN RESERVISTS WARNED TO PREPARE TO REJOIN COLORS

Tension Between Servia and Austria Rapidly Nears the Breaking Point

Berlin, July 24.—Austrian reservists residing here were instructed to-day to hold themselves in readiness to return to Austria and join their regiments at the shortest notice.

Berlin, July 24.—The grave possibilities connected with the strong Austrian note to Servia, which took virtually the form of an ultimatum, demanding the suppression of the Pan-Servian movement and the punishment of those concerned in the assassination on June 28 in Bosnia of the late Archduke Francis Ferdinand are recognized in official circles here. It is realized in these quarters that further serious developments in Austro-Servian relations are inevitable unless Servia complies with the Austrian demands.

It is believed in authoritative quarters that the Servians will yield unless assured of support from outside and for this reason official eyes here are turned to-day less to Belgrade than to St. Petersburg, where the decision of the Council of Ministers is expected to settle the question of peace or war.

Germany Approves.

It was stated to-day that Germany had not been consulted regarding the Austrian note to Servia before its delivery, but that she thoroughly approved the step taken and was prepared for all the consequences that might ensue from it.

It was pointed out that should Russia take part against Austria, Germany was fully prepared to draw the sword on behalf of her ally in accordance with the terms of the Triple Alliance between Germany, Austria and Italy.

DR. MARTYN ASSURED OF SEAT BY REVERSAL OF JUDGMENT

Decision of Chief Justice in East Lambton Appeal Given To-day; Ballots With Counterfoil Attached Are Counted

Toronto, July 24.—The decision of Sir William Meredith to-day that ballots shall be counted even when, through oversight, the counterfoil has been left attached, not only gives Dr. J. B. Martyn his Seat in East Lambton, but also practically assures Mr. G. W. Sulman, Conservative, of his seat in West Kent. The latter case is similar to that of Dr. Martyn, and, if all the ballots are counted, the Conservative candidate's election will stand.

Chief Justice Sir William Meredith one of the election judges sitting at Osgoode Hall this morning, reversed the decision of the County Judge in the recount in the East Lambton election and allowed the 123 votes which the County Judge had rejected because the counterfoils were attached. He also allowed one other vote which the County Judge had rejected, the result being that Dr. Martyn the Conservative candidate, is elected by a majority of four.

The Chief Justice admitted one vote which had been rejected on the ground that the cross was partly on the blank and partly on the line. It said it was practically on the line and ruled that it was properly marked.

THE ARMY WORM HAS NOW INVADED PETERBORO' COUNTY

That dreaded plague, the army worm has invaded this county. The advance vanguard of this destroying army has approached to within two miles of this city. It was reported to The Times yesterday that these destructive worms had partly devastated a field of corn on the farm of Mr. C. Hancock, of Smith, who lives some two miles out of town. Mr. Hancock has an eight acre plot of growing corn. In one night these pestilential worms worked right across the plot entirely destroying three rows of corn, and incidentally such grass or weeds as may have been growing on the route of their march.

Fortunately it is predicted that the worms' termination will speedily be affected. The army worm has been doing great damage in the townships of Ops and Verulam in Victoria county.

Blackbirds kill the worm in large numbers; a bounteous rain will destroy it quicker than all else; while the Tachina fly, a sort of parasite, deposits its eggs on the worms back, and when the process of hatching ensues the worm dies.

These three important discoveries were made yesterday by experts, who have been closely scrutinizing the pest in all its phases, and those farmers whose lands in the stricken area are threatened with destruction are profoundly anxious that rain will come in torrents, or failing that, will attempt to cajole blackbirds to their premises.

NOVEL LIFE BELT RACE.

A novelty was introduced into the programme of sports, one of the forms of the celebration of Dominion Day, took place on the White Star liner "Teutonic," on her last westbound voyage, this being a life-belt race.

Captain James being the judge, the proper tieing of the life-belt rather than the speed at which it was accomplished being the principal object. A little girl proved to be the winner donning her belt and tieing it securely in the short space of twenty-three seconds.

This innovation in the sports was intended partly to make the passengers familiar with their life-belts and the mode of adjusting them without in any way causing alarm, and it succeeded admirably.

IS NOT BLAMED FOR STEPFATHER'S DEATH

Aylesworth Discharged From Custody Following McConnell Inquest

Deseronto, Ont., July 24.—After the police had chased a man they took to be Harry Aylesworth through the County of Prince Edward and had finally found Aylesworth at work in Bloomfield in a factory, and had placed him under arrest, the inquest over the body of Sampson McConnell failed to furnish any evidence connecting the prisoner in the slightest way with the death of his stepfather. As a result Aylesworth was freed at once.

Evidence went to show that the prisoner had received two warnings to "get out" one by telephone and one by post card. He did not do so, however, and as it turned out quite rightly.

The jury returned a verdict showing the cause of death to have been rupture of the bladder. The deceased had been badly battered about while in a state of intoxication. The jury, however, did not place the cause of the rupture to any occurrence or lay blame on any person.

Hero Dogs

One of the most interesting classes in English dog shows is the "heroes" class. Dogs who have saved life from fire or drowning make up the chief proportion of heroes among dogs; and one year's entries also included a dog which had protected a policeman from the attack of a sailor's knife, one that had rescued a child from being run over by a horse and wagon, and another who had helped a clergyman to find his "lost" little daughter.

Nothing New

Those Futurist women who try to show their Futurism by wearing green and blue and pink hair are really a few centuries behind the times. Colored hair is nothing but a back number. Ancient Rome saw the first of the craze, and the Roman matrons kept the wigmakers busy supplying them with hair of all hues for all occasions. Faustina, wife of Marcus Aurelius, had several hundred colored wigs in her wardrobe.

Striped Design For Young Girl

Striped materials are one of the season's most popular suitings. They are especially good for young girl's frocks.

A simple afternoon gown for a young girl is of brown and tan striped charmeuse with a plain skirt narrow at the bottom and trimmed with martin. The waist is made of the stripes running a different way from those on the skirt and it has a wide brown velvet belt and a white silk collar trimmed with the fur.

This little frock could be made of plain wool material without the fur and still be most stylish.

CANADA'S DIRTY STREETS

Europe Sets Example in Cleaning Thoroughfares

Ottawa is by no means the worst offender among the cities of Canada in having dirty streets, says the Ottawa Free Press. Montreal is generally held up as an awful example of dirty streets, while Winnipeg boasts of having the cleanest on the continent. The United States cannot be looked to in this regard, as the cities of that country, most of them, suffer as severely from improperly cleaned streets as do the cities of Canada. It is in Europe that lessons in street cleaning must be obtained.

Perhaps the most striking difference noticed by the Canadian tourist abroad between Canadian and European cities is the cleanness of the streets of the latter, particularly in such places as Berlin and Dresden.

Clean streets, as the term is understood abroad, are unknown in the cities of this country. The dirtiness of our streets, both in summer and winter, with their clouds of dust and charged with disease germs and filth of all kinds, makes walking almost intolerable and imposes on storekeepers a burden of cleaning that is far more expensive in the aggregate than would be the proper and systematic cleaning of the streets.

Only occasionally, when the streets are locally flushed, can the conditions of our streets be compared with those abroad, where street cleanliness is one of the first principles of city administration.

Yet, by the use of proper methods and apparatus, the streets of a city may be kept clean, within reasonable limits of expense.

TIGHT SKIRTS INJURIOUS

Woman Doctor Says They Mean Less Exercise

"Fashion is retarding the physical development of women," was an assertion made by Dr. Jennie Gray in an address delivered before the Junior Suffrage Association of Toronto. The subject of the address was the possibilities for women in nation-building.

Dr. Gray declared that the tight skirt was leading to women taking a car even for distances as short as several blocks. Walking was one of the greatest factors for physical development which the city dweller possessed, and walking to business, instead of using the cars, was a health opportunity that should be seized upon. The future race of Canadians depended on the women of to-day and their proper physical development. Such development was not possible with the styles now being worn. While the modern nations do not have the women bind their feet, as does China, the binding together of the ankles in such a way as to force the women to walk in a deformed manner was countenanced.

The health enjoyed by Canadians to-day was due to the fact that their forefathers lived the hardworking outdoor life that made for physical development. With the ever-growing city life such work was impossible for many, and showed the need of sufficient outdoor exercise outside working hours. The physique of the future generations depended on such being [illegible].

AS LIGHT AS LAGER BUT BETTER FOR YOU

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

DIETING AND EXERCISE CONDUCIVE TO HEALTH

Old Athlete Tells Middle-aged Men How to Keep in Condition

Mike Donovan, who has been for thirty years boxing instructor of the New York Athletic Club is now 67 years old, and probably ninety-nine men out of a hundred between the ages of twenty and thirty would find him an extremely awkward customer at any form of physical encounter. He is willing to tell what he knows for he believes that the term "self defence" means more than the ability of a man to repel an attack. When Donovan uses the term he means the ability of a man to fight off old age, or rather the common symptoms of it. He himself is grey haired to-day, but he is an athlete who can box from 3 o'clock in the afternoon until late at night and hardly quicken his breathing. No one living of his years is in better condition for hard and continuous physical exertion. At a time of life when many men are tottering to the grave he is a trained athlete.

Original Ideas on Condition

Donovan has been too busy to be much of a reader, and it may be taken for granted that the ideas he has upon the subject of physical fitness are not those conveyed to him by some theorist. They are the fruit of a life time spent in keeping fit and in helping other people fit. He believes that physical fitness for the middle-aged man and the man who is still further advanced in life is easily enough attainable. All that is required is some will power and, of course, some intelligence. It is a matter of diet and exercise. He needs to eat less, and exercise more and practice deep breathing, and do without tobacco and alcohol.

Down on Alcohol

Donovan believes that the average business man whose work is done behind a desk or counter eats about three times as much as he should. Moreover, he probably drinks too much. Donovan's idea of too much drinking is any drinkinng. He says that alcohol should be regarded a poison, and everyone knows that even a very little poison is a bad thing. He says that three quarts of wa ought to be imbibed in the course of the day. Then at meal times there will not be the demand for liquids. He is also opposed to the drinking of tea and coffee, and after water he places warm milk. Those who insist upon drinking tea or coffee ought to drink plenty of milk with it, and that drinking ought not to be done at meal time.

For a Light Breakfast

We find his authority flatly opposed to the medical men who say that breakfast ought to be the best meal. He is against a heavy breakfast, and for that matter, too, a heavy lunch. Even at night he does not favor anything in the nature of a meal that will leave the consumer satiated. We ought to leave the table feeling that we could eat more. Mike is something of a vegetarian, but a discriminating one, for he does not endorse all vegetables. He divides them into two classes. In the first he places spinach, string beans, cauliflower and cabbage, and insists that cabbage ought to be well cooked. These vegetables ought to be eaten freely. On the black list, as far as he is concerned, go tomatoes, cucumbers, lettuce and radishes.

Get Plenty of Sleep

As far as meat is concerned, Donovan says that beef and mutton are in a class by themselves. He is a strong advocate of the Fletcher system, and cautions against any bolting of meals. To the man who smokes he says that the best thing to smoke is a pipe, the next best a cigar. The cigarette is condemned whole-heartedly because of the general practice of inhaling it. He differs with such authorities as Edison in the matter of sleeping hours. The old saying of "seven hours for a man, eight for a woman and nine for a fool" finds no champion in him. Everyone ought to sleep at least eight hours. His own preference is for nine. As for the choice of exercise, while Donovan is naturally partial to boxing, he believes that walking is the best for general purposes, since everyone can walk a little if he tries.

Our Point of View

This is the time of year when the stout man in a white linen suit goes to a picnic and distinguishes himself by sitting down in a blackberry pie.

—o—

A news item informs us that the Federation of Women's Clubs "has put the ban on tight skirts." The "ban" probably means some new kind of flounce or furbelow.

—o—

Hon. Mr. Rowell is reported to have stated that he doesn't want to be Premier of Ontario anyway. This ought to make the sentiment unanimous.

—o—

Our old friend Vic Huerta complains that the newspapers do not tell the truth about him. You ought to be grateful for that Vic. Just imagine how you would suffer if they did.

—o—

It is said that Sir Wilfred Laurier says he has no desire to return to the Premiership. We are glad to hear it, and as the public also has no desire for him to return we move to make it unanimous.

—o—

The Hon. Chauncey M. Depew, of New York, says he "expects to see American cities burned and destroyed by the Japanese." Chauncey is too old to be talking that way, and somebody ought to advise him to put more water in his whiskey.

—o—

There is a Toronto bartender who says that he is the King of Siam, which indicates that he has been absorbing a good deal of beer. If he had stuck to a good grade of whiskey he might have been the Emperor of Germany or some other country that is not in the one-horse class.

The Throb of Brotherhood

When the provincial elections took place in Ontario it was felt by many that the election would act as a feeler in regard to a possible Dominion election, and when Sir James Whitney was returned with a very large majority it was felt that Ontario was "safe." Then came the Manitoba election, and while the campaign was in progress it was plainly asserted that as Ontario and Manitoba were Mr. Borden's chief reliance a decisive victory in Manitoba would be accepted as evidence that this was a propitious time for the federal election. But the Manitoba election did not go just as the Conservatives hoped, and the election was hardly over before we had the authorative statement of a member of the Dominion cabinet that there would be no general election in Canada this year. This will generally be accepted as politically wise, although if the hard times continue and Canada has a bad winter it would certainly work against the Government. It is hardly likely that an election would make much change in the relative positions of the parties; but of course, an election is always liable to offer undreamed-of surprises.

Magic "Nerviline" Cures Toothache, Earache

IT RELIEVES EVERY EXTERNAL PAIN.

CURES COLDS, COUGHS, SORE THROAT, TIGHT CHEST AND HOARSENESS.

It's when sickness comes at night when you are far from the druggist, or the doctor, that's when you need Nerviline most. Experienced mothers are never without it. One of the children may have toothache. Without Nerviline,—a sleepless night for the entire household. With Nerviline the pain is relieved quickly. It may be earache, perhaps a stiff neck or one of the kiddies coughing with a bad chest cold. Nothing can give quicker results than vigorous rubbing with this old-time family remedy.

Nerviline is too useful, too valuable to be without. For lumbago, lame back, sciatica or neuralgia, there is no liniment with half of Nerviline's power to penetrate and ease the pain.

As a family safeguard, as something to ward off sickness and to cure the minor ills that will occur in every family, to cure pain anywhere, you can find nothing to compare with old-time Nerviline, which for forty years has been the most widely used family remedy in the Dominion. The most economical size is the large 50c. family size bottle, small trial size 25c. All dealers sell Nerviline.

No Federal Election This Year

A prosperous farmer and a battered bum drove into a little Ontario town not 100 miles from Peterborough the other day—but neither the bleared eyes of the vagrant nor the keener ones of the farmer saw the whirling maze of life.

For their heasts were full of visions—drawn from the dusts of a half-century by the humming of a song.

Two brothers left the Emerald Isle to try their fortunes in Canada. One found his place in the broad farms of Ontario, where each summer's sun added to his stock of worldly goods. The other kept looking— gazing too often through the bottom of glasses to see opportunities and ever moving on, in the hope that Fate would toss a fortune, ready-made, into his hands.

No word passed between them. This year the battered wanderer went into the harvest fields for work. No names were given. But as he worked he sang—and he sang the song of other years.

The song had its echo in the memory of the employer—only they are no longer employer and hired hand, but Pat and Bob as they were when they left Ireland a half-century ago.

The moral? There isn't any at all—except that the world is full of a number of things and that among them are emotions so changeless, memories so deeply engraved that a song can wipe away the wealth of the prosperous and the scars of battered failure and leave them simply "brothers."

ALL NATIONS SMOKE

There is hardly a country in the world where the pipe is not smoked in one form or another.

The Kaffir dearly loves his pipe and, failing the genuine article, will use anything that will hold tobacco—from a piece of iron piping to a cow's horn. When not even these are available he will use the earth! He does this by making a small hole to hold the tobacco, from which he makes a passage for the smoke by pushing a curved piece of wire through the ground. He then lies face downwards, applies a light to the tobacco, and his lips to the ground, at the spot where he has withdrawn the wire, and smokes in peace.

In many villages of the North-west Provinces of India are to be found public hookahs for the use and comfort of travellers. Everyone has heard of the Indian's pipe of peace. General Blucher's pipe-smoking was of a very different character. He appointed a man to the post of "pipe-master," whose duty it was to fill a long clay pipe and hand it to the General before every engagement. Blucher would then enjoy a few whiffs, give back the pipe, and gallop into the firing line.

MARCH OF SCIENCE

Canadian Astronomer Says Moon Has no Influence on Weather

Dr. Otto Klotz, Assistant Dominion Astronomer, dispells the ancient superstition that the moon has any influence on the weather, or that the moonlight makes fish unfit to eat. In a lecture Dr. Klotz explained that weight is merely a term used to describe the attraction or pull, or gravity, existing between two bodies—such as between the earth and the moon, the earth and a ball, or other object. Color, too, according to science, is merely a mental impression caused by varying vibrations of light and light itself cannot be described as a material substance. Yet every form of material can be reduced to atoms and electrons, and [illegible] rays of light. From stern and stubborn materialism science would seem to be arriving at a stage of [illegible] expressed by Thomas Carlyle, in Sartor Resartus, as follows:

"All things visible are emblems; what thou seest is not there on its own account; strictly taken, is not there at all: Matter exists only spiritually, and to represent some Idea, and BODY it forth."

Or, as Dr. [illegible] attractively expressed it, "We ourselves are vitalized sunbeams, and that is one of the reasons why our temperament should be more sunny." With more of the sunlight of science the moonshine of superstition might soon be dispelled.

EDISON'S FIRST INVENTION

Electrical Apparatus to Kill off the Hungry Cockroaches

It is stated that when Edison was a telegraph operator much annoyance was caused by cockroaches getting into the tin cans in which the boys carried their lunches. Various methods of getting rid of them were tried, but without success, and then Edison made a bet that he would exterminate the foe. The next day the dinner cans were piled in a heap, and the wizard surrounded them with a circle of tinfoil ribbon about one inch wide. About a quarter of an inch away he placed a similar circle, both ribbons being upright, and then connected them with a battery. Along came the cockroaches. To surmount the obstacles they had to place their hind legs on the outer ribbon and their forelegs on the inner one. The moment they did so the circuit was completed and they toppled over dead.

A Democratic Statesman

M. Giolitti, former Prime Minister of Italy, is a statesman who follows the simple life. He has lived for twenty years in the same modest house, and neither he nor Mme. Giolitti ever goes into society. When Mme. Giolitti needs a change of air she takes a room in an unpretentious country "pension" which charges only $1.70 a day; and when M. Giolitti joins her for the week-end he never fails to invite the local doctor and the local schoolmaster to join him in a rubber of [illegible]

SLANG OF THE SEA

Origin of Some of the Queer Phrases Used by Mariners

Practically every recognized language has been called upon at some time to help to build up the vocabulary of the sea. Davy Jones, for instance, might be taken [illegible] to some dead-and-gone [illegible] the name is [illegible] from [illegible] other source. [illegible] "Duffy Jonah's locker" for [illegible] the original, "Duffy" [illegible] Indian name for [illegible] and "Jonah" referring to the prophet.

Another expression gradually corrupted out of its original form is the "dog watch." It was originally the "dodge watch," because it lasts only two hours, and was intended to ensure that the same men shall not be on duty every day during the same hours. The "jury mast" had nothing in common with the "twelve good men and true," except its derivation from the same French word "jour," meaning "one day." The jury mast is erected temporarily, "for a day," just as the jury, in its legal sense, means a tribunal summoned for a short time.

The "sheet anchor," the large anchor carried by a ship, should really be the "shote anchor," and is so called because of its great weight which allows it to shoot out in case of emergency.

"Port" is a comparatively new expression. In the old days they used to refer to "larboard" and "starboard." "Starboard" has nothing in common with the twinkling stars of the heavens; it is derived from the Anglo-Saxon "steer-board" or "steer side." In Viking times the galleys were steered by an oar, which the helmsman held with his right hand. "Larboard" was probably a corruption of "lower-board," the larboard side being inferior to the other.

The word "admiral" is Arabic springing from "emil el bagh," or "lord of the sea." "Captain" comes from the Latin "caput," but "mate" is Icelandic, and means "companion" or "equal." "Coxswain" had a curious origin. The "coxswain" was a man who pulled the last oar in the captain's boat, which was described as the "cockboat." This, in turn, was a corruption of a small, round boat found on the Rivers Usk and Wye, and known as a "coracle." Coxswain is therefore a Welsh Name.

Skin Disease and Plants

Dr. Arthur Whitfield insists that a word of caution be uttered about the handling of certain plants. A patient came to him with eczema of 13 months standing. She said it started by kissing an old aunt who had a similar eruption. It appeared about the nose and on the upper lip. He found that she had a greenhouse in which she grew primula obconica. Banishment of the plants and a little local treatment cured the patient. Later she wrote and told the doctor that her gardener suffered from an irritating eruption on the arms after moving some foxgloves and King Edward VII daisies. Similarly a lady was attacked with eczema which disappeared when she banished the primula obconica from her greenhouse. Another case was traced to poison ivy. Death is known to have resulted from contact with this plant. But there are other offenders that cause skin diseases. Dentifrices containing Salol will do it, so will some photo developers, and even plaster-of-Paris.

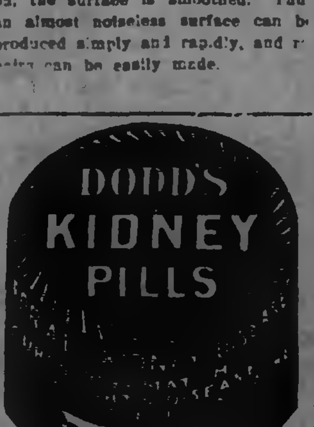
Vitality of Seed

As a result of careful tests made by the Department of Agriculture of over 3,000 carefully selected ears of what was considered good standard seed corn, more than half of the ears were found to be of low vitality and unfit for seed. By testing individual ears and rejecting those of low vitality an average gain in yield of nearly 14 per cent. could be secured as a result of the better stand and better productiveness of strong plants.

This is a very attractive statement. Figure out the cost of these germination tests and then figure your last year's corn average and yield, and strike a balance with a 60-bushel yield per acre and with corn at, say, 60c a bushel, the increased profit per acre would amount to $5.04.

Noiseless Streets

An inexpensive method of abolishing the noise of city traffic is being tried at Frankfort. The street paving is of stone blocks, and, the spaces between the blocks being cleaned out to a depth of about an inch, asphalt is flowed over the street in a layer an inch thick. Sand being sprinkled on, the surface is smoothed. Thus an almost noiseless surface can be produced simply and rapidly, and repairs can be easily made.



DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

[illegible] SLEEPING BAGS

Only Waterproof Material Obtained From Seed Pods

For his Antarctic expedition Sir Ernest Shackleton had made a sleeping bag said to be the lightest in existence. It was constructed of Kapok, a fibrous, silk material, obtained from the seed pods of a tree grown largely in Java. It is six times as light as cotton, and is so oily that it is quite waterproof.

The reason why Kapok is not more generally known is because hitherto the attempts which have been made to invent machinery for the purpose of making Kapok of real commercial value have met with indifferent success. It is reported, however, that a new machine has now been invented with the assistance of which it will be possible to "card" Kapok fibre so that it can be used for coat linings, bed quilts, and so on.

A mattress stuffed with Kapok was tested in the water, and though only weighing 10 pounds, it supported a man weighing 200 pounds lying on it. As a matter of fact, for some years now, owing to its peculiar waterproof nature, this vegetable fibre has been employed as stuffing for life-buoys and life-belts.

Although Kapok is mostly produced in Java, it is also grown to a small extent in India, British Honduras, and Ceylon, and there is little doubt that if the latest machines prove a success they will bring fortunes to the lucky inventors.

PROWESS WITH SWORD

Corporal-Major Grainger Showed King a Few Tricks

Among those who displayed their prowess before the King at a Life Guards' assault-at-arms was Corporal-Major Grainger, who has won the title of the best man of arms (dismounted) in the British army. Perhaps the best of his performances is the one that may be termed the razor trick. He takes a thin staff of wood about the size of a broom-handle, and suspends it resting on two slips of thin paper. The rolls of paper are themselves suspended on the cutting edge of razors which are held by his assistant. The corporal-major, with one clean sweeping cut, slices the "broomhandle" in two and leaves the paper uncut by the razors.

Equally smart is another feat. Taking three or four bars of lead, each about 10 inches long and three inches thick he tosses them in the air, and as they fall, passes his sword through them with the facility of a grocer cutting cheese. He has acquired a sense of balance and weight that is quite wonderful, as is instanced when he takes a heavy cavalry sword and neatly slices into strips an apple held on the extended hand of an unconcerned trooper.

THE CIGARETTE CURE

Solution of Nitrate of Silver Kills the Craving For Tobacco

Thousands of boys have been cured of the cigarette habit by having a little nitrate of silver rubbed upon their tonsils. It has been discovered that a solution of one-half of one per cent. of this drug has the strange quality of abating the appetite for tobacco. Usually a fortnight's treatment will effect a cure. For the first week the mouth is rinsed out after each meal; in the second week one application a day is sufficient. As nitrate of silver is poison, care must be taken to avoid swallowing any of it, although the risk from such a weak solution is not very great. A doctor who has had considerable experience says that if a small piece of gentian is chewed when there is a strong desire for a smoke the craving will be abated

This is a new element in shock absorber construction, based upon scientific mechanical principles, not the production of a "cold blacksmith" or experimenter. The special creation of a master designer, whose work has won him great reputation. No friction whatever. Design and construction covered by our original patents (Sept. 9, 1913) and patents now pending covering double spiral spring and other improvements as here illustrated in sectional cut. All infringements will be vigorously prosecuted.

Electricity From the Air

A Spanish inventor, Senor José Iglesias Blanco, succeeded in extracting electricity from the atmosphere. Experiments were carried out at Pozuelo, near Madrid. Antennæ were mounted in pairs upon a wooden tower erected on a lofty eminence. Electricity at a pressure of 6,000 volts was received and transformed to 150 Sixteen lamps were easily illuminated at full pressure during a prolonged test. The inventor states that he can obtain enormous quantities of atmospheric electricity at will.

Modern Life-saver

Of European invention is a new lifeboat for ocean going vessels that will right itself if capsized and carry 100 persons and which is equipped with a gasoline motor and wireless apparatus.

Fast Time on One Wheel

A speed of nearly 75 miles an hour was attained by a unicycle built by a St. Louis inventor, the machine consisting chiefly of a single wheel almost seven feet in diameter, drawn by an aerial propeller.

Saves Work on Farm

Raincoat in a Wallet

So thin is a new oiled silk material for men's raincoats that a garment may be folded into a wallet and carried in a pocket.

Collapsible Mudguard

A telescoping mud guard for bicycles, the parts of which slide together when it is not in use, has been patented.

Hens That Hatch Fish

As is generally known, a big quantity of fish spawn is annually lost. To avoid this fish-rearers in China carefully collect spawn from the surface of the water, and when they have secured a sufficient quantity they have a number of hens' eggs, the contents of which have been carefully emptied through a small aperture, and refill the shells with the spawn. The holes are then sealed up and the eggs put under broody hens The hens are allowed to incubate the eggs for a certain number of days when the eggs are again broken and their contents put into water that has been previously warmed by the sun In a very short space of time the spawn hatches, and the young fry are then kept in pure fresh water until they attain a sufficient size to be put into the ponds containing older fish The Chinese have long under stood all the intricacies of incubation, and were amongst the first to use incubators for the hatching of hens' eggs

Lived in Three Centuries

The oldest Welshman in the world is Mr. Thomas Morris, who lives at Westernville, Nebraska. Although he is now an American citizen, he was born a subject of George III., at the little village of Berriew, Montgomeryshire, 120 years ago.

His father was an agricultural laborer, and died when the boy was three years old. Morris was apprenticed to a cobbler, and followed his trade in Wales until 1871, when, at the age of seventy-seven, he emigrated. The old man is very proud of the fact that he has lived in three centuries. Morris can still walk with the aid of a stick and see with the aid of spectacles. His hearing is good

Heated Steering Wheels

Electrically-heated steering wheels are one of the latest devices in automobiles, and a novel improvement on these is a glove that becomes heated on contact with the wheel. Wheel without glove or glove without wheel is cold. A pair of gauntlets encases a pair of soft inner gloves, in the fabric of which a very tough and flexible wire circuit is interwoven in such a way as entirely to cover the back of the hand and all the fingers Upon the steering wheel are two thin plates on the upper and lower sides which are supplied with current by a wire from the battery passing up the steering column. The gloved hand in contact with these plates completes the circuit and the current acts.

AMAZING PROFITS IN

Motion Picture Producing

A Comparatively New Business Which is Making Many Investors Suddenly Rich

The astounding statement regarding moving pictures is made by no less an authority than The New York Times :—

"Probably no other form of enterprise—not even petroleum or steel—has brought sudden wealth to so many men. Each year sees a new crop of motion picture millionaires."

Expert testimony was given before the House Committee on Education at Washington recently, to the effect that the daily average attendance at moving picture theatres in the United States is 16,000,000 persons. Figuring the average price of admission at 10c each, we find the sum of $1,600,000 spent daily, or $574,000,000 yearly in this form of amusement. The value of refining petroleum, according to the census bureau's summary issued in 1912, was $289,897,000, less than one-half the amount paid for seeing the "movies."

CENTURY FILM CO.

The Company is incorporated under the laws of the State of New York with an authorized capital of $300,000, divided into 60,000 shares of the par value of $5.00 each, 24,000 shares of which are being offered at par $5.00.

Its officers and directors are men of long and successful experience in the theatrical business in its various branches, each with a peculiar skill essential to the successful conduct of the motion picture business, together forming a combination which should rapidly bring the company to the very top among high-class producers.

MR. H. ROBERT LAW, President, is one of the best known producing scenic artists in the country. He has designed and produced nearly all the scenery used in the famous plays brought out by Sam. S. & Lee Shubert, Wm. A. Brady and the late Henry B. Harris. The scenic environments of fully 300 plays have been staged by Mr. Law in the past five years, some of which are "Within The Law," "To-day," "Little Women," "The Fight," "Too Many Crooks" and "The Midnight Girl."

MR. JOSEPH L. PLUNKETT, Vice-President and General Manager, has had sixteen years' experience in the business management of theatrical enterprises with the Liebler Co. one of the leading producers of high-class theatrical attractions in the world. He was manager of the Century Theatre in New York, the magnificent and famous millionaire's playhouse

MR. J. C. HUFFMAN, the famous theatrical director, is the peer of any man in his line. Among his great productions are "The Prince of India," Julia Marlow's features ; "1000 Years Ago," the Winter Garden productions, which are most elaborate, "Panthea," "The Lure," and hundreds of others. [illegible]

MR. JAMES C. FORBES has an international reputation as a playwright and author. One of his plays, "The Chorus Lady," featuring Rose Stahl, was played in both Europe and America, and was a tremendous success. He is also the author of "The Travelling Salesman," and "The Commuters," both big theatrical successes.

None of the officers will receive any salary until the enterprise is on a substantial earning basis, and then the compensation will be reasonable, as befitting a conservatively managed enterprise. While the men actively engaged in the management of this concern are known as high-priced men, their stock holdings are quite large, and from dividends they expect to receive their chief compensation for their time and talent.

Prior to making applications to list the stock on the New York Curb we are authorized to receive subscriptions for treasury stock at par, $5.00 per share.

There is only one kind of stock in the company, all common stock, each share of which is entitled to one vote at all company meetings. All interests will be treated alike.

While the Company of course, makes no definite promises as to dividends, President Law, in a letter to us, states that he fully expects the company can commence paying dividends at 2 per cent. per month within at least five months from date, and within a year or two several times that amount. He tells us that the company can turn out two feature films per month from its studio when in full operation.

The profits made from successful feature films run all the way from $10,000 to $500,000, according to the character of the production. Assuming that this company produces but one feature film per month at an average profit of $20,000 each, the profits for a year would amount to $240,000, equivalent to $4.00 on each share of the entire capital stock. This is not an unreasonable estimate, but on the contrary may be considered as quite probable. On such a dividend basis the market price of the stock should be around $25.00 per share, and that price would yield 16 per cent. There are possibilities in the business away beyond these estimates. The company owns a fully equipped motion picture studio at 30th Street and Tenth Avenue, New York City.

In two years the business of the Mutual Film Corporation has increased 2400 per cent., or from $300,000 annually to $7,200,000. Its common shares given away as a bonus with the 7 per cent. preferred are now on a 12 per cent. basis and command $70.00 per share on the market.

It is said the Palais de Luxe Cinema, Ltd., of London, last year paid 11 per cent. on its preferred shares, 20 per cent on its ordinary shares, and 1100 per cent. on its deferred shares.

Century Film Co. Stock is all Common Stock.

The Directors of the Company have exercised every care in the selection of their properties, aggregating 1380 acres, which are situated in many townships bearing indications of oil. It will be noted from other companies already operating in the field, that several quarter sections of the holdings of this Company are adjacent to the properties of those Companies, that have employed expert advice in the selection of their holdings

Investors should also note that the Company has lands which are not situated in one particular spot, and as it has been assured that oil is existing in different districts, this Company, by having its holdings spread over a vast area, stands an excellent chance if oil be discovered by any of the Companies operating.

The Company proposes to pay to its Fiscal Agents for procuring subscriptions, for shares in this Company, a commission not exceeding 20 per cent on the selling price of such shares.

TIMBER ROYALTIES

Profit Sharing Between the Government and the Licensee

The Timber Royalty Act of British Columbia is chiefly significant in that it makes provision for the basing of all timber royalties, subsequent to January 1, 1920, on the sale value of the timber cut, over and above an arbitrarily fixed price of $18 per thousand feet board measure. The percentage taken by the Government of this value-increase will be at first 25 per cent., gradually rising to 40 per cent. in the succeeding 25 years.

This is no new principle, for as early as 1889 the Dominion Government required from holders of timber limits in western Canada a royalty of 5 per cent. of the total sale value of the lumber cut, which value was to be based on the average price obtaining during the three months preceding the sale. But at that time the price of lumber was not sufficiently high to bring in any very large revenue on this percentage basis, so in 1898 the stumpage dues were changed to the fixed rate of 50 cents per thousand feet, board measure, which is the rate at present. Although the retention of the percentage royalty would have secured larger returns from this source with the steadily rising lumber prices, yet the principle of selling the timber at a widely advertised public auction ensures the obtaining, through the additional bonus offered, practically the same price for the timber without the former inconvenience of constantly adjusting the stumpage dues.

As the competitive sale of timber by means of the bonus system is common throughout Canada, there is little likelihood that the Government does not secure a fair share of the present value of the timber sold, and by reserving the right to alter the stumpage dues as the price of lumber increases, a share in its future value is also ensured.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Slot Machine Provides Chair

An inventor in San Diego has developed a novel seat for use in parks and pleasure resorts. Normally it is so tipped that it cannot be used, but upon placing a coin in the slot the seat may be tipped back into the usual position, making a comfortable and restful bench. When the occupant rises from the seat it automatically swings forward and locks in a non-usable position, from which it can only be moved by the insertion of another coin.

Twenty-five Miles Long With a Fall of 325 Feet

As finally located the enlarged Welland ship canal will conform closely to the route of the present canal from Lake Erie to Allanburg, a point about midway between Lakes Erie and Ontario. From Allanburg an entirely new location will be followed. This will cross the present canal twice, finally reaching Lake Ontario at the foot of Ten Mile Creek—three miles east of the present terminus at Port Dalhousie. The total length will be 25 miles. The fall of 325½ feet will be accomplished by seven locks, each having a lift of 46½ feet. Each lock will be 800 feet long and 80 feet wide, with a minimum depth of water over miter sills of 30 feet. The canal will be 200 feet wide at the bottom, designed for a depth of 30 feet, but excavated for only 25 feet for the present. This will permit dredging out the remaining 5 feet at any future time. At Port Colborne, the Lake Erie terminus, a new breakwater will be built on the west side of the entrance to insure quiet water in the harbor during storms, the present breakwater being insufficient for the purpose. The new breakwater will consist of an immense rubble mound of stone from the excavation north of Port Colborne, and will terminate in a timber-and-concrete headblock located some 2,000 feet farther out in the lake than the present breakwater.

COPPER

MILLIONS OF TONS OF PAY ORE

We have coal, fluxes and copper ores in unlimited quantities—

We have an estate of about 11,500 acres—

We have water, timber, and as fine a climate as there is in the world, which admits of working throughout the entire year—

We have spent years of time and thousands of dollars in getting this project into shape where we can consistently offer you a share in it—where your investment will be safe—where your interests will be safeguarded and your profits much greater than they are in the average manufacturing or commercial undertaking.

By cutting through the formation with streams, ages old, Nature has done much to demonstrate the existence of these great ore bodies and this, supplemented by the openings made by man, has proven that within this area there are at least five veins more than three miles long, and having an average width of fourteen feet, with an average content of 2.51 per cent. of copper metal.

Coal for fuel, Lime and Iron for fluxes, are abundant, easily mined and all within the boundaries of this estate. They can be cheaply obtained and economically transported to the site where it is proposed to build a smelter for reducing to matte or bullion this unlimited supply of copper ore.

Costs of every needed thing will be minimized to a degree impossible under less favorable conditions, and profits proportionately increased. Labor is cheap, and much of the food supply required is raised on the estate.

The ore supply is practically inexhaustible; engineers and geologists have estimated the depth of these enormous veins to be at least 3,000 feet.

At this time the enterprise is just getting under way and those who take advantage of the opportunity to secure a share in it now will, so far as finite judgment can reach, reap rewards far beyond the proportions of any investment at present made. RANCH MANAGER—ARTHUR McKINNON

INTRODUCTION

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, was incorporated in 1913 with six pairs of foxes, at $60,000. This Campany re-capitalized in 1914, with 20 pairs of beautiful Silver Black Foxes, at $15,000 per pair, making a total capitalization of $300,000.

THE FOXES

Six pairs (one year old) proven breeders, and fourteen pairs (1914 pups), making a total of 20 pairs—all young foxes—good for at least 10 years. This Company has bought some of this year's options on foxes with a guarantee that they are pedigreed and of the highest strain and very best quality P. E. Island famous foxes.

THE RANCH

The ranch is situated on the well known Glenaladale Farm, owned by Major C. McKinnon, formerly the homestead of Sir William McDonald, and is only 12 miles from Charlottetown, in a quiet locality sufficiently removed from any disturbance.

THE RANCHER

Mr. Arthur W. McKinnon, our Ranch Manager, has had much experience in breeding foxes, and has the practical knowledge necessary to efficiently manage and care for the animals.

The foxes will be ranched free of charge to the Company for the first year. This means a large saving to the shareholders, as some companies have to pay as high as 25 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes.

The promoters of this Company are retaining $80,000 worth of stock for themselves. $20,000 worth has already been disposed of, leavinb $200,000 to be offered to investors at $25.00 per share, with a guarantee that a dividend of 50 per cent. will be paid in cash in 1915, or whatever more it may be.

The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Limited, in 1913 guaranteed a dividend of 50 per cent. but are going to pay 50 per cent. in cash and 50 per cent., in stock in 1914. The Company is in good standing and to each and every investor the first of September, 1914, we can say:—"We have given you 50 per cent. more than we promised." And we feel sure that in 1915 all the shareholders in this re-capitalized company will be able to say they received more than they were promised.

This Company can truthfully say that they have not one cent of watered stock in the Company. Now Mr. Investor, if you were a Company and we the shareholders, we would look to you for justice to give us all that was honestly due us. We would not like for you to buy 3 pairs of foxes at $15,000 per pair ($45,000) and form a fox company and capitalize your concern at $60,000 and make us pay, as shareholders, for it. The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Company, Limited, will ask you to do nothing like that. We want to let you in on the ground floor.

NOTICE

When a fox company guarantees any specified dividend to its shareholders, and when said company is an incorporated body, you need not be afraid of any unfair play for such company is compelled to pay what they promise, and, besides, every interest is taken for the welfare of both the investor and the company.

The promoters of this company are all above board and will not permit any crook to come in and do anything that is not right. Anyone holding stock in this Company who is dissatisfied can, by notifying the Secretary-Treasurer, have his or her money promptly refunded.

FORTUNES IN FOXES

There is money in fox ranching more than anything else ever known. It is good for the rich man and good for the poor man. A poor man cannot buy a pair of Silver Black Foxes but he can easily raise $25.00, $50.00 or $100.00. By investing in this Company he gets back his money in at least two years and then he will have an income for life and for his children to come—and after there will be money in fox farming. One of the reasons for this is that P. E. Island has now 95 per cent. of the world's foxes in captivity. For every one pelt that can be raised there are more than 25 wealthy people waiting for it in London, Russia, France and America.

PELT VALUES

The Fox Pelts have advanced greatly in price since 1910 and you can see for yourself what money was in them then.

Below are the particulars of sale of a consignment of Silver Fox Furs, shipped from Prince Edward Island ranches to London, England, and sold there in March, 1910:

SHARES

Shares are selling at $25.00 each; 25 per cent. with application and the balance on or before September 1st, 1914.

Simply fill out the application form and mail to Major C. McKinnon, Secretary-Treasurer, Glenaladale, P. E. I.

All cheques must be made payable to "The Glenaladale Silver Black Fox Co., Ltd."

A POINTER

Just to give you a little idea of what the free ranching of foxes mean to the investor, we will figure it out for you.

We have twenty pairs of foxes in the ranch and suppose each pair produces a litter of only four foxes this is equal to 40 pairs and at $15,000 per year it would figure out at $600,000. Now, if we had to pay even 15 per cent. of the increase for ranching purposes (which is considerably lower than some companies pay) it would mean that we would have to pay $90,000 for ranching expenses.

We ranch the foxes free for the first year, so that in addition to a guaranteed dividend of 50 per cent., we save you this large outlay of money. While we guarantee 50 per cent., still should each pair in our ranch produce four pups it would mean that your dividend would be about 200 per cent. instead of 50 per cent.

FINAL WORD

A great deal has been written about Ranches, Grades of Foxes, etc., but after all the one object that every investor should keep before him is the dividend he is going to get. We have tried to show you in plain English what we can do for you and now that you have our proposition, compare it with the offer made by any other company now in business— and then judge for yourself to have been paid by some of the Charlottetown daily newspapers.

NEW METHOD OF HATCHING CHICKS

Electricity and Bees Used to Bring Forth Peepers

Rearing chicks by electricity seems a tall order, yet this is exactly what is being done at a chick farm at Muskogee, Oklahoma, where the welfare of the occupant from the egg is electrified and the growth of the young bird forced by the aid of electric light. A tungsten lamp of about sixty watts is hung in the runway, and is switched on and off alternately for eight hours each. When the light is on the chick fills its craw, and rests after the light is turned off. The capacity of the incubator is for eighteen to twenty trays, one under the other; thus upwards of 5,000 eggs fill a single chamber. The trays are so arranged that a blast of warm air circulates through the rows of eggs.

Some of the farms installed with the apparatus can hatch 10,000 chicks every day in the year, and in a single season as many as 20,000,000 lively chicks have been hatched and shipped abroad.

But not everyone who owns a beehive and knows something about poultry knows that chickens can be hatched satisfactorily by bees. An enterprising American, however, has recently combined the two, and with most excellent results. He noticed that the temperature of the beehive was almost the same as that of his incubator, which calculation was confirmed by a thermometer, so he set about to utilize the superfluous warmth of the hive as an egg-hatching establishment, without interrupting the welfare of his bees. Twenty eggs were placed in the upper portion of the hive, ingeniously separating them from the working apartments of the bees by means of a cotton cloth. The eggs were further protected by little cushions made of similar material to that of quilts, and left for the requisite number of days required for hatching in the ordinary way. At the end of that time eighteen of the twenty eggs satisfactorily hatched, yielding chicks in every way as strong and healthy as those reared by other means, thus turning the waste space of the beehive to most profitable account.

TETS FOR PAPER PULPS

New Methods to be tried at Government Laboratories

Some native species of trees, little used until now, will be tested at the Forest Products Laboratories at McGill University, Montreal, to see whether they are suitable for pulp and paper manufacture. For this purpose the largest non-commercial paper machine in the world will be installed. The work is under the direction of the Dominion Forestry Branch.

Detailed records of the process of manufacture of the different grades of paper will be kept. In this way Canadian pulp and paper manufacturers by adopting the same methods may achieve similar results.

Another very important feature of the work of these laboratories will be the investigating of various methods of wood preservation. By such processes the life of railway ties, posts, poles and construction timber will be in some cases doubled. It is expected that it will be proved possible to use many of the most common Canadian woods for purposes to which, except for their non-durability, they are admirably adapted. Birch, for instance, if treated with creosote or zinc [illegible], or with a little of both of these preservatives, makes an ideal railway tie or paving block, being cheap and also very resistant to the wear and tear of traffic.

How People Feel
When They Have
Tape Worm

Tape worm is bred from a parasite. This parasite is a creature male and female in one. It is a pear shape, having two, four and six suckers. It lays the eggs, which are only connected together with slime. They develop and form a body, which is the worm. Each joint is an individual, having a sucker or mouth. The worm grows to be much longer than the bowels where it is located, and sometimes a whole colony of them are found, enough to fill a quart of solid worm, and when put in a bucket of water would apparently fill it. It is the hardest task in the world to destroy this parasite without doing injury to the individual who may be so unfortunate as to have it, as the parasite clings to the bowels, freeing itself from the body of the worm, and remains there to breed another. It is an internal demon and causes its victims to suffer all the symptoms of disease imaginable. The cleverest physicians are led to believe the patient is suffering from some other disease, as nearly every person has different symptoms. Some have been treated for cancer of the bowels, consumption of the bowels, consumption of the lungs, chronic dyspepsia, nervous prostration, melancholia, hypochondria, hysteria, inflammation of the bowels, appendicitis and other complaints, when one or more of these internal demons were eating their lives away.

Prof. Mulveney has made the discovery to free the victim of this monster without injury to the system, destroying the parasite as well as expelling the worm with one dose of medicine without any previous starvation. Visit his office, where he has in his possession the most wonderful collection of these death-dealing monsters in the world, which have been expelled from hundreds of people by his famous remedy, some bottles containing colonies of worms and anyone seeing them cannot imagine how a person could possibly live with them in his bowels. It is surprising the number of people that have them. Thousands have them and are not aware of the fact. The letters and testimonials the Professor has in his possession are enough to convince one of this alarming fact. Some of the most prominent symptoms are: ravenous appetite, dizzy spells, headaches, cramps in the bowels, a feeling of something moving in the bowels, also a feeling as though something was crawling up the throat. The only certainty of having one in the system is when segments or joints are seen, which come away almost any time. They are flat and from ½ of an inch to 1 inch long, which have often been mistaken for pin worms by those who do not know the difference. There are many other feelings of distress which would take long to enumerate. Strange to say, some people of strong constitution, have very little distress.

Prof. Mulveney's world-famous Tape Worm Exterminator is safe, sure and harmless. No starvation, no danger, is not disagreeable to take. One dose nearly always affects a cure. MOVING PICTURES WITHOUT A SCREEN

Invention of a German "Movie" Man Turned Out a Success

Some five years ago a German experimenter, Herr Messter, discovered that if moving pictures were projected by reflection in a certain manner, the stage could be set with scenery and properties, as for a regular play, with the result that the usual white screen could be eliminated, and that the photographic figures could be moved about within a certain area in such a manner as to convey the illusion that living performers were seen instead of photographic reproductions. He was faced with the initial difficulty that only small figures could be projected, and this fact tended to destroy the illusion, since to maintain the latter, life-size portrayal of the performers was imperative.

Another complexity which troubled him was the destruction of the coloring qualities owing to the high light necessary. This latter problem was overcome by utilizing pierrots and clowns, in which only black and white dress and make-up were required. Such a limitation was a handicap, but nevertheless, when such pictures were shown, considerable interest and wonder as to how the effects were obtained were aroused. The fact that the figures were dwarfish, and yet apparently endowed with life, enhanced the mysterious effect. By patient experimenting the inventor at last overcame the latter deficiency, and having succeeded in getting his figures life-size, public exhibitions were given in Vienna with great success. Singing and talking effects are obtained by electrically synchronizing a talking machine with the acting.

Stability of Solar System

A law connecting the distance of the planets of the solar system from the sun has been discovered by Belot, which is in close agreement with the observed facts. The mere existence of such a law throws light upon the stability of the solar system. A century ago Lagrange and Laplace thought they had demonstrated the invariability of the mean distances of the planets, and from that the stability of the solar system. But the mathematical series used in this investigation have been shown by Poincare to be divergent, and therefore, so far as those calculations go, the stability is uncertain. If, however, the distances of the planets had been changed since the origin of the world by the action of the tides, their mutual attraction, etc., and if the perturbations so caused had accumulated, they would have been different for different planets, and no law connecting the distances of the planets and their satellites would have been discoverable.—Scientific American.

Washing Silk Handkerchiefs

When washing silk handkerchiefs a little care is required to prevent them from turning yellow, and to avoid this they should never be boiled or have any soap rubbed on them. Make a lather of finely shredded white soap and lukewarm water, wash and squeeze the handkerchiefs in it; press out all the moisture possible and dry them quickly. Iron while they are still damp, though not wet.

Historic Conduction

Some repairs have recently been made to the tower on St. Paul's Cathedral, in London, and during the course of the work the discovery was made that a part of one of the original iron bar conductors was erected about 140 years ago, under the supervision of Benjamin Franklin. This bar, which was inside one of the towers and so not exposed to the weather, was still in a good state of preservation.

Ties That Endure

Ties made of a species of native hard wood have been used on the Panama railroad without renewal for more than 10 years.

Electric Mail Wagon

Forty-five electric mail wagons were put in service in Vienna after an exhaustive test lasting more than 15 months.

Will Remove Fruit Stains

Vegetable and fruit stains on the fingers can be removed by dipping the fingers in very strong tea for a few minutes and then washing them in clear, warm water.

Grease the Saucepan

If bright saucepans and kettles have to be used over a smoky fire, smearing a little grease over the bright part will prevent the smoke from blackening the metal. If washed after use in hot water, the pan will be as bright as ever.

To Improve Cakes

When using dripping for making a cake, add a few drops of essence of lemon or the juice of a lemon, and it will be found that this will not only remove the fatty flavor which cakes so often have when made with dripping—especially mutton—but will very greatly improve the flavor.

Coffee Stains Removable

The most difficult of all stains to take out are those made by coffee. With care, however, the stain can be removed from the most delicate silk or woollen fabrics. Rub the mark gently with a little pure glycerine, then rinse it in lukewarm water, lay a cloth over the damp part on the wrong side, and press with a cool iron until dry. Do not wet more of the material than is absolutely necessary.

Frost at the End of June.

Tweed News: Mr. John Sills dropped in home on Wednesday morning, for a few days. He says where he is working on the G.T.P. about 30 miles east of Lake Abitibi that their pump froze up on the 28th June. By the way he is working at a point almost in a direct line north of Tweed.

Fined for Carrying a Gun.

Lindsay Post: Tony Morano, the Italian who was arrested yesterday at the G.T.R. station by Chief of Police Short, for the theft of $400, appeared before Magistrate Jackson last night on a charge of carrying concealed weapons. He was fined $25 and costs, total $29.50.

Ben Hobson Up Again.

At yesterday's police court Benjamin Hobson was charged with having been drunk in a public place. The magistrate remarked "Ben the last time you were here you were very repentant and promised never to be back again. He was fined $2 and told if he came back again it would be six months.

"When the Wine Is In."

On Thursday some local men motored to Port Hope and Cobourg. When they left here there were six in the party. The auto contained three on its return. One arrived yesterday morning from Cobourg by G. T. R. and two, looking somewhat the worse for wear arrived by rail from Port Hope. Truly, "wine is a mocker."!

Gypsies Let Go.

A band of gypsies was arrested yesterday afternoon and were later on let go and ordered out of the city. The police thought it cheaper to get rid of them than feed men, women, children and horses that looked as though they had not had a square feed in a month.

Eleanor Again Remanded.

At yesterday's police court Eleanor Van Norman pleaded guilty to prostitution. Eleanor was found very drunk on Thursday night in charge of a horse. Mrs. McIlheney of the Salvation Army was present and spoke for the girl. The man who supplied Eleanor with her liquor was identified by her in court. The prisoner was remanded for another week.

Former Norwood Man Dead.

Norwood Register: Word was received here Tuesday by Mr. J.B. Pearce of the death on July 16th at Wynyard, Sask., of Mr. William Thomas Cannon, formerly of Norwood. Death was due to cancer. Deceased was a son of the late Robert Cannon. He moved to the Northwest several years ago with his brother, Robert. The body is being brought here for burial.

Brinton Carpet Co. Outing.

The annual excursion of the Brinton Carpet Works was held yesterday to the back lakes. The good Steamer Stoney Lake conveyed the large party of employees and their friends. All present report having had a most enjoyable outing and speak in highest terms of the beautiful scenery of the upper lakes and also of the courtesy of the captain and crew of the Stoney Lake."

Lindsay Blacklister Jailed.

A Lindsay Indian lister got a stiff term at police court on Thursday. He has been up quite often. Last time was less than ten days ago make good after stating positively to when he was given another chance to the magistrate that he would not appear in court again. Some unkind friend every little while presents him with a bottle of liquor. His friends have done all in their power to help him, and have even paid his fines in the past, so this time Magistrate Jackson made the fines big enough that he could not pay them and sent him to pound rock behind the court House for three months till the whisky works out of his system.

Shop Lifter Gets Heavy Sentence.

At yesterday's police court Mr. G. N. Gordon asked the magistrate to dispose of the case of the girl arrested some days ago for shop-lifting in a local department store. A hack was sent to the jail for the person. Mr. Gordon made a strong appeal for the young woman, stating that she had made an unhappy marriage. Mrs. McIlheney took an active interest in the girl who uses morphine. The girl stole a $25 dress and had been convicted for a similar offense in Toronto in 1912. County Attorney asked that Mrs. McIlheney be heard. He also spoke strongly for the girl. This was one of the saddest cases ever tried in the local court. She was given six months in the Mercer Institute. The girl's name is Nixon.

Turned Turtle But Escaped.

Yesterday afternoon at 3 o-clock, a man from Lang, Otonabee was driving a buggy east on Hunter street. The driver had presumably dallied with the malt extract. He is said to have been asleep when his outfit passed the Bank of Toronto. Here his conveyance collided with that of a piano dealer of Water street. The piano man's buggy turned turtle and the horse fell on the cement sidewalk. By a seemingly miraculous chance neither the piano dealer, his buggy nor his horse was hurt. The man causing the accident woke up and drove over Hunter street bridge. A boy's bicycle was badly smashed during the collision.

FEEDING YOUNG CHICKENS

A Few Suggestions Given by the Poultry Division, Experimental Farm, Ottawa

When the chick is hatched it has a sufficient supply of nourishment in the yolk of the egg to last it for several days. What the chick requires for the first few days is not feed but warmth and rest.

When the chicks are removed to their brooding quarters there should be some coarse sand or fine chick grit scattered where they can have free access to it. They should then be left until they show positive signs of hunger which would be between the second and third day after hatching. They may be given some bread crumbs that have been very slightly moistened with milk; this may be scattered on clean sand or chick grit. If being brooded by a hen she will see that no food is allowed to lie around, but if in a brooder that part of the food that the chicks do not pick up in a few minutes should be removed as nothing in feeding causes so much trouble as leaving food of that nature around until it is sour.

The following daily ration of five feeds given about two and a half hours apart and continued from the time the chicks are two to three days out of the shell until 10 or 12 days of age may be altered or adopted to suit conditions.

Third feed: Rolled oats.

Fifth feed: Finely cracked mixed grains.

In addition to the above give the chicks daily a little green food such as grass, lettuce, sprouted oats, etc. Do not have the moistened bread sloppy but in a crumbly state and during this period let the chicks onto fresh soil or grass every day if possible.

Cut This Out

If you know someone who is troubled with head noises, or catarrhal deafness cut out this formula and hand to them, and you will have been the means of saving some poor sufferer from perhaps total deafness. Recent experiments have proved conclusively that catarrhal deafness, head noises, etc., were the direct cause of constitutional disease, and that salves, sprays, inhalers, etc., merely temporize with the complaint, and seldom, if ever, effect a permanent cure. This being so, much time and money has been spent of late by a noted specialist in perfecting a pure, gentle, yet effective tonic that would quickly dispel all traces of catarrhal poison from the system. The effective prescription which was eventually formulated and which has aroused the belief that deafness will soon be extinct, it given below in understandable form, so that anyone can treat themselves in their own home at little expense.

Secure from your druggist 1 oz. Parmint (Double Strength) about 75c. worth. Take this home, and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and 4 oz. of moist or granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

The first dose promptly ends the most distressing head noises, headache, dullness, cloudy thinking, etc. while the hearing rapidly returns as the system is invigorated by the tonic action of the treatment. Loss of smell and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms that show the presence of catarrhal poison, and which are quickly overcome by this efficacious treatment. Nearly ninety per cent. of all ear troubles are directly caused by catarrh, therefore there are but few people whose hearing cannot be restored by this simple home treatment. Every person who is troubled with head noises, catarrhal deafness, or catarrh in any form, should give this prescription a trial. There is nothing better.

Important.—In ordering Parmint always specify that you want Double Strength; your druggist has it or he can get it for you; if not, send 75c. to the International Laboratories, 74 St. Antoine St., Montreal, P.Q., who make a specialty of it.

Measured When Made

To save the use of a yardstick in stores some of the finer dry goods are being rolled at the mills with a sheet of paper on which measurements are printed between the layers of fabric.

Railways in Africa
